

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

INDEX

- Abridged texts, 4, 165 sq.
- Act- and scene-division, in 1 Henry VI, 184 sq.; in First Folio and Quartos, 186; in Tamburlaine and Edward II, 187 sq.
- Actors' names substituted for characters, 17 note; in 2 and 3 Henry VI, 211
- Adams, J. Quincy, explains origin of deer-stealing story, 127; on Shakespeare's business enterprise and choice of patron, 206
- Additions and interpolations as evidence of revision or collaboration, 25, 185
- Ajax* of Sophocles quoted in Titus Andronicus, 140
- Alcazar*, performed by Strange's men, 16; Dr Greg's verdict on text applied to Quarto of Richard III, 166
- Alleyne, Edward, acted for time with Strange's men, 15
- Anticipations* and Recollections as evidence of reporting by actors, 91 sqq.
- Arden of Feversham*, parallels with, in Edward II, 148; ascribed to Kyd, ibid.
- Aubrey, John, records best authenticated tradition about Shakespeare, 7, 129 sq.; Beeston's statement quoted, 129; records Stratford gossip, 130; Malone's estimate of his accuracy, 131
- Baconians, credulity of, 34
- Bad Quartos, mainly the work of actors, 4 sq.; importance of plague years for their history, 4 sq., 71 sq.; contribution to study of, by Professor Pollard and Professor Dover Wilson, 3 sq.; by Dr Greg, 4, 65, 68 note, 91, 93 note; by Mr Rhodes, 5, 53 sq., 68 sqq.
- Bartholomew Fair*, reference to Titus Andronicus in, 198
- Beeston, William, informed Aubrey that Shakespeare had been a schoolmaster, 129; confirmation of his statement in Shakespeare's early plays, 139 sqq.
- Bernard, John, how he put together a version of The School for Scandal, 70 sq.
- Blount, Edward, chief business partner in First Folio venture, 213

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

218

INDEX

- Brooke, C. F. Tucker, evidence for Marlowe's hand in 2 and 3 Henry VI, 94 sqq.; on corrections in The Whole Contention, 106 sqq.; discovers the ground of his own errors, 115 sq.; omits to complete his argument by proving Marlowe's authorship of Edward II, 147 sq.
- Burbage, Richard, as portrait painter, 36
- Chamberlain's Company, and Shakespeare, 72, 189, 200; last of original sharers in, 212
- Chambers, Sir Edmund, regards Titus and Vespasian as early version of Titus Andronicus, 9 sqq.; criticism of Mr Robertson's position, 152 sq.; his own difficulties, 153; on status of Pembroke's men, 13, 203
- Chaucer editions in sixteenth century and First Folio, 23
- Chettle on Shakespeare as author, 195
- Clark and Wright, estimate of textual problem of Richard III, and proposed solution, 155 sq.
- Clifford, see Suffolk
- "Clock" passage in Richard III, 157 sqq.
- Comedy of Errors*, classical influences, 8, 139 sq.; probably Shakespeare's first comedy, 139 sq.; date of, 196 sqq.; double endings in, 151; Pope questions ascription to Shakespeare, 36
- Contention, The*, and Richard Duke of York, not evidence that Shakespeare had collaborators in 2 and 3 Henry VI, 6, 22, 35; Malone's "proof" of their originality, 51 sq.; Steevens' criticism, 52 sq.; evidence that they are piracies, 55 sqq.; not shorthand reports, 66 sqq.; actors' reports similar to John Bernard's School for Scandal, 71 sqq.; interpolations from Edward II suggested Marlowe's hand to Farmer and Malone, 93 sq.; Professor Tucker Brooke's list of parallels with Marlowe examined, 95 sqq.; his confusion of interpolations and parallels, 99; metrical evidence, 103 sq.; reprinted in 1619 by Jaggard without manuscript authority for changes, 106 sqq.; 2 and 3 Henry VI their originals, 111 sqq.; summary of their origin, 116
- Contention, The*, entry in S.R. and publication, 29; in places a "reported" text, 55 sqq.; Warwick's part, 74 sqq.; Suffolk's part, 75 sqq.; in places a transcribed text, 82 sqq.; manuscript pages, 86; scrolls, 87 sq.; fragments, 87 sq.; coincides with 2 Henry VI when transcribed or well reported, 115; interpolations from 1 Henry VI, 190 sq.
- Crawford, C., on parallels in Arden and Edward II, 148

