

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

Index

- Abbrégé de la doctrine de S. Augustin touchant la grâce*, by Conry, 4 n. 2
- Abbrégé de l'histoire de Port-Royal*, see under Racine
- Abstract of the transactions relating to the English secular clergy*, by J. Sergeant, 169, 179
- Abstract of what is necessary to be known concerning the Constitution Unigenitus*, 177, 288
- Act of Appeal of the Cardinal of Noailles*, 287
- Acton, Lord John E. E. D., quoted, 92 and n. 2, 93 n. 2, 94 n. 1, 100
- Adda, Ferdinando d', Nuncio in England, 182
- Addison, Joseph, praises the Messieurs, 264
- Additionalls to the mistery of Jesuitisme*, 103, 278
- Additionalss to the Mystery of Jesuitisme*, 104 and n. 2, 279, 280
- Ad sanctam B. Petri Sedem*, see under Bulls
- Affaire de Pilmot*, 2
- Affaire des Hibernois*, 187–201, and see under Catholics, Irish
- Agnès, la Mère, see Arnauld, Jeanne Catherine Agnès
- Aitken, the Rev. Robert, 274 n. 5
- A. K. H., 275 n. 5
- Albizzi, Francesco, assessor of the Holy Office, 7 n. 1
- Alestreet, W., quoted, 120
- Alet, Bishop of, see Pavillon
- Alet, Tour to...*, see Schimmelpenninck
- Aleth, Voyage d'*, by Lancelot, 267
- Alexander VII, Pope, his steps to uproot Jansenism, 55; his Bull Ad sanctam B. Petri Sedem confirms the Bull Cum occasione, xvi, xix, 53 n. 4, 60, 117, 121; his Bull imposing a formulary (Regiminis apostolici), xvi, xix, 118; Bellings sent to him to secure Aubigny's promotion to the cardinalate, 90, 91; refuses to promote Aubigny, 91, 94; knew Aubigny personally, 93 n. 5; Bellings brings letters from him, 93; Charles II suspected of dealing with him, 93; his condemnation of Jansenism accepted in the Oblatio ex parte Caroli II, 92; clashes with Louis XIV, 119; sends a brief against the four bishops, 119; his death relieves the Jansenists, 119; English Catholics said to submit to his bulls, 171, 172
- Allegiance, oath of, 9, 63 n. 1, 205, 261
- Allers, Mr, accused of Jansenism, 185
- Altieri, Mgr, cardinal-protector of Ireland, 208
- A., M., i.e. Arnauld, 99
- America, almost visited by Jansenists, 97
- Amici Hiberni ad Amicum Doctorem Martin Hibernum*, 219
- Amiot, Dr, defends the Irish, 200
- Amis du dehors*, 40
- Amor Penitens*, see under Neercassel
- Andilly, see Arnauld d'Andilly
- Andrews, William, his translation of the Lettres Provinciales, 115, 290
- Angélique de Saint-Jean, see Arnauld d'Andilly
- Angélique, la Mère, see Arnauld, Jacqueline Marie Angélique
- Angers, Bishop of, see Arnauld, Henri
- Angers, University of, 129
- Angervillers, M. de, 248
- Anglican ordinations, see Validity
- Anglicans, attitude to Presbyterians, 135; their interest in Jansenism, 134–48, passim; attacks on Jansenism, 45, 144, 145, 283, 285; seek rapprochement with Jansenists, 54, 105; contemplate union with Gallican Church, 54, 105, 136, 257–9; union with them sought, 179; society for reunion with Old Catholic Communions, 259. See also Church of England
- Animadversiones in aliqua Corn. Jansenii dogmata*, 145, 285
- Annat, François, S.J., Bernières will not grovel before him, 85; his answer to the Lettres Provinciales translated, 104, 143, 280; satirized, 123; Pascal's letter to him, 290
- Anne of Austria, wife of Louis XIII, 45; the Maitlands recommended to her, 27; informed of Arnauld's alleged understanding with Cromwell, 46

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

- Anne, Queen of England, 220
- Another part of the Mystery of Jesuitism* (pamphlets translated by Evelyn), 106, 112 n. 2, 281
- Answer to the Apology for the Provincial Letters*, by le P. Daniel, a translation, 285
- Answer to the Provincial Letters*, by Annat and Nouet, a translation, 104, 143, 285
- Apologétique Mémoires*, see Mémoires apologétiques
- Apologie des Catholiques*, see under Arnauld
- Apologie des Lettres Provinciales*, by Petit-Didier, printed, 165; answered, 285
- Apologie pour les Casuistes contre les calomnies des Jansénistes*, 104, 105, 279, 280
- Apologies de M. l'Évêque de Babylone* (i.e. Varlet), 178
- Apology for the Provincial Letters*, an Answer to, by le P. Daniel, 285
- Appellants, see under Bull Unigenitus
- Arber's Term Catalogues, 278
- Archange, le Père, see Pembroke
- Archbishops of Paris, see Paris, Archbishops
- Archpriest controversy, 169
- Ardpatrick, Synod of, 208
- Arlington, see Bennet
- Armagh, Archbishop of (Roman Catholic), 208 n. 1
- Armagh, Synod of, 204
- Arnaud, M., entre deux larrons*, 123
- Arnauld family, 21
- Arnauld, la Mère Anne-Eugénie, sister of le grand Arnauld, 10; receives advice from Father Pembroke, 18; helps Miss Maitland, 28; death, 28
- Arnauld, Antoine, father of le grand Arnauld, 14, 15, 17
- Arnauld, Antoine, known as "le grand Arnauld", 100, 158; sees Conry's Peregrinus through the press, 4; provides a French translation, 4; visited by Sinnich, 6; esteems him, 9; composes titles for one of his works, 9 n. 1; attends Desmares' sermons, 66; appeals with others to the Parlement of Paris, 189; censured by the Sorbonne, xvi, 55, 155; excluded, xvi, 55, 127, 128, 155; the Provinciales appear in his defence, 55; said to have helped Pascal to write them, 112; his case described by Barrow, 135; relations with Holden, 156; Holden's attitude to him, 155 and n. 2, 157; writes to Cardinal Barberini and to the Cardinal of San Clemente, 156; accused of intriguing with Cromwell, 46; defends Dr Callaghan, 35–8; error with regard to le P. Vavassor, 35–6; thanked by Charles II, 57; relations with Charles II, 58; on the Duke of Monmouth, 61; Aubigny corresponds with him, 91; friend of Aubigny, 97; hears news of English Catholics, 205; his friend Brunetti, 97; has Nicole living with him, 127; lives at Les Granges, 268; his Cartesianism, 128; hears of the pseudo M. de Luzancy, 277; his controversy with Claude, concerning the Eucharist, 126, 127, 128, 278; leaves France, xvii, 160; in Holland, 25, 132; at Utrecht, 221; at Delft, 221; esteemed by James II, 223; declines offer of establishment in England, 223; admires James II, 223; breaks with the Landgrave of Hesse, 223; disapproves of favours shown to Father Petre, 223; concerned for the fate of James II, 224; relations with Leyburn, 182; hears Leyburn is weak with the Jesuits, 182–3; in touch with the English Catholic clergy, 159; defends the English Jesuits in his Apologie des Catholiques (q.v.), 221; tries to get documents concerning Popish Plot, 221; thinks the plot an invention, 221; attacks Sir Robert Southwell, 220–2; apologizes to him, 222; tribulations brought on him by his book against the Prince of Orange, 224; his companion in exile, M. Ruth d'Ans, 225; death, xvii, 160; Thomas Innes at his anniversary mass, 230; his portrait in Mme de Gramont's room, 244; his portrait said to be found in English Catholic Chapels, 163; his mantle falls on Quesnel, 161; esteemed a saint, 119; none to be compared to him among the Papists, 127; possibly known to English readers, 109; admired by Bishop Warburton, 263 n. 5; English youth said to be indebted to him, 267; admired by Dr Betham, 226; commended by an Englishman, 286; quoted, 225; his rooms in 1814, 269; his brother, the Bishop of Angers, see Arnauld, Henri
- His Apologie des Catholiques*, at-

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

307

- tacks Southwell, 220–2; noticed by other Englishmen, 220; written in exile, 221; documents obtained with difficulty, 221–2; defends English Jesuits, 221; rectified, 222 and n. 6; fate in France, 221 n. 4; his Fréquent Communion, 180 n. 3; published, xv; defended by Dr Bourgeois, xv, 7, 154, 201; impresses Lord Muskerry, 52; reprinted, 125; the Latin translation translated into English, 51, 93 n. 1; the translation prohibited in Ireland, 209; commended by Jeremy Taylor, 139; in Leighton's library, 137; in Waple's library, 274 n. 6; his Fantôme du Jansénisme, 182; his Grammaire générale et raisonnée (written with Lancelot), translated, 278; his Innocence et la Vérité défendues, and other pamphlets, 38, 53; his Lettre apologétique à un évêque, translated, 53; his Lettre à un docteur de Sorbonne (written with Dr Callaghan), 37; his Lettre à un duc et pair, xvi, 23, 55, 101, 127, 155; his Lettre à une personne de condition, xvi, 23, 155; his Lettres in Ormonde's library, 53; sent to England, 178; his Logique ou l'Art de Penser (written with Nicole), founded on Descartes, 128; translated into Latin, 113, 283, into English, 264, 278; his Nouvelle Hérésie translated, 106, 107, 108, 281; his Onguent pour la brûlure (written with Nicole and Barbier d'Aucourt), 117; his Perpétuité de la Foi (written with Nicole), 122, 123, 277; his Prince d'Orange, nouvel Absalon, xvii, 224; the Septième Factum, attributed to him, 105; translated, 105, 280; his Tradition de l'Église, 53; his continuation of Pontchâteau's Pratique Morale, 282; his share in some of the Écrits published with the Provinciales, 104, 279, 280; satire attributed to him, 123; secret sale of his books, 130
- Arnauld, Eugénie, see Arnauld, Anne Eugénie
- Arnauld, Henri, Bishop of Angers, brother of le grand Arnauld, refuses to conform, xvi, 127; his popularity, 120; known to Williamson, 128; described by a traveller, 128; accused of Jansenism, 129; letter to Innocent XI, 129; death, 160. See also Bishops, dissenting
- Arnauld, Jacqueline Marie Angélique de Sainte Madeleine (la Mère Angélique), sister of le grand Arnauld, abbess, xv; reforms Port Royal, xv, 14; her director, Father Pembroke, 14–19; perplexed by family interference, 17; her sister Agnès commended to her care, 18; at Maubuisson, 18; St François de Sales her guide, 18; returns to Port Royal des Champs, xv; interest in the Maitlands, 26, 27, 28; esteems Dr Callaghan, 33; not taken with the Queen of England, 41; believes in the possibility of the conversion of Charles II, 42; repudiates calumnies, 46; her friend, the Queen of Poland, 49; writes to the Queen on behalf of Lord Muskerry, 51; opinion of Lord Muskerry, 52; thanks the Queen for her kindness to Muskerry, 52; on the English Benedictine nuns in Paris, 68; kindness to them, 72; gives alms to Irish priest, 188; death, xvi, 66; death-mask, 29; buried at Port Royal de Paris, 267; her engraved portrait at Sion College, London, 275
- Arnauld, Jeanne Catherine Agnès de Saint-Paul (la Mère Agnès), sister of le grand Arnauld, impresses Father Pembroke, 17–18; abbess of Port Royal de Paris, 64; on Helen Muskerry, 65; kindness to English Benedictine nuns, 72; asks to have English Benedictine Fathers appointed confessors, 74
- Arnauld, Mme, mother of le grand Arnauld, 15, 17
- Arnauld d'Andilly, Angélique de Saint-Jean, niece of le grand Arnauld, 100; helps Miss Maitland, 29; informed of measures against Port Royal, 24; her brother M. de Luzancy, 277
- Arnauld d'Andilly, Robert, brother of le grand Arnauld, recommends Lord Muskerry to the Maréchal de Fabre, 52; hears from Aubigny, 97; received by Louis XIV, 126; his son M. de Pomponne (q.v.), 126; his son M. de Luzancy, 277; wrote at Les Granges, 269; his trees at Les Granges, 272; his Vies des Saints Pères des Déserts, in Leighton's library, 137; in Law's library, 264; in Waple's library, 274 n. 6
- Arnauld de Luzancy, Charles Henri, nephew of le grand Arnauld, 277

20-2

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

308

INDEX

- Arnauld de Pomponne, Nicolas Simon, nephew of le grand Arnauld, Foreign Secretary to Louis XIV, made a Minister, 126; his credit helps his uncle, the bishop, 129 and n. 4; friend of Mme de Gramont, 244; his father, see Arnauld d'Andilly; his brother, see Arnauld de Luzancy
- Arnoul, M., Prior of Chambourcy, 242
- Arouet, Armand, consorts with convulsionaries, 248
- Ars Cogitandi* (Arnauld's Logique, q.v.), 283
- Art de Penser*, see Arnauld, Logique
- Art of Speaking* (Arnauld's Grammaire, q.v.), 278
- Art of Thinking* (Arnauld's Logique, q.v.), 278
- Assemblies of the French clergy, see Catholics, French, clergy
- Asson, Antoine Baudry de Saint-Gilles d', 53
- Aston, Edward Richard, witnesses miracles, 247
- Aston, Walter, 4th Lord, 247 n. 2
- Athalia*, said to be full of allusions to contemporary history of England, 224 n. 3
- Atterbury, Francis, Bishop of Rochester, said to have helped Le Courayer's flight, 260; forbidden to receive Jansenists, 260; on the miracles at St Médard, 247
- Aubenton, le P. de, S.J., 242
- Aubigny, see Stuart d'Aubigny
- Aubigny, town and château of, 76 n. 6
- Aubray, Dreux de, lieutenant-civil, 64
- Auctorem Fidei*, see under Bulls
- Augustin d'Ipres, see Augustinus, under Jansenius
- Augustinian nuns, English, in Paris, 13
- Augustinus*, see under Jansenius
- Aumont, Anne de Cheverny, marquise de, meets Dr Callaghan at Port Royal de Paris, 35; has him appointed curé-prieur of Cour-Cheverny, 35, 37; complains of Brisacier, 37; helps exiles, 40, 41
- Aurelius, Petrus, see under Saint-Cyran, Barcos, and Vindiciae
- Austria, Jansenism in, ix
- Avaux, Claude de Mesmes, comte de, 221; makes Lancelot sit down beside James II, 225
- Babylone, M. l'Évêque de (Varlet, Dominique), 178
- Bagni, Nicola, Nuncio in France, on the proposed Callaghan mission, 43; has audience to show Bull, 45
- Bagnols, M. Dugué or Du Gué, Solitary, 10; friend of Aubigny, 97, 99
- Bagwell, R., quoted, 93 n. 2
- Baianism, 218, 289
- Bail, M., curé of Montmartre, imposed on Port Royal as superior, 30, 74; visits Port Royal de Paris and Port Royal des Champs, 30
- Baillie, Robert, Principal of the University of Glasgow, 138
- Baius, Michael, 140; papal condemnations, 6, 7 n. 1; Irish students accept Bulls against him, 192
- Bampfylde, Col., 57
- Bannatyne, Miss, at Port Royal, 29 n. 1
- Banny or Bauny, Mgr, 59
- Barberini family, 7 n. 1
- Barberini, Francesco, Cardinal, 151 n. 7; receives Sinnich, 7; to help with the Duke of Gloucester's conversion, 59; approached in Aubigny's behalf, 91; apparently in favour of Aubigny's promotion, 94; disapproves of Blackloe and Holden, 153; hears from Arnauld, 156; condemns Irish Remonstrance, 205
- Barbier d'Aucourt, Jean, 117 n. 1
- Barchman, Cornelius John, Archbishop of Utrecht, sends mission to England, 179
- Barclay, William, 10 n. 2
- Barcos, Martin de, abbé de Saint-Cyran, nephew of M. de Saint-Cyran, 225; issues Conry's Peregrinus, 4; visited by Sinnich, 6; probably helped Saint-Cyran to write the works of "Petrus Aurelius", 11; publication of these works, xv; Bishop Smith and "Petrus Aurelius", 13 n. 4; friend of Dr Callaghan, 35
- Bargellini, Nicola, Nuncio in France, instructed to work for reconciliation, 119; complains of a medal, 122; disliked by ministers of Louis XIV, 122; draws the attention of Louis XIV to assemblies at the Hôtel de Longueville, 125; shifts responsibility on to the Archbishop of Paris, 125; writes against Dr Kelly, 208

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

309

- Barillon, Paul d'Amoncourt, ambassador in England, quoted, 221–2
- Barlow, Mrs, alias Lucy Walter, 60
- Barlow, Dr Thomas, Bishop of Lincoln, acknowledges copy of the Mystery of Jesuitism, 109
- Barnard, H. C., 275 n. 5
- Barneville, see Barnewall
- Barnewall, Father John, 207
- Barnewall, Mary-Anne, 252 n. 1
- Barnewall, Matthew, birth and family, 251 n. 5; imprisoned in the Bastille, 212, 251; hears of Dutch ordinations, 212; again imprisoned, 251; believes in convulsionaries, 216, 251; protests against formulary and Unigenitus, 252; corresponds with Soanen, 252; death, 251–2
- Barnewalls, the, Viscounts Kingsland, 251 and n. 5
- Barnewel, see Barnewall
- Barrington, Shute, successively Bishop of Llandaff, Salisbury and Durham, tries to get Port Royal books, 266
- Barrow, Isaac, on Arnauld and the five propositions, 135
- Bartet, French agent in London, involved in Aubigny-Retz intrigues, 81; consorts with Jansenists, 81
- Bascle, Étienne de, Solitary, 20
- Basile, le P., Capuchin, 14, 16 n. 2
- Bastille papers, 248 n. 5, 249, 293
- Batteville or Vatteville, Baron de, Spanish Ambassador, 84 n. 5, 96
- Baxter, Richard, hears about Jansenists, 135–6; makes use of the Provinciales, 102 n. 4, 136; criticizes Gale's views, 144; his theology attacked with that of Jansenius, 145, 285
- Bayle, Pierre, on the life of Pascal, 114
- Beara or Beirne, O'Sullivan, 46
- Beard, Charles, 275 n. 5
- Beaufes, James, 280
- Beaumont, Christophe de, Archbishop of Paris, orders refusal of sacraments to Jansenists, 252; punishes disobedient priests, 252–3
- Beaupuis, M. de, see Walon de Beaupuis
- Beauvais, Bishop of (Choart de Buzanval), see Bishops, dissenting
- Beauvais, Canons of, Jansenists by reputation, 132; accused of intriguing with England, xvii, 132
- Beauvoir, William, Chaplain to Lord Stair, consorts with Jansenists, 186 n. 4, 257; knew the abbé Girardin, 259
- Beggar's Opera*, 177
- Beirne or Beara, O'Sullivan, 46
- Bel-Air, M. de, 51 n. 3
- Bellièvre, M. de (“Monsieur de B.”), 99
- Bellings, Richard, 203; hostile to Rinuccini, 205; imprisoned in Ireland, 34; Vindicium... attributed to him, 34; leaves Ireland, 34; receives reply from Father Ponce, 34 n. 1; vouches for Callaghan, 37; befriended by Jansenists, 206; friend of Jansenists, 51, 93 and n. 1; receives letter from them, 51; translates the Latin translation of Arnauld's Frequente Communion, 51; goes to Poland with Lord Muskerry, 51–2; perhaps visits M. Le Maître, 51 n. 3; brings Jansenists some propositions from Charles II, 58; brings Charles II proposal for the conversion of the Duke of Gloucester, 59; visits Sinnich in Louvain, 60; sees Hyde at Bruges, 60; receives Charles' answer to Aubigny's proposition, 60; draws up Irish protestation of allegiance, 93, 205 and n. 2; not a Jansenist accepting the five propositions, 206–7; in Rome in behalf of Aubigny's promotion, 90–1, 205; visits Retz and Montagu, 91; his instructions, 91; well received in Rome, 91; his mission unsuccessful, 91; second part of his mission a project of reunion, 92; the Oblatio sometimes attributed to him, 92; returns to Paris, 91; reply received from the Pope, 94; returns to England, 93
- Bellings, Richard, the younger, 93 n. 2
- Benedict XIII, 289
- Benedict XIV, 254
- Benedictine nuns, English, in Brussels, 12
- Benedictine nuns, English, in Paris, visit Port Royal de Paris, 68; poverty and humility, 68, 72, 73; community in England to-day, xii, 68; foundation, 68; transferred to Paris, 68; friends, 68; visited by death, 69; their confessor, 69; change of houses, 69; aided by M. Singlin, 70; by M. des Touches, xvi, 70–1; saddened by death of M. Singlin, 71; unable to see M. des Touches, 71; their French benefactors, 71–2; helped by M. de Sainte-Marthe, 72; by the Archbishop of Paris, 72; their constitutions criticized by Port Royal, 72; again helped by Port Royal, 73

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

310

INDEX

- Benedictines, English, 68; have an English general, 98; said to dislike Jesuits, 158; charged with Jansenism, 186 n. 4
- Benedictines, English, in Paris, relations with Port Royal, 74; Fitzjames buried in their convent, 254
- Bennet, Henry, first Earl of Arlington, writes on behalf of “Jansenius” (fictitious name), 56; intimacy with Aubigny, 96; hears French news, 117
- Bentivoglio, Mgr, Nuncio in France, 186 n. 4
- Bérénice*, by Racine, 126
- Berington, Joseph, favourable to Bishop Smith, 13 n. 4
- Bernier, M., see Bernières
- Bernières, Maignart de, 49; helps the Maitlands, 28–9; helps royalist exiles, 28, 40, 41; friend of Charles II, 47; thanked by Charles II, xvi, 47; sends him Port Royal writings, 52–3; provides him with a servant, 53; sends Port Royal writings to English exiles, 53; friend of Dr Kelly, 208; Dr Kelly to interpret Ormonde’s English letter to him, 48; possible negotiations with him in 1656, 56; lives with Aubigny, 58, 82; friend of Aubigny, 97; places the Duke of Monmouth at Le Chesnay, 61; kindness to English Benedictines, 71; exiled, 81–2; fears for Aubigny’s spiritual welfare, 83; will not grovel before Annat, 85; nor sign a formulary, 85, 86; his friends hope for the intervention of Charles II, 86; saddened by persecution of Port Royal, 86; allowed to leave Issoudun, 87; death, xvi, 29, 87
- Berriere, Mons., see Bernières
- Berryer, Nicolas René, lieutenant de police, 250
- Berwick, see Fitzjames
- Besoigne, Jérôme, his history of Port Royal, 271
- Betham, Dr John, preceptor of the Pretender, his Jansenist sympathies, xvii, 226, 241; instructs the Pretender in Jansenism, 226; does not wish the Queen to know, 226; upholds the Provinciales, 227; not in the interests of France, 227; advice concerning him, 227; dealt with by Noailles, 228; receives lettre de cachet, 228; death, 228
- Bible, translated into Irish, 145
- Bibliographies and catalogues, archives of the Chapter of Utrecht, 294; British history, 295; history of Roman Catholics in England, Ireland and Scotland, 295; Jansenism, 292, 294, 295; Pascal, 295; Port Royal, 292, 295; Quietism, 292; Traité sur la grâce, 292
- Bibliotheca-Antijansenia*, attributed to Labbe, 155 n. 1
- Bibliothèque Mazarine, 230
- Bichi, Antonio, Internuncio in Brussels, 8, 181
- Bignon, Jérôme, friend of Port Royal, 10
- Billet de confession, 252
- Bindley’s sale, 291 n.
- Bishop, William, Bishop of Chalcedon, created English Chapter, 168
- Bishops, appellant (Colbert of Montpellier, q.v., La Broue of Mirepoix, Langle of Boulogne, Soanen of Senez, q.v.), xvii, 130, 161
- Dissenting, the four (Pavillon of Alet, q.v., Arnauld of Angers, q.v., Buzanval of Beauvais, Caulet of Pamiers), refuse to conform, xvi; news sent to England concerning them, 118, 119, 120, 121, 127; their party upheld by Dr Kelly, 208
- “Gallican”, 11; independent of Rome, 95; “Jansenist”, 131
- See also* Church of England and Catholics, English
- Bissy, Henri de Thiard, Bishop of Toul and later Cardinal, prints letters from English vicars-apostolic accepting Unigenitus, xi, 176; gives advice to Mary of Modena, 227–8
- Blackloe, Thomas (White, Thomas), goes by many names, 149–50; reputation, 150; not averse to Jansenism, 149, 150, 151, 158; relations with Jansenists, 151, 152; independence, 152; esteems the Provinciales, 152; relations with Sir Kenelm Digby, 150; with Dr Bourgeois, 150; suspected of dealing with Cromwell, 154 n. 6; linked with Calvin and Jansenius, 151; disputes with Father Macedo, 151; opposes the condemnation of the five propositions, 151; accused of discrediting the English clergy, 157; the nuncio in France warns Estrades against him, 153; Aubigny to hinder his return to

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

311

- England, 153; ends life in London, 153; influence, 105; students, Dr Daniel, q.v., Dean Ellis, q.v., Dr Holden, q.v.; friends, Thomas Carr, 181; Mark Harrington, 157; Hobbes, 149, 153; his Exetasis, 281; his Grounds of Obedience and Government, 150 n. 4; his Mens Augustini de gratia Adami, 150 n. 7; his Monumentum Excantathus, 151 n. 7; his Muscarium, ib.; his Quaestio Theologica, ib.; his Sonus Buccinae, 151; his Tabulae suffragiales, 152, 156 n. 2
- Blackloism, 95, 150 and n. 1, 153, 158
- Blackloists, 159
- Blairs College, xi, 239
- B., M. de (Bellèvre, M. de), 99
- Bock, Jerome de, Bishop of Haarlem, 213
- Boero, G., documents published by him, 80; quoted, 91 and n. 6
- Boileau, friend of Mme de Gramont, 244; quoted by Hannah More, 265
- Bonheur de la mort chrétienne*, by Quesnel, 232
- Boniface VIII, 198
- "Book of Martyrs", by John Foxe, 162
- Books, see Jansenist books, Port Royal books, Translations, and the list, 278–91
- Boonen, Jacob, Archbishop of Malines, refuses to receive Bull, 134; letter by him, 279
- Boscawen, Mrs, friend of Hannah More, 266
- Bossuet, Jacques-Bénigne, Bishop of Meaux, a Cartesian, 127
- Boswell, James, receives Dr Johnson's copy of the Pensées, 256
- Bougeant, Guillaume Hyacinthe, S.J., his Quakeres François, 263
- Bouhours, Dominique, S.J., quarrel with Ménage, 129
- Boulogne, Bishop of (Pierre de Langle), see Bishops, appellant
- Bourgeois, Dr Jean, meets Sinnich in Rome, xv, 7; friend of Blackloe, 150; helped by Digby, 154; death, 160
- Bourke, Hugh, Commissary of the Irish Friars Minor in Germany and Belgium, 4 and n. 3
- Boyer, le P. Pierre, his Parallèle translated, 261, 288
- Boyle, Robert, said to have translated Nicole's Essays, 112–13; the first translation of the Pensées dedicated to him, 113; hears French news, 116, 117; the Reconcilableness of God's Prescience written at his instance, 144; decides to have Bible translated into Irish, 145; wishes to use preface of Port Royal New Testament, 145–7
- Brabant, Council of, 135
- Bracquerville, M., friend of Port Royal, 25
- Brady, —, Irish priest in Paris, 218
- Bramhall, John, Protestant Archbishop of Armagh, acquainted with Jansenism, 134, 135 and n. 1
- Brandon, M., friend of Port Royal, 25
- Brégy, Anne Marie de Sainte-Eustoquie de, 49
- Brégy, comtesse de, 49
- Brennan, Dr, Catholic Archbishop of Cashel, on Jansenist books in Ireland, 209; takes measures, 209–10
- Brief Abstract of the Memorial concerning the State and Progress of Jansenism in Holland*, by Doucin, a translation, 284
- Briefs, papal, see under Alexander VII, Clement XI, Clement XII
- Brienne, see Loménie
- Brigode, Ernest de, Jansenist canon of Brussels, corresponds with English Chapter, 179; corresponds with Girardin, 260; interested in reunion, 260
- Brisacier, Jean de, S.J., attacks Port Royal, 32; warfare of polemics with Dr Callaghan, xv, 33 n. 5, 35–9, 187
- Brisland, Irish priest in Paris, 219 n. 1
- Bristol, Lord, see Digby, George
- Brompton Oratory, see London Oratory
- Brown, the Rev. W. E., quoted, 239 n. 2
- Bruce, Robert, second Earl of Elgin, 109
- Brunetti, Cosimo, Italian translator of the Provinciales, 97; lives with Aubigny, 97 and n. 4
- Brussels, Benedictine nuns of, 12
- Buckingham, Duke of (George Villiers), helps to write Sir Politich-would-be, 86
- Bulls, against Baius, 192; against Jansenius, 190, 192; the Irish students in Paris sign a declaration accepting all Bulls, 198
- Bulls of Boniface VIII, 198
- Bulls of Urban VIII, In eminenti (1642), xv, 6, 7 and n. 1, 8

