

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K.H.

In Ten Volumes

Volume Seven

THE RISE AND PROGRESS OF THE
ENGLISH COMMONWEALTH

ANGLO-SAXON PERIOD

IN TWO PARTS

PART II

PROOFS AND ILLUSTRATIONS

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

---

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

THE COLLECTED HISTORICAL WORKS OF SIR FRANCIS PALGRAVE, K.H.

edited by his son

SIR R. H. INGLIS PALGRAVE, F.R.S.

THE RISE AND PROGRESS OF THE
ENGLISH COMMONWEALTH

ANGLO-SAXON PERIOD

PART II

PROOFS AND ILLUSTRATIONS

Cambridge:
at the University Press

1921

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

University Printing House, Cambridge CB2 8BS, United Kingdom

Published in the United States of America by Cambridge University Press, New York

Cambridge University Press is part of the University of Cambridge.

It furthers the University's mission by disseminating knowledge in the pursuit of education, learning and research at the highest international levels of excellence.

www.cambridge.org

Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9781107626362

© Cambridge University Press 1921

This publication is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press.

First published 1921

First paperback edition 2014

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library

ISBN 978-1-107-62636-2 Paperback

Cambridge University Press has no responsibility for the persistence or accuracy of URLs for external or third-party internet websites referred to in this publication, and does not guarantee that any content on such websites is, or will remain, accurate or appropriate.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

CONTENTS

	PAGE
LIST OF ERRATA . . . . .	[vi]
TABLE OF CONTENTS OF PART II . . . . .	iii
PART II. PROOFS AND ILLUSTRATIONS . . . . .	1
EDITOR'S NOTES . . . . .	863
INDEX . . . . .	875

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

ERRATA

- Page 104, line 21, for Chaaines<sup>1</sup> read Chaaines
,, 271, ,, 34, for Bretaigne read Bretagne
,, 311, ,, 22, for ÆTHELRED read EDRED
,, 519, ,, 2, for Walter read Drogo
,, 600, ,, 8, for Bishop Aldred read Bishop Aldun or Ealdhun
,, 609, lines 18, 32, for Successione read Obsessione
,, 621, line 5, for Malcolm III<sup>1</sup> read Malcolm III
,, 622, ,, 3, for Malcolm IV<sup>1</sup> read Malcolm IV

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

THE
RISE AND PROGRESS
OF THE
ENGLISH COMMONWEALTH.

---

ANGLO-SAXON PERIOD.

CONTAINING

THE ANGLO-SAXON POLICY, AND THE INSTITUTIONS
ARISING OUT OF LAWS AND USAGES WHICH PREVAILED BEFORE THE CONQUEST.

---

BY

FRANCIS PALGRAVE, F.R.S. &amp; F.S.A.

PART II.

PROOFS AND ILLUSTRATIONS.

---

“By Commonwealth I must be understood all along to mean; not a Democracy, or any form of Government, but any independent community, which the Latins signified by the word Civitas, to which the word which best answers in our language is Commonwealth, and most properly expresses such a Society of Men, which Community or City in English does not, for there may be subordinate Communities in a Government; and City amongst us has quite a different notion from Commonwealth: and, therefore, to avoid ambiguity, I crave leave to use the word Commonwealth in that sense in which I find it used by King James the First, and I take it to be its genuine signification; which, if any body dislike, I consent with him to change it for a better.”—Locke, on Government.

---

LONDON:

JOHN MURRAY, ALBEMARLE STREET.

---

MDCCLXXXII.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

---

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

CONTENTS
OF
PART II.
PROOFS AND ILLUSTRATIONS.

	PAGE	Part II.
PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE KING, ETC.	1-119
ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE BEFORE THE KING IN PERSON		1-5
Ancient narratives of judicial proceedings,—their value and interest . . . . .		1
Introductory observations on the narrative of the suit between Hilary, Bishop of Chichester, and Walter, Abbot of Battle, concerning the exemption of the Abbey from Episcopal jurisdiction . . . . .	2
Exemptions contained in the foundation charter . . . . .	2
Battle Abbey—filled with Monks from Marmoustier,—over whom Gausbert was appointed the first Abbot . . . . .	3
Stigand insists that Gausbert shall repair to Chichester to receive consecration—Gausbert appeals, with success, to William, who confirms the exemptions of the Abbey . . . . .	3
1148. Bishop Hilary attempts to exercise Episcopal jurisdiction over the Abbot. The latter appeals to King Stephen . . . . .	4
Stephen orders the Charters to be read before him, and decrees in favour of the Abbot . . . . .	4
Richard de Anesty—observations on his narrative of the suit brought by him against Mabel de Francheville for the land of “William my Uncle,” i.e. William de Sackville . . . . .	5
Sackville pedigree (note) . . . . .	6
William de Sackville,—account of his marriage, and marriage contracts	6
TRANSLATION OF RICHARD DE ANESTY’S NARRATIVE OF HIS SUIT, AND OF HIS VARIOUS PROCEEDINGS		9-29
Account of the family of Anesty (note) . . . . .	9
Ralph Brito,—account of him and of his possessions (note) . . . . .	9
Richard de Lucy, his history.—Charters by which Ongar, and other possessions, were granted to him by William, Earl of Gloucester, William, Earl of Mortain, and Henry II. (note) . . . . .	10
Master Peter de Melidis (note) . . . . .	15
Bishop Hilary,—his history (note) . . . . .	15
1159. Henry II., his expedition against Toulouse (note) . . . . .	17
The family of De Marci (note) . . . . .	18
Master Giordano Fantasma (note) . . . . .	18

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

iv

Contents

Part II.	PAGE
Writ of Protection (note) . . . . .	19
Master Ambrose (note) . . . . .	20
Ancient Itinerary, or description of the road from London to Rome (note) . . . . .	21
Particulars of the arguments employed by Richard de Anesty on the hearing of his cause (note) . . . . .	22
Radulphus de Glanville (note) . . . . .	25
Henry de Essex, his history (note) . . . . .	25
Gifts and douceurs given by Richard de Anesty to his "helpers," and to the King and Queen . . . . .	26
Ogerus Dapifer (note) . . . . .	26
Account of the moneys borrowed by Richard upon usance from the Jews, for the purpose of carrying on his suit . . . . .	27
Ralph, the King's physician (note) . . . . .	27
Comitissa, the Jewess of Lincoln, and her family (note) . . . . .	27
Hakeline the Jew (note) . . . . .	28
Bruno the Jew (note) . . . . .	28
HISTORY OF THE DISPUTE BETWEEN THE BISHOP OF CHICHESTER, AND THE ABBOT OF BATTLE . . . . .
1148. Hilary, Bishop of Chichester, maintains that the abbey of Battle ought to be subjected to his jurisdiction,—attempts to enforce his Episcopal authority . . . . .	30–91
Abbot Walter cited to a synod at Chichester . . . . .	30
Bishop Hilary attempts to visit the abbey in his episcopal capacity . . . . .	31
The Abbot pleads the exemption granted by the charters of the Con- queror,—alleging that the exemption had been confirmed by Lanfranc, Archbishop of Canterbury, and Stigand, Bishop of Chichester . . . . .	31
The Bishop threatens to put him under an interdict, and carries his threat into effect, by pronouncing sentence of suspension, unless the Abbot should obey within forty days . . . . .	33
The Abbot appeals to King Stephen, who requires both parties to appear before him, in order that he may put an end to such dis- ensions, in the presence of his Bishops and Barons . . . . .	34
The Charters are read before King Stephen, who declares the Church of Battle free from the jurisdiction of the Ordinary . . . . .	34
Death of Stephen, 25th Oct. 1154 . . . . .	35
Bishop Hilary immediately excommunicates the Abbot . . . . .	35
.. who is then at London with his brother, Richard de Lucy, awaiting the arrival of Henry Plantagenet . . . . .	35
.. but Archbishop Theobald interferes;—and, at his request, the Bishop releases the sentence . . . . .	36
1154, Dec. 19. Henry II. crowned at Westminster . . . . .	36
1155, Feb., March. Great Council held, in which Henry renews "Peace" throughout England . . . . .	36
.. various Abbots and others obtain confirmations of their Charters . . . . .	37
Bishop Hilary applies to the Archbishop of Canterbury to prevent the confirmation of the Battle Charters . . . . .	37

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More informationContents

v

PAGE Part II.

