

Contents

Permissions	page viii
Acknowledgments	ix
Preface to this edition by STEPHEN MULHALL	xv
Preface to updated edition of Must We Mean What We Say?	xvii
Foreword: An audience for philosophy	xxx
1 Must we mean what we say?	1
2 The availability of Wittgenstein's later philosophy	41
3 Aesthetic problems of modern philosophy	68
4 Austin at criticism	91
5 Ending the waiting game: A reading of Beckett's Endgame	107
6 Kierkegaard's On Authority and Revelation	151
7 Music discomposed	167
8 A matter of meaning it	197
9 Knowing and acknowledging	220
10 The avoidance of love: A reading of King Lear	246
Thematic index	326
Index of names	329