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

- Bulls of Innocent X, Cum occasione (1653), xix; published, xvi, 45; condemns the five propositions, 45; accepted by the French court, 45; attitude of the University of Paris doubtful, 45; discourses printed against, 45; confirmed by Alexander VII, 60, 117
- Bulls of Alexander VII, Ad sanctam B. Petri Sedem (1656), confirms Bull Cum occasione, xvi, xix, 53 n. 4, 60, 117, 121; Regimini apostolici (1665) imposes formulary, xvi, xix, 118
- Bulls of Clement XI, Vineam Domini (1705), x; published, xvii, 160; English, Scottish and Irish Catholics, invited to adhere, 171, 235; accepted in England, 172, 176
- Unigenitus* (1713), published, xvii, 260; condemns Quesnel's Réflexions morales, 161; controversy, 130; Matthew Prior sends reports, 130; measures of the Parlement of Paris, 217; promoted by the Cardinal de Bissy, xi, 227; accepted by Fitzjames, 254; sent to England, 175; received by Bishop Giffard, x; accepted by English vicars-apostolic, xi, 176; accepted in England, 176; has to be accepted by English missionary priests, 253; translated into English, 260; printed and reprinted, 261, 286; English Catholics instructed, 177; defended by Bishop Petre, 180; subscribed by superiors of Douay College, 186; said to be accepted by superiors of Scots College, 239 n. 2; all Scottish missionary priests to be made to accept it, 235; disrespectful students excluded from Scots College, 237; defended by the Franciscan Hutchinson, 186 n. 4; accepted in Ireland and by the Irish in Paris, 215, 216; upheld in Irish Sorbonne theses, 217; missionaries for Ireland instructed, 218; Sorbonne doctors, partisans, unwilling to conform to the law of silence, 218; Irish priest imprisoned for breaking the law of silence, 218; books in favour, xi, 177, 286, 288, 289
- Not universally received, 161; said to be accepted reluctantly by Bishop Giffard, 175; attacked by Dr Wauchope, 180; not enforced by Bishop Gordon, 283; rejected by Matthew Barnewall, 252; not accepted by Plowden, 253; rejected by the Carmelite nuns of St Denis, 254; rouses hostility in England, 261; as well known as the Beggar's Opera, 177; hostile books sent to England, 178; English translations of hostile books, 260 et seq., 286–9; English polemics sent to Utrecht, 180; answered by Petitpied, 180; hostile books sent to China, 177; refusal of sacraments to adversaries, 252; a contrivance of the Jesuits, 231; described by Wesley, 257; said to put an end to all attempts of reconciliation, 257; miracles said to be wrought in opposition, 263
- Appellants, Beauvoir in their society, 257; Fitzjames considered favourable to them, 254; abused in Irish theses, 216; Bishops, see under Bishops; English, 176; Butlery, 216 n. 2; Duguet, 231; Flannery, 216 n. 2; Girardin, 259; Gordon, 236 n. 4; Innes, G., 236; Innes, L., 236; Innes, T., 231, 234, 236, 239; Le Courayer, 259; Macarty, 216 n. 2; Mackivorly, 216 n. 2; Noailles, xvii, 176, 287, 288, retract, xviii; Rollin, 231; Smith, 238 and n. 1; Whiteford, 234, 236, retract, 236
- Bulls of Pius VI, Auctorem Fidei (1794), 219 n. 2
- Bull Unigenitus clear'd from Innovation and Immorality*, 177, 178, 179, 289
- Burnet, Gilbert, Bishop of Salisbury, on Aubigny, 76; on the conversion of Charles II, 79; on the strong-box papers, 100; wished to meet Jansenists, 136; on Leighton, 136, 137
- Bussi or Bussy, Mgr, successively Intendant in Brussels and Cologne, hears Saltmarsh defending Van Erkel, 171; charges Saltmarsh with Jansenism, 170–1; charges Dr Heward with Jansenism, 183
- Butler, Christopher, Catholic Archbishop of Cashel, on the orthodoxy of Ireland, 215
- Butler, Edmund, charged with Jansenism, 188 and n. 1
- Butler, James, first Duke of Ormonde, 59 n. 1; his peace of 1646, 32, 34; Dr Callaghan one of his adherents, 32, 33, 37; blamed for proposing Callaghan for mission to Rome, 44 n. 5; thanks Singlin and Bernières for charity to refugees, 47–8; his letter

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

313

- well received, 49; sends letter of authority to Dr Kelly, 49; issent refutation of the Provinciales, 53; possesses Jansenist books, 38 n. 5, 53; on possible help from Kelly and Bernières, 56; thinks friendship of Jansenists lost, 58; to be informed of Aubigny's plan for the conversion of the Duke of Gloucester, 59; at meeting in behalf of English Catholics, 84 n. 5; urges Irish clergy to accept Remonstrance, 206; thinks Walsh's book dangerous, 207; his brother-in-law, see Hamilton, Sir George; MacCarthy, Donogh; his sister, see Hamilton, Lady
- Butlery, Petrus, Appellant, 216 n. 2
- Buzanval, Choart de, Bishop of Beauvais, see Bishops, dissenting
- Caen, Collège de, 139
- Cahill or O'Cahill, H., charged with Jansenism, 188 and n. 1
- "Calaganes", 32
- Calamy, Edmund, the elder, 145
- Calamy, Edmund, grandson of the above, converses with Jansenists, 145
- Calendrier des Amis de la Vérité*, 5
- Callaghan (MacCallaghan, O'Callaghan), Dr John, 39, 187, 206; birth 32; education, 32; in Ireland, 32; disliked by Irish Jesuits in Paris, 32; adherent of Ormonde, 32, 33; a Jansenist, 41; said to be sent to Ireland to spread Jansenism, 188; Muskerry wants him to be Bishop of Cork, 32-3; opponent of Rinuccini, 33; tutor to Lord Muskerry's son, 33, 41; at Port Royal de Paris, 33; esteemed by la Mère Angélique, 33; at Port Royal des Champs, 33; probably acted as intermediary between Port Royal and the exiles, 41; introduces Lord Muskerry to Port Royal, 51; writes against Rinuccini, 44; his Vindiciarum Hibernia auctore Philopatre Irenaeo Libri duo, 33-4; commended by Hyde, 34; opposes Irish students signing censure of five propositions, 35; curé of Cour Cheverny, 34; opposed by Jesuits, 35, 39; opposed by Irish, 36, 39; attacked by Brisacier, xv, 35-9; protests, 37-9; defended by Lombard, 35; by Arnould, 36-8, 53; by Mme d'Aumont, 37; by Charles II, 38-9; Irish friends to vouch for him, 37; approbator of one of Arnould's books, 155 n. 2; to go to Rome in behalf of Charles II, 39, 42; his Jansenism a stumbling-block, 39; his mission to be financed by Jansenists, 43, 44; his proposed mission alarms the Protestants, 44; mission opposed by Jesuits, 44; abandoned, 44; to "undertake" Father Ponce, 44; death, 44 n. 5; errors in Rapin's account of him, 188 and n. 2; included in the Calendrier des Amis de la Vérité, 5 and n. 5
- Callaghan, —, a second one attached to Port Royal, 33 n. 4, 39 n. 4
- Callaghan, priests by name of, in Paris, 39
- "Callaghanes", 37
- Callaghanus an Satyrus?*, 35-6
- Calvin, 13, 136; linked with Jansenism, 144, 283; with Jansenism and Blackloe, 151; Jesuits said to be worse, 176
- Calvinism, resemblance to Jansenism, 41 n. 1; said to be introduced by Jansenists, 111
- Calvinists, Jansenists said to resemble them, 139; la Paix de l'Église at their expense, 122
- Campbell, Colin, accuses Scotch of Jansenism, 237 n. 2, 239; denounces T. Innes, 231
- Campo, Juan de (Dr John Cecil), 21
- Canons of Beauvais, see Beauvais
- Canterbury appellants, 176
- Canterbury, Archbishop of (Thomas Tenison), 257 n. 4. See also Wake
- Caprara, Cardinal, hears reports of English Jansenism, 164; receives anti-Jansenist declaration from England, 172; approached on behalf of Douay College, 184-5; advises the President to come to Rome, 185
- Caramuel y Lobkowitz, Juan, 279
- Carey, Dame Clementia, goes to Paris, 68; in quest of a house for the English Benedictines, 69; turns to MM. de Port Royal for help, 70; visits new house, 70; takes M. des Touches for a student, 70; discovers her error, 71
- Carmelite nuns at Saint-Denis, 254
- Carmelites, discalced, of Dublin, 212 n. 3
- Carnegie, James, accused of Jansenism, 234-5

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

- Caroline, Queen, wife of George II, quoted, 259; knew Girardin, 259; intercedes for him, 260; despises convulsionaries, 263
- Caron, Father Redmond, 9 n. 5
- Carr, Thomas, alias Miles Pinckney, accused of Jansenism, 181
- Carré de Montgéron, L.B., quoted, 216, 247; records miracles, 248, 263
- Cartesianism, of the Jansenists, 127–8 and 128 n. 1
- Caryll, John, titular Baron Caryll, writes in behalf of Douay, 184–5
- Cas de Conscience*, printed, xvii; described, 160; signed by Petitpied, 180; criticized by the Bishop of Chartres (Godet des Marais), 226; translated, 163, 284; Dr Hawarden's attitude, 183
- Case of Conscience*, translated by Fairfax, 163, 284
- Cashel, Synod of, 210
- Casuists, 9, 103, 278, 279; studied by Father Pembroke, 19; attacked by the clergy of Paris and Rouen, 105; attacked by Jansenists, 207
- Catechism for those that are more advanced in years and knowledge*, 235 n. 4
- Catechism of abridgement of Christian doctrine*, 235 n. 4
- Catechisms, Scottish, 235 and n. 4, 238 and n. 1. See also Jansenist catechisms, Montpellier Catechism
- Catherine of Braganza, wife of Charles II, touches a relic, 56; married by Aubigny, 86; Aubigny her almoner, 83; Aubigny to buy furnishings for her chapel, 85; writes to Cardinal Orsini in behalf of Aubigny, 90; her secretary, 93 n. 2; receives the Internuncio Vecchii, 94
- Catholic Church, Roman, to be infected with Calvinism by the Jansenists, 111; unity attacked, 134, 135, 142, 152, 256; attitude of English Church, 135 n. 1; use of the scriptures in vulgar tongues, 147; union with Protestant Churches, said to have been rendered impossible by the Bull Unigenitus, 257; attracts Mrs Schimmelpenninck, 267. See also Rome
- Catholic Church, Roman, in England, prospects viewed by MM. de Port Royal, 62–3; said to be oppressed by Jesuits, 169; condition described by Dr Short, 165–6; situation considered analogous to that of Utrecht, 179; rapprochement desired by Dutch Jansenists, 179. See also Catholics, English
- Catholic historians, 207, 211
- Catholics would be reassured by the Duke of Gloucester's conversion, 59. See also Projects of Union
- Catholics, English, position improved with marriage of Charles I, 27; possible rapprochement with Cromwell, 59, 80; Aubigny to be their bishop, 80; Aubigny in charge of their interests, 153; promised toleration, 58; said to be made to swear articles similar to those of the Sorbonne, 205; assemblies, 84 n. 5; not to accept any "extraordinary authority from Rome", 84 n. 5; their prospects dependent on Aubigny's promotion, 91; Charles II simulates aversion to them, 94; adversely affected by decision not to promote Aubigny, 94 and n. 1; served by Charles II, 205 n. 2; said to be harmed by the indiscreet, 205; desire bishop, 57, 84 n. 5, 88–9; said to encounter opposition of Jesuits, 174; Utrecht interested in their struggle to obtain bishop, 168; attacked by Jurieu, 221; defended by Arnauld, 220–1; warned against Jansenism, 162–3; their agent in Rome, 170; accused of Jansenism, xvii; invited to adhere to the Bull Vineam Domini, xvii, 171; warned against Jansenist books, 171; said to know Jansenism by hearsay only, 173; said to have translated Provinciales, 102; said to read Quesnel in spite of prohibition, 176; said to praise Port Royal, 176; said to speak against Jesuits, 176; correspond with Dutch Jansenists, 246; situation does not permit active enforcement of Bull Unigenitus, x, 175; said to accept Vineam Domini and Unigenitus, 176; instructed in the matter of Unigenitus, 177; less on their guard against Jansenism than the Irish, 204; possible reunion with Protestants, 223. See also Catholic Church, Roman, in England; Jansenism in England; Jansenists, English
- Clergy, consult the Faculty of Theology in Paris, 11–12; said to be discredited by Blackloe and Holden, 157; said to detest Jansenism, 157;

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

315

- disappointed at not obtaining bishop, 158; to attempt a “novelty”, 158; in touch with Arnauld, 159, 182, 223; with du Vaucel, 159; think Bishop Leyburn weak with Jesuits, 182; averse to Jansenism, 162; unfamiliar with Jansenism, 162; charged with Jansenism, 159, 162, 163, 164, 172, 173; unfounded charges, 164; said to permit reading of Quesnel, 172, 176; resent brief of Clement XI, 172; some appeal from Unigenitus, 176; visit Dutch Jansenists, 176; required to accept Unigenitus, 253; commended by Cardinal Paulucci, 173; a regular said to accuse Leyburn of Jansenism, 182; their Chapter in London, creation, 168; confirmed, 168; attacked, 168; sends letter of thanks to “Petrus Aurelius”, 12; asked to sign formulary against Jansenism, 157; its authority questioned, 157; charged with Jansenism and Blackloism, 158; situation considered analogous to that of Utrecht Chapter, 168; applies for ordinary, 169; information sent to Holland, 169; described by Du Pac de Bellegarde, 169 n. 6; members correspond with Dutch clergy, 164, 178, 179
- Vicars-apostolic, said to be doing nothing against Jansenism, 163; said to correspond with Dutch Jansenists, 164; subscribe declaration against Jansenism, 172; accept Vineam Domini and Unigenitus, xi, 176 and n. 1; not hostile to English priest, friend of Jansenists, 176; insinuations against them, 183. See also Bishop, Dicconson, Giffard, Leyburn, Petre, Smith (James), Smith (Richard), Witham
- Catholics, English, in France, pitied by la Mère Angélique, 40; helped by la Mère Marie des Anges Suireau, 40; by M. de Bernières, 47; by Port Royal, 187; ecclesiastics consult M.M. de Port Royal, 63; opposed to Jansenism, 180 n. 3
- Catholics, French, the “more serious” said to esteem the Jansenists, 140–1; said to esteem preface to Port Royal Testament, 146; said to be alarmed by the “new heresy” of the Jesuits, 109
- Clergy, their commendation of “Petrus Aurelius”, 12; their assemblies, of 1655, xvi, 117, of 1656, 279, of 1657, xvi, 117, 118, of 1661, 97, of 1663, 116, of 1723, 234; their articles of 1682, 130; struggle with Jesuits, 105; appeal from Unigenitus, 161; punished by Parlement for refusal of sacraments, 252; difficult situation, 253. See also Curés de Paris, Curés de Rouen
- Catholics, Irish, attached to Holy See, 7; ask Charles II to send emissary to Innocent X, 43; confederate party, 32, 33, 34, 51; informed of anti-Jansenism of Irish students in Paris, 192; some protest fidelity to Charles II, 9, 204; reject declarations of the Sorbonne, 206; reject Irish Remonstrance (q.v.), 206; some priests sign Remonstrance, 205; may be given bishops independent of Rome, 95; said to esteem preface to the Irish Testament, 148; invited to adhere to the Bull Vineam Domini, 171, 211; warned against Jansenist books, 171; threatened by perils of Jansenism, 210; warned by brief, xvii, 210; more on their guard than English or Scotch, 204; said to fear Jansenism more than edicts of Parliament, 208; urged to accept Unigenitus, 215; generally orthodox, 215; alarmed by return of Jansenists to Ireland, 219 n. 2; bishops thank Holy See for condemnation of Jansenism, 219 n. 2. See also Jansenism in Ireland; Jansenists, Irish; Paris, Collège des Irlandais
- Catholics, Irish, in France, 2, 188 et seq., 215 n. 4; helped by la Mère Marie des Anges Suireau, 40; Charles II touched by their poverty, 47; recommended to Aubigny, 82 and n. 3; befriended by la Mère Angélique, 188; opposed to Irish students signing censure, 35; at the Collège des Lombards, 187, 190; profess ignorance of Jansenism, 190; protest against accusations of Jansenism, 208; rejoice in their security, 210; rarely believe in convulsionaries, 216; hardly any appeal from Unigenitus, 215; priests at the Hôtel-Dieu and “constitutionnaires outrés”, 216; do not uphold liberties of Gallican Church, 217; an anti-Jansenist priest imprisoned, 217–18; always on the side of Unigenitus, 219

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

316

INDEX

- Catholics, Irish (continued)
 Students in Paris, sign a formulary condemning five propositions, 35; their signature gives rise to the affaire des Hibernois, xv, 188–201; their Sorbonne theses attacked by the Nouvelles Ecclésiastiques, 216; by the Parlement of Paris, 216–17
- Catholics, Irish, residing abroad, do not question Conry's orthodoxy, 4; attitude to Jansenius, 4
- Catholics, Old, see Old Catholics and Utrecht
- Catholics, Scottish, pitied by la Mère Angélique, 40; warned against Jansenist books, 171; less on their guard than the Irish, 204; urged to adhere to the Bull Vineam Domini, xvii, 171, 235; some want formulary adopted, 235; attention of government not to be drawn to them, 238
- Clergy, divided into Paris and Rome parties, 239–40; Paris party reluctant to sign formulary, 240
- Missionary priests, to be obliged to accept the Bull Unigenitus, 235; to subscribe formulary, xviii, 239; few in number, 237; tainted with Jansenism, 237
- Vicars-apostolic, accused of Jansenism, 239; somewhat rigorist, 239 n. 2; do not enforce formulary, 239 n. 2; not guilty of teaching condemned propositions, 239 n. 2. See also Gordon (James), Grant (James), Hay, Macdonald, Smith (Alexander)
- See also* Jansenism in Scotland; Jansenists, Scottish; Paris, Collège des Écossais
- Caulet, François, Bishop of Pamiers, see Bishops, dissenting
- Cecil, Dr John, 21
- erveau, René, his Chronology, xv, xvi; his Nécrologes, 10, 230
- Chaillot, convent of the Visitation, 41; nuns not to read Quesnel's books, 229
- Chaine du Hercule Gaulois*, 281
- Chalcedon, Bishops of, see Bishop, Smith (Richard)
- Châlons, Bishop of (J. B. L. G. de Noailles), 234
- Chamillard or Chamillart, Gaston, persecutes Port Royal, 22–3
- Champney, Anthony, 12
- Chapter, English, see Catholics, English, clergy
- Charenton, Huguenot place of worship, 41 n. 1
- Charles I, 10, 27, 34, 40, 47; and Aubigny, 77
- Charles II, 41, 220, 281; helped by M. Olier, 40 n. 2; helped by Port Royal, 42; his conversion thought likely by la Mère Angélique, 42; Innocent X said to be unpropitious, 34; Callaghan to go to Rome on his behalf, 38, 39, 43; Taafe to go, 43; said to have withdrawn protection from the Irish, 43; negotiations with Rome, 42; abandons mission, 44; said to incline to Catholicism, 44; befriended by Jansenists, xvi, 40, 46, 89; said to incline to Jansenism, 46, 89; Jansenists supposed to enjoy his friendship, 40; touched by poverty of Irish in France, 47; no longer recognized in France, 47; withdraws to Flanders, xvii, 47, 79; instructs Ormonde to thank Singlin and Bernières, xvi, 47; recommends his Catholic subjects to them, 47–8; in Spa, 47; in Cologne, 47; Dr Kelly to act for him, 49, 50; hopes for Sir George Hamilton's return, 50; leaves Cologne, 50; proceeds to Middelburg, 50; sends thanks to Dr Kelly, 50; recommends Lord Muskerry to the King of Poland, 52; receives Port Royal writings, 52–3; provided with a servant by Port Royal, 53–4; his chaplain Dr Steward, 54; expects help from Jansenists in 1656, 56; believes in the miracle of the Sainte-Épine, 56; corresponds with Jansenists in 1657, 57; sends thanks to Arnauld, 57; gratitude to Jansenists, 58; promises toleration to Catholics, 58; misunderstanding between him and Jansenists, 58; not a Catholic, 59 n. 1; his way of living disliked by Aubigny, 59 n. 1; receives Aubigny's suggestion for the conversion of the Duke of Gloucester, 59; refuses proposal, 60; hopes Jansenists will continue their friendship, 60; sends Bellings to Louvain, 60; his mistress, Mrs Barlow, 60; his son, the future Duke of Monmouth, entrusted to Aubigny, 60; sends for Monmouth, 61; the Messieurs rejoice at his Restoration, 62; their opinion on his prospects of re-establishing

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

317

- Catholicism, 62; his sister, 66; relations with Retz, 79; Jansenists hope he will save Bernières, 86; intimacy with Aubigny, 76, 84, 96; asked to hinder his return to France, 81; married by him, 86; wants him to be bishop, 88, 89 n. 1; wishes him to be cardinal, 88, 90–4; thinks his attentions slighted in Rome, 89, 90, 94, 95; may revert to his “first threats”, 90; relations with Alexander VII dependent on Aubigny’s promotion, 91; his proposal to submit his three kingdoms to Rome, 92; does not want papal infallibility discussed in England, 92; suspected of dealing with Alexander VII, 93; simulates aversion to Catholicism, 94; notices the Internuncio Vecchius in the Queen’s apartment, 94; his court incompatible with the virtues of Jansenism, 99; his conversion to Catholicism, 79 and n. 8, 80; to protect Irish Catholics, 82; message to English Catholics, 84 n. 5; strong-box papers, 100; his services to Catholicism, 205 n. 2; approves of Lady Sussex going to Port Royal, 66, 67; thanks Evelyn for publishing the Mystery of Jesuitism, 108; presented with Evelyn’s translation of Nicole’s Pernicieuses Conséquences, 110; receives a copy of Claude’s answer to Arnauld, 126 n. 6; protects the pseudo M. de Luzancy, 277
- Charles VII, wars with England, 76
- Charles Edward Stuart, the Young Pretender, obliged to withdraw from France, 251; thought to have been sheltered by Lord Edward Drummond, 251
- “Charles, Monsieur”, see Du Chemin
- Charlier, M. G., article on Athalie, 224 n. 3
- Charrier, abbé, secretary of the Cardinal de Retz, 153
- Chartres, Bishop of (Jacques Lescot), 37; (Paul Godet des Marais), Irish rejoice in the security under him, 210; issues mandate against the Cas de Conscience, 226
- Châtelet, Hyppolite de Beauchâteau, alias M. de Luzancy, 277
- Chenailles, M. de, 130
- Chesterfield, Lord, 265
- Chevreuse, duchesse de, 15 n. 3
- Chigi, Flavio, Cardinal, 40; informed that Aubigny is not a Jansenist, 89; receives a grudging letter from Charles II, 90
- China, said to receive Jansenist books, 177; observations made by a Jesuit missionary, 286
- Christina, Queen of Sweden, 90
- Chronology, xv–xviii
- Church, Dean, quoted, 256 n. 3
- Church History of England*, by Dodd, 173
- Churches, see Catholic Church, Roman; Church of England, and Anglicans; Gallican Church; Greek Church; Old Catholic Church; Protestant Churches; Utrecht, Church of
- Church of England, MM. de Port Royal think Charles II obliged to uphold the bishops, 63; a well-wisher H. H., 105; “once famous for her purity”, 106; attitude to Rome, 135 n. 1; Ken’s sense of her shortcomings, 138; Quesnel said to be a convert, 257. See also Anglicans
- Clancarty, Earl of, Lady, see MacCarthy
- Clarendon, see Hyde
- Clarendon Papers*, 42
- Claude, Jean, his controversy with Arnauld, 123, 126, 127, 128, 278
- Clélie*, 111
- Clémencet, Dom Charles, his histories of Port Royal, 1, 4, 8 and n. 5, 271
- Clement IX, Pope, Jansenists said to imply he approves of their doctrine, 121; informed of the Jansenist medal, 122; asked to appoint bishops in Ireland, 208
- Clement X, Pope, death, 129
- Clement XI, Pope, 284; addresses brief to English, Scottish and Irish Catholics, 171, 210, 235; resentment aroused by brief, 172; English Catholics said to submit to his Bulls, 171; satisfied with English Catholic clergy, 173; informed of Bishop Giffard’s acceptance of Unigenitus, 176; wishes Jansenists removed from Douay College, 184, 185; gives Codde’s place to Theodore de Cock, 211; his Bulls, Vineam Domini and Unigenitus, see under Bulls
- Clement XII, Pope, sends brief to Scottish Catholics, 235; calls on Scottish missionary priests to subscribe formulary, 239
- Clergy, see under Catholics, English, French, etc.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

- Cleveland, Duchess of, see Villiers, Barbara
- Clifton, Sir Gervase, 77
- Clifton, Katherine, 77
- Clones, Synod of, 208
- Clonsinnil, Irish ecclesiastic in Paris, quoted, 187, 192; writes in defence of Irish Jansenists, 187; his account of the affaire des Hibernois, 189, 193
- Cochin, M. Claude, 89 n. 1
- Cock, Theodore de, 211
- Codde, Peter, Archbishop of Utrecht under the title of Archbishop of Sebaste, deposed for Jansenism, 211
- Colbert, Jean Baptiste, orders a medal to commemorate the Paix de l'Église, 122; thinks the Nuncio wants to pass him off as a Jansenist, 122
- Colbert de Croissy, Charles Joachim, Bishop of Montpellier, appeals, xvii, 161, 257; the Montpellier Catechism attributed to him, 177; admired by Thomas Innes, 230
- Coles, J., reports accusations of Jansenism, 164 n. 3, 175 n. 2
- Colleges, Blairs College, xi, 239; Harvard College, 144; Keble College, Oxford, 275; Magdalen College, Oxford, 139; St Cuthbert's College, Ushaw, xi, xii, 292; Sion College, London, xii, 247–5; Trinity College, Cambridge, 135; Trinity College, Dublin, 146, 210
- Collèges, Caen, 139; Juilly, 61; La Flèche, 32, 38; Nantes, 32; Quimper, 36–9; Rennes, 32, 37. See also under Douay, Louvain, Paris, Rome
- Colleton, John, Dean of English Chapter, 12 n. 1
- Colwich, Monastery of Our Lady of Good Hope, 68; the Lady Abbess, xii, 68 n. 2
- Comenge or Cominges, Gaston Jean Baptiste de, Ambassador in England, quoted, 95
- Commentaries, 256 n. 3, and see under Quesnel
- Commentary on the Psalms*, by Bishop Horne, 262
- Common Prayer Book, to be translated into Irish, 142
- Communio, de la fréquente*, see under Arnould
- Conclusio Facultatis Theologicae Parisiensis pro Hibernois*, 197
- Conclusions de la Faculté de Théologie de Paris pour les Hybernois*, 189, 193, 195 n. 1, 197, 200
- Condé, Louis II de Bourbon, prince de (le grand Condé), his sister, Mme de Longueville protects Port Royal, 24; Louis XIV apprehends his interest in Jansenism, 124
- Congregations, Holy Office, 7 n. 1, 238 n. 1; Inquisition, 202, 203; Oratory of St Philip Neri (Pères de l'Oratoire), 32, 61, 177, 256 n. 1; Pères de la Doctrine Chrétienne, 253, 277; Priests of the Mission, 191; Propaganda Fide, informed of Dr Callaghan's Jansenism, 43; informed of Dr Kelly's Jansenism, 48; informed of Dr Leyburn's inclinations to Jansenism, 181; receives unfavourable reports concerning the Collège des Écossais, 235, 240; approves of formulary adopted by Scottish Catholics, 235; receives declaration of submission from G. Innes and A. Gordon, 236; informed of Bishop Gordon's inclination to Jansenism, 239; Propagation de la Foi, 78; a congregation to examine the five propositions, 201–2
- Conry, Florence, Archbishop of Tuam, 187; life, 2; studies, 2; relations with Jansenius, 2, 3; with Saint-Cyran, 2; advises Father Barnewall, 207; said to have “indoctrinated” Jansenius, 207; death, 1, 3; his appendix to the Augustinus, 1; his Peregrinus Jerichuntinus, 1, 2, 3, 4, 8; his Tractatus de statu parvulorum, 2, 3 and nn. 4, 5; his writings esteemed by the Jansenists, 1 n. 1; secret names in Jansen's letters, 1; orthodoxy not questioned by the Irish, 4; said to have been condemned, 1; not condemned, 1 n. 1; included in Clémentet's Histoire littéraire de Port-Royal, 1; accounts of him, 5 n. 1; list of works, where found, 4; praised by Pascal, 4–5; “the greatest Augustinian of the age”, 207
- Considérations sur la Mort*, by Saint-Cyran, 232
- Constitution of his Holiness Pope Clement XI*, 286
- Constitutions du Monastère de Port-Royal*, by la Mère Agnès, 137
- Constitution Unigenitus, see Bull Unigenitus