The Archbishop protests accordingly against the confirmation of the privileges of Battle Abbey, as prejudicial to the rights of his Church; in consequence whereof the King directs the Chancellor to stay the sealing of the Charters . . . . .	37
The Abbot remonstrates with the King,—who alters his mind, and commands that the Charter shall be sealed . . . . .	39
The Bishop now protests against the allowance of the Charter; upon which the King again orders that it shall be sealed, &c. . . . .	39
Meeting or conference at Lambeth—the Chancellor causes the Conqueror's Charter to be read before the Archbishop, the Bishop, the Abbot, &c. . . . .	40
The Bishop demands a sentence against the Charter, because none of his predecessors had confirmed it . . . . .	41
The Archbishop agrees with him, and the Chancellor therefore withdraws the Charter for the purpose of depositing it in the King's chapel . . . . .	41
Hugh de Mortimer rebels against Henry II. . . . .	42
Henry II. besieges Mortimer in his castle of Bregge (Bridgnorth), at which time the Abbot repairs to the King, and labours for the renewal of his Charter . . . . .	42
1155. Henry II. subdues Hugh de Mortimer. Great Council or Parliament summoned, in which peace is settled between them. . . . .	43
The King, by the advice of his Privy Council, and of Reginald, Earl of Cornwall, and Richard de Humez, restores the Charters to the Abbot Council held at Westminster, Christmas 1155, after which the King sails for Normandy, January, 1156 . . . . .	44
The Abbot follows the King, and finds him at Saumur, 29th Aug. 1156 . . . . .	44
The Abbot is suspected by certain other ecclesiastics,—who imagine that he has attempted to injure them with the King . . . . .	44
1157. The Abbot summoned by virtue of a bull or rescript issued by Pope Adrian, to appear at Chichester, on Mid-Lent Sunday, to hear the Pope's commands . . . . .	45
Opening speech of the Abbot . . . . .	46
Dean of Chichester requires the Abbot to produce the Pope's bull . . . . .	47
The Abbot says he has it not with him . . . . .	47
A transcript of Pope Adrian's bull read . . . . .	47
The Dean resumes his discourse . . . . .	48
Requires the Abbot to write and seal a "schedule" or instrument containing his profession of obedience . . . . .	50
The Abbot's rejoinder . . . . .	51
Prays an adjournment, until he can consult with the King . . . . .	53
His prayer for an adjournment is rejected by the Court . . . . .	53
. . . and the Dean again requires him to execute the instrument . . . . .	54
The Abbot persists in his refusal; and the Dean therefore dissolves the Court . . . . .	55
The Abbot, by Richard de Lucy, his brother, transmits an account of the proceedings to the King . . . . .	56
The King orders the Bishop to leave the Abbot in peace, until his return to England . . . . .	56

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

Part II.	PAGE
Henry II. returns to England after Easter; lands at Southampton, and proceeds to London. The Abbot meets him at Richard de Lucy's castle of Ongar . . . . .	56
1157, May 19. Henry II. holds a Court or Great Council at Bury St. Edmund's, to which the Abbot and Bishop had been specially summoned—the King gives them another day at Colchester, on Thursday then next, 23 May . . . . .	57
The King calls in certain persons to assist him as his Council . . . . .	58
Richard de Lucy, on behalf of the Abbot, makes a proffer of the Charters of the Conqueror . . . . .	59
..which are read before the Court by the Chancellor, Thomas à Becket . . . . .	59
..the King inspects them, and orders them to be deposited, together with the Charters of William Rufus, Henry I. and his own . . . . .	59
The Chancellor declares that the Abbot is bound to reply to the objections raised by the Bishop of Chichester . . . . .	60
The King takes a distinction respecting the effect of the professions of obedience . . . . .	60
Richard de Lucy opens in favour of the Abbey of Battle . . . . .	60
Robert, Earl of Leicester, follows on the same side . . . . .	61
1157, May 28. Henry II., assisted by certain Prelates, Barons, and others, holds his Court . . . . .	62
..in which, after the cause pending between the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Abbot of St. Augustine's had been discussed, . . . . .	62
..Richard de Lucy resumes his address on behalf of the Abbot of Battle . . . . .	63
The Abbot then prays that the Conqueror's Charter may be read . . . . .	65
The Charter of William the Conqueror being read by one of the "Clerks," Thomas à Becket, the Chancellor, informs the Bishop that the reply lies with him . . . . .	65
Reply of the Bishop, in which he intimates a wish for an amicable compromise . . . . .	66
..which proposal being objected to by the Court, the Bishop declares that he is ready to proceed . . . . .	66
The Bishop opens his argument, in which he maintains the supremacy of the Pope, and that no Bishop or other Ecclesiastic can be deposed, without the command or permission of the Papal See . . . . .	67
..proceeds to argue, that no layman, not even a king, can confer any ecclesiastical dignity or liberty without the Pope's assent . . . . .	68
The King desires him to desist from this attack upon the royal authority . . . . .	68
..and Thomas à Becket and the other members of the Court join in expressing their disapprobation . . . . .	69
Bishop Hilary explains . . . . .	69
..but the King does not accept his explanation . . . . .	70
Bishop Hilary states how the Abbot attended his consecration . . . . .	70
..and how, when visiting his diocese, he was received in the Abbey . . . . .	71

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More informationContents

vii

PAGE Part II.

Henry de Essex observes, that the Bishop makes a bad return for the hospitality which had been shewn to him . . . . .	71
The Bishop continues to state that the Abbot absented himself from the Synod, and sent his Prior and certain monks in his stead . . . . .	72
Henry de Essex and Richard de Lucy justify the Abbot . . . . .	72
Bishop Hilary resumes . . . . .	73
He states how he had published the conditional sentence of excommunication against the Abbot . . . . .	73
Henry de Essex tells the Bishop that he would not have ventured to pronounce the excommunication if King Stephen had then been living . . . . .	74
The Bishop proceeds in his address to the King, stating how the Abbot had persevered in his contumacy . . . . .	75
The King denies the right assumed by the ecclesiastics of annulling the Royal Charters . . . . .	77
The Abbot's reply . . . . .	77
Charter, containing the clause of exemption, produced and read . . . . .	78
The Bishop protests that he had never been able to obtain a sight of this Charter. The Abbot attempts to answer; but the King silences both parties, and . . . . .	78
.. declares that the determination of the question belongs entirely to him . . . . .	78
.. Richard de Lucy begs that the Abbot, his brother, may be allowed to take counsel with his friends . . . . .	79
Reply of Thomas à Becket, on behalf of the Abbot . . . . .	79
He argues, that the reception of the Bishop was merely an act of hospitality . . . . .	81
On behalf of the Abbot he disclaims all ill-will towards the Bishop . . . . .	81
Thomas à Becket further argues that the Charters do not infringe the dignity either of the Archbishopric of Canterbury or of the See of Chichester, they having been confirmed by the King, his Prelates, and Barons . . . . .	84
.. justifies the conduct of the Abbot when cited to appear before the Chapter . . . . .	84
.. accuses the Bishop of having attempted to infringe the royal authority by his application to the Pope . . . . .	85
The King expresses great indignation at the conduct of the Bishop in procuring the Papal Rescript or Bull . . . . .	86
The Bishop denies that the Bull was procured with his knowledge or assent, and insinuates that it was obtained at the instance of the Abbot himself . . . . .	86
The King intimates that he does not believe this statement to be true. Thomas à Becket desires that the Bull may be read . . . . .	87
Thomas à Becket inquires, in the King's name, whether the Bishop has obtained any other Bulls which were injurious to the Abbot, and which the Bishop denies . . . . .	87
The Archbishop of Canterbury requests the King to allow the business to be ended according to the course of the Canon Law; but the King refuses to allow the Clergy to determine the question . . . . .	88