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

INDEX

219

- Dam, B. A. P. van, revives shorthand reporting as explanation of Bad Quartos, 67 sq.; rates actors' ability poorly, 68
- Daniel, P. A., analysis of texts of Richard III, 157 sqq.
- Delius, N., on texts of Richard III, 162
- Derby's Company, see Strange's
- Dido*, and The Contention, 95
- Drummond records Jonson's satisfaction at being called honest, 210
- Duenna, The*, authorised text withheld by Sheridan, 54; pirated, 54; Tate Wilkinson's account of his version, 69
- Edward I*, Shakespeare may have played in, 18
- Edward II*, parallels in The Contention, 96 sq.; in 2 and 3 Henry VI, 97 sqq.; date of, 203; question of relation to 2 and 3 Henry VI, 203 sqq.; circumstances of publication, 211
- Famous Victories of Henry V*, Queen's play, 19; and Henry IV and Henry V, 142, 202
- Farmer, Richard, denied Shakespeare a moderate proficiency in Latin, 8, 120 sqq.; considered Pericles Shakespeare's first venture, 122; and 1 Henry VI previous to his time, 122; influence on Malone, 122 sqq.; suggested Marlowe as author of 2 and 3 Henry VI, 123; absurd interpretation of Jonson's lines on Shakespeare, 123; rejects Beeston's statement, 130 sq.; uncritical view of Aubrey's testimony, 131; views opposed to sound tradition, 141; a source of wild conjecture, 199
- First Folio of Shakespeare's Plays, contains no guarantee by Heminge and Condell that they excluded all work except Shakespeare's, 23; value of copy for, estimated by Pope, 35; and Professor Pollard, 37; no satisfactory evidence that it contains plays or scenes by anyone except Shakespeare, 35, 136 sq., 145 sqq.
- Fleay, F. G., on Stanley-Derby tangle in Richard III, 176 sq.; on historical strata in 1 Henry VI, 177 sq.; on spelling of proper names in 1 Henry VI, 178 sqq.; on act- and scene-division in 1 Henry VI, 184 sq.; and Farmer, 200; warning from his treatment of Henry VI and Richard III, 215
- Friar Bacon and Friar Bungay*, 16, 17 note
- Gaw, Allison, on spelling of proper names in 1 Henry VI, 178 sq.; his evidence for Marlowe's hand in 1 Henry VI, 188

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

220

INDEX

- Gerrard, E. A., provides reductio ad absurdum of Farmer's hypothesis, 124 note
- Globe shares, accumulation of, in hands of Heminge and Condell, 212
- Gloucester, spellings of, in 1 Henry VI, 179; in First Folio and Quartos, 180 sq.
- Good Quartos, Pope's estimate of copy for, compared with Professor Pollard's, 35, 37; consequences of Malone's retaining view that they were "stolne and surreptitious," 133 sqq.; importance of establishing their relation to respective Folio texts, 155
- Granville-Barker, Harley, respect for Shakespeare's first editors, 215
- Gray, Austin K., his study of Titus Andronicus, 10 note
- Greene, did not accuse Shakespeare of plagiarism, 6, 44 sqq.; collaboration with Nashe and Lodge, 15 sq.; plays acted by Strange's men, 16; connection with Queen's men, 17 sqq.; relations with Nashe, 18; improbable he collaborated with Marlowe or Shakespeare, 22 sqq.; jealous of success of 3 Henry VI, 29; points at Shakespeare as author of 3 Henry VI, 39; letter to his acquaintances quoted and examined, 40 sqq.; earlier attack on actors in Never too Late, 43
- Greene's Funerals*, author charges those who eclipsed Greene's fame with plagiarism, 14
- Greg, W. W., analysis of Alcazar and Orlando advances study of Bad Quartos, 4 sq.; on reporting and transcription, 65, 68 note, 91, 93 note; on Jaggard's 1619 volume, 110; inference from confusion in camp scene in Henry V (1600), 111; his judgment on text of Alcazar applied to Quarto text of Richard III, 166
- Groatsworth of Wit*, reasons for attack on Shakespeare in, considered, 6 sqq.; letter in, misinterpreted by R. B., 14; letter to Greene's acquaintances examined, 39–50
- Halle, confusion about Mortimers transferred to 2 Henry VI and 1 Henry IV, 62; source of lines in 3 Henry VI, 63; failure of Malone's proof that Shakespeare did not use, 182 sq.
- Halliwell-Phillipps, his preference for "rural" versions, 132; on Shakespeare's commercial spirit, 207
- Hamlet*, not the work of an illiterate author, 34; Q 1 contains line from Twelfth Night, 93; early version of, 197