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

319

- Constitution Unigenitus déferée à l'Église universelle*, 216
- Contes, M. de, doyen de Notre Dame, visits both houses of Port Royal, 30; examines Miss Maxwell, 30–1
- Conti, Anne Marie Martinozzi, princesse de, 66
- Conti, Armand de Bourbon, prince de, 125
- Convulsionaries, at Saint-Médard, 247; Bishop Atterbury's opinion, 247; convert Lord Edward Drummond, 247–8; testimonials in their favour, 247; an English convulsionary, 247; accusations, 248; assemblies broken up, 248; imprisonments, 248–50; hold assemblies at Lord Edward Drummond's house, 250; visit ruins of Port Royal, 251; found in their company: Lord Kingston, 251, Matthew Barnewall, 251, an English gentleman, 247, Voltaire's brother, 248; few followers among the Irish, 216; despised by Queen Caroline, 263; compared to Methodists, 262; their historian, 247. See also La Porte, Moulter, Sonnet and under Drummond, Edward and Pâris
- Cooke, Dame Theresa, 69, 71
- Coquelin, abbé, 252–3
- Cordeliers, 205
- Cordell, Thomas, 45
- Corbury, Lord, see Hyde
- Corneille, his Tite et Bérénice, 126
- Cornelius Jansenius Ipremsis suspectus*, 143
- Cornet, Nicolas, 92, 200; formulates five propositions, xv, 189
- Cossacks at Les Granges and Port Royal, 269, 273
- Council of Trent, 262
- Courtin, Honoré, ambassador, on Aubigny, 96
- Courtin, Jean, Rector of the University of Paris, intervenes in the affaire des Hibernois, 191–200 passim
- Court of the Gentiles*, by Gale, 143, 144
- Crathorn, William, accused of Jansenism, 174 n. 4, 185
- Cressy, Serenus, O.S.B., Confessor to the English Benedictine nuns, 69; his Exomologesis, 205
- Crofts, James, i.e. the Duke of Monmouth, 62
- Cromwell, Oliver, 47, 142, 151; his ambassador Lockhart, 57, 60; his secretary of state Thurloe, 45, 55; possible rapprochement with English Catholics, 59, 80; said to be flattered by Blackloe, 150 n. 4; Blackloe, Digby, Holden suspected of dealing with him, 154 n. 6; Jansenists accused of dealing with him, xvi, 46, 74, 132; his régime preferred to that of France, 227
- Cum occasione*, see under Bulls
- Curés de Paris, incline to Jansenism, 57, 104, 105, 161, 279
- Curés de Rouen, incline to Jansenism, 57, 103, 104, 105, 278, 279
- Cust, Lady Elizabeth, quoted, 78
- Dadda, Mgr, see Adda
- Dalrymple, John, second Earl of Stair, his chaplain Beauvoir, 186 n. 4, 257
- Daly, Dr Cornelius, signs a formulary, 210
- Daly, Mrs, corresponds with Jansenists, 180
- Daniel a Jesu, i.e. John Floyd, 11, 12
- Daniel, Dr Edward, Vice-president of Douay College, not sufficiently opposed to Jansenism, 181
- Daniel, Gabriel, S.J., his Entretiens de Cléandre et d'Eudoxe, circulated at Saint-Germain, 241; translated, 161, 284, 285
- Danish translation, see Lettres Provinciales under Pascal
- Danson, Thomas, 144
- Darrell, William, S.J., on Pascal, 161, 162; translates Entretiens de Cléandre et d'Eudoxe, 161, 284, 285
- Davies, John, of Kidwelly, 102 and n. 1
- Dechamps, Étienne Agard, S.J., translation of his Secrète politique des Jansénistes, 111, 162 and n. 1, 282, 284
- Dechirement des Lettres de M. Jansenius*, 1
- Défense de la censure de M. de Paris* (Gondi), 38
- Défense des Hibernois disciples de Saint-Augustin*, by Clonsinnil, 188
- Defensio Ecclesiae Ultrajectinae*, by Van Erkel, 169
- Defensio Formulae Fidei adversus haereticam calumniam*, by Holden, 157
- De la fréquente Communion*, see under Arnauld
- Delagarde, abbé, 257 n. 4
- De la grâce victorieuse*, by La Lane, 187

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

320

INDEX

- De Paena Parvulorum post hanc Vitam*, see Tractatus
- De Potestate Papæ*, by William Barclay, 10 n. 2
- Descartes, his philosophy examined by the Sorbonne, 127–8
- Des Marais, Paul Godet, Bishop of Chartres, 210, 226
- Desmares, Toussaint Guy Joseph, le P., 66
- Despinay, abbé, 257 n. 4
- Desprez, Guillaume, Jansenist publisher, 127
- Des Touches, Paul Le Pelletier, 69 n. 3; aids English Benedictine nuns, xvi, 70, 71; relations with Port Royal, 71 n. 1
- Deventer, Bishop of (Old Catholic Church), 259
- D. G. B., M. (Du Gué Bagnols, M.), 99
- Dicconson, Edward, Vice-President of Douay College, and later Vicar-apostolic of the Northern District, 175 n. 2; his diary, 173
- Dictionnaire des Livres Jansénistes*, condemns Conry, 1; Mme de Sévigné, 1 n. 1; Dr Sinnich, 5, 8
- Digby, George, second Earl of Bristol, at meeting of English Catholics, 84 n. 5; attitude to Bellings-Aubigny mission, 92, 93; strong-box papers attributed to him, 100
- Digby, Sir Kenelm, to vouch for Callaghan, 37; relations with Blackloe, 150 and nm. 4, 7; with Bourgeois, 154; suspected of dealing with Cromwell, 154 n. 6
- Dillon, Arthur Richard, Archbishop of Narbonne, not a Jansenist, 254–5
- Dillon, Catherine, to reform some Jansenist nuns, 254
- Discalced Carmelites of Dublin, 212 n. 3
- Discourses of Cleander and Eudoxe (Eudoxus)*, by G. Daniel (q.v.), a translation, 280, 284, 285
- Discourses: translated from Nicole's Essays*, 291
- Discours sur les Pensées de M. Pascal*, by Filleau de la Chaise, translated, 114, 283
- Dissertation sur la Validité des Ordinations des Anglais*, by Le Courayer, 259
- Doctrina Chrétienne, Pères de la, 253, 277
- Dodart, Denis, a doctor friend of Port Royal, 166; writes epitaphs, 20, 26
- Dodd, Charles, alias H. Tootell, 150 n. 2; quoted, 89 n. 1, 154, 162 n. 1, 181, 182, 221 n. 4; writes Church History of England, 173; favourable to Bishop Smith, 13 n. 4; attacks English Jesuits, 105, 173, 175; his History of the English College at Doway, 173, 286; his Secret Policy of the English Society of Jesus, 173, 287; his sources, 173
- Dolci, Mgr, Nuncio in France, reports favourably on Irish College, 215; distrusts Scots College, 215
- Dominicans, at a conference with Molinists, 202–3; imaginary, in the Provinciales, 161
- Dorsanne, abbé, quoted, 234, 242
- Douai, Douay, spelling, 149 n. 1
- Doway Diaries*, 181
- Douay, English College at, 11; importance, 181; charged with Jansenism, 149, 163, 173, 181–6 passim; rumours of intended Jesuit administration, 184; possible loss of pension, 184; letters of recommendation from the court of Saint-Germain, 184–5; visited by examiners, 185; cleared, xviii, 186; superiors subscribe Unigenitus, 186; books on, 286, 287; officials, students, former students, see Allers, Blackloe, Carr, Crathorn, Daniel, Hawarden, Holden, Kellison, Leyburn, Plummerden, Poyntz, Short, Stafford, Witham
- Douay, Leighton has relatives there, 137
- Douay, Parlement of, 186 n. 4
- Doucun, Louis, his Mémoire touchant le progrès du Jansénisme en Hollande, translated, 162, 284
- Droit d'aubaine, 21
- Drummond, Alexander, refuses to sign formulary, 237 n. 2
- Drummond, Lord Edward, afterwards sixth Duke of Perth, life, 247 n. 4; marriage, 236 n. 5; follower of Lewis Innes, 236; refuses to remain at Saint-Germain during Jesuit mission, 237, 246; a Jansenist, 246; his father said to incline to Jansenism, 228, 246; converted by convulsionaries, 247–8; testifies in favour of convulsionaries, 248; almost arrested, 248; sent to the Bastille, xviii, 248–50; letters from the Bas-

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

321

- tille, 249–50; examined, 249; liberated, 250; in Paris without permission, 250; returns to Saint-Germain, 250; settles in Paris, 250; watched by police, 250–1; thought to have sheltered the young Pretender, 251; his wife refused sacraments, 252; Scottish Jansenists at his house, 252; death, 253; interdiction of priest administering him, 253; included in the Calendrier des Amis de la Vérité, 5 and n. 5
- Drummond, Lady Elizabeth, see Middleton
- Drummond, James, fourth Earl and first titular Duke, writes in favour of Douay College, 184; said to favour Jansenists, 228, 246
- Drummond, John, fourth Duke of Perth, 250
- Du Breuil, le P., arrested, 130
- Du Charmel, comte de, friend of Mme de Gramont, 244
- Du Chemin, Charles (“Monsieur Charles”), Solitary, 20, 24–5
- Du Fargis, Henriette Marie de Sainte Madeleine, 64
- Du Ferrier, Jean, friend of Aubigny, 75, 77, 78 n. 2
- Du Fosse, Pierre Thomas, imprisoned with his brother, 119; friend of Mme de Gramont, 244; death, 160; quoted, 47; his Mémoires, 264
- Du Four, Charles, 279
- Dugué or Du Gué de Bagnols, see Bagnols
- Duguet or Du Guet, Jacques Joseph, known to T. Innes, 231; translated by Wesley, 262; his Institution d'un Prince translated, 290; his Traité des Principes de la Foy chrétienne translated, 290
- Dumas, Florent, S.J., 78 n. 2, 93
- Duncan, George, accused of Jansenism, 237 n. 2
- Dunkirk, to have become an English bishopric, 88–9
- Du Pac de Bellegarde, his Recueil de divers Témoignages, 169
- Du Pin, Louis Ellies, friendly with Beauvoir, 186 n. 4; complains of the Franciscan Hutchinson, 186 n. 4; involved in a project of union, xvii, 258–9; death, 258; works in Law's library, 264
- Dutch, at war with England, 131; children at Le Chesnay, 61; clergy, 165–6; Jansenists, see Jansenists, Dutch; translations, see Pascal. See also Holland
- Dutton, Edmond, Secretary of the English Chapter, 12 n. 1
- Du Vaucel, M., in touch with English clergy, 159; sends Arnauld news about James II, 224
- Du Vergier de Hauranne, Jean, see Saint-Cyran
- Du Vivier, François, i.e. Gerberon, 3 n. 2
- Duygine, —, 189
- Dwyer, Dr Edmond, 4 n. 3
- Dymock, James, charged with Jansenism, 159
- Écrits sur la Grâce*, by Pascal, 48
- Edinburgh University, Leighton's lectures, 137
- Éducation d'un Prince*, by Nicole, sent to England, 126; translated, 283
- Elgin, Earl of, Robert Bruce, 109
- Elizabeth, Queen, 12
- Ellis, Humphrey, Dean of English Chapter, draws up formulary against Jansenism, 157; refuses to condemn Blackloe, 158
- Embrun, council of, 180
- England, at war with Charles VII, 76; resumes diplomatic relations with France in 1654, 47; at war with the Dutch in 1665, 131; at war with France in 1689, 132; allusions to contemporary history of, said to be in Atbalie, 224 n. 3; five propositions sent to, 45; under obligations to Bernières, 83; to be submitted to Rome, 92; suggested Jansenist conspiracy with, 131; Canons of Beauvais said to be intriguing with, xviii, 179, 180; Quesnel's works circulated in, 163, naturalized in, 262; Jansenist books sent to, 178
- England, Church of, see Church of England
- England, Jansenism in, see Jansenism in England
- English, the, rarely condemn Jansenists, 45; dislike Jesuits, 59, 102; good opinion of Port Royal de Paris, 67; to be admitted secretly to Boulogne, 132; offended by Blackloe's Grounds of Obedience, 150 n. 4; propaganda intended for them, 178; know little about Port Royal, 267; under obligations to its writers, 267

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

- English in France, helped by Bernières, 28; by Aubigny, 79; see also Catholics, English. At Port Royal, see Bannatyne, Callaghan, Hamilton, Jenkins, MacCarthy (Muskerry), Maitland, Maxwell
- English ambassador (1636), see Sidney, Robert
- English Augustinian nuns, see Augustinian nuns
- English Benedictines, see Benedictines
- English Catholic Refugees on the Continent*, by Dr Guilday, 181
- English Catholics, see Catholics, English
- English Chapter, see Catholics, English, clergy
- English Church, see Church of England
- English College at Douay, see Douay
- English colleges and convents abroad, 181
- English Jansenists, see Jansenists, English
- English Jesuits, see Jesuits, English
- English Protestants, see Protestants, English
- English pupils at Le Chesnay, 61, 62
- English Roman Catholics, see Catholics, English
- English translations, see Translations
- Enluminures du faux Almanach*, by M. de Saci, 53
- Entretiens de Cléandre et d'Endoxe*, by le P. Daniel, at Saint-Germain, 241; translated, 161, 284
- Epistola nobilis Hiberni*, by Paul King, 34
- Escobar y Mendoza, Antonio, 113, 279
- Estrades, Godefroy, comte de, ambassador, arrives in England, 83; utilizes Aubigny, 84, 85; reprimanded, 84, 89; explains, 84; approached in the matter of Dunkirk becoming an English bishopric, 88; transmits documents to Paris, 89; recommends Aubigny, 89; declines to act further, 89; thinks Aubigny will sign anti-Jansenist profession, 89; to act against Blackloe, 152–3
- Étemare, J. B., abbé de, visits England, xviii, 179; sends books to England, 178; hears ecclesiastical news from England, 180; on the death of Thomas Innes, 233; corresponds with—Stuart, 237; his cousin, 180
- Eucharist, Arnauld's controversy with Claude, 126, 127, 128, 278
- Evelyn, John, on Aubigny, 76; see Aubigny's lodging, 83; dislikes Jesuits, 102; said to have translated the Lettres Provinciales, 102, 106, 115 n. 1, 291 n.; attributes translation of Jesuits' Morals to Tonge, 112 and n. 2, 282; translates Arnauld and Nicole at the request of the Lord Chancellor, 108; calls his translation Another Part of the Mystery of Jesuitism, 106, 113; translates Arnauld's Nouvelle Hérésie, 106, 281, 291 n.; translates Nicole's Lettres de l'Hérésie imaginaire, 107–9, 281, 291 n.; is thanked by Charles II, 108; gives copies of his Mystery, to Sir Henry Herbert, 109; to Dr Barlow, 109; translates Nicole's Pernicieuses Conséquences de la nouvelle Hérésie, 107 n. 2, 110–11, 281, 291 n.; presents copies of this translation, to Charles II, 110; to Dr Wilkins, 110; his library at Wotton House, 112 n. 2
- Examen de la lettre circulaire de l'assemblée tenue à Paris le 2 oct. 1663*, 116
- Exomologesis*, by Father Cressy, 205 n. 1
- Eyre, Thomas, S.J., 174 n. 4
- Fabre, marquis de, tries to help Lord Muskerry, 52
- Factum pour les Curés de Paris*, by Pascal (?), 104
- Factum, Septième, pour les Curés de Paris*, by Arnauld (?), Pascal (?), 105
- Factum pour les Hybernois*, by Pucelle, 189, 193, 194, 199
- Faculty of Theology, Paris, see Paris, University of
- Fagan, Luke, Bishop of Meath, ordains Dutch Jansenist priests, 211–14, 276
- Faillon, abbé, his Vie de M. Olier, 78 n. 2; on Aubigny, ib.
- Fairfax, Thomas, S.J., writes against Jansenism, 162; one of the chief anti-Jansenists, 163; translates Cas de Conscience, 163, 285; translates and adapts Doucin's Mémoire touchant le progrès du Jansénisme en Hollande, 162, 284; translates La Secrète Politique des Jansénistes, 111 n. 3, 282
- Familiar Instructions about Predestination and Grace*, by Hugot, a translation, 177, 286
- Famous Bull Unigenitus . . . against Father Quesnelle's translation*, 289
- Famous Bull Unigenitus in English*, 290
- Fantôme du Jansénisme*, by Arnauld, 182

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

323

- Faugère, M. Prosper, quoted, 103
Faussetez contenues dans une Requête faite... par M. Amiot, 200
- Fénelon, François de Salignac de La Mothe de, dislikes Jansenism, 243; directs Mme de Gramont, 243; Archbishop of Cambrai, 244; involved in Quietism, 244
- Féret, Hippolyte, curé de Saint-Nicolas du Chardonnet, doubts Holden's orthodoxy, 155–6
- Ferrall, Gerard, 208 n. 1
- Ferrier, le P., see Réfutation
- Ferris, Irish student, 218–19
- Feydeau, Matthieu, friend of Aubigny, 97; to be arrested, 132
- Filleau de la Chaise, Jean, his Discours sur les Pensées de M. Pascal, translated, 114, 283
- Finaughty, Irish student, his theses attacked, 216 and n. 9, 217
- Fitzgerald, Irish student, 216 and n. 6
- Fitzjames, Francis, Bishop of Soissons, 242 n. 5; accepts Unigenitus, 254; charged with Jansenism, 254; death, 254; portrait, 254 n. 2
- Fitzjames, James, first Duke of Berwick, writes in behalf of Douay College, 184; enjoys Lettres Provinciales, 241; his protection considered valuable by Jansenists, 241; transfers children to Jesuit school, 242 and n. 5; his first mother-in-law brought up at Port Royal, 246; said to be governed by the Hamiltons, 246; friendly to Port Royal, 246; his son, the bishop, 254
- Five Propositions, the, see Propositions
- Flannery, Irish appellant, 216 n. 2
- Fleury, André Hercule, Cardinal de, said to have wished Berwick's children transferred to Jesuit school, 242 n. 5; obliges Queen Caroline, 260
- Floyd, John, S.J., 11, 12
- Foi, Raoul, 132, 133
- Fontaine, Nicolas, the Froissart of the Messieurs, 20; his imprisonment, 119; lived at Les Granges, 268; his Mémoires, 264; quoted, 19, 20, 62, 63 and n. 1
- Fontaines, Louys (le P. Zacharie de Lisieux), translation of his Relation du pays de Jansénie, 111, 282
- Fontenelle, M., Solitary, 25
- Forbes, John, Capuchin, 15 n. 2
- Forbes, William, Capuchin, 15 n. 2
- Formulary, history of, 117–18; first draft, xvi; condemns propositions in the sense in which they are found in Jansen, 118; imposed by Bull of Alexander VII, xvi, xix, 118, 157; text, xix; presented to nuns of Port Royal, xvi, 118; not signed, 22; signed by Port Royal de Paris, 23, 124; by Jacqueline Pascal, 66; not signed by Port Royal des Champs, 23, 124; not a question in 1679, 24; not imposed on laymen, 86; Bernières would refuse to sign, 85, 86; not signed by certain bishops, 118, 119; difficulties at Angers, 129; refusal to sign punished, by persecutions, 10; by loss of living, 130; noticed by Oxle, 140; defended by Holden, 157; question revived, 160; required with a modifying clause by Bishop Fagan, 212–13; inflicted on a woman by Irish priest, 218; adversaries at Louvain, 219 n. 2; rejected by Barnewall, 252; accepted by Fitzjames, 254
- Drawn up by Scottish Catholics, 235; not signed by certain Scottish ecclesiastics, 237 n. 2; sent to Scotland from Rome, 238; disliked by Bishop Gordon, 238; not enforced, 238; enforced with reluctance, 239 and n. 2; renewed, 239; to be subscribed by Scottish missionaries, xviii, 239; again imposed, 240
- Drawn up by the Dean of the English Chapter, 157
- Loyal, see Irish Remonstrance
- Fouillou, Jacques, his Hexaples, 178
- Fox, George, on Aubigny, 98
- Foxe, John, Actes and Monumentis (“Book of Martyrs”), 162
- Foy et innocence du clergé de Hollande défendues*, by Quesnel, 165
- “Fraisier”, Mr, writes to Arnauld, 223
- France, resumes diplomatic relations with England in 1654, 47; sides with the Dutch against the English in 1666, 131; at war with England in 1689, 132. See also French court
- Franciscans, Irish, in Louvain, 1, 2, 9 n. 5; in Paris, 2; in Belgium, 4; in Germany, 4
- François de Sales, St, spiritual guide of la Mère Angélique, 18, 19; Jansenist books preferred to him, 226
- François, M., see Jenkins, Francis
- Free will, xix, 143

21-2

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

324

INDEX

- French clergy, see under Catholics, French
- French court, not to hear of plans for the Duke of Gloucester's conversion, 59; sends lettres de cachet to friends of Retz, 79; hears that Aubigny is helping Retz, 80; distrusts Aubigny, 84; improved relations with Aubigny, 86; gives Bernières permission to leave exile, 87; said to suffer re-establishment of Jansenism, 125; its pride, 131; fears the Jansenists, 131; to be made to believe in Jansenist conspiracy, 131
- French Grammar*, by Mauger, 264
- Fréquent Communion*, see under Arnauld
- Friars Minor, see Franciscans
- Fromond, Libert, one of the approbators of the Augustinus, 10
- Fronde, xv, 53, 74; MM. de Port Royal seem to side with, 24; Retz participates, 79
- Further Discovery of the Mystery of Jesuitism*, 104, 280
- Gaillard, Mr, visits the Bishop of Angers, 128–9; sends news to Sir Robert Southwell, 129
- Gale, Theophilus, interest in Jansenism, 139–44; his True Idea of Jansenisme, 140–3, 282; his Court of the Gentiles, 143, 144; his ideas challenged, 144; attacks John Howe, 144; to be answered by Baxter, 144; death, 144; his books bequeathed to Harvard, 144
- Gallican Church, customs and rights, 193; declaration of 1663, 205, 206; liberties affirmed, 130; foreshadowed, 205; infringed, 198; not upheld, 217; merits less esteemed by Dr Short than those of Utrecht, 165; Arnauld a shining ornament, 263 n. 5; possible union with Anglicans, 54, 105, 257–8; possible union with Greek Church, 258 n. 4
- Gallicanism, linked with Jansenism, 130, 216; influence seen in the Oblatio ex parte Caroli II, 92. See also Paris, Parlement of
- Garnett, Henry, S.J., 113
- Gascoigne, Mother Justina, 72, 73
- Gazaïnes, his Manuel des Pèlerins, 272
- Gazette burlesque*, 117
- Gazette de Bruxelles*, 245
- Gazette de France*, 117 and n. 4
- Gazette en vers*, 117
- Gazier, Mlle Cécile, 62 nn. 2, 3
- Geddes, Alexander, reluctant to sign formulary, 240 n. 2
- Gee, Mr, a steward, 127
- General and Rational Grammar* (Port Royal grammar, by Arnauld and Lancelot), 278
- General Instructions by way of Catechism* (the Montpellier Catechism), 177, 288
- Genet, François, 182 and n. 4
- Gentlemen of Port Royal, see Port Royal, Messieurs
- Gerberon, Dom Gabriel, 3 and nn. 2, 4, 155 n. 1, 200; his Histoire générale du Jansénisme, x; his account of Sinnich's stay in Rome, 7
- German translation, see Pascal
- Germany, Jansenism in, ix
- Ghent, Bishop of (Antoine Triest), refuses to receive Bull, 134
- Gif, abbess of, 243
- Giffard, Andrew, charged with Jansenism, 159; reports accusations, 164 n. 3; quoted, 162–3
- Giffard, Dr Bonaventure, successively Vicar-apostolic of the Midland, and London districts, tribulations, x; suspected of Jansenism, 159; unfounded charges, 159; transmits charges to Dr Paston, 185; marvels at Cardinal Paulucci's information, 185; said to receive Unigenitus with reluctance, 175; not hostile to Jansenists, 175; interested in the Church of Utrecht, 175; accepts Unigenitus, 176; visited by Marison, 211; touched by the plight of Utrecht, 211; perhaps visited by Jansenists, 180; death, 180
- Girardin, J., quoted, 173, 184, 284
- Girardin, abbé de, interested in project of reunion, 258; his friend Le Courayer, 258–9; his name, 259; appellant, 259; excluded by the Faculty of Theology, 259; in England, 260; threatened by Fleury, 260; protected by Queen Caroline, 260; corresponds with Dutch Jansenists, 260; knows Atterbury, 260
- Glasgow University, 138
- Gloucester, Duke of, see Henry
- Godeau, Antoine, Bishop of Grasse and Vence, attacked by Jesuit, 35; his Pastoral Instructions, translated, 114
- Godet des Marais, Paul, Bishop of Chartres, opposed to Jansenism, 210, 226

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

325

- Goffe or Gough, Dr Stephen, 61
- Gomeldon or Gumblestone, Richard, 174 n. 4
- Gondi, Jean François de, Archbishop of Paris, censures Brisacier's book, 37, 38; confirms Aubigny's election, 78; his nephew, see Retz
- Gondi, Jean François Paul de, see Retz
- Gondrin, Louis Henri de, Archbishop of Sens, 66
- Gonzague, Anne de, Princess Palatine, friend of Aubigny, 79
- Gonzague, Louise Marie de, Queen of Poland, corresponds with la Mère Angélique, 40; Dr Kelly her confessor, 49; hears of Lord Muskerry, 51; receives him kindly, 52
- Gordon, Alexander, prefect of studies at the Collège des Écossais, appellant, 236 n. 4; later acceptance of Unigenitus dubious, 236; sends paper to Propaganda, 236; reluctant to sign formulary, 240 n. 2
- Gordon, George, accuser, 237 n. 2
- Gordon, George, of Scanan, accused of Jansenism, 237 n. 2
- Gordon, James, Vicar-apostolic of the Lowlands, has charge of Jansenism investigated, 234 n. 3; urged to make missionary priests accept Unigenitus, 235; ordains students of the Collège des Écossais, 237 n. 2; accused of Jansenism, 237–8; Thomas Innes his spiritual adviser, 239; favours ecclesiastics trained at the Collège des Écossais, 239
- Gordon, J. F. S., Ecclesiastical Chronicle quoted, 238 n. 1
- Gordon, John, accused of Jansenism, 237 n. 2
- Gordon, John, of Glencat, accused of Jansenism, 289
- Gordon, Robert, his catechism, 235 n. 4, 237 n. 2
- Gough or Goffe, Dr Stephen, 61
- Goujet, abbé, 277
- Grace, efficacious, 141, 152; Dr Holden's views, 155; discussed at a conference, 203 and n. 4
- Free, Jansenists good friends, 141; Jansenius a champion, 143, 144; belittled by some of the reformed religion, 143
- Sufficient, 30, 141; Dr Holden's views, 155; used in the sense of the Thomists, 156; discussed, 203 and n. 4
- Mentioned in the five propositions, xix, 192; manuscripts dealing with, 292; studied by Conry, 2; Sinnich one of the most learned in this matter, 9; discussed by Blackloe, 150 n. 7; its saving power commended by Quesnel, 257; Le Couvray's views, 259 n. 2; the Duke of Gloucester's conversion to be its work, 59
- Grâce, Écrits sur la*, by Pascal, 4, 8–9
- Grace... Familiar Instructions about*, by Hugot, a translation, 177, 286
- Grâce, Recueil de divers Ouvrages touchant la*, by M. de Barcos, 4
- Grâce victorieuse, de la*, by La Lane, 187
- Grammaire générale et raisonnée*, by Arnauld and Lancelot, the so-called Port Royal grammar, translated, 278
- Grammont, Mémoires de*, see Hamilton
- Gramont, Madame de, see Hamilton, Elizabeth
- Gramont, Marie-Elisabeth, educated at Port Royal, 24; removed, 243
- Grandin, Martin, 92
- Grant, James, Vicar-apostolic of the Lowland district, opposed to Jansenism, 237 n. 2
- Greek Church, possible union with Gallican Church, 258 n. 4
- Green, Martin, see Grene
- Grégoire, Baptiste Henri, Constitutional Bishop of Blois, visits Jansen's tomb with Mrs Schimmelpenninck, 267; gives her a book, 272; helps her to collect Port Royal books, 274
- Gregory XIII, condemns doctrine of Baius, 6, 7 n. 1
- Grene or Green, Martin, S.J., translates Réponse aux Lettres Provinciales, 104, 280
- Grenet, M. Pierre, superior of Port Royal, 25
- Grimaldi, Jerome, Nuncio in France, intimate with Dr Callaghan, 32
- Grimaldi, Mgr, Internuncio in Brussels, transmits charges against Douay 185
- Grounds of Obedience and Government*, by Blackloe, 150 n. 4
- Gualterio, Cardinal, informed of Jansenism in England, 176
- Guilbert, Pierre, quoted, 18 n. 6, 73, 215 n. 4
- Guilday, Dr Peter, quoted, 181
- Guise family, 15