P. VII.

b

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

viii

Contents

Part II.	PAGE
The King withdraws with his Court, leaving the Bishop and the Abbot by themselves. The Bishop is sent for, and is admitted to a conference with the King; the Abbot is introduced . . . . .	88
Acknowledgment made by the Bishop before the King, in which he renounces all jurisdiction over the Abbot . . . . .	89
The King commands the Bishop to acknowledge that his submission was voluntary, and not enforced . . . . .	89
The Archbishop induces the King to pardon any imprudent expressions used by the Bishop . . . . .	89
Names of Members of the Court of Henry II. present at the settlement of the dispute, 28 May, 1157 . . . . .	91
NARRATIVE OF PLEADINGS CONCERNING RIGHT OF WRECK IN DENGEMARSH	92-95
Vessel belonging to Romney, wrecked off Dengemarsh, the crew being saved . . . . .	92
Ancient law of wreck . . . . .	92
How altered by Henry I. . . . .	92
Vessel seized by the men of Dengemarsh, in consequence whereof the Archbishop comes before the King (Stephen) and prefers his complaint . . . . .	93
The King orders the Abbot to appear before him in his Court . . . . .	93
The Abbot admits that Henry I. could alter the custom of the country during his own reign; but that such alteration not being made with the consent of the Baronage, did not endure beyond his life . . . . .	93
The Abbot is allowed his Court . . . . .	94
NARRATIVE HOW ABBOT WALTER RECOVERED CERTAIN LANDS IN BERNEHORN, WHICH HAD BEEN UNJUSTLY USURPED BY GILBERT DE BAILLOL	96-106
Abbot Ralph purchases land of Ingelrannus Becchenerider, the Man, or Vassal, of Withelard de Baillol; to which purchase Withelard himself adds a gift of a portion of the adjoining marsh . . . . .	96
..gift confirmed by Henry I. and by Henry, Count of Eu, Withelard's chief Lord . . . . .	96
Under Abbot Warner, the mesne Lord (Baillol) attempts to exact payment for the land, and at last he enters into possession; and grants an hypothecation thereof to Siward, the son of Sigar . . . . .	97
The Abbot and his procurators prefer their complaints to the King; but Henry I. dying in parts beyond the seas, no redress is obtained . . . . .	97
Turbulence of the reign of Stephen; Abbot Warner not only unable to obtain justice, but suffers further spoliations . . . . .	98
Abbot Walter prefers his plaint to Henry II., who orders a Writ of Right, Ne amplius, &c., to issue, addressed to the Count of Eu, the Chief Lord of the Fee . . . . .	98
Gilbert de Baillol, the mesne Lord, evades the process . . . . .	99
The Abbot, after much instance with the King, procures the removal

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More informationContents

ix

	PAGE
	Part II.
of the cause into the Curia Regis; but in consequence of the King's absence from England, the cause continues long pending undecided before the Justioes . . . . .	99
The King gives the parties a peremptory day, to appear before him in person at Clarendon . . . . .	100
The Abbot appears by his Attornies, Osmond, a Monk of Battle, and Sir Peter de Chriel, or Kiriell . . . . .	100
The Chirographs and Charters are read, by the King's permission . . . . .	100
Gilbert de Baillol objects that the Chirographs of his ancestors are not under seal . . . . .	101
Richard de Lucy overrules the objection, by stating that, according to the ancient custom, only Kings and very great personages used seals . . . . .	101
Gilbert de Baillol then cavils at the Charter of Henry I.—upon which the King defends its validity . . . . .	101
The land is adjudged to the Abbot . . . . .	103
Writ of execution issued, directed to four Knights having the custody of the County of Sussex . . . . .	103
The metes and bounds ascertained by the verdict of a sworn Inquest . . . . .	103
Forcible entry made upon the land by Robert de Yclesham, which the Abbot repels by force . . . . .	104
Robert de Yclesham repairs to the King's Court, and prefers his complaint to the Justiciars, the King being absent . . . . .	104
. . . alleging that the Jury had included some of his land in their perambulations . . . . .	105
The Abbot brings his Jury before the Court, who are willing to swear again to the truth of their perambulations . . . . .	105
Robert de Yclesham declared in mercy,—upon which he takes flight, whilst the Abbot returns home with joy . . . . .	105
NARRATIVE HOW HENRY II., SITTING IN CHANCERY, ORDERED ONE OF THE CONQUEROR'S CHARTERS TO BE EXEMPLIFIED
The Abbot of Battle applies to the King for the renewal of the Charter of William the Conqueror, which had been injured by time . . . . .	107–109
The King having replied that he would act according to the opinion of his Court, the Abbot speaks to Richard de Lucy, who assures him that no objection will be suggested . . . . .	107
The Abbot produces his Charter to the King, sitting in the midst of his great men . . . . .	107
The King asks their opinion respecting its renewal . . . . .	108
Richard de Lucy declares that it would be extremely proper to do so, if the King pleases . . . . .	108
The King orders Walterus de Constanciis, his Chancellor, to make out a renewal of the Charter . . . . .	108
The King directs that the renewed Charter shall be made in a form, which, until then, had never been used, and which states that the King himself had inspected the old Charter;—and the King declares his reason for this form . . . . .	109
The Charter is sealed in triplicate . . . . .	109

b 2

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

x

Contents

Part II.	PAGE
ORIGINAL OF THE NARRATIVE, HOW RICHARD DE ANESTY RECOVERED THE LANDS OF WILLIAM DE SACKVILLE, HIS UNCLE . . . . .	110-119
LAWS OF THE CONQUEROR . . . . .	120-149
Introductory observations thereon . . . . .	120
TEXT OF THE LAWS OF THE CONQUEROR, IN LATIN AND IN ROMANCE . . . . .	121-149
EXPLANATION OF THE ANGLO-SAXON LAWS, AS RENEWED BY THE CONQUEROR . . . . .	150-192
THE KING'S PEACE, &amp;c. (I., II.) . . . . .	150-152
The King's Peace, how given . . . . .	150
Peace given by the King's hand or personal pledge . . . . .	150
Peace thus given by the King's writ and seal, the origin of the pro- tections of later periods . . . . .	150
Domesday—extracts therefrom relating to the King's Peace (note) .	150
"The King's Peace," how proclaimed on the accession of John . . . . .	151
Proclamation of the Peace on the accession of Ed. I. . . . .	152
"WERE," OR PECUNIARY COMPENSATION FOR PERSONAL INJURIES (VII.—XII.) . . . . .	152-160
"Were," i.e. damages or compensation paid for bloodshed or personal injuries—Abstract of the laws of Ethelbert in relation thereto . . . . .	152
The wido-ban, or shoulder-blade (note) . . . . .	154
Passages shewing the similarity between the legal terms of the Anglo- Saxons and of the Frisians (note) . . . . .	155
Ancient names of the right and left hand—the Higher-hand , and the Dark-hand ; origin thereof (note) . . . . .	155
The Leech-fee . . . . .	157
Scandinavian "Assurance of Truce" or "Trygdamal,"—given upon the payment of the blood-fine . . . . .	157
Feud arising from bloodshed,—the affair of the whole clan or kindred, not merely of the offender . . . . .	158
"Appeals" at Common Law substituted for the "Feud" or "Faida" of the Anglo-Saxon period . . . . .	158
Andrew Horn's "Mirror of Justices," compiled in the reign of Edward II., contains apocryphal accounts of Anglo-Saxon laws, &c. . . . .	158
Supposed Anglo-Saxon appeals (note) . . . . .	159
OATHS AND COMPURGATION (XIV. AND XV.) . . . . .	160-166
Compurgation . . . . .	160
Plaintiff's case supported by his "Fore-oath" . . . . .	160
Thanes empowered to swear by their Gerefas or Seneschals . . . . .	160
Oaths taken upon the sword . . . . .	160
Woman swears by her bosom . . . . .	160
"Mine-law" oath (note) . . . . .	161
Mode of selecting the Compurgators—altered about the time of the Conquest . . . . .	161
Privilege of the Citizens of London—entitled to kill any of the King's retainers, &c., attempting to obtain "hospitation" by force;

