WHITHER THE WEST?

On a variety of international legal matters, relations between the US and European countries are evolving and even diverging. In an ever-changing world, understanding the reasons for this increasing dichotomy is fundamental and has a profound impact on our understanding of world dynamics and globalization and, ultimately, on our awareness of where the West is going. This interdisciplinary volume proposes new frameworks to understand the differences in approach to international law in the US and Europe. To explain the theoretical and historical underpinnings of the diverging views, the expert essays present new research and develop innovative conclusions. They assess and explore issues such as the idea of sovereignty, constitutional law, the use of force, treaty law and international adjudication. Leading authorities in different disciplines including law and political science, the contributors engage in a new dialogue and develop a new discourse on inter-Atlantic views.

Chiara Giorgetti is Professor of Law at Richmond Law School, Virginia. She is an elected member of the American Law Institute, Vice President of the American Branch of the International Law Association and Chair of the Academic Council of the Institute for Transnational Arbitration. She clerked at the International Court of Justice and has acted as counsel in inter-state boundary disputes, claims commission and international investment arbitrations.

Guglielmo Verdirame is Professor of International Law at Kings College London. He has previously held positions at the Universities of Cambridge and Oxford, was a visiting scholar at Harvard Law School and Director of Studies for Public International Law at The Hague Academy of International Law. He is the author of The UN and Human Rights: Who Guards the Guardians? (2011).
The purpose of the ASIL Studies in International Legal Theory series is to clarify and improve the theoretical foundations of international law. Too often the progressive development and implementation of international law has foundered on confusion about first principles. This series raises the level of public and scholarly discussion about the structure and purposes of the world legal order and how best to achieve global justice through law. This series grows out of the International Legal Theory project of the American Society of International Law. The ASIL Studies in International Legal Theory series deepens this conversation by publishing scholarly monographs and edited volumes of essays considering subjects in international legal theory.

Books in the series

International Law as Behavior
Edited by Harlan Grant Cohen and Timothy Meyer

Space and Fates of International Law: Between Leibniz and Hobbes
Ekaterina Yahyaoui Krivenko

Why Punish Perpetrators of Mass Atrocities?: Purposes of Punishment in International Criminal Law
Edited by Florian Jeßberger and Julia Geneuss

The Challenge of Inter-Legality
Edited by Jan Klabbers and Gianluigi Palombella

The Nature of International Law
Miodrag A. Jovanović

Reexamining Customary International Law
Edited by Brian D. Lepard

Theoretical Boundaries of Armed Conflict and Human Rights
Edited by Jens David Ohlin
Human Rights in Emergencies
Edited by Evan J. Criddle

The Theory of Self-Determination
Edited by Fernando R. Tesón

Negotiating State and Non-State Law: Global and Local Legal Pluralism
Edited by Michael A. Helfand

Jus Post Bellum and Transitional Justice
Edited by Larry May and Elizabeth Edenberg

Normative Pluralism and International Law: Exploring Global Governance
Edited by Jan Klabbers and Touko Puipaerin

The Future of International Law: Global Government
Joel P. Trachtman

Morality, Jus Post Bellum, and International Law
Edited by Larry May and Andrew T. Forcehimes

Global Justice and International Economic Law: Opportunities and Prospects
Edited by Chios Carmody, Frank J. Garcia, and John Linarelli

Parochialism, Cosmopolitanism, and the Foundations of International Law
Edited by Mortimer Sellers

The Role of Ethics in International Law
Edited by Donald Earl Childress III

The New Global Law
Rafael Domingo

Customary International Law: A New Theory with Practical Applications
Brian D. Lepard

International Criminal Law and Philosophy
Edited by Larry May and Zachary Hoskins

Whither the West? International Law in Europe and the United States
Edited by Chiara Giorgetti and Guglielmo Verdirame
Whither the West?

INTERNATIONAL LAW IN EUROPE AND THE UNITED STATES

Edited by

CHIARA GIORGETTI
University of Richmond

GUGLIELMO VERDIRAME
King's College London
Contents

About the Authors ix
Acknowledgements xiii

Introduction: W[h]ither the West? The Divided West and the Shifting Grounds of International Law
Chiara Giorgetti and Guglielmo Verdirame 1

1 THE IDEA OF INTERNATIONAL LAW IN THE DIVIDED WEST

1 International Lawyers and Legal Forms
   Transatlantic Denials
   Jean d’Aspremont 13

2 Are We (Americans) All International Legal Realists Now?
   Harlan Grant Cohen 33

3 Are Liberal Internationalists Still Liberal?
   Guglielmo Verdirame 53

4 The New, New Sovereigntism or How the European Union Became Disenchanted with International Law and Defiantly Protective of Its Domestic Legal Order
   Mark A. Pollack 73

II SPECIFIC AREAS IN INTERNATIONAL LAW: WHITHER THE WEST?

