II. BY H. H. FARMER xxvi

Author's Preface xxxiii

Honest Religion an aim not a possession. Questions of erudition to be faced, but answers not to be forthwith accepted.

Chapter I. THE SITUATION I

Decay of belief in liberty and progress, with final problem God. Immediate cause the War, but only accelerated what is always. Disturbances both of faith and morals. Yet not worse than the Early Church. Danger of half-truths.

Chapter II. BACKWARDS OR FORWARDS II

What is true lesson of our losses? Withdrawal or more instant use; returning to old authorities or more earnest search for truth? Custom and acceptance. Security in compulsion? What is God's order? Honesty and the highest. Denying the world to possessing it.

Chapter III. ARGUMENT 2I

"Crisis" present watchword. Decisions not discussions. But faith wisdom for thought as well as action. Yet argument more for clearing ground than planting. Effect in science mechanism, in philosophy process, in theology infallibilities. Different kinds of greatness.

Chapter IV. FINALITIES page 31

Negative honesty. Positive concerned with intuition and aspiration. Honesty about religion and honesty within it. God's permission to abuse His gifts. Power to do so from religion. Watershed in thinking. Is dealing with God for final or infinite ends? Three finalities—final organisation, final ideals and final theologies. Mystery. Paul's and Calvin's idea.

Chapter V. A PARABLE 41

Honesty not limited by rules. Pioneers. Meeting failures. Spiritual succour and demand. No spiritual good merely given and God neither fiat nor process. Our part primarily temper—and right temper from honesty in life not from argument. Purpose of parables to present religion in life. Parable of the spade—cheerful adaptable industry, but without hardness or evasion. Misuse of higher world. Victory of Cross over both. Religion's sphere beyond seen, but not by ignoring the seen.

Chapter VI. PROPHEPIC REVELATION 52

Via Media. Geniality and severity. A Gospel or an Ethic? Honesty to have grace or grace to have honesty? God's giving and our receiving not opposites, nor His revealing and our perceiving. Even Hebrew Prophets through material to spiritual: and by persuasion. Bible really history of reconciliation. Essential message and essential truth in Hosea. Value for it of stern experience.

Chapter VII. INSPIRATION AND CRITICISM 64

Higher criticism may concern lower honesty, but lowest most testing. Accepted whole or rejected whole, both alike from idea that in revelation God's work is not man's nor man's God's. To be inspired to be helped to think—not submission to possession. Paul and the Law. Some conclusions of criticism. One failure. Mythology. From law to liberty; later from liberty to law. How Jesus built on Old Testament and above it.

Chapter VIII. THE FATHER page 72

Jesus and cosmology. Doctrine of Father greatest truth about world or greatest delusion. Rubrics of theology separate God and the world and man. Their relation the question. Yet real world what it is to serve and real man what he is meant to be? Revelation of Father in Jesus. Concerned with both. Faith in Father. Our Lord's view (1) of Nature, (2) of Human Nature, (3) of Providence, (4) of Prayer, (5) of the Kingdom of God, (6) of Immortality, (7) of Pardon and Grace.

Chapter IX. FAITH AND FREEDOM 84

Loss of infallible Church and Scripture. Temporal loss eternal gain? Different ideas of faith, freedom and tradition. Freedom needs honesty without fears, hesitations, compromises. Only from faith resting on God's good-news. In no worse position than Early Church. The past ours in freedom. Specially concerns Jesus Christ as ground of faith not burden on it. Nor by experiences but as all experience is interpreted by mind of God. Historical questions.

Chapter X. JESUS AND THE KINGDOM 95

The absolute power. Grace God's way of power. How Jesus has all power. Not in being omnipotent. Vastness and religion. Abstract substance, and the revelation of God's mind in all. Reconciliation to it in all. Titles in New Testament (1) The Christ, (2) The Lord, (3) The Son.

Chapter XI. FURTHER QUESTIONS 103

What of other things in Scripture? Revelation as imposed information and injunction. Paul's freedom. When we win it more agreement. John's Logos. Humanity means limitations. Jesus and the Kingdom. In what sense apocalyptic?

Chapter XII. SALVATION BY FAITH page 110

Heaven and hell. Total depravity. The Fall. Scripture and Augustine. Not in teaching of Jesus. The Flesh. Is it Pauline? Evolutionary view. Sin. Old Testament. Transgression sin, but sin not all transgression. Coming short. What does forgiveness do? Can even God alter what is done? Sin in Romans. How faith saves. Not state of our minds; not correct doctrine. Living in new world of love not legality. Being saved.

Chapter XIII. POWER TO FORGIVE SINS 120

Sinlessness of Jesus. Negatively, not its self-deception and self-surrendered. Not desire to be bribed or weakness to be dismayed. Positively, mind and strength and heart. Only security. Relation to forgiveness. Not authority but power to forgive in commending God's love. Friendship, fellowship, with pity and succour. Power in being born out of vengeance and legality into love and freedom. Saints who repress and reprove. Perversion of God's rule. True rule fellowship in insight and consecration.

Chapter XIV. REVELATION TO BABES 128

Love not amiable sentiment. Works for good in all things. Not for another life but not for this alone. The good found by loving God, and being called according to purpose. But if beyond imagining? Stewards of mystery. Not intellectual but moral and spiritual. Revealed to babes, repugnant to our age. Yet meekness before God not man. This the easy yoke. Not load but how carried. Jesus not Buddha or Caesar.

Chapter XV. THE FELLOWSHIP OF THE SPIRIT
138

Sons of God led by spirit of God. Holy Spirit vague potency: and fellowships associations of cranks? But union in personal dealing and individual loyalty. Imperfect realisations at best. Yet most security of co-operation. Music of spheres and humanity, source of good and power to receive it. Fellowship of the Spirit in all, but ever reaching beyond all. Turning necessity into freedom, and evanescent to eternal. Apostolic benediction. Mere vagueness? But through life and life as it is. Not ecclesiastical. God beyond knowing yet found by all who seek Him in the common ways. Saints. No models, but in way of purpose and succour.

Chapter XVI. WISDOM AND UNDERSTANDING

page 149

Prophet's tests. Problems of thought and action. Historical questions and dogmatic. Understanding to serve and test insight not over-rule it. -Ologies. Doctrine and ethics. Moral theology. Counsel of God.

Chapter XVII. THE CATHOLIC FAITH AND THE CONFESSIONS

159

Dogmas as creeds. Denominational and divisive. Polytheism and One Substance. Confessions—external heredity. Four purposes—apologetic, didactic, polemical, eirenical. Literal imposition. Covenants and election. Form and essence. Grace power, not power grace.

Chapter XVIII. THE CHURCH AND THE CHURCHES

167

Inward liberty and outward action. Heavenly vision—how obeyed? Authority within or without? State—ideal of Church. True unity. Fellowship and outward forms. Means or ends. No Church only Churches. Differences, even divisions not alienations. From our infirmities: perhaps needed by them. First unity then union. The Sacraments.

Chapter XIX. OUTWARD FREEDOM

178

Kingdom of God final order of all, not a special institution. Includes State. But State's method compulsion. Modification of method and limitation of sphere. Repudiation. Room for freedom, Church and State. The family. Divine. Freedom not from, but in, ties and obligations.

Chapter XX. YEA AND AMEN page 187

Bondage of corruption in all things. True lesson to seize opportunity. Power of endless life. Life greater test than death. Jesus assures—first, God's promises seen for us if not by us; second, acceptance of God's way; third, affirmation of a promise ever beyond. Now dimly trusting rule of love in all; then knowing what we trust. Conditions less different than a vision. Wait in discipline and duty of present.