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More informationContents

xi

	PAGE
	Part II.
in which case the Citizen was allowed to clear himself by the compurgatory oath of his kinsmen . . . . .	162
Compurgation retained in the Hundred Court of Winchelsea . . . . .	162
19 Hen. VI. Felon indicted, in the Hundred Court of Winchelsea, by inquest of twelve men—allowed to clear himself by the compurgatory oaths of thirty-six compurgators, chosen by himself (note)	162
Culprit, cleared by compurgation . . . . .	164
13 Hen. VI. Another arraignment in the Winchelsea Court (note)	164
Form of arraignment (note) . . . . .	164
Compurgatory oath in civil cases . . . . .	165
Wager of Law, regulated by Magna Charta . . . . .	165
4 John. Example of compurgators allowed in the Eyre (note) . . . . .	165
WARRANTY (XXI.) . . . . .	166, 167
Warranty—explanations afforded by the Danish law . . . . .	166
FRANKPLEDGE (XX.—XXV.) . . . . .	167–175
Canute's Law of Freeborh . . . . .	167
Territorial Tithings of the western shires . . . . .	168
Extracts from records, shewing the nature of the Frankpledge (note) . . . . .	168
Hundred Court—Athelstane's law relating thereto (note) . . . . .	169
Statute of the Witenagemot of Kent, for the purpose of enforcing the general ordinance of Athelstane—the Lord to be answerable for his dependents . . . . .	170
Original text of the Kentish law (note) . . . . .	170
Offenders, how enlarged before trial, on the suretyship of the decenna . . . . .	171
19 Hen. III. Records relating to this practice (note) . . . . .	171
Many parts of England exempted from the Freepledge. Extracts from records, proving this position (note) . . . . .	172
Collective Frankpledge probably enforced by the Conqueror . . . . .	173
Collective Frankpledge not invariably composed of the same number of individuals . . . . .	174
Ancient descriptions of the collective Frankpledge (note) . . . . .	174
Frankpledge not connected with any political right or privilege . . . . .	175
THEFT,—FRESH SUIT, &amp;c. (IV.—XIV.) . . . . .	176–184
Theft,—general obligation of pursuing the offender with hue and cry . . . . .	176
In certain cases, no pursuit could legally justify the infliction of capital punishment, unless the party injured concurred in the "suit" . . . . .	176
895. Charter of Ethelred, containing a narrative curiously illustrating the principles of Anglo-Saxon criminal jurisprudence . . . . .	176
The Lords, Superiors, or "Seniors," of the thief attempt to defend him; two are slain; the third and the offender take refuge in a sanctuary . . . . .	178
The King's Gerefas give Christian burial to the parties slain, which being contrary to the law, they are accused by the Dux Leofsig . . . . .	179
Members of the Witenagemot noticed in the Charter; observations thereon (note) . . . . .	179
Land probably escheated to the King, in case of felony . . . . .	180
Summary punishment, and the principles which guided it, not changed in the Anglo-Norman period, or in the early ages of the Common Law . . . . .	180

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

xii

Contents

Part II.	PAGE
40 Hen. III. Thieves pursued by the outcry of the country, and immediately beheaded (note) . . . . .	180
20 Ed. I. The person who harboured the thieves presented by the Jury as being in malecredence, and therefore he is outlawed (note) . . . . .	180
Contumacious offenders, or those who refuse to appear after presentment or accusation, apprehended by the "Gerefa," and compelled to find surety or "Borh,"—which if they failed to do, they became liable to capital punishment . . . . .	181
Township amerced for failing to apprehend the receiver (note) . . . . .	181
Two thieves executed by the judgment of the Burghmoot of Appleby, without fresh suit, and after they had parted with the mainour (note) . . . . .	181
Liberty of the Town seized into the King's hands, in consequence of this illegal judgment (note) . . . . .	181
Alteration of the law—the power of making arrests having been given in the earlier laws of Edgar, to the suitors or members of the court . . . . .	182
Offender to be buried in unhallowed ground; any person abetting him to sustain the same punishment as the principal . . . . .	182
Laws of Canute and Edgar repeated by the Conqueror . . . . .	182
Miracle of St. Wilfred—two sureties arrive at the critical moment when an offender is about to be executed . . . . .	182
Dangers and oppression of the laws furnish abundant materials for the incidents of the Acta Sanctorum . . . . .	183
Punishment of death, inflicted as above mentioned, resulting from the laws which allowed of the instant execution of the outlaw or friendless man . . . . .	183
Extreme severity of punishment inflicted by Edgar . . . . .	183
FORMS OF CIVIL PROCEEDINGS (XLIH., XLIV.) . . . . .	185–188
Distress or "namium," the first proceeding by which the appearance of a defendant was enforced . . . . .	185
No other process originally known to the Common Law . . . . .	185
Legal forms, declared or enounced in poetry or rhythm . . . . .	185
Poetical formula adapted to the claim or defence of a real action, preserved in the " Textus Roffensis " of Ernulphus, similar in spirit to the " Trygdamal " . . . . .	185
Other examples of rhythmical formula (note) . . . . .	186
Anglo-Saxon oaths shewing many vestiges of metre. The "Wedding" form, as retained in England at the present day, also derived from the ancient poetry of the law . . . . .	187
Metrical law of promotion (note) . . . . .	187
Wedding formula (note) . . . . .	187
Scandinavian law forms—singular efficacy ascribed to them . . . . .	188
Adventures of Gunnlaug . . . . .	188
THE KING'S HIGHWAYS (XXVI.) . . . . .	189
The four "Highways of the King"—Watling Street, Fosse, Irmin Street, and Ikenild or, Rikenild Way or Street . . . . .	189