1 International Law and Constitutional Law:
   Is There a Final Arbiter?
Contents

5 Authority and Dialogue
State and Official Immunity in Domestic and International Courts
Chimène I. Keitner

6 Treaty Conditions and Constitutions
Walls, Windows, or Doors?
Edward T. Swaine

2 International Adjudication and the Development of International Law

7 International Courts and Tribunals in the USA and in Europe
The Increasingly Divided West
Chiara Giorgetti

8 Unravelling a Paradox of Shared Responsibility
The Disconnection between Substantive and Adjudicate Law
Andre Nollkaemper

3 International Law and the Use of Force

9 Divergent Views on the Content and Relevance of the Jus ad Bellum in Europe and the United States?
The Case of the US-Led Military Coalition against “Islamic State”
Tom Ruys and Luca Ferro
About the Authors

Jean d’Aspremont is Professor of International Law at Sciences Po School of Law. He also holds a chair of Public International Law at the University of Manchester where he founded the Manchester International Law Centre (MILC). He is General Editor of the Cambridge Studies in International and Comparative Law and Director of Oxford International Organizations (OXIO). He is a member of the Scientific Advisory Board of the European Journal of International Law and series editor of the Melland Schill Studies in International Law.

Harlan Grant Cohen is Gabriel M. Wilner/UGA Foundation Professor in International Law and Faculty Co-Director of the Dean Rusk International Law Center. Cohen is a member of the Board of Editors of the American Journal of International Law (ASIL) and a member of the American Law Institute. He was a member of ASIL’s executive council, served as co-chair of the society’s 106th Annual Meeting and currently serves as chair of ASIL’s International Legal Theory interest group. Cohen’s scholarship has appeared in the George Washington, Tulane, Iowa and New York University law reviews and the Yale, Berkeley, NYU and Michigan journals of international law, among other places. He is a graduate of Yale University and New York University School of Law, where he was a Florence Allen Scholar and was inducted into the Order of the Coif. Prior to joining the Georgia Law faculty in 2007, he was a Furman Fellow at NYU and worked at the law firm Cleary Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton.

Luca Ferro is a postdoctoral researcher at the Ghent Rolin-Jaequemyns International Law Institute of Ghent University (Belgium) and a former Visiting Scholar at the Columbia Law School (New York City, USA). He defended his doctoral dissertation in 2019, which was entitled International Intervention in Theory and in Practice and devoted to assessing the legality of foreign involvement in the internal and external affairs of States through a varied set of case studies. While his research focuses primarily on topics of general public international law, the law of armed conflicts and international criminal law, he is also interested in international legal theory and methodology.

Chiara Giorgetti is Professor of Law at Richmond Law School. She is an expert in public international law, international adjudication and international arbitration. She has authored over forty publications on these topics, including eight authored and edited books and dozens of book chapters and articles. Giorgetti is an elected member of the American Law Institute, Vice-President of the American Branch of the International Law Association, and Chair of the Academic Council of the Institute for Transnational Arbitration. Giorgetti served as a member of the Executive Council and Executive Committee of the American Society of International Law and co-chaired ASIL Annual Meeting. She is also the co-founder of ASIL’s interest group on International Courts and Tribunals. Prior to joining the Richmond Law faculty in 2012, Giorgetti worked in the international arbitration groups of White & Case in Washington, DC, and at Lalive in Geneva and served as counsel in several state to state disputes, including on matters of territorial and maritime boundaries and compensations for international law violations. She clerked at the International Court of Justice in The Hague and worked extensively with the United Nations in New York and Somalia. Giorgetti holds a JSD and LLM from Yale Law School, a MSc from the London School of Economics and a Laurea in Law from Bologna University.

Chimène Keitner is Alfred and Hanna Fromm Professor of International and Comparative Law, University of California Hastings College of the Law. She is a leading authority on international law and civil litigation, and served as the 27th Counselor on International Law in the US Department of State. She has authored two books and dozens of articles, essays and book chapters on questions surrounding the relationship among law, communities and borders, including issues of jurisdiction, extraterritoriality, foreign sovereign and foreign official immunity, and the historical understandings underpinning current practice in these areas. Professor Keitner holds a bachelor’s degree in history and literature with high honors from Harvard, a JD from Yale, where she was a Paul & Daisy Soros Fellow, and a doctorate in international relations from Oxford, where she was a Rhodes Scholar. Professor Keitner has served on the Executive Council of the American Society of International Law and as Co-Chair of the ASIL International Law in Domestic Courts Interest Group. She is a member of the American Law Institute and an Adviser on the ALI’s Fourth Restatement of the Foreign Relations Law of the United States. She is also a founding co-chair of the International Law Association’s Study Group on Individual Responsibility in International Law.
About the Authors

André Nollkaemper is Dean and Professor of Public International Law at the Faculty of Law of the University of Amsterdam. He is also external Legal Advisor to the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Netherlands, Member of the Permanent Court of Arbitration, President of the European Society of International Law and Member of the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences. In 1999, he established the Amsterdam Center for International Law (ACIL), which has become a center of excellence at the University of Amsterdam and ranks amongst the top institutions for international law in the Netherlands. His practical experience includes cases before the European Court on Human Rights, the Special Court for Sierra Leone, the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia, the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia, courts of the Netherlands and consultancy for a variety of international and national organizations. From 1998 to 2010 he was of-counsel at Bohler, attorneys in Amsterdam.