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

INDEX

221

- Hamlet's estimate of ability of players and Dr van Dam's opinion, 68
- Hart, H. C., evidence for authorship of 1 Henry VI, 187 sq.
- "Hastings" passage in Richard III, 159 sqq.
- Heminge and Condell, compiled Folio in uncritical age, 23; their references to contents of Folio, 38, 134 sq., 137, 212; criticised by Pope, 35 sqq.; and Steevens, 136; their care and honesty vindicated, 37, 134 sqq., 144; advantages as managers and sharers in Shakespeare's Company, 212
- Henry IV*, and Famous Victories, 142; and Sir John Oldcastle, 192
- Henry V*, reference to Henry VI in epilogue, 29; camp scene as given in Quarto, 111; dated by Rowe, 119
- Henry VI*, the three parts of, popularity with Elizabethans, 29; question of authorship raised by Theobald, 37; Theobald's view criticised by Johnson and Tyrwhitt, 37, 39 sqq.; ascribed to Marlowe by Farmer, 123, 199; date of, 197, 201; possibly written for Pembroke's men, 202 sq.
- second and third parts of, unduly depreciated, 28; differences between Quarto and Folio texts and Malone's theory of collaboration, 30 sqq., 51 sqq.; parallels in Marlowe's plays, 99, 146 sqq.; compared with Edward II, 203 sqq.; connection with Troublesome Reign, 201; printed from old prompt copies, 211
- first part of, identified with Henry VI played at the Rose, 11; evidence against this view, 189 sqq.; Talbot scenes praised by Nashe, 11; date of Talbot scenes, 17, 26; possibility of Peele's collaboration in, 25; bibliographical evidence may indicate Shakespeare's revision, 25, 182 note, 185; authorship according to Malone, 31, and Farmer, 112; attempt at disintegration by Fleay, 177 sqq., and Hart, 187 sq., and Professor Gaw, 188; spelling of proper names in, 179 sqq.; act- and scene-division in, 184
- second part of, the original of The Contention, 115
- third part of, "new" matter in, marked by Malone, 111 sqq.; original of Richard Duke of York, 115
- Henry VIII*, Malone's view of authorship of, 32; dated by Rowe, 119
- Henslowe, records performances of Titus and Vespasian, 9; of a Henry VI, 11; on failure of Pembroke's men, 71; evidence from Diary about Shakespeare's early plays, 196 sq., 200 sq.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

- Holinshed, confusion about Mortimers misleads Shakespeare in 2 Henry VI and 1 Henry IV, 61 sq.; consulted for 1619 edition of The Whole Contention, 109 sq.; not the only chronicler consulted by Shakespeare, 182 sq.; second edition of his chronicle used by Shakespeare, 201
- Jaggard, reprints The Contention and Richard Duke of York in 1619 volume, 106 sqq.; his "corrections" have no manuscript authority, 110
- Jew of Malta*, 15, 17; parallels in 3 Henry VI, 98; quality of its text, 146 note, 211
- Johnson, prints story of Will. Shakespeare's boys, 118; accepts deer-stealing story, 120; on authorship of Henry VI, 35, 37
- Jonson, Farmer's interpretation of his lines on Shakespeare, 130; on Shakespeare's honesty, 210
- Jordane, Margery, of Eie, 108 sq.
- Keats, his treatment of couplet in Endymion and Lamia, 150
Knacke to Knowe a Knave, 15
- Knight, criticism of Malone's conjecture about date of Shakespeare's earliest plays, 194
- Kyd, various identifications of his noble patron, 12, 203; no guarantee he was author of Spanish Tragedy, 148; Farmer assigns a Shrew to, 123; and Titus Andronicus and Tamburlaine, 199; Arden assigned to, 148
- Langbaine questions Ravenscroft's account of Titus Andronicus, 138
- Lawrence, W. J., disputes view that texts were abridged for provincial tours, 4
- Lear*, use of rhyming couplet in, 27; and Leir, 19, 142
- Lee, Sir Sidney, accepts Pope's view of Shakespeare, 207
- Leir*, acted by Queen's and Sussex's men, 19; and Lear, 142
- Looking Glass for London*, by Greene and Lodge, 16
- Love's Labour's Lost*, Pope questions ascription to Shakespeare, 36; date of, 201
- Lucrece*, author not illiterate, 34; dedicatory epistle to, 209
- Lucy, Sir Thomas, had no deer park at Charlecote, 126; not Justice Shallow, 127
- Lyly, Farmer's theory that his plays were revised by Shakespeare, 123, 199