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More informationContents

xiii

	PAGE	Part II.
Molmucius and Belinus (note) . . . . .	189
The privileges of the "four ways," gradually extended to all public streets and highways . . . . .	190
Mythological traditions connected with highways. "Chaussées de Brunehaut" in Belgic Gaul . . . . .	190
Watling Street—the Milky-way called by the same name. Supposed by the Franks and Spaniards to indicate the road to St. Jago;—by the Mahometans as pointing to Mecca;—the "Way of Souls" of the Iroquois . . . . .	191
Irmin Street—its connexion with the pillar of Irmin, the Irminsûl, the principal idol of the "Old Saxons" . . . . .	191
MAGICAL POWERS ASCRIBED TO THE FORMS OF THE LAW	192–194
Ancient superstitions of the law amongst the Scandinavians, &c. . . . .	192
Animals treated as if they were reasonable creatures . . . . .	192
Bears and wolves considered as outlaws by the Norwegians . . . . .	192
..hence perhaps the origin of the ancient legal phrase, "lupinum caput gerere," as applied to an outlaw . . . . .	192
The "Wargus" of the Salic and Ripuarian laws, one banished from all human society—the "War-wolf," or "Loup-garou" . . . . .	193
Animals banished by legal decrees . . . . .	193
Vampires liable to legal process—ejected by action, and burnt by sentence of the Magistrate . . . . .	193
GERMANIC TRIBUNALS, SUPPOSED TO BE CONNECTED WITH PAGAN POLICY	195–205
The "Frey Feld-gericht," or Free Field Court of the Abbey of Corbey,—anciently under the supremacy of the priests of the Irminsûl . . . . .	195
Composed of sixteen members—the Graff, or Gerefa, the senior member; the "Frohner," or summoner, the junior member, and fourteen "Schöppen," "Rechtsprecher," or Echevins—Declarers of judgment—chosen from amongst the twenty-two septs or families who inhabited the "Gau" . . . . .	195
The "King's seat," or place of judgment, how consecrated . . . . .	195
If any judgment was given on a spot not duly consecrated, it was void and of no effect . . . . .	195
Vestiges of solar worship—similarity to the Bardic institutions . . . . .	195
Form of opening the Court, by a metrical dialogue between the Frohner and the Graff . . . . .	196
Jurisdiction of the Free Court extending to all crimes committed in the open air, but to none others . . . . .	198
Territorial jurisdiction possessed by the Free Court . . . . .	198
Courts of a similar nature in other adjoining districts . . . . .	198
The "Vehm Gerichte," or Vehmlic Tribunals of Westphalia . . . . .	199
Erroneous ideas respecting these courts . . . . .	199
Westphalia divided into "Freygraftschafften," Free Graviates or Counties,—each containing one or more Vehmlic tribunals . . . . .	199
Court composed of "Freyerschöppen," or Free Echevins,—divided into two classes: the Ordinary, and the Wissende or Witan . . . . .	199

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

xiv

Contents

Part II.	PAGE
Initiation of the "Wissende" could only take place upon the "red earth" . . . . .	199
Rhythmical oath, taken by the candidate, binding him to secrecy, and to make denunciation or presentment of offenders . . . . .	200
Punishment inflicted upon a "Nothschöppe," or one who had disclosed the secrets of the tribunal . . . . .	200
Vast number of the initiated . . . . .	200
Ehe or Æwa, term how employed (note) . . . . .	200
General Chapter, or Parliament of the Vehmlic tribunals, possessing both a judicial and legislative authority . . . . .	201
Vehmlic Courts of two descriptions—the "Offenbare Ding," or open Folkmoot, and the "Heimliche Acht," or secret tribunal . . . . .	201
Proceedings in the open court, to which all the resiants within its jurisdiction owed suit and service . . . . .	201
Extent of the jurisdiction assumed by the Vehmlic tribunals . . . . .	201
Circuits of the Echevins;—offenders apprehended in open delict, "hondhabband," &c., immediately executed . . . . .	202
"Inquisitorial proceedings" upon "Leumund," or open fame, corresponding to the "malecredence" of the old English law . . . . .	202
If confirmed by the secret tribunal, the "Acht" or bann was denounced against the culprit, and he was executed as soon as he could be apprehended . . . . .	202
"Leumund" (note) . . . . .	202
One of the "Wissende," being presumed to be a true man, was always allowed to clear himself by his compurgatory oath . . . . .	203
Accusatorial or ordinary process, by examination of witnesses . . . . .	203
The "Wissende" liable only to the accusatorial process . . . . .	203
"Heimliche Acht," or secret tribunal or court,—derived its name from the precautions taken for the purpose of preventing its proceedings from being divulged,—not from any secrecy in the time or manner of the meeting . . . . .	203
Vehmlic tribunals—their origin attributed to Charlemagne; but to be considered more properly as the ancient denunciatory courts of the "Old Saxons," which had survived the conquest of the nation . . . . .	203
Comparison between the Vehmlic courts and the English territorial jurisdictions of the Hundred, &c. . . . .	204
Probability that, in earlier periods, persons accused upon "Leumund" before the Vehmlic Courts could clear themselves by ordeal . . . . .	204
Vehmlic tribunals—not without their use in Germany . . . . .	205
PLACES AND MODE OF ASSEMBLING THE FOLKM moot OF THE HUNDRED. THE "WARD STAFF" OF ONGAR . . . . .	206-212
Examples of the assemblages of the ancient popular courts in the open air,—in the neighbourhood of springs, under trees, upon moot hills . . . . .	206
Few similar meetings sub dio on the Continent, except in Scandinavia (which, not being subject to Charlemagne, was not affected by his capitular, directing such meetings to be held under cover);

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More informationContents

XV

	PAGE	Part II.
in Westphalia, where the ancient jurisdictions subsisted as before mentioned; and in Friesland . . . . .	207
TALE OF THE WARD STAFF . . . . .	207-212
RECORD BY ORAL TESTIMONY . . . . .	213-218
Record,—oral testimony so denominated according to the Norman law . . . . .	213
Record, as described in the Assize of Hen. II. . . . .	213
EXAMPLES OF ORAL RECORD, ACCORDING TO THE ANCIENT NORMAN LAW . . . . .	213-218
Record of the King's Court, i.e. the King's Testimony . . . . .	213
Record of the Exchequer . . . . .	214
Record of Assize . . . . .	214
Record of Battle . . . . .	214
Record of View . . . . .	215
EXAMPLES OF ORAL RECORD, ACCORDING TO THE ANCIENT ENGLISH LAW . . . . .	215-218
6 Ric. I. Four Knights bear record of the result of an Inquest taken in the County Court, concerning an individual who had been falsely alleged to have incurred outlawry . . . . .	215
6 Ric. I. Justices in Eyre bear record of an Appeal in the King's Court at Westminster . . . . .	216
5 Joh. Knights deputed by the County Court to the King's Court at Westminster, who make record, or testify, concerning a Plea in the County Court . . . . .	217
Writs of re. fa. lo. as in use, after the custom of transmitting a written statement or record was introduced . . . . .	217
ASSIZE OR STATUTE OF HENRY II. FOR THE CONSERVATION OF THE PEACE . . . . .	218-220
..its singularity, as being the earliest specimen of Anglo-Norman legislation preserved in an authentic form . . . . .	218
Frankpledge, directed to be renewed by this Assize . . . . .	218
Clauses directing the construction of "gaols," i.e. wooden cages, for the confinement of offenders: similar to the celebrated cage in which the Countess of Buchan was kept by order of Ed. I. . . . .	219
Gaol—etymology of the term (note) . . . . .	219
Description of the Countess of Buchan's cage (note) . . . . .	219
Clause for the extirpation of the heresy of the "Publicans" . . . . .	220
Sheriff's oath for the extirpation of Lollardies . . . . .	220
ASSIZE, ENACTED AT CLARENDON BY THE KING BY THE ADVICE OF HIS ARCHBISHOPS, BISHOPS, ABBOTS, AND OTHER HIS BARONS, THE PRELATES HERE ACTING IN THEIR TEMPORAL CAPACITY . . . . .	221-228
FITZ-AILWYNE'S ASSIZE . . . . .	229-234
Assize enacted under Henry Fitz-Ailwyne, first Lord Mayor of London . . . . .	229
Mode of building in ancient London . . . . .	229
The Jew's house at Lincoln (note) . . . . .	229
Terms of Fitz-Ailwyne's Assize, indicate the steps by which the Anglo-Saxon Thanes or Echevins, &c. were converted into Jurors . . . . .	231

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

xvi

*ContentsPart II.