Mark A. Pollack is Professor of Political Science and Law and Jean Monnet Chair at Temple University, in Philadelphia, where he also serves as Director of Global Studies. He received his PhD from Harvard University, and taught at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and the European University Institute in Florence, Italy before coming to Temple. He is the author of two books, The Engines of European Integration (Oxford University Press, 2003), and co-author (with Gregory C. Shaffer) of When Cooperation Fails (Oxford University Press, May 2009). He is also editor or co-editor of eight books, including most recently Interdisciplinary Perspectives on International Law and International Relations (with Jeffrey L. Dunoff, Cambridge University Press, 2013), and Policy-Making in the European Union, 7th edition (with Helen Wallace and Alasdair Young, Oxford University Press, 2015). His most recent work on international courts has appeared in journals such as The American Journal of International Law, the Michigan Journal of International Law and the International Journal of Constitutional Law.

Tom Ruys is a Professor of International Law at Ghent University, where he heads the Ghent Rolin-Jaequemyns International Law Institute (GRILI). He has authored several publications, including the monograph ‘Armed Attack’ and Article 51 of the UN Charter: Evolutions in Customary Law and Practice (Cambridge University Press, 2010), which was awarded the Lieber Prize by the American Society of International Law, as well as The Use of Force in International Law: A Case-based Approach (co-edited with O. Corten; Oxford University Press, 2018). Ruys is co-editor-in-chief of the Journal of the Use of Force and International Law and of the Military Law and Law of War Review.
Edward Swaine is Charles Kennedy Poe Research Professor at George Washington (GW) Law School, where he teaches and writes in the areas of international law, foreign relations law, international antitrust and contracts. He is the co-author of Foreign Relations and National Security Law: Cases, Materials and Simulations (4th ed. 2011) (with Franck, Glennon and Murphy) and has published work in the American Journal of International Law, Columbia Law Review, Duke Law Journal, Harvard International Law Journal, Stanford Law Review, University of Pennsylvania Law Review, Virginia Journal of International Law, William and Mary Law Review and Yale Journal of International Law, among others. Professor Swaine joined the GW faculty in 2006, after serving as the Counselor on International Law at the US Department of State. Before entering academia, Professor Swaine practiced law at the Brussels office of Cleary, Gottlieb, Steen and Hamilton and served as a member of the civil appellate staff at the US Department of Justice. He is a graduate of Yale Law School, where he was the Editor-in-Chief of the Yale Law Journal, and Harvard College. Professor Swaine is a reporter for the American Law Institute’s Restatement of the Law (Fourth), Foreign Relations Law of the United States, and an elected member of the American Law Institute. He is a member of the Advisory Committee on Public International Law for the US State Department, a past member of the Executive Council of the American Society of International Law and former co-chair of the International Law in Domestic Groups interest group.

Guglielmo Verdirame QC is Professor of International Law at King’s College London where he is appointed jointly by the Department of War Studies and the Dickson Poon School of Law. Professor Verdirame is the author of The UN and Human Rights: Who Guards the Guardians? (2011, Cambridge University Press), Winner of the Biennial ACUNS Book Award, and of Rights in Exile (Berghahn Books, 2005), as well as numerous articles and chapters in books. Before joining King’s, he was a lecturer in the Faculty of Law at the University of Cambridge and a fellow of the Lauterpacht Centre for International Law (2003–11); a junior research fellow at Merton College, Oxford (2000–3); and a research officer at the Refugee Studies Centre at the University of Oxford (1997–8). Professor Verdirame was a visiting professor at Columbia Law School (2015) and a visiting fellow at Harvard Law School (2007). Professor Verdirame has practiced as a Barrister at Twenty Essex chambers in London since 2006, and was appointed Queen’s Counsel in 2019. He specializes in public international law cases, especially investment arbitrations, interstate disputes as well as cases before the English courts involving international law issues.
Acknowledgements

We are grateful to the International Legal Theory Group of the American Society of International Law (ASIL) and especially Mortimer Sellers for accepting our proposal for a symposium and for their continuous support in our effort. Thank you to Richmond Law School and Dean Wendy Perdue for providing generous funds to sponsor the symposium and to the staff of Tillar House for hosting us in their beautiful location.

Our thanks to all the contributors for sharing with us their thoughtful ideas and for their patience as we finalized this manuscript. Thank you also to the staff of Richmond Law Library for checking and editing drafts and to editors and staff at Cambridge University Press for their hard work turning the manuscript into a book and for their patience during the process of completion.

CG & GV

My thanks and love go, as always, to Alexander and Charlotte for all the joy they bring.

CG

xiii