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

326

INDEX

- Gumblestone or Gomeldon, Richard, 174 n. 4
- Guyot, M., schoolmaster at Le Chesnay, 61
- Haarlem, Bishop of (Old Catholic Church), 259
- Hall, Dr, 177
- “Hallarang”, Irish student, 218
- Hallier, François, syndic of the Faculty of Theology, opposed to Jansenism, 92; complains of Olonergan, 187 n. 1; in Rome, 189; involved in the affaire des Hibernois, 194–200
- Hamilton, Anthony, brought to France, 41; befriended by the Messieurs, 246; influenced by his sister, 246; by Port Royal, 246; dislikes piety of Saint-Germain, 243; ends his days in piety, 243, 245–6; his Mémoires de Grammont, x, 41, 243, 245, 246
- Hamilton, Elizabeth, later Mme de Gramont, educated at Port Royal des Champs, 41, 51, 245, 246; serves as link between Jansenists and Saint-Germain, 242–3; her brothers at Saint-Germain, 243; her daughter at Port Royal, 24, 243; reproaches Louis XIV with harshness to Jansenists, 243; remembers her early education, 243; character, 243; royal favour, 243; her director Fénelon, 243; relations with Port Royal more marked, 244; has portraits of Jansenists, 244; intimate with friends of Port Royal, 244; spends Easter at Port Royal, 244; incurs the king’s displeasure, xvii, 244; her disgrace the talk of the town, 245; quoted, 245; peace made, 245; rouses sympathy of the second Madame, 245; brings her brothers to a state of piety, 245; death, 245, 246
- Hamilton, Sir George, to vouch for Callaghan, 37; takes refuge in France with his family, 41; applies for help to the French court, 41; helped by Port Royal, 41; brother-in-law of Ormonde, 47; to take charge of Ormonde’s letter to M. Singlin and M. de Bernières, 48; transmits Ormonde’s letter, 49; requests letters of authority for Dr Kelly, 49, 50; commends Dr Kelly, 49; meets with Jansenists in behalf of royalist exiles, 49; fears Kelly may be exiled, 50; on the Jansenists, 50; Charles II hopes for his return, 50; to explain disposal of charities, 50–1; in Spain, 58
- Hamilton, George, killed in the French service, 246
- Hamilton, Lady Mary, comes to France, 35 n. 1, 188 n. 2; Callaghan said to be her director, 35 n. 1; helped by Port Royal, 41; at Vaumurier, 42
- Hamilton, Lord, 126
- Hamilton, Lucia, educated at Port Royal, 41, 51
- Hamilton, Richard, Master of the Wardrobe at Saint-Germain, 184–5, 243
- Hamiltons, the (Anthony and Richard), said to govern Berwick, 246; relations with the Duchess of Tyrconnel, 246; confused by Saint-Simon, 246 n. 1
- Hammond, Anthony (?), 186 n. 4
- Hamon, Jean, doctor of Port Royal, humility, 16; attends Dr Callaghan, 33; allowed to stay at Port Royal, 25; helps to carry dais, 25; death, 25, 160; remains transferred to St Lambert, 26; Quesnel tells Short about him, 166; his room at Les Granges visited, 269
- Hanharan, John, Irish student, his theses attacked, 216 and nm. 6, 7, 8, 217
- Harlay de Champvallou, François de, successively Archbishop of Rouen and Paris, 67; petition presented to him, 279; becomes Archbishop of Paris, xvii; at Port Royal des Champs, 24; intimates measures of oppression, 24; desires information about servitors at Port Royal, 24–5; reasons for dispersing Messieurs, 132; death, xvii, 130, 244
- Harrington, Mark, charged with Jansenism, 157
- Harvard College Library, 144
- Hassett, Andrew, his catechism, 235 n. 4, 237 n. 2
- Havers, G., translator, 109, 281
- Hawarden, Dr Edward, accused of Jansenism, xvii, 183; leaves Douay, 185; his departure does not help, 183–4
- Hay, George, Vicar-apostolic of the Lowland district, refuses to send students to the Collège des Écossais, 240

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

327

- “Heli”, Irish student, 216 and n. 5
 Henderson, Prof. G. D., 138 n. 1
 “Heneguand”, Irish priest in Paris, 218
 Hennebel, Dr, 219 n. 2
 Hennequin, M., sub-dean of the Faculty of Theology, 196
 Henri IV, xv
 Henrietta, Duchess of Orleans, see Orléans
 Henrietta Maria, wife of Charles I, marriage, 10, 27; invited to stay at Port Royal de Paris, 41; opposed to Callaghan mission, 44; blames Ormonde and Hyde, 44 n. 4; would have preferred to send the abbé Montagu, 44 n. 4; not to know of Aubigny’s plan for the conversion of the Duke of Gloucester, 59; her plan for his conversion, 59; wishes Charles II to write to Rome, 90; wants Aubigny to be cardinal, 91; informs Vecchiis of the irritation caused by the refusal to promote Aubigny, 95
 Henry VIII, 261
 Henry, Duke of Gloucester, his proposed conversion, 58–9, 79, 80
 Henshaw, Thomas, 220
 Hérault, René, lieutenant de police, 248; to search for Lord Edward Drummond, 250; notifies Atterbury he must not help Jansenists, 260
 Herbert, Edward, son of William, first Earl of Pembroke, 15 n. 3
 Herbert, Mr, Canon of the English Chapter, to receive Jansenist books, 178; corresponds with M. de Brigode, 179; probably visited by Jansenists, 180; death, 180
 Herbert, Philip, fourth Earl of Pembroke, 15 n. 3
 Herbert, Sir Henry, 109
 Herbert, William, first Earl of Pembroke (of the second creation), 15 n. 3
 Heresy, New, see under Jesuits
 Hermant, Godefroi, to be arrested, 132; quoted, 11, 47, 56, 79, 87, 91–2 and 92 n. 1, 97–8, 205; his works in Law’s library, 264
 Hesse-Rheinfels, Ernest, first Landgrave, 221; does not share Arnauld’s admiration for James II, 223
Hexaples, ou les six colonnes sur la Constitution Unigenitus, by Jacques Fouillon, 178
Hibernois, affaire des, 187–201, and see under Catholics, Irish, in Paris
 Hideux, Dr, Syndic of the Faculty of Theology, 257
 “Hiferman”, —, 192 n. 6
 Hifferman or Hyferman, Patrick, accused of Jansenism, 188 and n. 1
 Hilaire, M., agent of Port Royal, 25
 Hillerin, M. Charles, Solitary, 20
Histoire des Persécutions des Religieuses de Port Royal, 30, 264
Histoire générale de Port-Royal, see Clémencet
Histoire générale du Jansénisme, see Gerberon
Histoire littéraire de Port-Royal, see Clémencet
History of Jansenism, an adapted translation from Préville, 104, 280
History of the English College at Doway, by Dodd, 173, 286
 Hitchcock, Prior, O.S.B., 158
 Hobbes, Thomas, his friend Blackloe, 149, 153
 Hoburgus, Petrus, 151 n. 7
 Hodson, Elizabeth Gertrude, 69
 Holben, see Holden
 Holden, Dr Henry, confessor at St Nicolas du Chardonnet, 102 n. 1; forwards Taignier’s letters to Aubigny, 83; possible translator of the Sep-tième Factum, 105; Aubigny to act against him, 153; studied under Blackloe, 154; character, 154; suspected of dealing with Cromwell, 154; a “Janséniste malgré lui”, 155 and n. 1; attitude to Arnauld, 155 and n. 2, 156, 157; thought to be a Jansenist, 156; not highly esteemed by either party, 156; accused of bringing disrepute to English clergy, 157; orthodoxy, 157; death, 157 and n. 2; his Lettre d’un Docteur en Théologie, 155 n. 1; his Divina Fidei Analysis, 155 n. 1; his Defensio Formulae Fidei, 157
 Holland, ecclesiastical affairs, 167, 211–15, and see Utrecht; refuge for French Jansenists, see Arnauld, Quesnel; visited by Burnet, 136; English priests said to be sent over, 164; “Jansenian invasion” from, feared in England, 175; Port Royal books sought there, 266. See also Dutch
 Holland, Jansenism in, see Jansenism in Holland
 Holland, Jansenists in, see Jansenists, Dutch

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

- Holland, Old Catholic Church in, see Old Catholic Church and Utrecht
- Holland, John, see Sergeant
- Holles, Denzil, ambassador, interested in formulary, 117, 118; believes Louis XIV too hasty in admission of Bull, 119
- Holy Life of Philip Neri*, 106, 280
- Holy Office, see under Congregations
- Holy See, 204; does not condemn Conry's writings, 1 n. 1; receives Sinnich's submission, 9; Irish attached to, 7, 190; could not have granted stipulations of the Oblatio, 92; offended by the Jansenist medal, 121; condemns doctrine of Jansenius, 121, 219 n. 2; receives Blackloe's submission, 153; takes charges of Jansenism into consideration when appointing vicars-apostolic in England, 159; may suspend pension to Douay, 184; had already condemned propositions found in the Irish Remonstrance, 205; treated with insufficient respect, by Aubigny, 91; by Montagu, 94; by the French, 125; by Dutch Jansenists, 164; by English Catholics, 176; by the Irish Remonstrance, 205 n. 2; by Dr Kelly, 208
- Homologia Augustini Hipponensis et Augustini Yprensis de Deo omnes salvari volente*, by Sinnich, 6
- Hopton, Lord, 45 n. 6
- Home, George, Bishop of Norwich, admires Port Royal, 266; admires Quesnel, 256, 262 n. 3, 266; adopts Quesnel's method in his Commentary on the Psalms, 262
- Hortemels or Horthemels, Madeleine, her drawings and engravings, 271, 275
- Hôtel-Dieu, Paris, 216
- Howard, Philip Thomas, Cardinal, said to be a Jansenist, 158; esteems Neercassel and his Amor Penitentis, 158-9; corresponds with Neercassel, 164; Arnauld wishes he would exhort Leyburn to greater courage, 183; unable to send Arnauld the documents requested, 222
- Howe, John, 144
- Hugot, Nicolas, his Instructions translated, 177, 286
- Huguenots, 178; in subjection, 131; some still feared, 131; of more interest to the English than the Jansenists, 130; their place of worship, 41 n. 1; see also Claude, Jurieu, Justel
- Humières, M. de, 96
- Hunter, Thomas, S.J., 11; replies to Dodd, 174; his Modest Defence, 173, 286
- Huntly, Isabel Gordon, Marchioness of, 100
- Hutchinson, Bonaventure, O.S.F., 186 n. 4
- Hyde, Edward, first Earl of Clarendon, 91, 152, 203; on Irish affairs, 34; on Dr Callaghan, 34; on a proposed mission to Rome, 42, 43, 44 and n. 4; blamed for proposing Dr Callaghan, 44 n. 1; transmits Charles' thanks to Dr Kelly and his friends, 50; on the needs of Scotland, 50; hears from Ormonde, 56; receives Jansenist pamphlets, 57; to be told of the Duke of Gloucester's proposed conversion, 59; draws up an answer to Aubigny's propositions, 60; not involved in intrigues with Bartet, 82 n. 1; allows Aubigny to act as intermediary between him and Estrades, 84, 85; resents attitude of Rome to Aubigny, 90, 94; would have imprisoned Vecchiis, 95; intimacy with Aubigny, 96, 108 and n. 4; his dislike of Jesuits and Popery, 102; his interest in translations from Arnauld and Nicole, 108, 110; threatens a cordelier, 205
- Hyde, Henry, Lord Cornbury, afterwards second Earl of Clarendon, probably supplied with Jansenist pamphlets by Aubigny, 108; requests Evelyn to translate Arnauld and Nicole, 108, 110; receives Evelyn's Mystery of Jesuitism, 107; dedicated to him, 108; one of Aubigny's executors, 108 n. 4
- Imaginaires, les*, see Nicole
- Imaginary Heresie, the*, a translation from Nicole, 107, 281
- Index, Montpellier Catechism on the, 177, 288
- In eminenti*, see Bulls
- Infallibility of the Pope, see Papal Infallibility
- Ingleton, Dr John, under-preceptor to the Pretender, 228
- Innes, Alexander, 232 n. 2
- Innes family, governs the Collège des Ecosais, 246

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

329

- Innes, George, prefect of studies at the Collège des Écossais, 233 and n. 3; principal, ib.; Jansenist and appellant, 236; sends paper to Propaganda, 236
- Innes, Lewis, frequently at Saint-Germain, 230; principal of the Collège des Écossais, 233 and n. 3; apostle of the Scotch at Saint-Germain, 236; Jansenist and appellant, 236; oracle of the college, 237; corresponds with Bishop Gordon, 238; encourages Jansenism at Saint-Germain, 242
- Innes, Thomas, education, 230; character, 232; at Port Royal, 230, 231; a true disciple, 230; at Magny, 233; admires the abbé Colbert, 230; in Scotland, 230, 231, 233; prefect of studies at the Collège des Écossais, 236; confessor at Sainte-Barbe, 236; Jansenist friends, 231, 233; reads Jansenist books, 232; denounced as Jansenist and appellant, 231, 236; appeals from Unigenitus, 231, 234, 239; interdicted, 232; withdraws from college, 231; enabled to return, 232; corresponds with Bishop Gordon, 238; the bishop's spiritual adviser, 239; death, 232, 233; obituary notices, 230, 232; his grand-nephew tries to clear him from the charge, 232 n. 2; his papers at the Bibliothèque Mazarine, 230; works, 233 n. 2; included in the Calendrier des Amis de la Vérité, 5 and n. 5
- Innocence et la vérité défendues*, by Arnauld, 38, 53
- Innocence et la vérité reconnues*, by Brisacier, 38
- Innocent X, not favourable to Augustinus, 8; said to be unfavourable to Charles II, 34; Charles II wishes to negotiate with him, 42; to be informed of Rinuccini's conduct, 43; ought not to receive Callaghan and Taaffe, 44; examines Bourgeois' defence of La Fréquente Communion, 154; urged to examine the five propositions, 189; condemns the propositions in his Bull Cum occasione, xvi, xix, 45, 117, 121, 135, 151, 201, 278; his Bull confirmed by Alexander VII, xvi, 60; his condemnation of Jansenism accepted in the Oblatio, 92; defended by Macedo, 151; accepted by English Catholics, 171, 172; attacked by Blackloe, 151; criticized by Protestants, 151
- Innocent XII, 182 n. 4; said to be a friend of the Jansenists, 129
- Inquisition, see under Congregation
- Institution of a Prince*, by Duguet, a translation, 290
- Instructions and prayers for children*, 235 n. 4
- Instructions pastorales*, by Soanen, Bishop of Senez, 178
- Internuncio in Brussels, Bichi, Antonio, 8, 181; Bussy (afterwards Internuncio in Cologne), 171; Grimaldi, 185; Mangelli, Andrea, 151; Santini, 175, 215; Vecchiis, Jerome de, q.v.
- Internuncio in Cologne, Bussy (previously in Brussels), 171–2
- Iprensis, see Jansenius
- Ireland, to be submitted to Rome, with England and Scotland, 92; to have bishops independent of Rome, 95; Jansenists to be sent to, 188; to be preserved from Jansenism, 191; Dutch Jansenists ordained in, xvii, 211–14, 276; missionaries to, instructed in the Bull Unigenitus, 218. See also Catholics, Irish; Jansenism in Ireland; Jansenists, Irish
- Irish Bible, 145
- Irish Catholics, see Catholics, Irish
- Irish College, at Louvain, 2; at Paris, see under Paris
- Irish Common Prayer Book, 147
- Irish Confederate Catholics, see Catholics, Irish
- Irish Franciscans, see Franciscans, Irish
- Irish Friars Minor, see Franciscans, Irish
- Irish Jansenists, see Jansenists, Irish
- Irish Jesuits, see Jesuits, Irish
- Irish New Testament, to be supplied with Port Royal preface, 145–8
- Irish Old Testament, 147
- Irish Rebellion, 204
- Irish Remonstrance, sponsored by Walsh, 204–7; drawn up by Bellings, 93, 204–5; rejected by assembly of Irish clergy, 206; considered to embody teachings of Jansenius, 207; to be dealt with by Vecchiis, 95; censured by the Louvain Theological Faculty, 9; upheld by Father Caron, 9 n. 5
- Italian translations, see Translations
- Italy, Jansenism in, ix
- James I, 9

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

330

INDEX

- James II, 94, 227; convinced of the miracle of la Sainte-Épine, 56; intimacy with Aubigny, 96; the Nuncio sent to him, 182 n. 4; hears complaints about Arnauld, 222; esteems Arnauld, 223; to find him a place in England, 223; admired by Arnauld, 223; said to grant unwise favours to Father Petre, 223; at war, 132; flight to France, xvii; to be abandoned by France, 224; his fate worries Arnauld, 224; sups with Lancelot at Quimperlé, 225; visits Port Royal des Champs, 225; allowed by Noailles to read Port Royal authors, 225; befriends M. Ruth d'Ans, 225; unaware of perils of Jansenism, 225–6; piety, 243; death, xvii, 226
- James Francis Edward Stuart, Prince of Wales, Chevalier de St George, the old Pretender, writes on behalf of Douay, 184; exposed to Jansenism by his preceptor Dr Betham, xvii, 226–8; shows no inclination to Jansenism, 228–9; relations with Tencin, 228–9 and 229 n. 1; Dutch Jansenists thought to be his spies, 213; enables Innes to return to the Collège des Écossais, 232; visited by James Carnegie in Rome, 234; one of his gentlemen at a Jansenist funeral, 242; would have wished to nominate the abbé Plowden for the cardinalate, 253; nominates Fitzjames, 254
- Jansen, Cornelius, see Jansenius
- “Jansenia”, country of, 111, 282
- Jansenism, 8 n. 5, 9 n. 5, 99, 155, 164, 225; Port Royal its centre, 124; passionately embraced in France and in Flanders, 4; Charles II said to incline to it, 46; accepted by serious Papists and Protestants, 140; re-established, 125; reviving among respectable people, 130; to be used to intimidate Rome, 125; taken into consideration by Holy See when appointing vicars-apostolic in England, 159; controversy renewed in France in the eighteenth century, 160–1; a new phase, the convulsionaries, 247 et seq.; entails refusal of sacraments, xviii, 23, 155, 252–3; connexions with, hinder Callaghan’s mission to Rome, 39, 44; not to be conveyed by Dr Holden, 156; condemned by Urban VIII, q.v.; by Innocent X, q.v.; by Alexander VII, q.v.; by Pius VI, 219 n. 2; its condemnation accepted by the Oblatio, ex parte Caroli II, 92, 93; condemned by the assembly of the French clergy in 1661, 97; by the English Chapter, 157; by the English vicars-apostolic, 172; various opponents, 92; opposed by M. Chamillard, 23; by Hallier, 92, 194; by Mary of Modena, 226–9; by Mme de Maintenon, 226–8; by the Cardinal de Bissy, 227–8; by the Cardinal de Tencin, 228–9; by Louis XIV, q.v.; by the Jesuits, q.v.; by Scottish Catholics, 237 n. 2; Bulls directed against, 235, and see Bulls; unknown to Irish in Paris, 190; hostile references to, in Irish theses, 216–19; not to be mentioned in Sorbonne theses, 218; said to make for political independence, 125; said to have an influence in the civil affairs of France, 143; resemblance to doctrine of St Augustine, 4, 6; compared to Calvinism, 41 n. 1; an “imaginary heresy”, 107; a phantom, 182; an inroad into the kingdom of darkness, 134; agreeable to the Scriptures, 143; its “misery”, 102; its errors contained in Voisin’s translation of the missal, 125; explained to English readers, 100; teachings described by Dr Plunket, 209; described by English Jesuits, 163; confused knowledge in England, 142–3; common knowledge in England, 152; no counterband in a Protestant country, 177; easily conveyed in English dress, 177; interest shown by Anglicans, 134–48 passim; by Calvinists, 139; by Gale, 139–44; Scottish interest, 138; of little interest in its earlier stages to English Protestants, 256; first English study, 140, 282; MS. account by Dr Short, 169; some English accounts, 275 n. 5; histories of, in English, 275, 280, 287, 289
- See also* Jansenists, especially Jansenists, English, Irish, Scottish
- Jansenism, at Saint-Germain, 227, 241–50, 253–4
- Jansenism, at the Collège de Sainte-Barbe, 217, 236
- Jansenism, at the Collège des Écossais, xviii, 234, 236, 237, 238, 240. See also under Paris, Collèges

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

331

- Jansenism, at the English College at Douay, accusations, xvii, 163, 181–6, passim; charges disproved, xvii, see also under Douay
- Jansenism, in Austria, ix and n. 1
- Jansenism, in England, ix–xi; attacked by Macedo, 101, 151, 278; mainly a matter of charges made and refuted, 149; charges made in the seventeenth century, 158, 159; noted by Estrades, 153; renewed attention in the eighteenth century, 161; feared by Father Fairfax, 162; unfounded charges, 162–3; detailed charges, 163; “deeply rooted”, 164; said not to exist, 171; warnings issued against, 172; not serious, 173; charges made, 174; reported to Cardinal Gualterio, 176; opposed by English Jesuits, 184; less pronounced than in Scotland, 233. See also Jansenists, English; Jansenism at the English College at Douay
- Jansenism, in Germany, ix
- Jansenism, in Holland, ix, x; beginnings, 211; widespread, 227; spreading to England, 164; MS. account, 214; printed accounts, 162, 284. See also Jansenists, Dutch
- Jansenism, in Ireland, xi; more guarded against than in England, 204; warnings, 204; question raised at the time of the Restoration, 204; said to be non-existent, 206; Walsh not concerned with it, 207; to be introduced by Jansenists of France, 208; precautions, 208; attributed to Irish in France, 208; books circulating, 209; condemned by Dr Daly, 210; inconsiderable at the end of the seventeenth century, 210; comes to the fore in the eighteenth century, 210; said to be unknown, 214–15; renewed danger, 219 n. 2; less pronounced than in Scotland, 233. See also Jansenists, Irish
- Jansenism, in Italy, ix and n. 1, x, 219 n. 2
- Jansenism, in Scotland, xi; more pronounced than in England and Ireland, 233; probably due to the Innes family, 233; denounced by Scottish Jesuits, 234; to be solidly established, 234; charges made, 235, 237, 238, 239; influence in Protestant Scotland, 138. See also Jansenists, Scottish
- Jansenism, in Spain, ix, x
- Jansenisme confondu dans l'Advocat du Sr Callaghan*, by Brisacier, 36
- “Jansenist” bishops, 119, and see under Bishops
- Jansenist books, condemned, 152; English, Scottish and Irish Catholics warned against them, 171; in England, 163, 164, 172, 176, 177, 178, 182; permitted in Scotland, 238; in Ireland, 209, 210, 215; sent to China, 177; distributed by Matthew Barnewall, 212, 251; read by James II, 225; by Thomas Innes, 232; by Hannah More, 265; in Ormonde’s library, 38 n. 5, 53; in Leighton’s library, 137; in Ken’s library, 138; in Owen’s library, 143; in Law’s library, 264; in Waple’s library, 274 n. 6; at Sion College Library, 274 n. 6; at Dr William’s Library, London, 274 n. 6; at the library of the London Oratory, 275 and n. 3. See also Port Royal books
- Jansenist catechisms, 237 n. 2, 238 and n. 1; see also Montpellier Catechism
- Jansenist Church of Holland, so-called, see under Utrecht and Old Catholic Church
- Jansenist correspondence, 247; historians, 23, 67; medal, 121–2; missal, 125; poem, 123; publication, see Nouvelles Ecclésiastiques; Testament, see Port Royal, New Testament; tracts and pamphlets translated by Evelyn, see under Evelyn
- Jansenists, 75, 102, 142, 220, 221, 230; attitude to the Bull In eminenti, 7 n. 1; numerous, 30; charge Saint-Amour with the defence of Augustinus, 189; condemned by Innocent X, 45; not likely to acquiesce, 45; accused of siding with Retz, 50, 82, and n. 2; their assemblies prohibited, 55; opposed by Louis XIV, 60, 124; abominated by Louis XIV, 246; Bartet supposed to be one of their adherents, 82; persecuted, 55, 71, 136, 140, 142; condemned by Alexander VII, 60, 93 n. 5; not all subscribe the formulary, 140; condemn five propositions, but deny their presence in the Augustinus, 118, 170, 202; their distinction of fact and right, 256; a declaration passed against them by the Parlement, 118; imprisoned, 119, 130, 226; relieved

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More informationJansenists (continued)

by death of Alexander VII, 119; Innocent XI said to be friendly to them, 129; to hold a council in Languedoc, 120; their reconciliation with the Church, see Paix de l'Église; not responsible for the medal, 122; Colbert and the other ministers friendly to them, 122; believed to be a centre of disaffection, 124, 125, 131; a republican party, 132; said to hold assemblies at the Hôtel de Longueville, 125; gratified that Pomponne is made minister, 126; print books without approbation, 150; grow in number, 139; in reputation, 57; in influence, 125; passing of the older generation, 160; request Mme de Gramont's services, 244; Noailles lenient to them, 130, 228, 244; revive question de fait et de droit, 160; said to send books to China, 177; refused sacraments, 252; complain to the Parlement of Paris, 252; do not like Le Courayer and his doctrine, 259 and n. 2

Esteem Conry's writings, 1 n. 1; honour Sinnich, 5; esteemed by Sinnich, 9; their interest in Bishop Smith, 10; said to uphold Dr Kellison, 11; their opinion of Jesuit opposition to Bishop Smith, 11; said to have made Bishop Smith plead for Saint-Cyran, 13; on Bishop Smith, 13 n. 4; said to have helped Charles II, xvi, 40, 42, 46; supposed to enjoy his friendship, 40; informed that Charles II inclines to Catholicism, 44; said to be financing Dr Callaghan's mission, 43, 44; Dr Callaghan hopes to do much for them at Rome, 44; accused of intriguing with Cromwell, xvii, 46, 132; accused of wishing to overthrow the government, 46; met by Sir George Hamilton in behalf of Charles II, 49; Dr Kelly acts as intermediary between them and the royalist exiles, 49; rarely condemned by Englishmen, 45; disliked by Richard Watson, 45; perhaps intended to help Sir John Middleton's expedition, 50; thanked by Charles II, 50; to receive explanations with regard to the disposal of their charities, 50–1; esteemed by Bellings, 51; send funds to Charles II, 51; may help in 1656,

56; a rapprochement sought with them by Dr Steward and Sir George Radcliffe, 54; correspond with the English in 1657, 57; correspond with royalists, 58; possibly under value Charles' promises of toleration, 58; make some proposition to Charles II, 58; not satisfied with his answer, 58; disillusioned, 58; possible interest in the Duke of Gloucester's conversion, 58–9; dis-appointed in Aubigny, 76, 99; influence on Aubigny, 77; sponsor Aubigny's election to the Congrégation de la Propagation de la Foi, 78; connexions with them said to have been severed by Aubigny, 91; joined again by Aubigny, 91; Aubigny drifts away from them, 97, 98; probably send him books to England, 108; English readers initiated into their disputes with Molinists, 101; possible union with Anglicans, 105, 179, 257–8; implicated by Oates in the Popish Plot, 113; to be implicated in a political conspiracy with England, 131; accused of intriguing with England, 132; not seen by Burnet, 136; admired by Leighton, 137; by Ken, 138; by Gale, 139–44; met by Calamy at Utrecht, 145; Blackloe's relations with them, 150, 151; their opinion of Dr Holden, 156, 157; Holden's sentiments akin to theirs, 155; known by name only to the English, 173; not actively opposed by Bishop Giffard, 175; said to send books to England, 177; visit England, see under Étemare; frequented by Beauvoir, 186 n. 4, 257; to be gratified by the use of their preface in the Irish New Testament, 147; said to have inspired the decree against the Irish students, 199; said to have paid Wadding, 202; emboldened by Wadding, 202; look upon Father Nolan as a friend, 202–3; an Irishman bred by them under suspicion, 206; said to be trying to introduce Jansenism in Ireland, 208; want Dr Kelly to be bishop, 208; relations with the superiors of the Collège des Écossais, 236; help a student of the college, 237; have friends at the court of Saint-Germain, 241 et seq.; value Berwick's

