

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-57025-2 - Schopenhauer and the Aesthetic Standpoint: Philosophy as a Practice of the Sublime

Sophia Vasalou

Index

More informationIndex

- Abrams, Meyer H., 31
 Ackrill, John, 133, 136
 aesthetic experience, 25–40
 passive versus active aspects, 31–32, 37–40 role of emotion in, 37–38
 role of imagination in, 29–31, 39–40
 salvific value of, 22–25
 transcendence of the will in, 24
 aesthetic luck, 29
 Annas, Julia, 133
 Anscombe, Elizabeth, 201
 Aquinas, Thomas, 139
 on greatness of soul, 218–20
 argument from analogy, 69–76
 Aristotle, 1, 131, 139, 163–64, 165, 166, 177, 179, 191, 193, 200
 on the character of the young and the old, 192–93
 greatness of soul in, 182–86, 188, 217–20, 224
 on hope and experience, 223
 on the relation between happiness and activity, 135–36, 137
 art, 25, 27, 60
 Atwell, John, 28, 68, 71, 72, 73, 109, 206
- body, as object proper, 14
 Boileau, Nicolas, 34
 Budd, Malcolm, 38
- Camus, Albert, 158
 Cartwright, David, 48, 116, 155
 Cavell, Stanley, 12
 Cervantes, Miguel de, 158
 character, intelligible, 154–55
 Cicero, 164, 173, 176–80, 225
 Cioran, Emile, 99, 158
 concepts, 28, 51, 58–59
 Cooper, David, 146, 203, 222
 Copleston, Frederick, 107–8, 128, 146, 150 cosmic viewpoint, 77–93, 145, 214
 in ancient philosophy, 170–81
 and greatness of soul, 181–99
 as a location of self-knowledge, 225–27
 Crosby, Donald, 142
- Danto, Arthur, 63–64, 100–1, 148, 151
 Daston, Lorraine, 2
 death, see fear of death Descartes, René, 10, 63, 105
 desires, normative ordering of, see pessimism,
 and infinite desire Dienstag, Joshua, 158–63
- Eagleton, Terry, 4, 38, 89, 143–44
 Emerson, Ralph Waldo, 158
 Engberg-Pedersen, Troels, 38
 Epicureans, 158, 173, 176
 Epicurus, 130, 176, 179
eudaimonia, 132–33, 136
 experience, see philosophy, role of experience in
- fear of death, 62, 155
 as the motive of philosophical inquiry, 41–42
 Schopenhauer's philosophical resolution of, 43–56, 81, 113
 feeling, see philosophy, and feeling Fichte, Johann Gottlieb, 203
 Foot, Philippa, 215
 Fox, Michael, 42
 Freud, Sigmund, 158
- Gage, Phineas, 114
 Gardiner, Patrick, 108, 114
 Gauthier, René A., 183, 187, 188, 220, 221, 224
 genius, 29, 32, 59–60, 96
 Gillespie, Michael A., 143
 good life
 and the justification of the virtues, 210–13
 and luck, 135–37, 163–67
 as a quest, 210–27
 and the virtue of greatness of soul, 214–27

greatness of soul, 181–99, 200, 214–27
 Guyer, Paul, 38

Hadot, Pierre, 5, 172, 173–74, 175
 Hamlyn, D. W., 4, 108, 205
 happiness, 132–33, see also good life
 Hardie, W. F. R., 185
 Hardy, Thomas, 106
 Hegel, Georg Wilhelm Friedrich, 201
 Heidegger, Martin, 3, 210
 history of philosophy, approaches to, 104–6 hope, 139, 216–27
 justification of, 221–27
 relation to greatness of soul, 219–21
 Horkheimer, Max, 145
 Horner, David, 184, 218
 Hübscher, Arthur, 4, 70, 113, 149, 157–58
 Hume, David, 154
 humility, 215, 218, 223

Ideas, 22–25, 29, 30, 36, 51, 65, 67, 68, 91, 117 relation to time, 27–29
 identity
 philosophical reform of, 43–45, 53, 91–92, 101–3 imagination, 29–31, 32, 39–40, 54–56, 65–66, 75, 175
 intuition, see knowledge, of perception

Jacquette, Dale, 28
 James, William, 203
 Janaway, Christopher, 4, 109–10
 Jedan, Christoph, 178

Kant, Immanuel, 9–11, 18, 105, 154, 159, 181, 201 distinction between phenomena and noumena, 10
 greatness of soul in, 190
 on the sublime, 34–35
 Kierkegaard, Søren, 158 knowledge
 of perception, 17–18, 28, 58, 60, 73
 of reason, 17–18, 58–59, 68, 72–73
 Knox, Israel, 157
 Kołakowski, Leszek, 41

Lear, Jonathan, 132, 222–23
 Leopardi, Giacomo, 92, 158
 Locke, John, 105
 Longinus, 34, 37, 197, 227
 greatness of soul in, 189–90
 luck, see good life, and luck
 Lucretius, 43, 133, 176, 179
 Lukács, Georg, 143

MacIntyre, Alasdair, 6, 105, 135, 196, 210–15, 217
 Magee, Bryan, 4, 63, 98, 100, 108, 128, 150, 205
 Malebranche, Nicolas, 112
 Mann, Thomas, 99, 103, 106, 107, 150
 Marcus Aurelius, 174–75, 225
megalopsychia, see greatness of soul metaphysics, possibility of, 11
 Metrodorus, 164
 Murdoch, Iris, 4, 98, 100
 music, 33, 38, 117–20