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

INDEX

223

- Malone, Edmund, inherent improbability of his theory about 2 and 3 Henry VI, 2; reads charge of plagiarism into Greene's letter, 6, 39 sqq., 125; fails to take full advantage of his criticism of tradition, 7, 129 sq.; textual grounds in 2 and 3 Henry VI for theory of collaboration, 31, 51 sqq.; extends theory to other Folio plays, 31; misinterprets "upstart Crow" and "his Tygers hart," 49 sqq.; substitutes Marlowe for Greene or Peele as Shakespeare's collaborator, 49, 94; marks "new" material in 2 and 3 Henry VI, 111 sqq.; relation of Dissertation on Henry VI to his Shakespeare studies as a whole, 117 sqq.; question of Shakespeare's beginnings forced on him, 120, his conjecture about, 194; influenced by theories of Farmer, 122 sqq.; but rejects Rowe's stories and picture of benighted Stratford, 126 sqq.; on criteria of a sound tradition, 126 sq.; still considered all Quartos stolen, 133; protest against multiplication of "old" plays, 175; thought Shakespeare used no chronicle but Holinshed's, 183; dates Comedy of Errors, 198; moral of his failure with 2 and 3 Henry VI, 214 sq.
- Marlowe, very improbable he ever collaborated with Greene, 22 sq.; no room for, as well as Shakespeare, in Henry VI and Richard III, 24, 146; addressed by Greene, 17 sq., 40 sqq.; parallels with his work in 2 and 3 Henry VI, 95 sqq., 146 sqq.; connection with Pembroke's men and Shakespeare, 203 sqq. Massacre at Paris, parallels in The Contention, 95; 2 Henry VI, 97; 3 Henry VI, 99; quality of its text, 146 note, 211 Merchant of Venice, corrections in 1619 edition, 110
- Meres confirms attribution of Richard III to Shakespeare, 39, 143
- Merry Wives of Windsor*, Bad Quarto borrows line from Hamlet, 93; jest in, as origin of deer-stealing story, 127 sq.
- Midsummer Night's Dream*, Shakespeare's revision of, 26; corrections in 1619 edition, 110; double endings in, 150
- Millington, enters The Contention in S.R., and publishes it and Richard Duke of York, 29
- Milton, elisions in Paradise Lost and Comus, 150; Phillips afraid his uncle might be thought a schoolmaster, 186
- Molière, and his Company, 206
- Mosely, publishes plays of Beaumont and Fletcher, 213
- Nashe, passage from Pierce Penilesse on Talbot scenes quoted, 11, applicable to 1 Henry VI, 192; his account of relations with Greene, 18

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

224 INDEX

Never too Late, criticism of the actor in, 43 sq.Observer, The, quoted on authorship of Richard II, 33

"Old" plays, Malone's protest against multiplication of, 175

Old Wives Tale, 18*Orlando*, 16, 17 note, 68 *note*Ovid, influence on Shakespeare, 141, admired by Elizabethans, *ibid.*Peele, connection with Queen's Company, 18; Mr Dugdale Sykes attributes Leir and The Troublesome Reign to, 20; Joan of Arc libels in 1 Henry VI pair with his on Queen Elinor in Edward II, 24; possible share in Henry VI and Richard III, 24 sq.; addressed by Greene, 41; possible share in Edward II, 147Pembroke, Henry Herbert, second earl of, relations with Kyd and Marlowe, 202 sq., 211; his Company, 12, 21, 203