	PAGE
ASSIZE, OR BYE-LAW, PROVIDED AND ORDAINED BY THE MORE DISCREET AND BETTER MEN OF THE CITY OF LONDON . . . . .	231-234
TRIAL BY JURY . . . . .	235-263
Great importance of viewing Trial by Jury in its proper light,—viz. as a trial by witnesses . . . . .	235
Recapitulation of facts established by the Records . . . . .	235
WRIT OR CHARTER OF THE CONQUEROR, DIRECTING THE RESTITUTION OF THE LANDS OF THE CHURCH OF ELY, EXHIBITING THE MODE BY WHICH THE ANGLO-NORMAN INQUEST WAS ENGRAFTED ON THE ANGLO-SAXON COURTS	237, 238
WRIT OF WILLIAM RUFUS . . . . .	238
WRITS ISSUED IN THE NAME OF WILLIAM THE ATHELING, SON OF HEN. I. . . . .	239
DE FORO ABBINDONLE . . . . .	240-245
Right of pannage claimed by the Abbot of Abingdon; recognition to be taken by the “probi homines” of the Hundred, pursuant to Writ of Hen. II. . . . .	245
How the Abbot of Caen recovered a curtilage in Wood-street, by a verdict given in the Husting of London, pursuant to the Writ or Commission of Hen. II. . . . .	246
House in Wood-street, near St. Peter’s Church, which had been the property of Leureth or Liefrid, the Englishman, granted by Walram Fitz-Ralph to the Monks of St. Stephen’s Abbey . . . . .	246
Complaint preferred to Henry I. by the Monks of St. Stephen at Caen, against the King’s tenants of Bridport . . . . .	249
Ancient records illustrating the mode by which Trial by Jury was substituted for the Fire and Water Ordeal—and the course adopted after Trial by Jury was established . . . . .	252-263
PEINE FORTE ET DURE . . . . .	263-266
. . . extended by the Judges to Appeals, though the Statute speaks only of Indictments . . . . .	263
Forms of the Sentence (note) . . . . .	263
Practice, introduced about the reign of Elizabeth, of placing such heavy weights upon the criminal as killed him in a short time . . . . .	265
Old Bailey practice. The thumbs of an obstinate prisoner tied together with whipcord, until the torture compelled him to plead . . . . .	266
Examples of this mode of English torture from the reign of Charles II. to 1734 (note) . . . . .	266
NORMAN JURIES . . . . .	267-272
Inquests according to the Law of Normandy . . . . .	267
824—851. Mallum held before the Missus of Nominoe, Duke of Brittany . . . . .	271
Testimony given by Twelve free Bretons, who are sworn to the truth . . . . .	271
Judgment by the Echevins . . . . .	271
ICELANDIC COURTS . . . . .	272-273
Ancient Courts of the Northmen . . . . .	272
Godordsmen,—Priests, and Magistrates, in the Pagan age,—hereditary and territorial Magistrates in the subsequent periods . . . . .	272

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More informationContents

xvii

	PAGE	Part II.
Herred, or Hundred Courts, also called the Varthing, or Spring Courts	272
Doomsmen named by the Godordsmen, in the same manner as the priests of the Eresburg are said to have appointed the Echevins of the Free-field Court of Corbey . . . . .	272
Fierding, or Quarter Courts . . . . .	273
Fimtardom, or supreme Judicial Court in cases of ordinary jurisdiction—the “Lögretta,” being the supreme Political Court, having also an extraordinary jurisdiction . . . . .	273
Causes decided in this Court by a select body of Doomsmen.—Six chosen by the Plaintiff, and six by the Defendant . . . . .	273
CHANCELLORS, ETC. OF THE FRANKISH MONARCHS . . . . .	274, 275
Chancellors and Referendarii of the Frankish monarchs . . . . .	274
Royal Chaplains, their promotion . . . . .	275
ANCIENT STATE OF THE BRITONS . . . . .	275–278
1284. Archbishop Peckham’s Letter to Edward I. describing the manners of the Welsh, and suggesting plans for civilising them . . . . .	275
The Gweison Bychan (note) . . . . .	277
BATTLE TRIALS . . . . .	279–282
Various Battle Trials . . . . .	279
Battle between a male and a female—managed so as to put the parties on an equality . . . . .	279
Amongst the Angles, a married Woman, accused of the murder of her Husband, might be defended by her Kinsman as her Champion . . . . .	279
Battle Trial, how employed by the ancient Bavarians to decide the possession of land—viz. when no proof could be found of the contested boundaries, in which case the Battle Trial is to be considered as a war which was to settle the rights of all parties . . . . .	280
Amongst the Lombards, Grimoald enacts, that thirty years’ possession shall be a bar to a Battle Trial. But Liutprand restores the Battle, if such possession was grounded upon a fraudulent title . . . . .	281
Lombard pleadings (note) . . . . .	281
ANGLO-SAXON CHARTERS, ETC. . . . .	282–324
Conveyances of land amongst the barbarians, prepared by the clergy, —by which means a general uniformity of style was introduced . . . . .	282
Precariæ, Prestariæ, or Præstitæ—land solicited from a superior, and granted or lent by him, for a qualified and determinable estate . . . . .	283
These lands called “Læna” or Loans by the Anglo-Saxons . . . . .	283
Precariæ also termed Benefices . . . . .	284
their similarity to the Roman Benefices . . . . .	284
Examples shewing that the terms were synonymous . . . . .	284
About the eleventh century these Benefices acquire the name of Fiefs or Feuds . . . . .	286
Fief or Feud derived from Emphyteusis or Emphytefsis . . . . .	286
Examination of the etymology of the term (note) . . . . .	287
No word corresponding to Fief or Feudum in any of the Teutonic languages, except “Loan,” and its cognate terms . . . . .	288
Anglo-Saxon Charters . . . . .	288
Ethelbert’s Foundation Charter of St. Augustine’s Monastery . . . . .	288

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

xviii

Contents

Part II.	PAGE
Boundaries accurately described.—Burgate, i.e. the Burh-gat (the borough-street or borough-road), still retains its ancient name	288
Ethelbert's Tower (note)	288
Anglo-Saxon Charters, sometimes incur undeserved suspicion	289
Copies of ancient Charters made in charter-form , sometimes considered as forgeries, in consequence of the character of the handwriting not agreeing with the ostensible date	289
Omissions and alterations in the copies, arising from carelessness or ignorance	289
Cases in which forgeries may be detected by the handwriting, and by the spurious embellishments of the Charters	290
Croyland Charters—manifestly spurious	290
Papal Bulls not unfrequently forged, in order to support claims of exemption from episcopal jurisdiction	291
Extensive forgeries committed by a Monk of the Abbey of St. Medard, who confesses on his death-bed that he had thus attempted to prejudice the rights of the See of Canterbury, in favour of St. Augustine's Monastery	291
The "Golden Charter" of Croyland (note)	291
Declamatory and turgid style of the Charters of Edgar and his successors. Greek words frequently introduced	292
This affectation noticed by Malmesbury	292
Anglo-Saxon language would probably have become much mixed with words derived from foreign languages, even if the Conquest had not taken place	293
Cases in which the Anglo-Saxon Charters are falsified by internal evidence,—such as the Croyland Charters, which represent the course of proceedings before the Witenagemot to have been like those of the Parliaments of England, temp. Edward II.	294
Authentic Clauses often preserved in adulterated Charters	294
.. particularly in the subscriptions, which are often genuine, though appended to a modernized or doubtful paraphrase	294
Authenticity of the greater number of the Anglo-Saxon Charters	294
.. confirmed by history, and by each other	295
Anachronisms, how accounted for	295
Seals, whether employed amongst the Anglo-Saxons	295
Description of the Seals of Ethelwald, Bishop of Dunwich, and of Edgitha, Abbess of Wilton (note)	295
Used for certain official purposes from the reign of Ethelred, but not, as in after times, absolutely necessary for the validity of royal charters	296
Custom of sealing charters, introduced by slow degrees	296
Origin of the double impression, or obverse and reverse of the great seals of the Kings of England: the equestrian figure being originally intended to represent them as Dukes of Normandy, and the sitting figure as Kings of England	297
605. (1) Ethelbert, King of Kent, grants a plot of land without the city of Canterbury, to the end that a monastery may be erected thereon	298

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More informationContents

xix

PAGE Part II.