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

333

- protection, 241; inform Quesnel of Middleton's conversion, 242; regret death of the abbé Plowden, 253; admire Fitzjames, 254; not to be received by Atterbury, 260; disliked by Queen Caroline, 263; moral and literary works better known in England than biographical, 274
- Attacked by Jesuits, 37; their "calumnies" against the Jesuits, 53; opposed to doctrine of Jesuits, 57; a journal of their proceedings with the Jesuits, 105, 280; their "pious pains" in writing against the Jesuits, 109; controversy with Jesuits, 110, 111; said to do the Jesuits more harm than Protestants do, 116; called heretics by the Jesuits, 120; controversy with them used to disprove the unity of the Church of Rome, 134; write against Casuists, 207
- Abusively so-called, 207; described by Aubigny and Saint-Évremond, 99; by the Jesuits, 163, 174, 178; by the Cardinal de Bissy, 227; many excellencies, 207; reserve, 50, 136; simplicity, 134, 137, 138; severity, 134; independence, 134; "orthodoxalitie", 139; distrust of papal infallibility, 116, 134, 142, 206, 209; said to resemble Calvinists, 139, 141; said to be introducing Calvinism, 111; write against Calvinism, 122, 141; their views on Grace, 141; their esteem of Scriptures, 134, 141, 145, 146; said to be the first to write plain commentaries of the Bible, 256 n. 3; "worse than Puritans", 45; "as sober as Protestants", 145; esteemed by the pastor Bochart, 139; "the better kind of Papists", 134-48; "les Quakres François", 263; their Cartesianism, 127, 128 and n. 1; knowledge of them obtained, from newsletters, 116-32 passim; from books, 101-15 passim; from sojourn abroad, 134-45 passim; their publication, see Nouvelles Ecclésiastiques
- See also* Jansenism, Port Royal
- Jansenists, at Saint-Germain (or said to be Jansenists), 236-7; not Mary of Modena's fault, 229; see also Betham, Drummond, Fitzjames, Hamilton, Jennings, Middleton, Plowden, Rothe, Strickland
- Jansenists, Dutch, their books said to be sold in England, 164; said to correspond with Catholic Clergy in England, 163, 164; do not invade England, 173; in touch with the English, 178-9; priests ordained in Ireland, xvii, 211-14, 276; correspond with Girardin, 260; correspond with the Duchess of Tyrconnel, 246; see also Codde, Neercassel, Van Erkel, Van Heussen, Van Rhyn, and under Short, Utrecht. See also Jansenism in Holland
- Jansenists, English (or said to be Jansenists), 149-86 passim, and see Blackloe, Carr, Crathorn, Daly (Mrs), Daniel, Dodd, Dymock, Giffard, Harrington, Hawarden, Herbert, Holden, Howard, Kellison, Leyburn, Mainwaring, Paston, Piggott, Saltmarsh, Savage, Stafford, Stuart d'Aubigny, Sylvester, Tootell, Vane, Wauchope, Witham, English Benedictines. See also Jansenism in England
- Jansenists, Irish (or said to be Jansenists), 148, 187-209 passim; a little more numerous in the seventeenth than in the eighteenth century, 187; said to be non-existent, 206; few in number, 210; two secular priests, 210; a regular who retracts, 210; influenced by Tamburini, 219 n. 2; at Louvain, 219 n. 2; complain of harsh treatment in France, 188; see also Barnewall, Bellings, Butler, Butlery, Cahill, Callaghan, Caron, Clonsinnil, Conry, Flannery, Girardin, Hifferman, Kelly, Kenny, Macarty, MacCarthy, Mackivorly, Macnamara, Magerraghty, Marison, Moor, Mulrian, Oloneragan, Poer, Rion, Sinnich. See also Jansenism in Ireland
- Jansenists, Italian, ix, 219 n. 2
- Jansenists, Scottish (or said to be Jansenists), said to be numerous, 234; to want bishop, 234; their "artifices", 235, 239; at Lord Edward Drummond's house, 252; see also Aston, Carnegie, Duncan, Drummond, Geddes, Gordon, Hassett, Innes, Leith, Leslie, Macdonald (J.), Smith (A.), Strachan, Stuart, Whiteford. See also Jansenism in Scotland; Jansenism at the Collège des Ecosais

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

334

INDEX

- Jansenius or Jansen, Cornelius, Bishop of Ypres, 8, 9, 55, 57, 209; secret names, 1; his "affaire de Pilmot", 2; his letters, 1, 2, 12; relations with Conry, 2, 3, 187, 207; knows Sinnich, 6; opposed to Floyd and Knott, 12; his opinion of the Society of Jesus, 12; threatened by Jesuit emissary, 12; consulted by Champney, 12; relations with Walsh, 207; death, xv, 3; his portrait at Mme de Gramont's, 244; at Sion College, 275; his room at Louvain visited, 269; his tomb visited, 267; not to have been named in the Bull In eminenti, 7 n. 1; bulls directed against his doctrine, see under Bulls; "le pavé d'enfer", 65; condemned by Dr Hawarden, 183; attacked in Irish theses, 216; his condemnation of little interest to Protestant England, 256; "sens de Jansenius", 118; respectful silence with regard to attributing the propositions to him, 160; possibly known to English readers, 109; esteemed by Blackloe, 151, 153; admired by Gale, 143; influences Gale, 144; quoted by Gale, 143; by Owen, 143; by Taylor, 139 n. 1; linked with Baxter, Twisse and de Vries, 145, 285; with Blackloe, 151; with Callaghan, 36; with Calvin, 141, 151, 283; his doctrine said to be approved by Clement IX, 121; by Holden, 155; by the University of Paris, 199; esteemed by Leighton, 137; his teachings said to be seen in the Irish Remonstrance, 207; his theology described by Gale, 141–3
- His Augustinus, publication, xv; approbations furnished, 6, 10; read while still unbound by Peter Walsh, 207; its doctrine said to be analogous to that of the Irish Franciscans at Louvain, 9 n. 5; defended by Sinnich, 6–7, 57, 187; defended by Saint-Amour, 109–10, 189, 281; defended by Nolan, 203; criticized by Holden, 156; by Sylvester Jenks, 173; attitude of Irish residing abroad, 4; opposed in Rome, 4 n. 3; taken up in Rome, 201–2; said to renew the errors of Baius, 6; heretical, 106; condemned, xv, xviii, 6; controversies, 6; prohibition not received, 4; five propositions hard to find, 135; may contain the five propositions, 212; said to contain them, xix, 106, 107, 119; said not to contain them, 118, 170, 202, 231; said not to contain the fifth proposition, 202; a storm centre, 160; said to be represented in the Jansenist medal, 121; not represented, 121; not much read by English Protestants, 256; studied by Gale, 139, 141; in Ken's library, 138; in Owen's library, 143; in Waple's library, 274 n. 6; Gale's copy probably sent to Harvard, 144; appendix by Conry, 1, 3. See also Propositions, five
- Jansenius damnatus*, 192
- Jansenius, name used in royalist correspondence, 56
- Jarente de La Bruyère, Louis Sentives de, Bishop of Orleans, 218
- Jarrige, Pierre, 104, 280
- Jenkins, Francis, the elder, 21
- Jenkins, Francis ("M. François"), appearance and character, 19–20; identity long unknown, 19, 20; his great-uncle Dr Cecil, 21; his father defended by M. Le Maître, 21; comes to France, 21; finds M. Le Maître gone to Port Royal, 22; becomes porter at Port Royal de Paris, 22; gardener, 22; driven out by the Archbishop, xvii, 23; gardener to the duc de Liancourt, 23; gardener at Port Royal des Champs, 23; allowed to stay, 25; death, 20, 25; burial, 25; epitaph, 20, 26; disinterred, 26; included in the Calendrier des Amis de la Vérité, 5 and n. 5
- Jenks, Sylvester, burns preface to English translation of Quesnel, 167; considers English notes deserve censure, 167; writes against the Augustinus, 173, 286; attributes a translation to Father Fairfax, 285
- Jennings, Frances, Duchess of Tyrconnel, in the Mémoires de Grammont, 246; first husband, 246; Lady of the Bedchamber at Saint-Germain, 246; acts as intermediary between Dutch Jansenists and English Catholics, 246; corresponds with Van Erkel, 170; with Saltmarsh, 170
- Jermyn, Henry, first Earl of St Albans, 41; desired to hinder Aubigny's return to France, 81
- Jesuites, Moral Practice of the*, by Pontchâteau, a translation, 111–12, 282

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

335

Jesuitism, Mystery 0, see Mystery

Jesuits, 8 n. 5, 75, 129, 142, 145; the Bull In eminenti said to be drawn up to please them, 7 n. 1; said to persecute Jansenists, 10; oppose Saint-Cyran, 10; relations with Jansenius, 12, 13; said to charge Louvain theologians with favouring the Oath of Supremacy, 12; preferred to Jansenists, 45; the “Jansenian calumnies” against them, 53; violently opposed by Jansenists, 57; pamphlets against them, 101–15 passim, 278–81; intend to translate the Apologie pour les Casuistes, 104; answer the Provinciales, 104, 280; attacked by French clergy, 105; by doctors of the Sorbonne, 112; a journal of their proceedings with the Jansenists, 105, 280; controversy with Jansenists, 110, 111, 134; said to be more harmed by Jansenists than by Protestants, 116; Jansenists return to favour in spite of them, 119; “enraged” by Port Royal Testament, 120; wish to hinder meeting of Jansenists, 120; distrusted by Mme de Longueville, 125; “mortified” by favour shown to Pomponne, 126; to oppose Cartesianism, 128; disliked by Protestants, 101–15 passim, 134; answered by Arnauld, 135; accuse Jansenists of resembling Calvinists, 141; said to make charges of Jansenism when advantageous to them, 159; invented in the Provinciales, 161; worse than Calvin and Luther, 176; looked upon as adversaries by the University of Paris, 190; the Bull Unigenitus attributed to them, 231; condemnation of Jansenists attributed to them, 256; bon mot against them, 265; attack the pseudo-Luzancy, 277; their “new heresy”, 106, 107, 109, 110, 117, 281; their “new doctrine”, 57; their doctrine, 288; their “doctrine against kings”, 199; their “moral practice”, 111–12, 282; their “morals”, 112, 282; their influence, 109; their Journal de Trévoux, 178

Callaghan studies under them, 32, 36–9; disapprove of Callaghan, 35, 39; oppose his mission to Rome, 44; English Protestants more ready than they to believe in Port Royal miracle, 56; said to have been instrumental in Gloucester’s conversion, 59; disliked in England, 59, 102, 101–15 passim, 134; their general, Paul Oliva, hears from Charles II, 94; attacked by Dodd, 105; disliked by Evelyn, 108; by Dr Barlow, 109; books against, at Wotton House, 112 n. 2; Pascal’s translator glad to contribute to their suppression, 115; attacked by Baxter, 136; their way of preaching criticized by Burnet, 136; attitude to Holden, 155; revealed to the English by a Jansenist, 178; said to have accused Dr Kellison, 181; hear complaints about Douay College, 183; proposed as superiors for Irish community in Paris, 190; involved in the affaire des Hibernois, 190–1, 199; their slave, “Macperlant”, 216; will not believe what Arnauld wrote against Southwell, 220; criticized by Dr Betham, 226; relations with Mary of Modena, 228, 242; hold mission at Saint-Germain, 237, 246; said to oppose Scottish Catechism, 238 n. 1; disliked at Saint-Germain, 242; said to have made Berwick transfer his children to one of their schools, 242; numerous at Saint-Germain, 243; defended by Dr Johnson, 265; attacked by English translator, 286; considers Fitzjames a Jansenist, 254

Jesuits, English, oppose Bishop Smith, 10, 11, 13; their books criticized by Jansenius and Saint-Cyran, 12; attacked by Saint-Cyran, 13; defended by Aubigny, 98; said to dislike Benedictines, 158; write against Jansenists, 162; make charges of Jansenism, 162; English Catholics said to be in their bondage, 165–6; said to have had translation of Quesnel suppressed, 168; said to oppose creation of bishops in England, 169 and n. 6, 174; addressed by Short, 169–70; denounce Dr Short, 170; said to have distributed the Secret Policy of the Jansenists, 162 n. 1, 170; their Provincial knows no one addicted to Jansenism, 171; attacked by Dodd, 173–4; reply, 173–4; said to bestow the name of Jansenist on those whom they want to ruin, 173; defended by the bookseller Lewis, 174 n. 4; not treated firmly enough by Leyburn, 182;

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

- Jesuits, English (continued)
 thought to be attacking secular clergy, 184; thought to have designs on Douay College, 184; zealous against Jansenism, 184; accused of Popish Plot, 221 n. 4; defended by Arnauld, 221 and n. 4; said to have repaid him well, 221; their “secret policy”, 287. See also Floyd and Knott
- Jesuits, Irish, in Paris, complain of Callaghan, 32
- Jesuits’ Morals, the*, by Perrault, a translation, 112 and n. 2, 282
- Jesuits, Scottish, said to have informed the Nuncio in Paris of Jansenism in Scotland, 234; said to have pursued Strachan, 234 n. 3; their “zeal and charity”, 235; said to have fomented discord, 239
- Jesup, Edward, his Lives of Picus and Pascal, 114, 288
- John Casimir, King of Poland, asked to help Lord Muskerry, 51, 52
- Johnson, Dr Samuel, takes part of Jesuits, 265; teases Hannah More for liking the Jansenists, 265, 274; gives his copy of Les Pensées to Boswell, 266
- Joly, Guy, quoted, 79, 81, 90; draws up memoirs in Aubigny’s favour, 90
- Joncoux, Françoise Marguerite de, friend of Port Royal, 166, 241; translates Wendrock notes on the Provinciales into French; hears of Berwick’s protection, 241; to approach some one at Saint-Germain, 242; friend of Mme de Gramont, 244; article on her, 241 n. 3
- Jones, Dr Henry, Protestant Bishop of Meath, considers possibility of using the Port Royal preface in the Irish New Testament, 145–7
- Journal de ce qui s’est fait à Rome dans l’affaire des cinq propositions*, see Saint-Amour
- Journal de Trévoux*, 178
- Journal of all Proceedings between the Jansenists and Jesuits*, by Arnauld (?), Pascal (?), a translation, 105, 280
- Journée du Guichet, xv, 14
- Joyeuse, Henri duc de (le P. Ange), 15
- Juilly, Collège de, 61
- Jurieu, Pierre, his Politique du clergé de France, 221
- Justel, Henri, possibly Oldenburg’s correspondent, 116, 119; sends Claude’s answer to Charles II, 126 n. 6; acts as intermediary between Southwell and Arnauld, 222
- Kearney, Charlotte, 251
- Kearney, Irish student, 216 and n. 6
- Keble College, Oxford, 278
- Kellis (Dr Kelly ?), a Jansenist, 48 n. 3
- Kellison, Dr Matthew, president of the English College at Douay, defends Saint-Cyran, 11; said to be upheld by Jansenists, 11; accused of sympathizing with Jansenists, 181
- Kelly, Dr Malachy, a Jansenist, 48, 49, 208; denounced to Propaganda Fide, 48; his character by Rapin, 49; esteemed at the Hôtel de Longueville, 49; confessor to Marie de Gonzague, 49; director of the comtesse de Brégy’s daughter, 49; to interpret Ormonde’s letter to M. Singlin and M. de Bernières, 48; commended by Sir George Hamilton, 49; letter of authority requested for him, 49, 50; may be exiled as partisan of Retz, 50; thanked by Charles II, 50; associates with Sir George Radcliffe, 54; possible negotiations with him, 56; acts as intermediary between Jansenists and royalists, 187; informs Ormonde of dissatisfaction of friends, 58; said to aspire to a bishopric in Ireland, 208; provided with means by Jansenists, 208; unfavourable reports from nuncio, 208
- Ken, Thomas, Bishop of Bath and Wells, esteemed Jansenists, 138; has their books in his library, 138
- Kennet, Basil, translates Pascal’s Pensées, 114, 285, 289, 290; translates Godeau’s Instructions Pastorales, 114
- Kennet, White, Bishop of Peterborough, 114
- Kennicott, Ann, 266
- Kennicott, Benjamin, 266
- Kenninck, Mgr, Archbishop of Utrecht (Old Catholic Church), 259
- Kenny, Paul, de la Croix or van der Cruys, secretary to Bishop Fagan, concerned in the ordination of Dutch Jansenists, 212–14, 276; said to be identical with Marison, 211
- Key for Catholics to open the Jugling of the Jesuits*, by Baxter, 136
- Key to Jansen’s letters, 1
- Keynes, Father, S.J., 159
- King, Paul, O.S.F., 34
- Kingston, Lord (temp. Louis XIV), 128

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

337

- Kingston, Lord (temp. Louis XV), consorts with convulsionaries, 251
- Kingston, Mr, a royalist, 57, 80
- Kirk, J., quoted, 183 n. 2
- Knott, Edward, S.J. (real name Matthew Wilson), 11, 12
- La Barre, abbé de, 129
- Labbe, Philippe, 155 n. 1
- La Bidière, M. de, to found a community for the Irish, 189–90
- La Boétie, 76
- La Broue, Pierre de, Bishop of Mirepoix, see Bishops, appellant
- La Cloche, James, natural son of Charles II, 100
- Lady's Library*, 115
- Laferrière, abbé J., 13 n. 4
- Lafiteau, Pierre François, Bishop of Sisteron, on Du Pin, 259
- La Flèche, Collège de, 32, 38
- La Fontaine, fables sent to England, 126
- Laigues, M. de, 99
- La Lane, Noël de, abbé; relations with Aubigny, 77, 97; his work De la Grâce victorieuse, 187
- Lambeth Conference of 1930, 259
- Lancelot, Claude, sups with James II at Quimper, 225; his grammar (written with Arnauld), 278; his Mémoires, 13, 230, 264; his Relation d'un voyage d'Alet, 267
- Langle, Pierre de, Bishop of Boulogne, see Bishops, appellant
- La Petitière, André Pizon de Betoulat de, Solitary, 72
- La Porte, Charlotte, convulsionary, 248
- La Rivière, Pierre Pertuis d'Eragny de, Solitary, 20
- La Solitude, at Port Royal des Champs, 268, 270
- Latey, Gilbert, Quaker, on Aubigny, 76, 98 n. 2
- Latin translations, see Translations
- La Tour du Pin, Mme, 255
- Laurence, Mr, i.e. Hyde, 57, 80 n. 3
- La Vallière, Louise Françoise de, buys Pensées, 127
- La Verrière, château of, 76 n. 6
- Law, John, gives shares to the Collège des Écossais, 239 n. 1; not a Jansenist, 239 n. 1
- Law, William, reads Jansenist books, 264
- Lawson, Alexander, accuser, 237 n. 2, 239
- Le Blanc, see White
- Le Cerf, Magdeleine de Sainte-Candide, interested in the Maitlands, 26–9 passim
- Le Chesnay, one of the “Little Schools”, 61, 62
- Le Comte, Louis, S.J., his Nouveaux mémoires sur l'état présent de la Chine, translated, 286
- Le Courayer, Pierre François, his Dissertation sur la Validité des Ordinations des Anglais, 259; appellant, 259; but disliked by Jansenists, 259 and n. 2; flight to England, 260; death, 259
- Leeds, the Duke of, 67 n. 2
- Lee, Master, 278
- Le Gros or Legros, Nicolas, visits England, xviii, 179; is to answer The Bull Unigenitus clear'd, 178
- Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm, on Arnauld, 221
- Leicester, Earl of, see Sidney
- Leighton, Robert, Archbishop of Glasgow, admires Jansenists, 136–7; their books in his library, 137
- Leith, Patrick, accused of Jansenism, 237 n. 2
- Le Maître, Antoine, his Plaidoyers, 20; defends Francis Jenkins, the elder, 21; retires to Port Royal, xv, 21; sends Francis Jenkins, the younger, to Port Royal de Paris, 22; visited by M. de Bel-Air, 51 n. 3; his Lettre touchant l'inquisition qu'on veut établir en France, 53; lived at Les Granges, 268; his room in 1814, 269, 272
- Le Maître de Saci, Isaac, 100; his secretary, 62; his imprisonment, 119; obliged to leave Port Royal, 74; death, 160; buried at Port Royal, 25; his portrait in Mme de Gramont's room, 244; his Enluminures du faux almanach, 53; his preface to the New Testament, 145–8; his translation of the New Testament, see Port Royal Testament
- Le Nain de Tillemont, Sébastien, 278; death, 160; house, 271; works in Law's library, 264; English indebted to him, 267
- Lennox, Dukes of, see Aubigny
- Le Noir, M., canon of Notre Dame, 231
- Le Noir de Sainte-Claude, Jacques, 231
- Le Paige, Adrien, 9 n. 5

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

338

INDEX

- Lercari, Nicola, Nuncio in France, reports on the Jansenism of the Collège des Écossais, xviii, 233–4, 236, 237, 238, 242
- Le Roi, abbé de, 277
- Lescot, Jacques, Bishop of Chartres, 37
- Les Granges, farmhouse inhabited by the Messieurs, xv, 268; return to, of the Messieurs, 24; little school at, 61; trees planted there by Messieurs, 273; occupied by Cossacks, 269; visited in 1814, 268–73; condition to-day, 268
- Leslie, George, Père Archange, 15
- Leslie, James, accused of Jansenism, 237 n. 2
- Les Trous, little school, 61
- Le Tellier, Michel, Secretary of State, 124
- Letters from Mons. Racine the Elder to his Son*, 290
- Lettre à un docteur de Sorbonne*, by Arnauld and Callaghan, 37
- Lettre à un duc et pair*, see Arnauld
- Lettre à une personne de condition*, see Arnauld
- Lettre apologétique de M. Arnauld à un évesque*, 53
- Lettre de l'Abbé... à Eudoxe*, by G. Daniel, 161
- Lettre d'importance sur le livre de Jansenisme confondu*, by Brisacier, 37
- Lettre écrite à un Milord à Londres*, 178
- Lettre touchant l'inquisition qu'on veut établir en France*, by M. Le Maître, 53
- Lettres de l'Érésie imaginaire*, see under Nicole
- Lettres d'un Catholique françois à un Anglois*, 178
- Lettres persanes*, by Montesquieu, 178
- Lettres provinciales*, see under Pascal
- Lettres spirituelles*, by Saint-Cyran, 137, 139
- Leuillier, Dean of the Faculty of Theology, 217
- Leveson, Sir Richard, 55
- Lewis, John, bookseller, 174 n. 4, 175
- Leyburn, Dr John, Vicar-apostolic, first of all England, next of the London district, 159, 169; thought to incline to Jansenism, 181, 182; esteems Quesnel, 168; corresponds with Neercassel, 182; approves of his Amor Penitens, 182; esteems Arnauld, 182; receives his Fantôme du Jansenisme, 182; said to be weak in his dealings with the Jesuits, 182–3
- Liancourt, duc de, at sermons of le P. Desmares, 66; penalized for relations with Port Royal, 23, 155; his gardener, 23; death, 23
- Libon, Jan, Dutch Jansenist ordained by Bishop Fagan, 276
- Life of Mr Paschal* (by Mme Périer) with his Letters relating to the Jesuits, a translation, 115, 290
- Life of the celebrated Monsieur Pascal*, by Mme Périer, a translation, 114, 288
- Lionne, Hugues de, Foreign Secretary to Louis XIV, informed of Aubigny's popularity, 96
- Lisieux, le P. Zacharie de (alias Fontaines), his Relation translated, 111, 282
- Little Gidding, 275
- Little Schools, see Port Royal
- Lituis Lusitanus*, 151 n. 4
- Lives of Picus and Pascal*, by Mr Jesup, 288
- Lloyd, Sylvester, translates Montpellier Catechism, 177, 288
- L., M. de (Laigues, M. de), 99
- Locke, John, his translation of Nicole, 112, 288, 291
- Lockhart, Sir William, ambassador, reports on Jansenists, 57, 60
- Logique, ou l'Art de Penser*, the so-called Port Royal logic, by Arnauld and Nicole, 113, 128, 264, 278, 283
- “Loi du silence”, 217, 218, 219
- Lombard, Étienne, abbé du Trouillas, 35
- Loménie de Brienne, Henri, hears from Estrades, 88
- London Chapter, see Catholics, English, clergy
- London Gazette*, 117
- London Oratory, Brompton Road, collection of Jansenist books, 275
- London, Sion College, xii, 274–5
- Longueville, Anne Geneviève de Bourbon, duchesse de, interest in the Maitlands, 27; has a Jansenist preceptor for her son, 35; receives Dr Kelly, 49; attends sermons of le P. Desmares, 66; her secretary Taignier, 82; interest in Irish Catholics, 82 n. 3; wishes to retire to Port Royal de Paris, 124; her house watched, 125; her death removes protection from Port Royal, xvii, 24, 160; burial, 267; her house at Port Royal des Champs, 270

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

339

- Louis XIII, xv, 2
- Louis XIV, 284; tires of hearing of the Messieurs, 24; receives nuncio, 45; war between him and Cromwell said to be desired by the Jansenists, 46; prohibits assemblies of Jansenists, 55; insists on the Parlement receiving the Bull of Alexander VII, 60; orders pensionnaires and novices to leave Port Royal, 64; pays Helen Muskerry's pension at the Ursulines, 65–6; befriends English Benedictine nuns, 71; appoints M. Bail superior of Port Royal, 74; does not wish Aubigny to return to France, 81; distrusts him, 84; ought to show him some consideration, 96; to pursue the Jansenists, 118; passes a declaration against them, 118; asks Alexander VII for Bull imposing formulary, 118; clashes with Alexander VII, 119; to be engaged in a quarrel with the Jansenists, 120; hears of the Jansenist medal, 121, 122; his confessor le P. Annat, 123; wishes la Sœur Perdreau to remain abbess of Port Royal de Paris, 124; considers Jansenists a centre of opposition, 124; orders Hôtel de Longueville to be watched, 125; receives M. d'Andilly, 126; said to buy Pensées, 127; jealousy of Jansenists, 131; thinks they form a faction, 131, 132; supports James II, 132; criticized by Dr Betham, 226; dislikes Port Royal, 243; reproached by Mme de Gramont, 243; offended by Mme de Gramont's retreat to Port Royal, 244–5; makes peace with her, 246; abominates the Jansenists, 246; orders demolition of Port Royal, 273; his "retribution", 273
- Louis XV, 249, 250; does not revoke the law of silence, 218; sides now with the bishops, now with the Parlement, 252; does not wish Atterbury to receive Jansenists, 260
- Louvain, 140, 187; in a way the home of Jansenism, 1; Augustinus printed there, 207; adversaries of formulary there, 219 n. 2
- Louvain, Colleges: Irish Franciscan, 2; St Anthony of Padua, 3, 207; greater theological, 5
- Louvain University, finds it hard to accept Bull of Urban III, 6; sends deputies to Rome, 6, 9; recalls Sinnich, 8; a Jansenist doctor, 151; students: Meindaerts, 213; Sinnich, 5; Van Rhyn, 165; Walsh, 205; Faculty of Theology, condemns Irish Remonstrance, 9, 205; said to have had New Testament printed, 147; delivers a judgment, 279; theologians, 1, 5, 12. See also Conry, Sinnich
- Lowndes' Bibliographer's Manual, 115 n. 1, 291 n.
- Lowndes, M. E., 275 n. 5
- Loyal Formulary, Remonstrance, see Irish Remonstrance
- Loyola, Ignatius of, 113
- Lupton, J. H., 258
- Luther, Martin, 13; Jesuits said to be worse, 176; Quesnel compared to him, 260, 286
- Luynes, Louis Charles Albert, duc de, helps exiles, 40, 41, 42, 51; his friend Brunetti, 97; death, 160; his house at Vaumurier, 40, 42, 271
- Luzancy, M. de, alias Hyppolite de Châtelet de Beauchâteau, considered an impostor by Port Royal, 277; varied career, 277
- Macarty, appellat, 216 n. 2
- Macarty, Irish priest in Paris, 219 n. 1
- MacCaghwell, Father Hugh, 2
- MacCallaghan, Dermot, 32
- MacCallaghan, John, see Callaghan, and 32 n. 2
- MacCarthy, Donogh, Lord Muskerry, afterwards Earl of Clancarty, related to Dr Callaghan, 32, 37; wants him to be bishop, 32; his son taught by Dr Callaghan, 33, 39, 41; imprisoned, 34; still in Ireland, 41; his son at Caen, 37; his family helped by Port Royal, 41; his brother-in-law Ormonde, 47; leaves Ireland, 51; introduced to Port Royal, 39 n. 4, 51; expedition to Portugal, 51; clothed by the duc de Luynes, 51; impressed by La Fréquente Communion, 52; esteemed by la Mère Angélique, 52; fruitless journey to Poland, 51–2; return to France, 52; recommended to the marquis de Fabre, 52; helped by Jansenists, 56; in Spain, 58; no longer to be helped by Jansenists, 58; informs Ormonde of dissatisfaction of friends, 58. See also MacCarthy, Helen, his daughter