Nagel, Thomas, 78, 145, 153
 nature, language of, 46–47, 53
 Neeley, G. Steven, 109
 Nehamas, Alexander, 158
 Nicholls, Moira, 114
 Nietzsche, Friedrich, 98, 99, 106, 112, 113, 120, 126, 140, 142, 143, 144, 148, 149, 158, 162, 181, 205
 “Schopenhauer as Educator”, 152–57
 Nightingale, Andrea, 171–72, 179
 noumena, and phenomena, 10–11,
 see also thing-in-itself
 Nussbaum, Martha, 78, 130, 131, 135–36, 163, 173, 176, 187, 191, 200, 217, 219

objective viewpoint
 as aesthetic, 51–53
 and metaphysical discovery, 13–15, 124
 and the resolution of the fear of death, 45–56
 Oxford, John, 150

Pakaluk, Michael, 186, 187
 Park, Katharine, 2
 Pascal, Blaise, 158, 179
 Paul, Jean, 150
 Payne, E. F. J., 2, 18, 73
 perception, see knowledge, of perception pessimism, 97–100, 168 deep and surface accounts of, 127–29, 141, 159, 204, 208
 and infinite desire, 129–32, 194–96
 and the quantifiability of pleasure, 133–35 and the relation between pleasure and activity, 135–41 and the subjective notion of happiness, 132–33
 philosophy
 aesthetic character of, 56–67
 as expressive, 120–27, 141–47
 and feeling, 17, 18, 43, 45, 68
 ideal of ascent in, 94–97
 inward-looking character of, 9–18
 and knowledge of perception, 60
 and music, 120

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-57025-2 - Schopenhauer and the Aesthetic Standpoint: Philosophy as a Practice of the Sublime

Sophia Vasalou

Index

More information

Index

237

- as non-prescriptive, 154–56
 poetry as a paradigm for, 65–66
 relation to reason, 58–59, 61–62
 role of argument in, 17–18, 69–76, 115–20 role of experience in, 11, 12, 48–50, 98, 117–20
 and the sublime, 77–93
 use of images in, 62–65
 philosophy as a way of life, 173–74
 Plato, 1, 63, 78, 95, 130–31, 139, 163, 179, 181–82, 187, 193 flight of the soul in, 170–73
 greatness of soul in, 188–89
 and Schopenhauer's Ideas, 22
 Platonists, 173
 pleasure, 133–41
 poetry, 65–66
 principle of sufficient reason, 17, 23, 29, 58
 Proust, Marcel, 106
- reason, see knowledge, of reason reflection, 72–74 resignation, see will, denial of Rorty, Richard, 105, 106, 111
 Rosenkranz, Karl, 149
 Rousseau, Jean-Jacques, 158
 Rubenstein, Mary-Jane, 3, 210
- Safranski, Rüdiger, 4, 11, 49, 97, 126, 144, 160, 161
 Sartre, Jean-Paul, 191
 Schaeffer, Jean-Marie, 28, 33
 Schiller, Friedrich, 203
 Schopenhauer, Arthur
 “Aphorisms on the Wisdom of Life”, 159–62
 biographical roots of his philosophy, 126–27, see also philosophy, as expressive inconsistencies of his philosophy, 112–15 modern readings of his work, 3–4, 107–15
 On the Will in Nature, 50
 as a philosopher of the art of living, 158–63
 secularisation as a context for his philosophy, 144–46
 and Stoic philosophy, 163–67
 science, 50, 51, 54, 58, 76, 98, 114
 secularisation, 144–46
 Seneca, 175, 176, 181, 189
 Simmel, Georg, 113, 120–22, 142, 144, 146
 Skinner, Quentin, 111
 smallness of soul, 192, 194, 200
 solipsism, 16, 69
- spiritual exercises, 173–74, 214
 Stoic philosophy, 38, 158, 163–67, 173, 176, 177, 178, 221 greatness of soul and, 187
 the view from above in, 174–76
 subject of knowing, 24, 36, 45, 53, 92, 101, 102, 197, see also identity, philosophical reform
 of sublime, the, 32–40, 55, 140, 180
 and greatness of soul, 189–90
 and the standpoint of Schopenhauer's
 philosophy, 4–5, 77–93
- Taylor, Charles, 105
theoria, 171–72, 180–81
 thing-in-itself, 113
 knowability of the, 204–8
 relation to the Ideas, 23–24
 will as, 12–17
 Thoreau, Henry David, 158
 Tolstoy, Leo, 99, 106
 tragedy, 93, 120, 226
 transcendental idealism, 18, 159, 203
 and the philosophical sublime, 84–86, 87, 202
 and the sublime, 36
 transcendental philosophy, 10
- Unamuno, Miguel de, 158
- view from above, see cosmic viewpoint view from nowhere, 6, 78, 145, 214
- Wagner, Richard, 106
 Wicks, Robert, 23, 70, 206
 will, 12–17, 122–23, 204–8
 denial of, 21–22, 127, 137, 221
 determination of, see character, intelligible
 relation to reason, 19–20
 Wittgenstein, Ludwig, 3, 12, 62, 106, 124, 191, 216 wonder, 1–5, 177, 179–80, 209, 226–27
 in Plato and Aristotle, 1–5
 as a theme in Schopenhauer's philosophy, 2, 3–4, 98–103, 124–26
 as a theme in Wittgenstein's philosophy, 3
- Young, Julian, 4, 15, 28, 38, 54, 66, 70, 111–12, 128, 205–6
- Zagzebski, Linda, 198