(2) Grant by Ethelbald, King of the Mercians and South Anglia, to his Comes, Æthelric, son of Oshere, King of the Wiccians, of lands to be held as an ecclesiastical benefice, with consent of the Bishops and Optimates . . . . .	300
736. (3) Ethelbald, King of Mercia and South Anglia, taking also the title of King of Britain, grants lands, &c., near Stour, to his Comes, or Ealdorman, Cyniberht . . . . .	301
(4) Cœnuulf, King of the Mercians, and his brother, Cuthred, Vassal King, or Regulus of Kent, grant lands to Swithin, their "Minister" or Thane . . . . .	302
Swithin bequeaths the land to the Church of Rochester . . . . .	304
821. (5) Kenulph, King of the Mercians.—Extracts from his Charter in favour of the monastery of Abingdon . . . . .	304
The abbey to be exempted from the burthen of finding free quarters for the King's huntsmen, falconers, &c. . . . .	304
Service of twelve vassals and twelve shields . . . . .	305
823. (6) Egbert, King of the English, with the consent of his Witenagemot, and of his son Ethelwulf, whom he had appointed to be King of Kent, frees the Church of Rochester from the burthen of finding "Paraverdæ" and free quarters for the followers of the Court . . . . .	306
842. (7) Grant by Ethelwulf, King of Wessex, by the title of "King of the Southern Nations," to Ceolmund his "Præfectus" . . . . .	307
850. (8) Grant by Ethelwulf, King of Wessex, and Ethelstan, King of Kent, to their "Prince" Ealhere . . . . .	308
(9) Ethelred, Duke or Ealdorman of the Mercians, with the consent of the "Senate," or Witenagemot of Mercia, renews the landboc or charter of Cuthulf the Thane, which had been carried off by the Danes . . . . .	308
(10) Duke Ethelfrith, having lost all his landbocs, the same having been destroyed by fire, applies to Edward the Elder, as supreme Lord of Mercia, and to Ethelred; the Ealdorman of the same kingdom, and Ethelfleda his wife (who was joined with him in the government), and to the Witenagemot of Mercia, to cause new charters to be written for him . . . . .	309
(11) Oswald, Bishop of Worcester, with the assent of Edgar, King of the English, and Alfhære, Duke of the Mercians, grants Upton to his "Minister" or Thane Cynelm, or Kenelm . . . . .	311
(12) Archbishop Oswald, with the assent of Edward, King of the English, and Alfhære, Duke or Ealdorman of Mercia, grants one hide of land (parcel of Oswald's Law) to his Knight, Wulfgeat . . . . .	312
(13) Archbishop Oswald, with the assent of King Edward, and of Alfhære, Duke of the Mercians, grants or gebooks three hides of land to his Thane or Minister Eadric . . . . .	312
984. (14) Archbishop Oswald, with the assent of Ethelred, Emperor of Albion, and Alfric, Comes of the Mercians, grants Bishop's Stoke to his Knight or Soldier, Ethelred . . . . .	313
991. (15) Brithnoth, Duke of East Anglia, being about to go out to war against the Danes, bequeaths all his land to pious uses . . . . .	314

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

xx

Contents

Part II.	PAGE
999. (16) Ethelred, Emperor of Britain, grants Cerne to the Church of Abingdon . . . . .	315
1012. (17) Ethelred, King of all the Nations of the People of Britain, grants Stanton and Hilton to the Bishop of Rochester . . . . .	318
(18) Charter by which Canute restores certain lands to Christ's Church, Canterbury . . . . .	322
(19) Lyvingus, Bishop of Worcester, with the consent of King Hardicanute, and of Leofric, Duke or Earl of the Mercians, grants Elmley to his true man, Ægelric, for three lives . . . . .	323
SYMBOLS OF INVESTITURE . . . . .	325, 326
Application of these Symbols . . . . .	325
Examples of seisin given by symbols . . . . .	325
Legend of St. Birlanda . . . . .	325
SUMMARIES OF ANGLO-SAXON HISTORY . . . . .	327-661
Difficulty of understanding Anglo-Saxon History, unless the student gains a distinct idea of the succession of each state . . . . .	327
Few of the names of the "Subreguli," Dukes, &c. and other dependants, or Vassal Princes, preserved by the Chroniclers . . . . .	327
The succession of the Rulers or Subreguli of the Hwiccas only known from their charters . . . . .	327
Corruptions and alterations of proper names . . . . .	328
WESSEX.—OLD SAXONS AND JUTES . . . . .	331-450
Ella . . . . .	331
494, 519. Cerdic and Cynric . . . . .	331
534. Cynric . . . . .	331
560. Ceawlin . . . . .	331
591. Ceol, or Ceolric . . . . .	332
597, 607. Ceolwulf . . . . .	332
611. Cynegils and Cwichelm . . . . .	332
638. Cynegils alone . . . . .	333
643. Cenwealh . . . . .	333
645. Cenwealh expelled . . . . .	333
648. Cenwealh restored . . . . .	333
672. Seaxburgha . . . . .	334
Interregnum . . . . .	334
674. Escwin . . . . .	334
676. Centwin . . . . .	334
685. Ceadwalla . . . . .	335
689. Ina . . . . .	335
726. Ethelheard . . . . .	336
740-752. Cuthred . . . . .	337
754, 755. Sigberht . . . . .	338
Deposition of Sigberht by his subjects (note) . . . . .	338
755. Cynewulf . . . . .	340
Cynewulf's death (note) . . . . .	341
786. Beohtric . . . . .	342
802. Egbert . . . . .	343
836. Ethelwulf . . . . .	351