22-2

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

340

INDEX

- MacCarthy, Eleanor, Lady Muskerry, afterwards Lady Clancarty, relations with Callaghan, 35 n. 1, 188 n. 2; helped by Port Royal, 41; at Vau-murier, 42. See also MacCarthy, Helen, her daughter
- MacCarthy, Helen, daughter of Lord Muskerry, brought up at Port Royal des Champs, 41–2, 51, 65, 246; left at Port Royal, 64; her parents hope she will take the veil, 64; forcibly removed, 64, 65; left with Ursulines, 65; her pension paid by Louis XIV, 66; her daughter marries Berwick, 246
- McCrie, Thomas, 291 n.
- Macdonald, Hugh, Vicar-apostolic of the Highland district, orthodox, 239
- Macdonald, James, reluctant to sign formulary sent to Scottish ecclesiastics, 240 n. 2
- Macedo, Francisco, writes against Jansenism, 101, 151, 278; against Blackloe, 151
- “Mackivorly”, appellant, 216 n. 2
- M’Laine, Archibald, 262
- MacMahon, Mgr, Archbishop of Armagh, 215 n. 2
- Macnamara, —, professor of philosophy in Paris, 192 n. 6
- Macnamara, Thadaeus, i.e. Arnauld, 4 n. 2
- “Macperlant”, attacked by the Nouvelles Ecclésiastiques, 216
- Macpherson, abbé Paul, quoted, 234–5, 239
- Madame, the first, see Orléans, Henrietta, Duchess of; the second, see Orléans, Charlotte Elisabeth, Duchess of
- Madgett, —, his theses attacked, 216 and n. 7, 217
- Maechlin, Archbishop of, see Malines
- Magdalen College, Oxford, 139
- “Magdonol”, Mgr, see Macdonald
- Magerraghty, Malachy, Jansenist, 216
- Maignelay, marquise de, 15
- Maintenon, Françoise d’Aubigné, marquise de, shocked that James II reads Port Royal authors, 225; glad Mary of Modena dislikes them, 226; advises her concerning Dr Betham’s Jansenism, 227–8; observes Mme de Gramont’s Jansenism, 244
- Mainwaring, Thomas, 174 n. 4
- Maire, M. Albert, bibliographer of Pascal, 8 n. 5, 291 n. 295
- Maitland, Elizabeth (?), at Maubuisson, 27–8; at Port Royal de Paris, 28; death, 28. See also Maitland, the sisters
- Maitland, James, fate, 26–7; his wife, 27, 29; his son, 27; his daughters, 26–9
- Maitland, Miss, the younger, too delicate for convent life, 27; obtains pension, 28; helped by Port Royal, 28–9; threatened by confessor, 28; deprived of intercourse with Port Royal, 29; resumes relations, 29. See also Maitland, the sisters
- Maitland, Richard, 27
- Maitland, the sisters, family history, 26–7; in Brussels and Antwerp, 27; in England, 27; in Paris, 27; their cousin, Miss Maxwell, 29 et seq.; their cousin, Miss Bannatyne, 29 n. 1
- Maitland, Sir William, of Lethington, fate, 26; granddaughters, 26–9
- Malclerc, in the service of Retz, 81
- Malines, Archbishop of, Jacob Boonen, refuses to receive Bull, 134; letter by him, 279
- Malines, Archbishop of (1701), 219 n. 2
- Mandate of Cardinal Noailles*, a translation, 287, 288
- Mangelli, Andrea, Internuncio in Brussels, 151
- Mannock, Francis, S.J., 174 n. 4
- Manuel des pèlerins de Port-Royal des Champs*, by Gazaignes, 272
- Manzoni family, ix
- Marca, M. de, Archbishop of Paris, xvi
- March, Earl of, Esme Stuart, 77 n. 1
- Mariana, Juan de, S.J., 113
- Marie-Thérèse, wife of Louis XIV, 71, 126
- Marison, a priest, visits Bishop Giffard, 175, 211; gives Van Erkel news of Saltmarsh, 171; visits Saltmarsh, 211; visits Van Erkel and van Heussen, 211; involved in the ordination of the Dutch Jansenists, 211–12
- Marsh, Dr Narcissus, Provost of Trinity College, Dublin, 145, 146, 147
- Martin, Dr, Irish anti-Jansenist, 219 n. 2
- “Martyrologe”, by Foxe, 162
- Mary of Lorraine (Mary of Guise), 256 n. 1
- Mary of Modena, wife of James II, 253; dislikes Jansenist books, 226;

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

341

- discovers Jansenism of her son's preceptor, 226 et seq.; has him removed, 228; said to have vowed obedience to the Jesuits, 228; does not wish Quesnel's books to be read at Chaillot, 229; opposed to Jansenism at Saint-Germain, 229; disapproves of "innovations", 241; wishes exiles would send their children to Jesuit schools, 242
- Mary, Queen of Scots, 26, 256 n. 1
- Mascarenhas, 279
- Mass, translated into English, 209; into French, 209
- Massari, Mgr, secretary of the Propaganda Fide, 43
- Massei, Mgr, Nuncio in Paris, 234
- Matome, Mr, i.e. Charles II, 56
- Maubuisson, convent of, 18, 26, 27, 28, 40
- Mauger, Claude, visits the Messieurs, 264; his grammar, 264
- Maupas, M. de, see Le Gros
- Maxwell, Agnes, wife of James Maitland, 27, 29
- Maxwell, Mary (?), at Port Royal de Paris, 30-1; at Port Royal des Champs, 31
- Maxwell, William, fifth Lord Herries, 27, 30
- Mayes, Laurence, 170
- Mazarin, Cardinal, 45, 60; puts Aubigny off with a small living, 78; dissolves Congrégation de la Foi, 78; said to have accused Aubigny, 89; death, xvi, 81
- Mazuelle, see Maxwell
- Mazure, abbé, 188 n. 2
- Meade, gentleman of Aubigny's household, 81
- Medal, "Jansenist", 121-2, 124
- Meindaerts, Peter John, Archbishop of Utrecht, ordained in Ireland, 213-14
- Melfort, accuser, 237 n. 2, 239
- Mémoire aux Plénipotentiaires touchant les Jésuites*, 178
- Mémoire touchant le progrès du Jansénisme en Hollande*, by Doucin, translated, 162, 284
- Mémoires Apologétiques de l'Université de Paris*, 193, 194, 198, 199, 200
- Mémoires de Grammont*, see under Hamilton
- Mémoires pour servir à l'histoire de Port-Royal*, 264
- Mémoires pour servir à l'histoire de Port-Royal*, by Du Fossé (q.v.), 264
- Mémoires pour servir à l'histoire de Port-Royal*, by Fontaine (q.v.), 264
- Mémoires touchant la vie de M. de Saint-Cyran*, by Lancelot, 230, 264
- Memoirs and Observations made in a late Journey through the Empire of China*, by Le Comte, 286
- Memoirs for Rome concerning the State of the Christian Religion in China*, 286
- Memoirs of John Gordon of Glencat*, 289
- Ménage, Gilles, his quarrel with Bouhours, 129
- Mens Augustini de gratia Adami*, by Blackloe, 150 n. 7
- Mens divinitus inspirata Sanctissimo Innocentio Papae X*, by Macedo, 151 n. 4, 278
- Merit, xix, 141
- Messier, M., Dean of the Faculty of Theology, 194
- Messieurs de Port Royal, see Port Royal
- Methodism, 262
- Methouard, Mme, proprietor of Les Granges in 1814, 269, 272, 273
- Middleton, —, son of Charles, second Earl of Middleton, accused of Jansenism, 236 and n. 5, 246; his brother-in-law accused, 237
- Middleton, Charles, second Earl of Middleton, 236 n. 5; his conversion, 242, 246
- Middleton, Lady Elizabeth, married to Lord Edward Drummond, 236 n. 5; writes to her husband in prison, 249; in Paris, 250-1; refused sacraments, xviii, 252; recovers, 253; her nephew, 253
- Middleton, Sir John, 50
- Middleton, Lady Katherine, 253
- Miracles, of la Sainte-Épine, xvi, 55, 56, 106; at Port Royal, 280. See also under Paris, Péricr
- Mirepoix, Bishop of (Pierre de La Broue), see under Bishops, appellat
- Missal, translated by Voisin, 125
- Modest Defence*, by Father Hunter, 173, 286
- Molinism, said to infect Irish theses, 216
- Molinists, their disputes, 101, 278; their "triumphs", 110; admit sufficient grace, 141; attack Blackloe, 152; not esteemed by Holden, 155; opposed, 195; deputies in Rome, 203
- Molinomachia*, by Sinnich, 8 n. 5
- Mollony, —, refuses to sign anti-Jansenist declaration, 190

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

- Monck or Monk, George, first Duke of Albemarle, 104
- Monmouth, Duke of, see Scott, James
- Mons New Testament, see Port Royal Testament
- Monsieur, see Orléans
- Monsieur Pascall's Thoughts, Meditations and Prayers, 283
- Montagu, Ralph, Duke of Montagu, entertains Lady Sussex, 66; quoted, 126
- Montagu, Walter, abbé de, Henrietta Maria wishes to send him to Rome, 44 n. 4; said to have been instrumental in Gloucester's conversion, 59; advises Benedictines, 68; at meeting of English Catholics, 84 n. 5; visited by Bellings, 91; sends letter of recommendation to Barberini, 91; Oblatio attributed to him, 92; said to incline to Jansenism, 94
- Montaigne, 75
- Montaigu, abbé de, see Montagu
- Montalte, Louis de, i.e. Pascal, 112, 136, 280
- Montespan, Mme de, buys Pensées, 127
- Montesquieu, his Lettres persanes, 178
- Montpellier, Bishop of, see Colbert de Croissy and Bishops, appellants
- Montpellier Catechism, 177, 180 n. 3, 239, 264, 288
- Montrose, Marquis of, 128
- Monumetham Excantathus*, by Blackloe, 152
- Moor, Michael, accused of Jansenism, 210
- Moral Essays*, by Nicole, translations, 112, 113, 283, 284, 288
- Moral Practice of the Jesuites*, by Pontchâteau, a translation, 111–12, 282
- Moral Reflections*, by Quesnel (q.v.), a translation, 285
- Moral Thoughts*, by Nicole, a translation, 113, 284
- Moran, Cardinal, quoted, 219 n. 2
- More, Dame Brigid, Benedictine, in Paris, 69
- More, Hannah, her interest in Port Royal, 265–7; called “the Jansenist” by Dr Johnson, 274; commends Mrs Schimmelpenninck, 274
- More, Sir Thomas, 69
- Morel, Claude, adversary, 92
- Morgan, the Rev. H. T., interest in Port Royal, 275
- Morley, George, Bishop of Winchester, knowledge of Jansenism, 135–6
- Mosheim, J. L. von, 262
- Mouler, Gabrielle, convulsionary, 248
- Mouler, Jeanne, convulsionary, 248
- Mousery, i.e. Muskerry, see MacCarthy
- Moyle, Mr, i.e. Lord Muskerry (?), 56
- Mulard, le P., 200
- Mulrian, John, charged with Jansenism, 188 and n. 1
- Muscarium*..., by Blackloe, 151 n. 7
- Muskerry, Musgray, Muskri, Muskry, see MacCarthy
- Mysterie (Mystery) of Jesuitisme*, translation of the Lettres Provinciales, 101–15 passim, 278, 279, 283; known to Baxter, 136; esteemed by Blackloe, 152
- Mysterie of Jesuitisme and its pernicious consequences as it relates to Kings and States*, by Nicole, a translation by Evelyn, 107 n. 2, 110, 281
- Mystery (Mystery) of Jesuitisme, Additionals (Additionalis)*, 103, 104 n. 2, 278, 297, 280
- Mystery of Jesuitisme, Another Part*, Jansenist pamphlets, translated by Evelyn, 106–11, 112 n. 2, 281
- Mystery of Jesuitism, A further Discovery*, 104, 280
- Naish, sisterhood of, 138
- Naissance de Jansénisme*, by Préville, 3 n. 4
- Nantes, Collège de, 32; Faculté Théologique de, 216 n. 2
- Narrative of a Tour to la grande Chartreuse and Alet*, partly by Lancelot, adapted by Mrs Schimmelpenninck, 267
- Narrative of the Demolition of Port Royal*, by Mrs Schimmelpenninck, 273
- Neale, J. M., 275 n. 5
- Nécrologes*, 5, 10, 69, 230, 264
- Neercassel, Jean de, Archbishop of Utrecht, under the title of Archbishop of Castoria, friend of Port Royal, 158; of Cardinal Howard, 158–9, 164; admired by Dr Short, 165; transmits Arnauld's request for documents, 221; relations with Leyburn, 182; his Amor Panitentis, 158, 159, 165; commended by Leyburn, 182; his Lecture de l'Écriture Sainte, 165
- Nelson, Robert, 220
- New Heresie of the Jesuits*, by Arnauld, a translation, 106, 281

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

343

- New Testament, in French, 119–20, 145–7; in Irish, 145–7; commentary by Quesnel, see Quesnel
- New Testament of Mons, see Port Royal Testament
- New Testament with Moral Reflections*, by Quesnel, a translation, 287
- News-letters, 116, 117
- Nicholas, Sir Edward, Secretary of State to Charles II, 43; approves of abandonment of Callaghan mission, 44; his son, 53; hears news of Jansenists, 60
- Nicholas, John, translates Jansenist pamphlets, 53
- Nicole, Pierre, 100; esteems Sinnich's Exrex, 9; did not teach Monmouth, 61; attends sermons of le P. Desmares, 66; lives with Arnauld, 127; friend of Mme de Gramont, 244; hears of the pseudo-Luzancy, 277; death, xvii, 160; admired by Dr Betham, 226; disliked by Wesley, 262; English readers learn piety from him, 267; his Éducation d'un Prince, sent to England, 126; translated, 283; his Essais de morale, admired by Mme de Sévigné, 112; translated, 112, 264, 283, 284, 288, 291; in Waple's library, 274 n. 6; his Lettres de l'hérésie imaginaire, translated, 107–9, 281; his Logique, written with Arnauld (q.v.); his Onguent pour la brûlure, written with Arnauld, 117; his Pernicieuses conséquences de la nouvelle hérésie des Jésuites, sent to England, 117; translated, 107 n. 2, 110, 111, 281; his Perpétuité de la Foi, written with Arnauld (q.v.), his preface to the Provinciales, 103; his Wendrock notes, 9, 166, 241; his pamphlets printed with the Provinciales, 104, 279
- Noailles, Jean Baptiste de, Bishop of Châlons, 238
- Noailles, Louis Antoine de, Archbishop of Paris and Cardinal, xvii; wishes Port Royal had an ignorant Irish confessor, 215 n. 4; inclined to be lenient to Jansenists, 130, 228, 244; allows James II to read Port Royal authors, 225; deals with Dr Betham, 228; letter to Port Royal, 229; esteems Innes, 231; deals with the Cas de Conscience, 284; said to approve of project of union, 258; appeals, xvii, 261, 287; his appeal translated, 176, 287; his mandate concerning the Bull Unigenitus, 287, 288, 289; retracts, xviii; death, xviii, 232
- Nolan, Father John, imprisoned, 203
- Nonconformists, 130, 139, 140, 144
- Nordstrand, island of, 97 n. 4
- Norfolk, Cardinal of, see Howard
- Norfolk, Duke of, his chaplain, see Saltmarsh
- Northesk, Earl of, 234
- Northumberland, Lady, 67
- Northumberland, Lord, 127
- Nouet, Jacques, S.J., answers the Provinciales, 104, 280
- Nowelle hérésie des Jésuites*, see Arnauld, Nicole
- Nowelles Ecclesiastiques*, hostile attitude to Irish, 219; read by Innes, 232; quoted, 178, 216, 217, 218, 229 n. 1, 230, 238 n. 1, 248, 253, 254, 259 n. 2
- Nugent, Richard, refuses to sign declaration, 190; changes his mind, 191
- Nuncio in France, Bagni, 43, 45; Bargellini, 119, 122, 125, 208; Bentivoglio, 186 n. 4; Grimaldi, 32; Massei, 234; Piccolomini, 40, 89, 153
- Oates, Titus, 221
- Oath of allegiance, 9, 63 n. 1, 205, 261
- Oath of supremacy, 12, 63 n. 1
- Obegny, see Aubigny
- Oblatio ex parte Caroli II*, 92 and n. 2, 93
- O'Brien, Mortagh, 46 and n. 1
- Observations sur la langue française*, by Ménage, 129
- O'Callaghan, John, see Callaghan, and 32 n. 2
- Of the Education of a Prince*, by Nicole, a translation, 283
- Ogg, Mr David, 275 n. 5
- Old Catholic Church of Holland, xii; recognizes validity of Anglican Ordinations, 259; its prelates at the Lambeth Conference, 259. See also Utrecht
- Old Catholic Churches, possible reunion with Anglicans, ix, 259
- Oldenburg, Henry, receives news from France, 116–17, 119, 123, 134; sends on news, 117, 120
- Old Testament in Irish, 147
- Olier, Jean Jacques, 40 n. 2
- Olonergan, Philip, gives approbation to Jansenist book, 187 and n. 1; opposed to Irish anti-Jansenists, 192 n. 6

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

344

INDEX

- Omnes qui audiunt*, 144, 283
 O'Moloy, —, consulted by Irish Jansenists, 192
Onguent pour la brûlure, by Arnauld, Nicole and Barbier d'Aucourt, 117
 Orange, Prince of, see William
 Oratoire, Pères de, Oratorians, see under Congregations
 Orléans, Charlotte Elisabeth, Duchess of, sympathy for Port Royal, 245
 Orléans, Henrietta, Duchess of, has friends among Port Royal adherents, 66
 Orléans, Madame de, abbess of Maubuisson, 28
 Orléans, Philippe I, Duke of, 66
 Orléans, Philippe II, Duke of, “the Regent”, his mother’s sympathy for Port Royal, 245; forbids the Sorbonne to proceed with a condemnation, 186 n. 4; death, xviii
 Ormonde, see Butler, James
 Orsini, Cardinal Virginio, approached on behalf of Aubigny, 90
 O’Sullivan, Dom Étienne, 219 n. 2
 Owen, Dr John, on Papal infallibility, 142; on Jansenism, 142; used Jansenist books, 143
 Oxenford, Lord, 126
 Paepe, Cornelius de, 6, 7
 Paix de l’Église, xvii, xviii, 23, 24; commemorated by medal, 121, 122
 Palacios, Don Alphonse de, 247
 Pamfili, Cardinal, 8, 33
 Pamiers, Bishop of (François de Caulet), see Bishops, dissenting
 Pantiot, a servant of Charles II, 53–4
 Panton, Mr, 232
 Papal briefs, see under Alexander VII, Clement XI, Clement XII
 Papal Bulls, see under Bulls
 Papal Infallibility, not to be discussed in England, 92; upheld by the Jesuits, 106, 116; distrusted by the Jansenists, 116, 134, 142, 206, 209; said to underlie the Bull of Alexander VII imposing the formulary, 118, 119; raises difficulties with Louis XIV, 119; change of attitude in France, 130; attacked by Dr Owen, 142; by Blackloe, 150 and n. 1; by Dr Betham, 226; defended by the Franciscan Hutchinson, 186 n. 4; accepted by the Irish, 206, 215 n. 4; defended in Irish theses, 217; hostile attitude of the Sorbonne, 206; “the sense of the French Church” in this matter, 281
Parallèle de la doctrine des païens avec celle des Jésuites, by Boyer, translated, 261, 288
 Paris, Archbishops of, see Gondi, Harlay, Marca, Péréfixe, Retz, Vintimille
 Paris, Collèges: de Beauvais, 192 n. 5; des Bons Enfants, 191; de Clermont (Jesuit), 242, 281; du Cardinal Lemoine, 192 n. 6; des Écossais, distrusted by the Nuncio Dolci, 215; by Abbot Stuart, 235; said to be Jansenist, 233; influenced by Innes family, 233; Lewis Innes, principal, 233; George Innes, prefect of studies and later principal, 233; Thomas Innes, prefect of studies, 230, 231, 234; Whiteford, principal, 234; pure Jansenism taught there before the Bull Unigenitus, 234; superiors appeal, 234; pension suppressed, 234; visited by Lercari, xviii, 236; said to teach Jansenism, 236, 238; in need of reform, 236; excludes students for criticizing Unigenitus, 237; has students ordained by Scotch Jansenists, 237; infects students from Rome, 237; superiors claim to have defended the Bull, 239 n. 1; receives shares from Law, 239 n. 1; shelters Lord Edward Drummond, 237, 246; searched for him, 250; Bishop Gordon sends students there, 238; its alumni favoured by him, 239; its alumni form a party in the Scots clergy, 239–40; furnishes no missionary priests, 240; still under suspicion in 1782, 240; disagreements with Bishop Hay, 240; swept away by the Revolution, 240; a student, John Gordon of Glencait, 289; influence, xi
Des Irlandais, 188 n. 1, 218; teaches sound doctrine, 215; de Lisieux, 190; des Lombards, 187, 190, 191; de Navarre, 200, 230; du Plessis, 242; de Sainte-Barbe, 217, 236
De Sorbonne, 139; examines Arnauld’s Lettre à un duc et pair, 55, 101, 135; censures him, xvi, 55, 155; excludes him, xvi, 55, 127, 128, 155; foreshadows Gallican liberties in 1663, 205; criticized by Irish clergy, 206; condemns theses of the Franciscan Hutchinson, 186 n. 4; said to

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

345

- enlighten some of the English priests, 166; English admirers said to be tainted, 174; its syndic, Dr Hideux, 257; differences, 278; state, 282, 284; its doctors, 195; appeal to the Parlement of Paris, 189; examine the Port Royal Testament, 120; examine Descartes' philosophy, 127; said to have reprinted the New Testament in French, 147; write against Jesuits, 112, 281, 282, 284; decide Cas de Conscience, 160, 180, 183; appeal, 161; do not all conform to the law of silence, 218; frequented by Beauvoir, 257; interested in project of union, 258; to help English clergy with a "novelty", 158; a "converted" doctor, 162 n. 1, 282, 284; theses, 216–19 passim. See also Paris, University, Faculty of Theology
- Paris, curés de, see Curés de Paris
- Paris, Parlement of, made to receive Bull of Alexander VII, 60; takes up the affaire des Hibernois, 195–200 passim; made to pass a declaration against the Jansenists, 118; intervenes in the affair of the five propositions, 189; takes measures concerning the Bull Unigenitus, 217; attacks the Irish students, 216–17; maintains law of silence, 219; hostile to Irish thesis, 219; punishes clergy refusing sacraments, 252; orders administration of sacraments, 252–3
- Paris, Seminaries, St Gregory's, 236, 253; Saint-Sulpice, 254
- Paris, University of, 210; attitude to Bull Cum occasione, 45; dissensions, 188, 189; Irish students, 189, 190; looks upon Jesuits as adversaries, 190; would object to Irish students being governed by Jesuits, 190; takes up the affaire des Hibernois, 192 et seq.; holds noisy assembly, 194; publishes Apologetical Memoirs, 198–9; does not pronounce itself in the matter of the five propositions, 198; said to uphold the doctrine of Jansenius, 199; censures Jesuits, 281
- Its Faculty of Theology, 280; censures Floyd and Knott, 11, 12; answered by Floyd, 11, 12; examines the five propositions, 109; does not commit itself, 193; in uproar, 194; takes up the affaire des Hibernois, 195–200; censures the answers to the Provinciales, 105, 280; declarations, 205; its doctors decide the Case of Conscience, 284; the Dean and Syndic summoned by the Parlement for permitting certain theses, 217; excludes the abbé Girardin, 259. See also Paris, Collège de Sorbonne
- Paris, François de, said to have opposed errors of Poperly, 263; miracles said to take place on his tomb, 247; wrought by his intercession, 251; perplex Bishop Atterbury, 247; impress Wesley, 262–3; disbelieved by Queen Caroline, 263; by Bishop Warburton, 263; said to strike at the root of Papal authority, 263; written up for the English, 178; attacked in Irish theses, 216; published in Scotland, 237 n. 2; discussed by Sykes, 263 n. 5. See also Convulsionaries
- Parlement, of Douay, see Douay; of Paris, see Paris
- Parliament, English, not to know of creation of the bishopric of Dunkirk, 88; receives proofs of Charles II's aversion to Catholicism, 94; acts against the Jesuits, 98; issues edicts against Catholics, 175, 208
- Parsons, Robert, S.J., 113
- Pascal, Blaise, praises Conry, 4–5; uses his Peregrinus, 4; uses Sinnich's writings, 8–9; sickness, 289; death, xvi, 66, 103, 289; burial, 267; tree planted by him, 272–3; his well, 273; his cell, 273; his sisters, see Pascal, Jacqueline; Périer, Gilberte; his niece, see Périer, Marguerite; his life by Mme Périer, translated, 114, 264, 283, 288; la "queue" de Pascal, 111 n. 4; quoted, 289; commended by Bayle, 114; by The Lady's Library, 115; by the Spectator, 115, 289; thought a strenuous Papist, 115 n. 2; attacked by Father Darrell, 161; his influence in Scotland, 138; his reputation in England, 161–2; his works, in Law's library, 264; teaches English piety, 267; some English accounts of him, 275 n. 5
- His Écrits for the curés de Paris, 57, 104, 105, 279; his Écrits for the curés de Rouen, 104, 279; his Écrits sur la Grâce, 4, 8; minor writings, 279–80; thought to have written the Jesuits' Morals, 112
- His Lettres Provinciales, 109; date, xvi; the eleventh, 32; success, 55;

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

- Pascal, Blaise (continued)
 authorship, 101; supposed to have been written with his "Uncle" Arnauld's assistance, 112; stir all France, 101; praised by the marquis de Fabre, 52; forbidden at Rome, 152; probably sent to Charles II, 52; refutations sent to Ormonde, 53; to be had at every bookseller's in England, 107–8; supply Baxter with arguments, 136; in Ken's library, 138; read by Gale, 139; esteemed by Blackloe, 152; expounded in England, 163; read by Dr Short, 164, 166; upheld by Dr Betham, 227; read by Berwick, 241; by the court of Saint-Germain, 241; early editions accompanied by various Écrits, 11 n. 5, 57, 104, 279; quarto edition, 103; Cologne edition, 104; the edition giving French, Latin, Italian and Spanish texts, 102, 227; Dr Stewart's edition, 275 n. 5; Nicole's preface, 103; Nicole's Wendrock notes, 9, 166, 241; followed by mediocre books, 111 n. 4; answered by le P. Annat and le P. Nouet, 104–5, 143, 280; answered in the Apologie pour les Casuistes, 104, 105, 279, 280; answered by le P. Daniel, 161, 241, 284, 285; defended in the Apologie des Lettres Provinciales, 165; the Apologie answered, 285. Translations: Danish, 103; Dutch, 103; English, see Mystery of Jesuitisme; German, 103; Italian, 97, 102, 103, 227; Latin, 103, 227; Spanish, 102, 103, 227. English translator, 101–2; Italian translator, 97
 His Pensées, publication, xvii, 127; translated into Dutch, 113; sent to England, 127; in Leighton's library, 137; in Waple's library, 274 n. 6; read by Hannah More, 265; presented to Boswell, 266; translated into English by Walker, 113–14, 115 n. 1, 283; by Kennet, 114, 161, 285, 289, 290; the Discours sur les Pensées de M. Pascal translated, 114
- Pascal, Jacqueline, sub-prioress at Port Royal, 64; death, 66; remains transferred to Saint-Lambert, 26
- Paston, Dr Edward, President of Douay College, informed of charges made against the college, 184, 185; advised to come to Rome, 185; examined at the college, 185; receives letter clearing the college, 186; his successor, 186
- Patriarch, to be established in France, 125
- Paul, Vincent de, see Vincent de Paul, St
- Paulucci, Cardinal, informs English clergy of the Pope's satisfaction, 173; transmits charges against Douay, 184, 185; misinformed, 185; clears the college, 186
- Pavillon, Nicolas, Bishop of Alet, popularity, 120; perhaps known to Ken, 138; his Statuts Synodaux, 138; his "Regents", 138. See also Bishops, dissenting
- Pelagianism, 3, 4, 143
- Pelagius, 8
- Pembroke family, see Herbert
- Pembroke, le P. Archange, character, 15; family, 15; director of Port Royal, xv, 14, 15; letters of advice, 16–19; impressed by la Mère Agnès, 17–18; gives advice to la Sœur Anne Eugénie, 18; outgrown by la Mère Angélique, 18; criticized by her, 19; death, 19
- Pensées*, see under Pascal
- Perceval, Sir Philip, 128
- Péréfixe de Beaumont, Hardouin de, Archbishop of Paris, xvi; persecutes Port Royal, xviii; inspects Port Royal de Paris, 22–3; dismisses Jenkins, 23; helps English Benedictine nuns, 72; excommunicates those who sell the Port Royal Testament, 120; pressed to allow certain nuns to return to Port Royal de Paris, 124; shifts responsibility on the Nuncio, 125; death, xvii
- Peregrinus Jerichuntinus*, by Conry, xv, 1, 2, 3, 4, 8
- Peregrinus Jerosolymitanus*, by Sinnich, 8
- Périer, Gilberte, her life of Pascal translated, 114, 264, 283, 288
- Périer, Marguerite, 64; miraculously healed, 55, 56, 106
- Pernicieuses conséquences de la nouvelle hérésie des Jésuites*, see under Nicole
- Perpétuité de la Foi sur l'Eucharistie*, by Arnauld and Nicole, 122, 123
- Perrault, Nicolas, his Morale des Jésuites translated, 112, 282
- Persecutions, xviii, and see under Jansenists; Port Royal; Port Royal, Messieurs