Pembroke, William Herbert, third earl of, friendly to Burbage, 36

Pembroke's Company, doubts as to their existence before 1592, 12; Sir Edmund Chambers' theory of their origin, 21; failure in 1593, 71 sq.; possessed Shakespeare's early plays, 10 note, 30, 72, 191, 202, 211; and Marlowe's Edward II, 94, 203 sq.Pericles, excluded from Folio, 23, 122, 143; thought by Farmer Shakespeare's first venture, 122Pickwick, Bardell v., cited for use of his before quotation, 48

Plague of 1592-3, place in Shakespeare's career of, 196

Plautus, in Elizabethan schools, 8; Shakespeare's borrowings from, 139 *sq.*Pollard, A. W., provides foundation for criticism of Shakespeare text and canon by (i) his estimate of copy used for Good Quartos and First Folio, 37; (ii) his interpretation of phrase "stolne and surreptitious" which vindicates good faith of first editors, 37, 134 sq., 215; on Malone's theory about 2 and 3 Henry VI, 2 sq., 22; on Bad Quartos, 3 sqq.; on Malone's misinterpretation of Greene's attack on Shakespeare, 6; estimate of Aubrey's evidence, 7; on Shakespeare's small Latin, 8; on Shakespeare's early plays, 8 sqq.; on Shakespeare's first Company, 11 sqq.; on possibility of collaboration in Folio plays, 23; probability of theories proposed considered, 23 sqq.; interpretation of bibliographical

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

INDEX

225

- and textual evidence, 25 sq.; on verse tests, 26; on Talbot, scenes, 26 sq.; estimate of three parts of Henry VI and Richard III as dramas, 27 sq.; resolves difficulty in 1 Henry VI, 185
- Pope, his judgment of capacity of First Folio editors and worth of their copy due to lack of historical knowledge, 35 sqq.; conjectures about authorship unsupported by evidence, 36; on Shakespeare's desire for gain, 207
- Porson commended Malone's Dissertation on Henry VI, 117
- Price, H. T., on discrepancies in 1 Henry VI, 182 note
- Puckering, Kyd's letter to, 12, 203
- Pursuivant passage in Richard III, 159 sqq.
- Queen Margaret, her part poorly reported in The Contention, 75; in Richard Duke of York, 113 sq.; her part in 3 Henry VI, 114
- Queen's Company, evidence for Shakespeare's association with, 13 sqq.; work for, by Greene, 17 sqq.; and Nashe and Peele, 18 sqq.
- Quiller-Couch, Sir Arthur, on date of Shakespeare's beginning as a dramatist, 194
- Quiney, Richard, a Stratford man but not unfamiliar with Latin, 129
- Ravenscroft's statement about Titus Andronicus, 121, 137 sq.
- Reporting, Malone thought only of shorthand reporting, 52; Mr Rhodes's evidence from Sheridan piracies, 54 sqq.; term defined by Dr Greg, 65 sqq.; shorthand reporting and Hamlet Q 1, 67; various methods of, 68 sq., 72 sq.
- Rhodes, R. Crompton, evidence about Bad Quartos from Sheridan texts, 5; justifies Steevens' criticism of Malone, 52 sqq.; on piracy of The Duenna, 69; and The School for Scandal, 70 sq.; on Shakespeare's break with Pembroke's Company, 206
- Richard II, at least two plays on reign of, 191
- Richard II*, conjectures about authorship of, 33
- Richard III*, True Tragedy of, and Shakespeare's Richard III, 202
- Richard III*, discrepancies in, 25; popularity of, 29; publication of, 30; Folio attribution confirmed by Meres, 39, 143; relation of Quarto and Folio texts propounded by Clark and Wright, 155; Daniel's view, 157; evidence of "clock"