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More informationContents

xxi

	PAGE	Part II.
Division of Wales between the sons of Roderick (note) . . . . .	353
854, 855. Ethelwulf and Ethelbald . . . . .	354
856, 857. Ethelbald . . . . .	354
860. Ethelbert . . . . .	354
866. Etherned . . . . .	354
871. Alfred . . . . .	355
901. Edward the Elder . . . . .	357
Date of the death of Alfred (note) . . . . .	357
925. Athelstane . . . . .	365
940. Edmund . . . . .	378
946, 947. Edred . . . . .	381
955. Eadwy . . . . .	387
958, 959. Edgar . . . . .	389
975. Edward the Martyr . . . . .	410
978. Ethelred . . . . .	411
1013. Sweyne . . . . .	411
Ethelred deposed . . . . .	411
1014. Ethelred restored . . . . .	411
1016. Edmund . . . . .	413
1016, 1017. Canute . . . . .	415
1035. Harold Harefoot . . . . .	417
Hardacnute . . . . .	418
1040. Hardacnute restored . . . . .	419
1042. Edward the Confessor . . . . .	419
1066. Harold . . . . .	428
EARLDOM OF WESSEX . . . . .	436, 437
1020. Godwin . . . . .	436
1053. Harold . . . . .	437
DOMINIONS INCLUDED IN THE KINGDOM OF THE WEST
SAXONS . . . . . 438-450
WIGHT. JUTES OR GOTHES . . . . . 438
530. Stuf and Wihtgar . . . . .	438
544. Death of Wihtgar . . . . .	439
686. Arvald . . . . .	439
Astulph . . . . .	439
900. Albert . . . . .	439
HAMPSHIRE. SAXONS, AND JUTES OR GOTHES . . . . . 439, 440
755. Sigeberht . . . . .	439
860. Osric . . . . .	440
897. Wulfred . . . . .	440
971. Elfeg . . . . .	440
982. Ethelmar . . . . .	440
994, 995. Ethelward . . . . .	440
1003. Elfric . . . . .	440
1006. Elfhelm . . . . .	440
WINCHESTER . . . . . 440, 441
897. Beornwulf . . . . .	440
Conquest of the Isle of Wight (note) . . . . .	440

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

xxii

Contents

Part II.	PAGE
BERKS . . . . .	441
860. Ethelwulf . . . . .	441
WILTS . . . . .	441
800. Weoxtan . . . . .	441
887. Athelhelm . . . . .	441
1003. Elfric . . . . .	441
SOMERSET . . . . .	442
823. Hun . . . . .	442
845. Eanwulf . . . . .	442
878. Athelnoth . . . . .	442
1013. Sweyne . . . . .	442
1051. Odda . . . . .	442
BATH . . . . .	442
906. Alfred . . . . .	442
DORNSETTAS (Dorset)	443
Ethelward . . . . .	443
837. Athelhelm . . . . .	443
845. Osric . . . . .	443
Godwin . . . . .	443
1051. Odda . . . . .	443
WEST WALES ,— Damnonia or Dyvnaint (afterwards Devonshire ) and Cernau or Cornwall . . . . .	443–447
530. Geraint . . . . .	443
Constantine . . . . .	444
589. Geraint II. . . . .	444
710. Geraint III. . . . .	444
730. Blederic . . . . .	445
872. Dongerth . . . . .	445
917. Owen, or Huganus . . . . .	445
926. Howell . . . . .	446
1051. Odda . . . . .	446
Treaty between the British and Saxon tribes of Damnonia . . . . .	446
ANGLO-SAXON EALDORMEN OF DEVONSHIRE . . . . .	447–449
851. Ceorl . . . . .	447
878. Odda . . . . .	447
899, 900. Æthered, or Edred . . . . .	447
971. Ordgar, or Aridgar . . . . .	447
Romantic history of Ordgar (note) . . . . .	447
Ordwulf . . . . .	448
1013. Æthelmar . . . . .	448
1020. Godwin . . . . .	448
1051. Odda . . . . .	448
988. Goda . . . . .	448
1001. Cola . . . . .	449
1003. Hugh . . . . .	449
1017. Brihtric . . . . .	449
CERNAU, OR CORNWALL . . . . .	450
Goodrich . . . . .	450

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More informationContents

xxiii

	PAGE	Part II.
KENT. JUTES	450-469
446. Hengist and Horsa . . . . .	450
Nennius—British traditions (note)	450
465. Hengist. Eric or Æsc . . . . .	452
Ocha . . . . .	453
Ermeric . . . . .	453
Ethelbert . . . . .	453
616. Eadbald . . . . .	454
640. Erconbert . . . . .	454
664. Egbert . . . . .	454
673. Hlothere, or Lothar . . . . .	455
685. Eadric . . . . .	456
686, 687. Ceadwalla . . . . .	457
690, 693. Wihtred and Swæbhard . . . . .	457
694. Wihtred . . . . .	458
Eadbert, Ethelbert II., Alric . . . . .	459
762. Sigereð . . . . .	459
770. Eardulf . . . . .	460
763, 779. Egbert and Heahbyrht . . . . .	460
784. Alchmund . . . . .	461
796, 797. Eadbert Pren . . . . .	462
Cuthred . . . . .	462
Sigereð . . . . .	463
823. Baldred . . . . .	464
825. Ethelwulf . . . . .	464
836. Athelstane . . . . .	465
852. Ethelbert . . . . .	466
866. Ethelred . . . . .	467
EALDORMEN, COMITES, AND EARLS OF KENT	468
568. Oslac. Cnebba . . . . .	468
Osuulf . . . . .	468
851. Ealchere . . . . .	468
897. Ceolmund . . . . .	468
904, 905. Sigewulf and Sigehelm . . . . .	468
1007. Ægelmar . . . . .	468
1035. Godwin . . . . .	468
Harold . . . . .	468
975. Wulfsgie . . . . .	468
MERSCWARE . . . . .	469
838. Herebryht . . . . .	469
Kentish territory . . . . .	469
SOUTH SAXONS OR SUSSEX	469-475
477. Ella . . . . .	469
518. Cissa . . . . .	471
648, 661. Ethelwald or Ethelwalch . . . . .	471
Selsea Charters—their peculiarities (note)	471
685. Berthun. Athelhun . . . . .	472
693. Huna or Numa, Wattus, Nothelm . . . . .	473

P. VII.

c

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-62636-2 - The Collected Historical Works of Sir Francis Palgrave, K. H.: The Rise and Progress of the English Commonwealth: Anglo-Saxon Period: Part II: Proofs and Illustrations

Edited by His Son Sir R. H. Inglis Palgrave

Frontmatter

More information

xxiv

Contents

Part II.	PAGE
758. Osmund . . . . .	474
Ethelbert . . . . .	474
796. Sigebert . . . . .	474
DUCES AND EALDORMEN, etc. OF THE SOUTH SAXONS .	475
693. Bruny . . . . .	475
780. Oslao . . . . .	475
Aldwulf . . . . .	475
982. Edwin . . . . .	475
897. Eadulf . . . . .	475
1007. Wulfnoth . . . . .	475
SURREY, "Suthrige," or the Southern Kingdom . . . . .	476, 477
Frithewald . . . . .	476
836. Athelstane . . . . .	477
853. Huda . . . . .	477
857. Ethelbert . . . . .	477
MERCIA. ANGLES . . . . .	477-538
585. Crida . . . . .	477
Wibba . . . . .	478
Ceorl . . . . .	478
626. Penda . . . . .	479
653. Peada . . . . .	479
656. Wulfhere . . . . .	480
675. Ethelred . . . . .	482
704. Cenred . . . . .	482
709. Ceolred . . . . .	482
716. Ethelbald . . . . .	483
757. Beornred . . . . .	484
757. Offa . . . . .	485
785, 796. Egferth . . . . .	486
796. Cenwulf . . . . .	487
Offa's coinage (note) . . . . .	489
819. Ceolwulf . . . . .	490
827, 830. Wiglaf . . . . .	491
838. Behtwulf . . . . .	492
852. Burhred . . . . .	494
874. Ceolwulf . . . . .	497
880. Guthrun . . . . .	499
886. Ethelred . . . . .	500
912. Ethelfeda . . . . .	500
920. Edward the Elder . . . . .	502
925. Athelstane . . . . .	502
942. Edmund . . . . .	503
947. Edred . . . . .	504
955-958, 959. Edgar . . . . .	504
975-1014. Ethelred . . . . .	504
1013. Sweyne . . . . .	504
1016. Canute . . . . .	505
1035. Harold Harefoot . . . . .	505