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

347

- Perth, Dukes of, see Drummond
- Perwich, William, sends French poem, 123
- Peters, le P., see Petre
- Petit-Didier, Dom Mathieu, his Apologie des Lettres Provinciales, 165
- Petites Écoles, see Port Royal
- Petitpied, Nicolas, signs Cas de Conscience, 180; sends Jansenist pole-mics to England, 180
- Petre, Benjamin, Vicar-apostolic of the London district, reasons with Dr
Wauchope, 180; his answers sent to Utrecht, 180
- Petre, Edward, S.J., Arnauld disapproves of favours shown to him, 223
- “Petrus Aurelius”, see under Saint-
Cyran, Barcos, Vindicia
- Philippe le Bel, 176
- Philopater Irenæus, see under Callaghan, Vindiciarum . . .
- Piccolomini, Celio, Nuncio in France,
on Charles II and the Jansenists, 40;
withdraws recommendation of Aubigny, 89; asks him to sign anti-Jansenist profession, 89; asks Es-trades to act against Blackloe, 153
- Picus*, Life of, 288
- Piggot, Christopher, 174 n. 4
- Piggot, Father, S.J., 183 n. 2
- Pilgrimage of Port Royal, 272
- Pilmot*, affaire de, 2
- Pinckney, Miles, alias Thomas Carr,
181
- Pintereau or Pinthereau, le P. François,
see Prévile
- Pius V condemns Baius, 6, 7 n. 1
- Pius VI condemns Jansenists, 219 n. 2
- Plowden, abbé Francis, inclines to Jansenism, 253
- Plowden, Francis, father of the abbé, 253
- Plummerden, Mr, accused, 185
- Plumptre, Dean, 138
- Plunket, Oliver, Catholic Archbishop of Armagh and titular Primate of Ireland, asks for remedy against Jansenists, 208; on the doctrine of the Jansenists, 209; desires Dr Daly to sign a formulary, 210
- Poer, —, accused of Jansenism, 188 and n. 1
- Poer, Maurice, 192 n. 6
- Poer, Nicholas, involved in the affaire des Hibernois, 190, 191, 195– 6
- Poland, King of, see John Casimir
- Poland, Queen of, see Gonzague
- Pomponne, M. de, see Arnauld de
Pomponne
- Ponce, John, Irish Franciscan, said to calumniate Callaghan, 36; replies to Philopater Irenæus, 34 n. 1; opposes Callaghan, 39, 43, 44; to be “undertaken” by Callaghan, 44
- Pontchâteau, Sébastien-Joseph de
Cambout de, visits Sinnich, 8; desires information about various solitaries, 20; friend of Aubigny, 97;
his Morale pratique des Jésuites, translated, 111–12, 282; to be arrested, 132; brings Arnauld pamphlets concerning English Catholics, 221; death, 20, 160; Jenkins buried at his feet, 25
- Pontius, Father, see Ponce
- Pope, his power, 10 n. 2; not to be recognized by new bishops of Ireland and Tangier, 95; not sufficiently respected by English Catholics, 163,
176; treated very freely by Quesnel,
256 n. 2. See also Holy See, Papal Infallibility
- Pope’s Bull condemning the New Testament with Moral Reflections*, 260, 286
- Popes, see Boniface VIII (1294–1303);
Pius V (1566–72); Gregory XIII
(1572–85); Urban VIII (1623–44);
Innocent X (1644–55); Alexander VII
(1655–67); Clement IX (1667–70);
Clement X (1670–6); Innocent XI
(1676–89); Clement XI (1700–21);
Clement XII (1730–40); Pius VI
(1775–99)
- Popish Plot, 112; Jansenists implicated, 113; a new edition of the Mystery of Jesuitisme appears at this time, 113; discussed by Jurieu, 221;
by Arnauld, 220–1 and 221 n. 4
- Porter, Mr, 126
- Port Royal, period of St François de
Sales, 19; attacked by Brisacier, 32,
37; friends penalized, 23, 28, 155,
231, 244–5; reserved in its dealings,
47; said to harbour enemies of the state, 46; a place of political independence, 74; a place of cabals, 132;
accused of intriguing with Cromwell,
74; with Retz, 74; of participating in the Fronde, 74; never the same after la Mère Angélique’s death, 66
Amis du dehors, 40; directors,
see Pembroke, Saint-Cyran, Singlin,

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

348

INDEX

Port Royal (continued)

Zamet; ecclesiastics attached to, 61, 82; "Little Schools", established, xv; directed by ecclesiastics, 61; English and Dutch pupils, 61; the Duke of Monmouth, a pupil, xvi, 61; Aubigny not a pupil, 77; broken up, xvi, 55, 61; resume activities, xvi, 61; finally suppressed, xvi, 22, 61; grammar, see Arnauld; logic, see Arnauld; text-books, 264, 278; manuscripts, 16, 25, 30, 33, 62 n. 3, 69, 100, 124, 180, 225, 230, 292-4; miracles, 106, 280, and see miracles; Nécrologes, 5, 10, 69, 230, 264. New Testament, 145-8 passim; published, xvii; opposition, 119-20; preface to have served as introduction to Irish Testament, 145-7; circulated in Ireland, 209. Prayers, 65; sources, 44 n. 5, 62; theology, 65. Histories, see Besoigne, Clémencet, Du Fossé, Fontaine, Racine, etc.

Helps royalist exiles, 40, 41, 223, see also Port Royal des Champs; helps Charles II, 42, see also Jansenists; has two Callaghans attached to it, 44 n. 5, 51; sends writings to Charles II, 52-3; influences Aubigny, 97; Aubigny its Saint-Évremond, 99; Burnet tries to resemble its ecclesiastics, 136; linked with royalists by Dr Kelly, 187; rejoices in the Restoration, 62; charity to English Benedictines, 73; objects to constitution of the Benedictines, 72-3; praise of its writers said to stamp English as Jansenists, 174; commended by Lord Chesterfield, 265; admired by Hannah More, 265-7; little known to English readers, 267, 274; made known to them by Mrs Schimmelpenninck, 275; comparatively little known in England in the seventeenth century, 264; accounts of, majority not published till the eighteenth century, 264; interest of the Rev. H. T. Morgan, 275; modern English studies, 275 n. 5; engravings and portraits in London, 275. Books, read by James II, 225; preferred to others by Dr Betham, 226; desired by Bishop Barrington, 266; by the Kennicotts, 266; collected by Hannah More, 266; lent to Mrs Schimmelpenninck, 267; collected by her,

274; her collection at Sion College, 274; collection at Keble College, 275. See also Jansenist books

Port Royal de Paris, opened, xv; growth, 22; part of the nuns return to Port Royal des Champs, 22; abbess remains there, 64; Mme d'Aumont withdraws there, 35; said to be a centre of Jansenism, 124; assemblies prohibited, 55; persecutions, xviii, 22, 40, 55, 86; visitors forbidden, 29; superior removed, 30; confessors removed, 22, 30, 74; novices and pensionnaires sent away, 30, 64; M. Chamillard appointed confessor, 22-3; M. Bail appointed superior, 30, 74; examination, 30-1; nuns presented with formulary, xvi, 118; refusal to sign, 22; some sign, 23; visitation by the Archbishop, 22-3; some removed to captivity, xvi, xviii, 22; those opposing formulary retire to Port Royal des Champs, 31; separation from Port Royal des Champs, xvii, 23, 67, 124; conciliatory letter from Port Royal des Champs, 124; ceases to exist for Jansenist historians, 23; Mme de Longueville would have wished to retire there, 124; the "anti-Jansenist" abbess, 124; la Mère Angélique buried there, 267; compared to Charenton, 41 n. 1

Francis Jenkins, porter, 22; gardener, xvi, 22-3; the elder Maitland a nun there, 28; Miss Maxwell a nun, 30-1; Dr Callaghan lives close by, 33; Queen Henrietta Maria invited to stay, 41; Lady Hamilton and Lady Muskerry sheltered, 42; one of the English Benedictine nuns buried there, 69; Lady Sussex to stay there, 67; praised by the Duchess of Cleveland, 67; English Benedictine Fathers say mass there, 73-4; visited by Mrs Schimmelpenninck, 267

Port Royal des Champs, reformed, xv, 14; left for a new house in Paris, xv, 22; inhabited by Solitaries, 22; part of the nuns return, xv, 22; described by Mme de Sévigné, 270; prioress resides there, 64; its charity, 73, 272; its doctors, 166; nuns are presented with formulary, xvi, 118; refusal to sign, 22, 23; persecutions,

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

349

- xviii, 22, 29, 40, 55; confessors removed, 22; novices and pensionnaires removed, 64; visited by M. Bail and M. de Contes, 30; joined by Paris nuns opposing formulary, 31; separation from the Paris house, xvii, 23, 67, 124; conciliatory letter sent to Paris, 124; brief respite, 126; last prosperity, xviii, 24; la Mère Angélique de Saint-Jean abbess, 29; relations with the abbaye de Gif, 243; detested by Louis XIV, 245; a place of cabals, 243; incompatible with Marly, 244; persecuted after Mme de Longueville's death, xvii, xviii, 24–5, 29, 160, 167; pensionnaires sent away, 132, 243; no more pensionnaires and novices allowed, 25, 160; a few servitors allowed to stay, 24–5; burials, 25; liked by the second Madame, 245; venerated by Racine, 224 n. 3; esteemed by Neercassel, 158; helped by Mlle de Juncoux, 166, 241; letter from Noailles, 229; final dispersion of nuns, xvii, 31, 160; dead exhumed, 26, 271; and transferred to Saint-Lambert, 271; demolition, xvii, xviii, 26, 160, 273; ruins visited by convulsionaries, 251; remains in 1814, 270–1; Sainte-Marthe's house, 270; Mme de Longueville's house, 270; La Solitude, 268, 270; attracts pilgrims, 272; anniversary of destruction, 272; occupied by Cossacks, 273; museum, 29, 268; death-mask of la Mère Angélique, 29. See also Les Granges (the farm-house above)
- Father Pembroke, a director, xv, 14–19; the English gardener, 19, 23–6; Miss Maxwell a nun there, 31; visited by Dr Callaghan, 33; pupils, 31; Elizabeth Hamilton, 41, 51, 242, 243, 245, 246; Elizabeth's sister, 41, 51; Elizabeth's cousin, Helen Muskerry, 41–2, 51, 64–6, 246; Elizabeth's daughter, 24, 243; defended and venerated by Mme de Gramont (Elizabeth Hamilton), 243–5; kindness to English Benedictine nuns, 72; praised by English Catholics, 176; Noailles wishes it had an ignorant Irish confessor, 215 n. 4; visited by James II, 225; visited by Innes, 231; Innes officiates, 230; is present at Arnauld's anniversary mass, 230; used to serve at Magny, close by, 233; esteemed by Dr Betham, 241; friends at Saint-Germain, 246; influence on Anthony Hamilton, 246; visited by Mrs Schimmelpenninck, 268–73
- Port Royal, Messieurs de, or Solitaries, withdraw from the world, xv; M. Le Maître one of the first, 21; live at Port Royal des Champs, 22; information desired concerning them, 20; their Froissart, 20; thought to side with Frondeurs, 24; considered dangerous, 23, 24; accused of consorting with foreigners, 132; Louis XIV weary of them, 24; persecuted, 62, 70, 71, 72; dispersed, xv–xviii, 22, 24, 55, 132; return to Les Granges, xvii, 24; said to claim the approval of Clement IX, 121; distribute copies of La Perpétuité, 123; Innocent XI said to be friendly to them, 129; visited by Claude Mauger, 264; the pseudo-Luzancy claims acquaintance, 277; their New Testament, see under Port Royal
- Interested in Jenkins, 19; joined by Callaghan, 35; help exiles, 40, 41, 246; rejoice at Restoration, 62; interested in Catholicism in England, 62–3; consulted with regard to the oath, 63; kind to English Benedictine nuns, 69–73; their way of living admired by Leighton, 137; their preface to the New Testament to be used in Ireland, 145–7; become gradually known in England, 264; their text-books translated, 264, 278; their Essays translated, see under Nicole; their logic translated, see under Arnauld; praised by Addison, 264; their influence on John Rutt, 265; their writings collected by Hannah More, 266
- Port Royal Logic or the Art of Thinking*, 264, 278, and see Arnauld
- Portugal, ambassador of, 151
- Potter, Mr A. C., 144 n. 4
- Pouget, F. A., his catechism, 177, 180 n. 3, 239, 264, 288
- Poyntz, Austin Newdigate, accuser, 183 and n. 2
- Préclin, Dr, references acknowledged, 179 n. 2, 180 n. 2; his Union des Églises Gallicane et Anglicane, 258
- Predestination, studied by Conry, 2; controversy concerning, 144

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

350

INDEX

- Predestination and Grace, familiar Instructions about*, by Hugot, a translation, 177, 286
- Predetermination, 144
- Presbyterians, 43, 135
- Pretender, the old, see James Francis Edward; the young, see Charles Edward
- Preuves authentiques des qualités exercées par le Sieur Callaghan*, 38
- Préville, le sieur de, i.e. Pintereau or Pinthereau, le P. François, his Naissance du Jansénisme, 3 n. 4; his Progrès du Jansénisme, 104
- Priem, G., ordained in Ireland, 213, 294
- Priests of the Mission, see Congregations
- Prince d'Orange, nouvel Absalon*, see under Arnauld
- Principles of Christian Faith*, by Duguet, a translation, 290
- Prior, Matthew, sends news, 130
- Progrès du Jansénisme*, by Préville, 104
- Projects of Union, or Thoughts of Union, between Anglicans and Gallicans, 54, 105, 135–6, 257–8, 261; between Anglicans and Jansenists, 54, 105, 146–7, 179, 260; between Anglicans and Old Catholic communions, 259; between Anglicans and Roman Catholics, 105, 152, 223; between the three kingdoms and Roman Catholics, 92; between Jansenists of Holland and Roman Catholics of England, 179; between Protestants and Roman Catholics, 257; between Gallicans and Greek Church, 258 n. 4; history of, by Tabaraud, 304
- Propaganda Fide, see under Congregations
- Propositions, the five, formulated, xv, 189; text, xix; “fathered on Jansenius”, 9; examined by the University of Paris, 109; said to be taught by the University, 196; the University does not pronounce itself, 198; to be examined by a commission, 189; but the Parlement intervenes, 189; controversy carried to Rome, 189; Saint-Amour sent to Rome in their concern, 109–10, 281; struggle to obtain condemnation, 45, 188; examined by a congregation, 201; said to be in the Augustinus, xix, 106, 107, 119; said not to be in the Augustinus, 118, 170, 202, 231; condemned by Innocent X, xvi, xviii, xix, 45, 60, 117, 135, 140, 201, 278; by Alexander VII, xv, xix, 60, 117; rejected by many Jansenists, 170; condemned by a formulary, xvi, xix, 22, 118, 157; involved in the Cas de Conscience, 160; condemned by Irish students, 35, 192; sent to England, 45; English advised to read the Provinciales in order to understand, 107; controversy criticized by Barrow, 135; upheld by Blackloe, 151; attacked by Macedo, 151; condemned by Holden, 156; not known in England, 162; rejected by Dr Short, 170; certain Jansenist interpretations defended by Nolan, 203; not upheld by Bellings, 206; question raised in Dutch ordinations in Ireland, 212; said to be unknown in Ireland, 214–15; not taught in Scotland, 239 n. 2; not of great interest to English Protestants, 256. See also Jansenius, his Augustinus; Formulary Protestant Churches, offer no retreat for men of mortified tempers, 137; reunion with Romish Churches said to be rendered impossible, 257
- Protestant Scotland, 138
- Protestants, their regard for Jansenists, 141; not liked by Jansenists, 141, 146; Jansenists compared to them, 145; look upon the miracles of the abbé Paris as legends, 263
- Protestants, English, esteem Jansenists, x; alarmed by proposed mission to Rome, 44; more ready to believe in the miracle of the Sainte-Épine than French Jesuits, 56; dislike Jesuits, 59, 101–15 passim, 134; attitude to the propositions, 151; more interested in Quesnel than in Jansenius, 256; wish all Papists were like Quesnel, 256 n. 1; addressed by French Protestants, 260; possible union with Catholics, see Projects of Union; see also Anglicans
- Protestants, French, translate Unigenitus into English, 260; address English Protestants, 260. See also Huguenots
- Protestatio asserta*, by Van Erkel, 169
- Provincial Letters*, see under Pascal and Mystery of Jesuitisme
- Psalter of Cashel*, 215
- Pucelle, an advocate, 199
- Puffendorf, Samuel, 126

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

351

- Puritan interest in Jansenism, 134–48
passim
- Puritans, Jansenists worse than they, 45; their theology attacked with that of Jansenius, 145
- Puyzieulx or Puisieux, Louis Philoxène, marquis de, 251
- Quaestio Theologica*, by Blackloc, 152
- Quakers, Aubigny kind to them, 98 n. 2; interest in Port Royal, 265
- Quakres François, les*, by Bougeant, 263
- Quebec, Bishop of (J. B. de Saint-Vallier), well treated by the Archbishop of Canterbury, 257 n. 4
- Quesnel, —, 256 n. 1
- Quesnel, François, 256 n. 1
- Quesnel, Jacques, 256 n. 1
- Quesnel, Pasquier, his family, 256 n. 1; character, 256 and n. 2; Arnauld's successor, 161; in Brussels, 161; recognizes portraits in Athalie, 224 n. 3; hears of Middleton's conversion, 242, 246; informed of Mme de Gramont's disgrace, 245; "unjustly persecuted", 226; imprisoned, xvii; escapes, xvii, 226; in hiding, 166; relations with Dr Short, 166–7; wishes Nicole's notes on the Provinciales could be translated into English, 166; said to be in England, 257 and n. 4; in Amsterdam, 256 n. 2; visited by an Englishman, 256 n. 2; his friend Brigode, 179; the "second Luther", 260, 286; the "present Luther", 286; death, xvii; his Bonheur de la Mort chrétienne, 232; his Foy et innocence du clergé de Hollande défendues, 165; his Réflexions morales condemned, 130, 161, 175, 286
- English interest in him, 256; admired in England, 262 and n. 3; admired by Dr Betham, 226; admired by Wesley, 262; admired by Dr Horne, 262, 267; Scottish Catholics suspected of adhering to his errors, 235; English readers learn piety from him, 267; his books disliked by Mary of Modena, 229; attacked in Irish Sorbonne theses, 216
- His Réflexions morales, very acceptable to English Protestants, 256–7; translated by Anglicans, 168, 261–2, 287, 291; "incomparable", 261, 287; no exposition in English said to be as good, 262; used as a text-book in Kingswood, 262; "naturalized" in England, 262; esteemed by Leyburn, 168; translated by Catholics, 167–8, 176 and n. 4, 261, 285; preface burned by Jenks, 167 n. 5; Bishop Giffard reluctant to prohibit the book, 175; approbation of English vicars-apostolic withdrawn, 176; the translation suppressed, 261, 285; in circulation in spite of prohibition, 163, 172, 175, 176
- Quesnel, Pierre, 256 n. 1
- Quesnellism, 218
- Question de fait et de droit*, 160, 215, 256
- Quietism, 244, 292
- Quietists, 210
- Quimper, Collège de, 36, 37, 38, 39
- Racine, Agnès de Sainte-Thècle, 73, 225
- Racine, Jean, his friend M. Vuillart, 241; friend of Mme de Gramont, 244; burial, 267; quoted, 74, 222; English youth indebted to him, 267; his Abrégé de l'histoire de Port-Royal, 271; translated in part, 264, 290; Athalie, 224 n. 3; Bérénice, 126; letters to his son translated, 290
- Racine, Monsieur (1749), 251
- Radcliffe, Sir George, relations with Jansenists, 54, 135; associated with Dr Kelly, 54; associated with Dr Holden, 154 n. 6
- Ranke, Leopold von, 92 n. 2
- Rapin, René, S.J., adversary of Jansenists, 48; not always reliable, 188 and n. 2; on Irish Jansenists, 187–8; his portrait of Dr Kelly, 49; quoted, 9, 13, 35 and n. 1, 66, 75, 78 and n. 2, 82 and n. 3, 91 n. 6, 200–3 passim
- Reade, Mr W. H. V., 275 n. 1
- Rebellion, Irish, 204
- Rebours, Antoine de, Confessor at Port Royal, Dr Callaghan attached to him, 33
- Reconcilableness of God's Prescience*, by Howe, 144
- Record Office, 117 and n. 4
- Recueil de divers Ouvrages touchant la Grâce*, by M. de Barcos, 4
- Recueil de divers Témoignages*, by Du Pac de Bellegarde, 169
- Recueil de plusieurs pièces pour servir à l'histoire de Port-Royal (Recueil d'Utrecht)*, 264
- Réflexions morales*, see Quesnel

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

352

INDEX

- Reformation, criticized, 106; probable in France, 130, 261; may be advanced by Quesnel, 260
- Refusal of Sacraments, see Sacraments
- Réfutation de la fausse Relation du P. Ferrier*, 139
- Réfutation d'un Écrit publié à Blois par le P. Brisacier*, 38
- Regent, the, see Orléans
- Regiminis apostolici*, Bull, see under Bulls
- Reily, Mr, 146
- Reisverhaal van den Hr Priem*, 213, 294
- Relation d'un Voyage d'Alet*, by Lancelot, 267
- Relation of sundry Miracles wrought at the Monastery of Port Royal*, a translation, 106, 280
- Relation of the Country of Jansenia*, by L. Fontaines (le P. Zacharie de Lisieux), a translation, 111, 282
- Remarques nouvelles sur la langue française*, by Bouhours, 129
- Rémusat, C. de, 153
- Rennes, Collège de, 32, 37
- Réponse au livre de M. Arnauld intitulé "la Perpétuité de la foy de l'Église catholique"*, by Claude, 126
- Respectful silence, 160, 215
- Response à un sermon prononcé par le P. Brisacier*, 35 and n. 5
- Responces aux Lettres provinciales*, by le P. Annat and le P. Nouet, translated, 104, 143, 280
- Restoration, xvi, 9, 76, 204; welcomed by MM. de Port Royal, 62
- Retz, Jean François Paul de Gondi, Cardinal de, captivity, xvi, 78; Dr Kelly supposed to be one of his adherents, 50; relations with Jansenists, 50, 74, 82 and n. 2; becomes Archbishop of Paris, xvi, 79; escapes from prison, xvi, 79; to help in the Duke of Gloucester's conversion, 59; relations with Charles II, 79, 80; said to be involved in Charles' conversion, 79; said to be in England, 80; his partisans await Aubigny's return to France, 81; intrigues with Bartet, 81, with Aubigny, 81; Bernières and Taignier accused of intriguing in his behalf, 82; signs anti-Jansenist profession, 89; resigns archbishopric, xvi; uses his influence to have Aubigny made cardinal, 90; visited by Bellings, 91; his cousin la Mère du Fargis, 64; his secretary Charrier, 153; his uncle, see Gondi
- Reunion, projects of, see Projects of Union
- Reynolds, Mrs, 265
- Reynolds, Sir Joshua, 265
- Ribardière, M., 268
- Ricci, Scipione de', Bishop of Pistoia, ix, 219 n. 2
- Richelieu, Armand Jean du Plessis, Cardinal de, wished to send Saint-Cyran to England, 10; protects Bishop Smith, 11; disregards Bishop Smith's plea for Saint-Cyran, 13; negotiates for Bishop Smith's return, 77; death, xv
- Richmond and Gordon, the Duke of, 75 n. 2
- Rigby, James, 174 n. 4
- Rinuccini, Giovanni Battista, Nuncio in Ireland, opposed to Callaghan, 32–3; relations with Supreme Council, 33; in Ireland, 34; opponents, 34, 39; his party opposed to Callaghan, 39; said to have behaved wickedly, 43; attacked by Callaghan, 44; reports on English Catholics, 158; said to have sent Jansenists away from Ireland, 188; opposed by Walsh, 204; by Bellings, 205
- Rion, Daniel, accused of Jansenism, 208
- Rollin, Charles, 231, 278
- Roman Catholics, see Catholics
- Romanes, E., 275 n. 5
- Rome, English College at, accused of Jansenism, 186 n. 4
- Rome, Jansenist deputies in, see Bourgeois, Paepé, Saint-Amour, Sinnich; their friends, 154, 201, 203
- Rome, not favourable to Conry's books, 2, 3 n. 5; opposes Augustinus, 4 n. 3; proposed mission to, in behalf of Charles II, see under Callaghan; receives anti-Jansenist profession from Retz, 89; considers Aubigny a Jansenist, 89; decides that Dunkirk remain part of the bishopric of Ypres, 89; not sufficiently gratified by attentions of Charles II, 89; attitude resented by Charles II, 90; mission to, in behalf of Aubigny, see under Stuart d'Aubigny; Charles II to submit his three kingdoms, 92; threatened with creation of independent bishops, 95; Jesuits might remain in England, if independent of, 98; to be intimidated by the phantom of Jansenism, 125; opposed by

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

353

- Dutch Jansenists, 165; esteemed less than the authority of St Augustine, 209. See also Bulls; Catholics; Catholic Church, Roman; Holy See; Popes
- Rome, St Isidore's Convent, 4, 201, 202
- Rome, Scots College, students pass on to the college in Paris, 237; a former student, Bishop Grant, 237 n. 2; alumni bring accusations of Jansenism, 239; form orthodox party in Scotland, 240
- Romigny, Syndic of the Faculty of Theology, 217
- Rosse, Thomas, 61
- Rothe, Edward, 253
- Rothe, Gen. Michael, 253
- Rouen, Archbishop of (Harlay), 279
- Rouen, Curés de, see Curés
- Royal Society, 116, 117
- Royston, Richard, publisher, 104 n. 2, 107, 278, 279
- Rshort, M., see Short, Richard
- Russell, the Rev. Richard, his translation of Quesnel, 168, 261–2, 287
- Ruth d'Ans, Ernest, 164 n. 6; corresponds with Leyburn, 182; considers James II a protector, 225
- Rutty, Dr John, influenced by the Messieurs, 265
- Ruvigny, Henri de Massue, marquis de, 96
- S—, Mr, expounds the Lettres Provinciales, 163
- Sablé, Magdeleine de Souvré, marquise de, 66
- Sabran, Lewis, S.J., 174 n. 4
- Saci or Sacy, M. de, see Lemaitre de Saci
- Sacraments, refusal of, xviii, 23, 155, 252–3
- Sacripanti, Cardinal, said to have been informed of Jansenism in Scotland, 234–5
- St Albans, Earl of, see Jermyne
- Saint-Amour, Louis Gorin de, charged with defence of Augustinus, 189; quoted, 195, 200, 201, 203; his Journal, 193 and n. 1; used by Gale, 139–40; in Owen's library, 143; translated, 109–10
- St Augustine, victor of Pelagianism, 4; his doctrine defended, 4–5; re-sembled by Jansenism, 4, 6; vindicated by Jansenists, 143; said to be attacked in Irish Sorbonne theses, 216. His disciples, Conry, 2, 5, 207; the Jansenists, 98; the Irish, 187, 190; Aubigny said to be zealous in his cause, 97. His use of the term “merit”, 141; his sense “falsely reported” by Gale, 144; his authority said to be considered superior to Rome, 209
- Saint-Cyran, M. de (Jean du Vergier de Hauranne, abbé de Saint-Cyran), director of Port Royal, xv, 19; his quarrel with the Jesuits, 10; assumed to be “Petrus Aurelius”, 11; probably helped in this work by M. de Barcos, 11; publication of “Petrus Aurelius” works, xv; acquaints M. des Touches with Port Royal, 71 n. 1; imprisoned, xv, 3, 13, 28; released, xv; death, xv, 7, 28; burial, 13, 267; letters to Jansenius, 12; secret names in Jansen's letters, 1; his catechism, 65; papers concerning him, 230; his nephew, see Barcos, M. de
- Relations with Conry, 2, 3; visited by Sinnich, 6; relations with Bishop Smith, 13 and n. 4; declines honour of being sent to England, 10; opposed to Floyd's and Knott's writings, 12; writes against English Jesuits, 13; helps the Maitlands, 27–8; Dr Kellison accused of siding with him, 181; Callaghan linked with him, 36, 37; possibly known to English readers, 109; admired by Gale, 140; disliked by Wesley, 262; theology described by Gale, 142; his Considérations sur la Mort, 232; his Lettres Spirituelles, in Leighton's library, 137; in Ken's library, 138; commended by Gale, 139; his works in Law's library, 264; his works read by Innes, 232; his portrait said to be found in English Catholic chapels, 163; his engraved portrait at Sion College Library, 275
- St Cuthbert's College, Ushaw, Durham, xi, xii
- St Cyres, Viscount, 275 n. 5
- Saint-Évremond, Charles de Marguetel de Saint-Denys de, friend of Aubigny, 75; entertained by Aubigny, 85; helped by Aubigny to write Sir Politick-would-be, 86; influence on Aubigny, 97, 99; reports Aubigny's views on the Jansenists, 99