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

226

INDEX

- and "Pursuivant" passages, 157 sqq.; evidence of "revision" in Quarto, 163 sqq.; Quarto stage directions, 165 sq.; Quarto repetitions, 173 sq.; Stanley-Derby tangle, 176 sq.; copy for the Quarto, 166, 172 sq., 175; copy for the Folio, 172 sq., 175, 212; connection with Troublesome Reign, 201; date undetermined, 202
- Richard Crookback's character in Henry VI, 24
- Richard Duke of York*, publication of, 29; in part a report, 63 sqq.; different in detail from The Contention, 89; Warwick and Clifford again main reporters, 89 sqq.; change in quality of report at III, iii, with entry of Warwick, 113; Queen's part, 113 sq.; good matter in, not in Folio, 114; double endings in, 103 sqq.
- Rivals*, publication of, made unauthorised performances easy, 53
- Robertson, J. M., estimate of double endings in Shakespeare's early blank verse, 105, 151; finds Peele's hand in Edward II, 147; no positive basis to his method of identification, 148 sq.; his dilemma, 149; his calculation of probabilities without mathematical foundation, 151; misled by orthodox scholars, 153; view of Shakespeare's beginnings as dramatist, 195; finds mind of the youthful Shakespeare commonplace but commercial, 208
- Romeo and Juliet*, authorship of, 153
- Rowe, uncritical of tradition, 118; raises question of Shakespeare's first play, 119; on Tempest, 119; on Henry V and Henry VIII, 119; deer-stealing story, 120; considers Shakespeare's company ignorant and barbarous, 120
- Rymer, Theobald draws on his Fœdera, 118 note
- Schmidt, A., on textual problem of Richard III, 162
- School for Scandal*, pirated though Sheridan withheld authorised version, 53 sq.; Bernard's version, 70 sq.
- Seneca, in schools, 8; influence on Titus Andronicus, 140; popularity with Elizabethans, ibid.
- Seven Deadly Sins*, Plot of, Shakespeare not named in, but may have had a part in play, 16
- Shakespeare, his small Latin, 8, 129 sq.; his younger years according to Rowe and Farmer, 120 sqq.; according to Beeston and Malone, 126 sqq.; improbable he began as "reviser" of work of others, 22 sq., 123 sqq.; his classical models, 139 sqq.; question of his connection with Pembroke's

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

INDEX

227

- men, 12 sq., 202 sq., 205 sqq., and Queen's men, 13, 16 sq., 19 sq., and Strange's men, 16, 200; may have played in Edward I, 18; improbable that he toured with Pembroke's men, 21, 205 sq.; association with Marlowe, 203, 211; break with Pembroke's men, 206, 211; member of Chamberlain's Company, 200; relations with Southampton, 195 sq., 206, 211; his honesty, 210; his estimate of his own powers, 195 sq., 208
- Sheridan, withholds The Duenna and The School for Scandal from publication, 53; unable to obtain legal protection against pirates, 69
- Shiels, Robert, on pedigree of horse holding story, 128
- Sidney, Sir Philip, on Seneca, 140; his reference to stage, 194 sq.
- Smart, J. S., estimate of his contribution to Shakespeare studies, 1; his criticism of Shakespeare traditions, 34; explains Greene's phrase "his Tygers hart," 48 note; on deer park of Sir Thomas Lucy, 126; and Justice Shallow, 127; dates The Comedy of Errors, 198
- Sonnets of Shakespeare, Steevens' opinion of, 136
- Spanish Tragedy*, no guarantee that it is by Kyd, 148
- Spelling of proper names as clue to authors, 178 sqq.
- Steevens, refers to provincial piracies of Sheridan's Duenna, 52; thought poorly of Heminge and Condell as editors, 136; and Shakespeare as a poet, ibid.
- Strange's Company, performed Titus and Vespasian, 9; and a Henry VI, 11; and Seven Deadly Sins, 16; their repertory before provincial tour of 1592–3, 189, 200; and after, 72, 200
- Stratford Grammar School provided instruction in Latin, 128 sq.
- Suffolk, actor playing, collaborated in piracies of 2 and 3 Henry VI, 75; specimen of his report, 76–80; also played Clifford, 75; scenes with Warwick, 82
- Sussex's Company, played Titus Andronicus, 9; season at the Rose in 1594, 196
- Sykes, Dugdale, assigns Leir and Troublesome Reign to Peele, 20
- Talbot scenes, praised by Nashe, 11, their style and date, 26 sq.; their place in 1 Henry VI, 177, 184 sq.
- Tamburlaine*, parallels in The Contention, 95; in 3 Henry VI, 98 sq.; early editions do not give author's name, 199; ascribed by Farmer to Kyd, ibid.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

228

INDEX

- Taming of a Shrew*, no intrinsic improbability in theory that it is a Bad Quarto, 6; Samuel Hickson's evidence, 69 sq.; compilation similar to Tate Wilkinson's Duenna, 69; ascribed by Farmer to Kyd, 123; regarded as Bad Quarto by Professor Dover Wilson, 142 note
- Taming of the Shrew*, classical influences, 8, 139; ascribed to Pembroke's men on Bad Quarto, 72; played by Chamberlain's men, ibid.; not in their repertory before tour of 1592-3, 92 sq.; regarded by Farmer as based on "old" play by Kyd, 123; relation to Quarto, 6, 142 note; date of, 197 sq.
- Tarlton, and Famous Victories of Henry V, 5
- Tempest*, Rowe's appreciation of, 119
- Theobald, follows Pope in opinion of first editors and their copy, 37; questions ascription of Henry VI to Shakespeare, ibid.; on life of Shakespeare, 118 note
- Titus Andronicus*, classical influences, 8, 140 sq.; and Titus and Vespasian, q.v.; performance at the Rose, 9, 197; assigned to Pembroke's men and others, 10 note, 72; evidence as to ownership from Henslowe's Diary, 72; Ravenscroft's statement questioned by Langbaine, 137 sq.; authorship, 9, 138 sqq., 205; date, 197 sq.; Jonson's reference to, quoted, 198; assigned by Farmer to Kyd, 199; absence of author's name from early editions, ibid.; scene restored to text by Heminge and Condell, 211
- Titus and Vespasian*, considered by Sir Edmund Chambers an earlier version of Titus Andronicus, 9, 11 note
- Traditions about Shakespeare, best authenticated of, 7; Malone's test for authenticity of, 126 sq.; and his competence as author, 8, 34, 118-133
- Troilus and Cressida*, authorship of, 153
- Troublesome Reign of King John*, a Queen's play, 19, 202; attributed to Peele by Mr Dugdale Sykes, 20; and King John, 142; and Henry VI and Richard III, 201 sq.
- True Tragedy*, see Richard Duke of York
- Twelfth Night*, 93
- Two Gentlemen of Verona*, date of, 201
- Tyrwhitt answers Theobald's doubts about authorship of Henry VI by reference to Greene's letter in his Groatsworth of Wit, 37, 39, 46
- Venus and Adonis*, classical influences, 140 sq.; Shakespeare's

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-45079-0 - Shakespeare's Henry VI And Richard III

Peter Alexander

Index

More information

INDEX

229

- estimate of his powers in motto and dedicatory epistle to, 195, 208; Mr Robertson's appreciation of, 208
- Verse tests, the rhyme test, 26 sqq.; double endings, 104 sq., 150 sq.; still crude and undeveloped, 152
- Warburton, on Henry VI, 39
- Warwick, actor playing, his report of York's pedigree, 56–58; share in closing scenes of 2 Henry VI, 75; his part in Quartos compared with that of others, ibid.; collaborates with colleague, 75, 82, 89; difference his presence makes to quality of report, 113
- Whole Contention, The*, corrections in, without manuscript authority, 106–110
- Wilkinson, Tate, constructs version of The Duenna, 69
- Wilson, J. Dover, study of Bad Quartos with Professor Pollard, 3 sq.; finds “old” plays behind The Comedy of Errors and The Taming of the Shrew, 8; evidence that A Midsummer Night's Dream was revised by Shakespeare, 26; on Jaggard's corrections in 1619 volume, 110; his application of Professor Pollard's conclusions to text, 135; on Taming of a Shrew, 142 note
- Winter's Tale*, ascription to Shakespeare questioned by Pope, 36
- Wise, Andrew, published Richard III, 30
- York's pedigree, in The Contention and 2 Henry VI, 60 sqq.; in The Whole Contention, 106 sq.