CJ

23

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

354

INDEX

- Saint-François de Sales, see François de Sales, Saint
- Saint-Germain, court of, asked to help Douay College, 184
- Saint-Germain Jansenists, see Jansenism at Saint-Germain, Jansenists at Saint-Germain
- Saint-Gilles d'Asson, M. de, 53
- St Gregory's Seminary, Paris, 236, 253
- Saint-Lambert, village, 271; cemetery, 269; dead transferred from Port Royal, 26; attracts pilgrims, 272
- St Mary's Abbey, Colwich, xii, 68
- Saint-Médard, cemetery of, 247, 254; closed, xviii, 248
- Saint-Paul, comte de, 35
- Saint-Simon, Louis de Rouvroy, duc de, quoted, 244, 245, 246
- Saint-Sulpice, ecclesiastics, exclude Liancourt from sacraments, 23; threaten Miss Maitland, 28; consulted with regard to Dr Betham, 228; Seminary, 254
- Saint-Vallier, Jean Baptiste de, Bishop of Quebec, 257 n. 4
- Saint-Vincent de Paul, see Vincent de Paul, Saint
- St Willibrord, society of, 259
- Sainte-Beuve, Charles-Augustin, 69; quoted, 7 n. 1, 3, 19, 20, 87 n. 2, 97, 99, 111 n. 4, 122, 241; his account of the bishops, 120
- Sainte-Beuve, Jacques de, docteur de Sorbonne, involved in the affaire des Hibernois, 195, 196
- Sainte-Épine, miracles, xvi, 55, 56, 106
- Sainte-Marguerite, Paris, curé of, 252
- Sainte-Marthe, Claude de, confessor of Port Royal, 100; kindness to English Benedictine nuns, 72, 73; obliged to leave Port Royal, 74; death, 160; his house at Port Royal des Champs, 270
- Sales, François de, see François de Sales
- Salisbury rising, 50–1
- Sall, Andrew, uses part of Port Royal preface, 145–8
- Saltmarsh, Gerald, esteems Van Erkel, 170; defends his interests, 171; sends him messages, 171; receives books from him, 170; charged with Jansenism, 170; not to be bishop, 171, 174
- San Clemente, Cardinal of, 156
- Sanctarel, see Santarelli
- Sanctorum Patrum de Gratia Christi et Libero Arbitrio dimicantium Trias*, by Sinnich, 9
- Santarelli, Antonio, 198
- Santeuil, Jean Baptiste, 231
- Santini, Mgr, Internuncio in Brussels, sends Unigenitus to England, 175; urges Irish prelates to signify acceptance, 215
- Saul Exrex*, by Sinnich, 9
- Savage, John, Lord Rivers, 174 n. 4
- Schimmelpenninck, Mrs Mary Anne, reads Port Royal books, 267; publishes Narrative of a Tour, 267, 274; regrets that Port Royal is little known in England, 267; visits the places connected with Port Royal, 267; visits Port Royal des Champs and Les Granges, 267–73; acquainted with Bishop Grégoire, 267, 268; receives a book from him, 272; her Narrative of the Demolition of Port Royal, 273; her Select Memoirs of Port Royal, 274 and n. 5; collects Port Royal books, 274; commended by Hannah More, 274; bequeaths books and engravings to Sion College, 274–5; rejoices in her work, 275
- Schools of Port Royal, see Port Royal, Little Schools
- Scotland, in need of charity, 50; to be submitted to Rome by Charles II, 92; missionary priests sent there, 230, 233, 235, 237, 239, 240; miracles of the abbé Pâris published there, 237 n. 2; Quesnel's family lived there, 256 n. 1; John Gordon escapes to, 289. See also Catholics, Scottish; Jansenists, Scottish; Jesuits, Scottish
- Scotland, Protestant, influenced by Jansenism, 138; by Pascal, 138
- Scots College in Paris, see Paris, Collèges
- Scots College in Rome, see Rome
- Scottish Catholics, see Catholics, Scottish
- Scott, James, Duke of Buccleuch and Monmouth, entrusted to Aubigny, 60; at Le Chesnay, 61; at Juilly, 61; sent for by Charles II, 61; went by name of Crofts, 62
- Scriptures, as used by Jansenists, 131, 141, 145, 256 n. 3, 262
- Scriptures, published in vulgar tongues, 145, 146, 147, 209, 289. See also Port Royal, Testament

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

355

- Scudéry, Mlle de, 111
- Second Écrit des Curés de Paris*, by Pascal (?), translated, 104
- Secret Policy of the English Society of Jesus*, by Dodd, 173–4, 287
- Secret Policy of the Jansenists*, by le P. Dechamps, a translation, 111, 282; reprinted, 162, 284; spread by English Jesuits, 162 n. 1, 170
- Séguier, Pierre, Chancellor, 21
- Select Memoirs of Port Royal*, by Mrs Schimmelpenninck, 274
- Semi-pelagianism, xix
- Semi-pelagians, xix
- Sempill, —, accuser, 237 n. 2, 239
- Senez, Bishop, see Soanen
- Sens, Archbishop of (Louis Henri de Gondrin), 66
- Septième Factum des Curés de Paris*, by Arnauld (?), Pascal (?), translated, 105, 280
- Sergeant, John, alias Holland, his Abstract of the transactions relating to the English secular clergy, 169, 179
- Serious Call to a Devout and Holy Life*, by Law, 264
- Sévigné, Marie de Rabutin-Chantal, marquise de, condemned by the Dictionnaire des Livres Jansénistes, 1 n. 1; admires Nicole, 112; describes Port Royal des Champs, 270
- Sévigné, Renaud de, kindness to English Benedictine nuns, 72; remains transferred to Saint-Lambert, 26
- Shaftesbury, Margaret, Countess of, 112
- Shinnick, John, 5 n. 2, and see Sinnich
- Short History of the Constitution Unigenitus*, 201, 287
- Short History of Jansenism in Holland*, 162, 284
- Short Review of the Book of Jansenius*, by Jenks, 173, 286
- Short, Dr Richard, education, 164; work, 164; reads Provinciales, 164; admires courage of Utrecht, 165; orders Jansenist books, 165; acquaintance with the bookseller Van Rhyn, 165–6; his picture of the Roman Catholic Church in England, 165–6; corresponds with Quesnel, 166–7; receives his Réflexions morales, 166; supervises translation of the Réflexions, 167; supplies Van Erkel with account of English Chapter, 169, 179 n. 4; acts as intermediary between the Chapter and Dutch clergy, 169; attacks Jesuits, 169–70; said to be a Jansenist, 164, 167 n. 5, 170; rejects the five propositions, 170; Sylvester Jenks writes against Jansenism for his benefit, 173; death, 167
- Sidney, Robert, second Earl of Leicester, ambassador, interests himself in the Jenkins case, 21; Aubigny goes to see him, 77
- Simple Vérité opposée à la Fausse Idée du Jansénisme*, 139
- Singlin, Antoine, confessor and director of Port Royal, 69 n. 3; Dr Callaghan attached to him, 33; director of Port Royal, 47; thanked by Charles II, xvi, 47; thanked by Ormonde, 47; Dr Kelly to interpret Ormonde's English letter to him, 48, 208; helps English Benedictines to find a new house, 70; director of M. des Touches, 71 n. 1; obliged to leave Port Royal, 74; death, 71; his works read by Innes, 232
- Sinnich, John, birth, 5; education, 5; charges, 5–6; knew Jansenius, 6; sides with Jansenists, 6; furnishes approbation of the Augustinus, 6; unwilling to receive the Bull In eminenti, 6, 7; in Rome, xv, 6–9, 57; returns, 8; battles against Bull, 8, 187; unfavourable reports on him, 8; acts as intermediary between Arnauld and Charles II, 57; visited by Bellings, 60; submits to Holy See, 9; death, 9; epitaph, 5 n. 7; his works, 6, 8 and n. 5, 9; his censure of the Irish Remonstrance, 9; accounts of him, 5 n. 4, 8–9; character by M. de Pontchâteau, 8; eastered by Arnauld and Nicole, 9; condemned by the Dictionnaire des Livres Jansénistes, 5
- Sion College, London, xii, 274–5
- Sir Politick-would-be*, by Saint-Évremond, 86
- Smith, —, appellant, 238 n. 1
- Smith, i.e. Sinnich, 5 n. 4
- Smith, Alexander, Vicar-apostolic of the Lowland District, suspected of Jansenism, 238; has difficulty in getting his catechism published, 238 n. 1
- Smith, Henry, student, 127–8
- Smith, James, Vicar-apostolic of the Northern District, notified of charges

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

356

INDEX

- Smith, James (continued)
made against English secular clergy, 163–4; finds no Jansenism in England, 171. See also Catholics, English, Vicars-apostolic
- Smith, Nicholas, i.e. Edward Knott, 11, 12
- Smith, Richard, Bishop of Chalcedon, not a Jansenist, 10; frequently mentioned in Jansenist writings, 10; included in Cerveau's Nécrologe, 10; consecration, xv, 10; struggles, 10, 11, 179; confirms English Chapter, 168; his proceedings condemned by Urban VIII, 11; controversy attracts notice of government, 11; retires to France, xv, 11; negotiations for his return, 77; pleads for Saint-Cyran, 13; attends his funeral, 13; death, 13, 157, 169; epitaph, 13; accounts of him, where found, 13 n. 4
- Snowden (Dr John Cecil), 21
- Soame, Mr Ward, 67 n. 2
- Soanen, Jean, Bishop of Senez, opposed by Tencin, 229; condemned, xviii; deprived of his functions, 180, 252; corresponds with Mrs Daly, 180; with Matthew Barnewall, 252; his Pastoral Instructions, 178, 180; relics sent to England, 180. See also Bishops, appellant
- Society of Jesus, see Jesuits
- Society of St Willibrord, 259
- Solitaries, see Port Royal, Messieurs de Solitude, La, at Port Royal des Champs, 268, 270
- Soltau, Mr R. H., 275 n. 5
- Sonnet, Marie, convulsory, 248
- Sonus Buccinae*, by Blackloe, 151
- Sorbonne, see under Paris, Collèges
- Southcote or Southcott, Thomas, O.S.B., translates Quesnel, 167, 176 n. 4, 285; reports on English Jansenists, 176
- Southwell, Sir Robert, receives news from France, 129; attacked by Arnauld, 220; complains, 222; receives apologies, 222
- Spain, Jansenism in, ix
- Spang, William, 138
- Spanish ambassador (Baron de Batteville or Vatteville), at a meeting for English Catholics, 84 n. 5; pays court to Aubigny, 96; Aubigny imitates his grimaces, 96
- Spanish prelates, govern clergy of Dunkirk, 88
- Spanish translations, see Translations
- Spectator*, commends Pascal, 114, 115, 289; commends the Messieurs, 264
- Spiritual Diary*, by Dr John Ruddy, 265
- Spongia quâ diluuntur Calumniae*, by Floyd, 11
- Stafford ("Stafort"), Irish priest in Paris, 218
- Stafford, Mary, her son the abbé Plowden, 253
- Stafford, Mr, accused, 185
- Stair, Lord, see Dalrymple
- Stalderwijk, H., 213 n. 5
- States-General, 211 n. 4
- Statuts Synodaux du Diocèse d'Alet*, by Pavillon, 138
- Steward, Dr Richard, relations with Jansenists, 54, 135
- Stewart, Dr H. F., 275 n. 5
- Strachan, Robert, accused of Jansenism, 234 n. 3, 237 n. 2
- Strickland, Thomas John Francis, Bishop of Namur, charged with Jansenism, 254
- Stuart, see Charles I, Charles II, James II, James Francis Edward, Charles Edward
- Stuart, —, excluded from the Collège des Écossais, 237
- Stuart, Abbot Bernard, sends adverse report on the Collège des Écossais, 235
- Stuart d'Aubigny, Charles, 78 and n. 1
- Stuart, Esme, first Duke of Lennox and sixth seigneur d'Aubigny, 77
- Stuart, Esme, Lord Stuart of Leighton Bromswold and Earl of March, third Duke of Lennox, seventh seigneur d'Aubigny, 77
- Stuart, George, ninth seigneur d'Aubigny, 77, 78
- Stuart, Henry, eighth seigneur d'Aubigny, 77, 78
- Stuart, Sir John, first seigneur d'Aubigny, 76
- Stuart d'Aubigny, Ludovic, second Duke of Lennox, 77
- Stuart, Ludovic, tenth seigneur d'Aubigny, family, 76–7; birth, 77; education, 77; Jansenist influences, 77; M. du Ferrier's friendship, 77; has thoughts of becoming a cardinal, 77, 80; wrongfully becomes tenth seigneur, 78 and n. 1; his nephew, 78 and n. 1; becomes abbé de Hautefontaine, 78; Canon of Notre Dame, 78; elected to preside over the Congrè-

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

357

- gation de la Propagation de la Foi, 78; opposed by Mazarin, 78; shares house with Bernières, 58, 82; once disliked Charles II's manner of living, 59 n. 1; suggests plan for Gloucester's conversion, 58, 79, 80; proposal declined by Charles II, 60; places the Duke of Monmouth at Le Chesnay, 60–2; transfers him to Juilly, 61; befriends the English Benedictine nuns, 68; escapes lettre de cachet, 79; helps Retz, 78, 79, 80; attitude to Charles II, 79, 80; interested in English in Paris, 79; acts as a link between Charles II and Retz, 79, 80; ambitions, 80; goes to England at the Restoration, 63, 80; Louis XIV desires him not to return to France, 81; wins Bartet over to the side of Retz, 81; involved in exile of Bernières and Taignier, 81–7; does not seem to be exerting himself in their behalf, 83–7; new ambitions, 83; his friends fear for his spiritual welfare, 83, 85; shows Evelyn his possessions, 83; at Whitehall, 83; acts as intermediary between Hyde and Estrades, 84, 85; between Charles II and Estrades, 84, 85; distrusted by Louis XIV, 84, 89; relations with English Catholics, 80, 84 and n. 5; to buy furnishings for the Queen's chapel, 85; wishes his coach to enter the Louvre, 85; influential, 85; attached to the Queen's service, 86; makes her touch a relic, 56; helps Saint-Évremond to write, 86; reconciled with the French court, 86; wants to be Bishop of Dunkirk, 88–9, 153; to act against Blackloe, 153; regarded as a Jansenist, 89 and n. 1; does not sign anti-Jansenist profession, 89; Bellings sent to Rome to secure his promotion to the cardinalate, 90, 205; Retz approached in his behalf, 90; favourable vote, 91; opposed by Alexander VII, xvi, 91; his Jansenism a stumbling block, 91, 93; probable author of the Oblatio, 92, 93; personally known to Alexander VII, 93 n. 5; refusal of his promotion irritates Charles II and the Chancellor, 94; the Internuncio Vecchiis alarmed by his stories, 95; M. Brunetti a member of his household, 97; intimacy with Turenne, 79; with the Princess Palatine, 79; with Charles II, 76, 83, 84, 88, 96; with the Duke of York, 96; with Arlington, 96; with the Spanish ambassador, 96; with Hyde, 108 and n. 4; with Lord Cornbury, 108 and n. 4; with Saint-Évremond, 75–6, 85; goes to France, 96 and n. 1; illness, 96; to become cardinal, 96 and n. 5; death, xvi, 75, 76, 87, 96; burial, 97; epitaph, 97; will, 108 n. 4; strong-box papers probably by him, 100; portrait, 75; charm, 75; kindness, 98; failings, 76; character, 100; knowledge of French and English, 100; Jansenism, 89, 91, 93, 97–100, 158; so-called conversation with Saint-Évremond, 99; the Saint-Évremond of Port Royal, 99; his nephew, Cardinal Howard, said to be a Jansenist, 158
- Stuart, Mr, Roman agent of the Scottish Catholics, 235
- Stuart exhibition, 75 n. 1
- Suarez, Francisco, 113
- Suireau, la Mère Marie des Anges, kindness to the Maitlands, 26, 27, 28; to exiles, 40
- Supremacy, Oath of, 12, 63 n. 1
- Sussex, the Earl of, 66
- Sussex, Lady Anne, to go to Port Royal, 66–7
- Sutten, —, Irish Capuchin, 175
- Swift, Mrs, 72
- Synnich, see Sinnich
- Taaffe, Theobald, Viscount, probable mission to Rome, 42, 43, 44
- Tabulae suffragiales*, by Blackloe, 152, 156 n. 2
- Taignier, Claude, exiled, 81, 82; hides, 82, 83; fears for Aubigny's spiritual welfare, 83; recommends Brunetti to him, 97; hears from him, 98
- Talbot, Peter, S.J., sends refutation of Provinciales to Ormonde, 53
- Tallemant des Réaux, Gédéon, quoted, 100
- Tamburini, Pietro, 219 n. 2
- Tangier, possible creation of bishops independent of Rome, 95
- Taylor, Jeremy, commends La Fréquente Communion, 139; quotes Jansenius, 139 n. 1
- Témoignages de l'Église Universelle en faveur de la Bulle Unigenitus*, by the Cardinal de Bissy, xi, 176

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

358

INDEX

- Temple, Dame Agnes, 73
- Tencin, Pierre Guerin de, Cardinal, said to owe his promotion to the Pretender, 228, 229 and n. 1
- Tenison, Thomas, Archbishop of Canterbury; Quesnel said to be seeking employment from him, 257 and n. 4; kindness to the Bishop of Quebec, 257 n. 4
- Théméricourt, Mlle de, 180
- Theses, Irish, attacked for anti-Jansenism, 216–19
- Thiboust, Nicolas, Solitary, 25
- Thomas, M. (possibly a member of the Du Fossé family), 25
- Thomason, George, 103 and n. 1, 105
- Thomists, their use of the term “sufficient grace”, 156
- Thoughts on Religion and other Subjects*, a translation of the Pensées, 285, 289, 290
- Thurloe, John, Cromwell’s Secretary of State, hears about Jansenists, 45, 46, 55, 57
- Thwaites, Francis, translator of Quesnel, 167, 285
- Tillemont, see Le Nain de Tillemont
- Tillotson, Dr John, Archbishop of Canterbury, wonders Arnauld should write about Popish Plot, 220
- Tite et Bérénice*, by Corneille, 126
- Tonge, Israel or Ezerel, implicates Jansenists in Popish Plot, 113; said to have translated Jansenist books, 102, 112 and n. 2, 282
- Tootell, Christopher, charged with Jansenism, 159, 173
- Tootell, Hugh, see Dodd, Charles
- Tractatus de statu parvulorum*, by Conry, 2, 3 and n. 5
- Tradition de l’Église*, by Arnauld, 53
- Translations, or proposed translations: from English into Irish, see Common Prayer Book.
From French into Danish, see Pascal; into Dutch, see Pascal; into English, 163, 278–91 passim, and see Annat, Arnauld, Boyer, Curés of Paris and Rouen, Daniel, Dechamps, Doucin, Du Four, Duguet, Filleau de la Chaise, Fontaines, Godeau, Hugot, Lancelot, Le Comte, Lemaitre, Lemaitre de Saci, Mass, Montpellier Catechism, Nicole, Noailles, Nouet, Pascal, Périer, Petit-Didier, Perrault, Pontchâteau, Pouget, Quesnel, Racine, Saint-Amour, Varet; into German, see Pascal; into Irish, see Port Royal Testament (preface); into Italian, see Pascal; into Latin, see Arnauld, Pascal; into Spanish, see Pascal, Montpellier Catechism
From Latin into English, see Arnauld, Bull Unigenitus
From Latin into French, see Arnauld, Conry, Mass, Mlle de Joncoux, Nicole, Port Royal Testament, Voisin; into Irish, see Irish Old Testament, New Testament
- Trent, Council of, 262
- Tréville, Joseph Henri de Peyre de, 66
- Triest, Antoine, Bishop of Ghent, refuses to receive Bull, 134
- Trimlestown or Trimleston, Lord, 207
- Trinity College, Cambridge, 135
- Trinity College, Dublin, 146, 210
- Triumphus Catholice Veritatis*, 192
- True and impartial Account of all that has pass’d between the Court of Rome and Cardinal de Noailles*, 289
- True Idea of Jansenisme*, 140–3, 282
- Trumbull, Sir William, Secretary of State, receives news from France, 130; is sent copies of Arnauld’s apology to Southwell, 222
- Tuamensis, see Conry
- Tuam, Synod of, 204
- Turenne, Henri de la Tour d’Auvergne, Vicomte de, persuades James II of the miracle of la Sainte-Épine, 56; friend of Port Royal, 66; intimate with Aubigny, 79, 96; buys Pensées, 127
- Twisse, William, his doctrine attacked, 145, 285
- Tyrconnel, Duchess of, see Jennings, Frances
- Tyrie, John, i.e. James Tyrie, who is confused with his brother John, accused, 237 n. 2
- Tyrie, John, accuser, 237 n. 2, 239
- Tyrell, Dr, 43
- Tyrell, Dr Edward, consulted by Irish Jansenists, 192
- Ulster Irish, 43
- Ultramontanes, 204; opposed, 9, 149
- Unigenitus*, see under Bulls
- Union, projects of, see Projects
- Universities, see Angers, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Louvain, Nantes, Paris

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

INDEX

359

- Urban VIII, issues Bull In eminenti, xv, 6, 17 n. 1; condemns Bishop Smith's proceedings, 11
- Ursulines du Faubourg Saint-Jacques, 64, 65
- Utrecht, Calamy studies there, 145; story of Dutch ordinations in Ireland common knowledge, 215
- Utrecht, Church of, regarded as schismatic, 211; courage admired by Dr Short, 165; opposes the "exorbitant power of Rome", 165; books in defence of, 165; news given by Quesnel to Dr Short, 167; difficulties in getting priests ordained, 175, 211; priests ordained in Ireland, xvii, 211–14, 276; often visited by English priest, 176; sends emissaries to England in 1729, 179; situation considered analogous to that of the Roman Catholic Church in England, 179; corresponds with English Catholics, 179
- Clergy, admired by Dr Short, 164, 165, 166, 169; appreciate his esteem, 166; correspond with English Chapter, 169; zeal for the Gospel, 175
- Chapter, attacked by regulars, 168; situation analogous to that of the English Chapter, 168; governs after Codde's death, 211; its archives, xii, 164 and n. 6, 213, 294. See also Old Catholic Church
- Utrum damnandus sit Jansenius*, by Sinich, 8
- Validity of Anglican ordinations, 258, 259
- Van den Walther, bookseller, 178
- Vane, —, accused, 174 n. 4
- Van Erkel, John Christian, Dean of the Chapter of Utrecht, corresponds with England, 164, 167 n. 4; ex-communicated, 164; corresponds with Dr Short, 168; with the English Chapter, 168–9; prints an account of the English Chapter, 169; corresponds with the Duchess of Tyrconnel, 170, 246 n. 3; esteemed by Saltmarsh, 170; sends him books, 171; receives messages, 171; his interests defended by Saltmarsh, 171; hears news of Bishop Giffard, 175; visited by Marison, 211; by Saltmarsh (?), 211; his Protestatio asserta, 169; his Defensio Ecclesiae Ultrajectinae, 169
- Van Heussen, Hugh Francis, Dean of the Chapter of Utrecht, visited by Marison, 211; gives letters dimissory to Dutch Jansenists, 212, 276; sends them to be ordained in Ireland, 276; thanks Bishop Fagan, 213 n. 4; hears from him, 214
- Van Neercassel, see Neercassel
- Van Rhyn, Jansenist bookseller, 165, 166, 169
- Varet, Alexander, his Preface to The Jesuits' Morals, a translation, 112, 282
- Varin, Jean, medal engraved by him, 122
- Varlet, Dominique, Bishop of Babylon, 178
- Vasquez, Gabriel, 113
- Vatteville or Batteville, Baron de, Spanish Ambassador, 84 n. 5, 96
- Vauclair, abbé de, 14
- Vaumurier, country-house of the duc de Luynes, 40, 42, 271
- Vavassor, François, S.J., 35
- Vecchiis, Jerome de, Internuncio at Brussels, hears of English condemnation of Jansenism, 157 n. 5, 158 n. 1; condemns Irish Remonstrance, 205; in London, 94; alarmed by Aubigny's stories, 95; promises to use his influence in securing Aubigny's promotion, 95
- Verney, Sir Ralph, 45
- Vernon, Francis, 126
- Vertus, Mlle de, 100
- Vie de M. Olier*, by the abbé Faillon, 78 n. 2
- Vies des Saints Pères des Déserts*, see Arnauld d'Andilly
- Vies intéressantes et édifiantes*, 26, 29
- Vieuxpont, Mme de, 248
- Villiers, Barbara, Lady Castlemaine, afterwards Duchess of Cleveland, wishes her daughter to stay at Port Royal de Paris, 66–7
- Villiers, George, second Duke of Buckingham, helps to write Sir Politick-would-be, 86
- Vincent de Paul, St, to use his credit in restraining Irish Jansenists, 191; presented with a copy of the Irish anti-Jansenist declaration, 193; priests of his Mission, 189, 190, 191
- Vindicia censurae Facultatis theologiae parisiensis seu Responsio ad libellum cui titulus... spongia*, Petrus Aurelius, his work, xv, 11, 13 n. 4
- Vineam Domini*, see Bulls

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-41854-7 - Strangers and Sojourners at Port Royal: Being an Account of the Connections Between the British Isles and the Jansenists of France and Holland

Ruth Clark

Index

More information

360

INDEX

- Vintimille, Charles Gaspard Guillaume de, Archbishop of Paris, 232
- Voisin, Joseph de, his translation of the Missal, 125
- Voltaire, 111 n. 4; his brother consorts with convulsionaries, 248
- Vosmeer, Sasbold, Archbishop of Utrecht under the title of Archbishop of Philippi, 168–9
- Voyage d'Alet*, by Lancelot, 267
- Vries, G. de, 285
- Vuillart or Willart, Germain, 224 n. 3; quoted, 241; friend of Mme de Gramont, 244
- Vulgate, The, 209
- Wadding, Luke, Guardian of St Isidore's Convent at Rome, letters and books sent to him, 4; receives Sinnich, 7; hears complaints against Callaghan, 32; venerated by Dr Bourgeois, 201; criticized by Rapin, 201; appointed one of the consultors to examine the five propositions, 201; not hostile, 201, 202; excluded from the Congregation of the Inquisition, 202
- Wake, William, Archbishop of Canterbury, interested in reunion, 258; corresponds with Le Courayer, 258–9; entertains Girardin, 260
- Walker, Joseph, translates Pascal, Mme Périer and Filleau de la Chaise, 113–14, 283
- Walon de Beaupuis, M., in charge of the Duke of Monmouth, 61; advised to go into hiding, 133
- Walsh, Peter, O.S.F., opinion of Sinnich, 9; visited by Vecchiis, 95; on Macedo, 151; his Remonstrance, 204, 206–7; relations with Jansenius, 207; protests against accusations of Jansenism, 207
- Walter or Walters, Lucy, alias Mrs Barlow, 60
- Walton, Izaak, the younger, 138
- Waple, Edward, President of Sion College, Jansenist books in his possession, 274 n. 6
- Warburton, Philip, fourth Baron, 139
- Warburton, William, Bishop of Gloucester, ridicules Wesley's belief in convulsionaries, 263; admires Arnauld, 263 n. 5
- Watson, Richard, chaplain to Lord Hopton, dislikes Jansenists, 45
- Wauchope, Dr, to receive books, 178; his nephew to come to Holland, 178; probably visited by Dutch Jansenists, 179; reasons with Bishop Petre, 180; fortified by M. Petitié, 180
- Wendrock, G., see Nicole
- Wesley, John, on the Bull Unigenitus, 257; does not like the earlier Jansenists, 262; translates Duguet, 262; admires Quesnel, 262; impressed by miracles of the abbé Pâris, 262–3
- “Wetenhal”, J., corresponds with Van Erkel, 164, 167 n. 4
- Whetenhall, Thomas, translates Quesnel, 167 and n. 4, 5, 285
- White, Father, alias Le Blanc, warns Irish students against Jansenism, 191
- White, Thomas, see Blackloe
- Whitefield, George, 262
- Whiteford, Charles, principal of the Collège des Écossais, 234, 236; appellant, 234, 236; retracts, 236
- Wilkins, Dr John, Dean of Ripon, and later Bishop of Chester, Evelyn sends him one of his translations, 109, 110
- William III, at war, 132; attacked by Arnauld, xvii, 224; his régime preferred to that of France, 227
- Williams, Dr, his Library in London, 274 n. 6
- Williamson, Sir Joseph, Secretary of State, receives French news, 117, 119, 120, 123, 126–9 passim, 134
- Wilson, Matthew, see Knott, Edward
- Witham, George, Vicar-apostolic of the Midland District, and later of the Northern District, transmits charges of Jansenism, 184, 185; hopes that the justification of Douay College will silence calumny, 186. See also Catholics, English, Vicars-apostolic
- Witham, Robert, President of Douay College, accused of Jansenism, 186
- Witham, Thomas, Superior of St Gregory's Seminary, Paris, 228; accused of Jansenism, 174 n. 4
- Wood, Anthony à, quoted, 54
- York, Duke of, see James II
- Yprensis, see Jansenius
- Zamet, Sébastien, Bishop of Langres, 19