To: Stephanie

Hi Stephanie

How are you? I (1) 've been having (have) a lovely time with my family here in Spain. Sorry I (2) (not write) to you for ages, but I (3) (work) hard here at my new school since we arrived six weeks ago. My new teachers are all great and I (4) (meet) some really nice Spanish people. Some of them (5) (invite) me round to their houses a few times. I think my Spanish (6) (improve) a lot because I (7) (not have) the opportunity to speak much English since I arrived, except to my family. It's hard having all my lessons in Spanish instead of English, but I'll get used to it. It's lucky my mum's Spanish and made sure we all learnt the language as we were growing up! She (8) (go) to Madrid this weekend to stay with her sister, so Dad's looking after us all. His mum, my English grandmother, is missing us a lot – she (9) (phone) six times already! I (10) (look after) my little brother and sister this morning to help Dad. They (11) (play) in the garden since breakfast though and they're quite happy so I (12) (write) emails all morning. I (13) (send) six so far!

I (14) (wonder) what you (15) (do) since I left! Write back soon and tell me all your news.

Being a teenager

definitely
I ~~definitely~~ think that teenage year's should be the best in everyones life because you can have fun and you have fewer problems than adults teenagers know how to have a good time. Most teenagers have a lot of freinds and they discuss things that they are interested in. Teenagers have to be in fashion wearing up-to-date cloths and listening to modern music. They also like to do sports and compete in matchs. But teenager's parents sometimes have a difficult time and they dont understand why? Wouldnt you feel angry if someone went into your room without permission. So do teenagers. Teenagers stop thinking like children as they grow up and their believes and their interests change. My opinion is that teenage years are magical and Id like to stay a teenager forever.

Being an only child

“What’s it like to spend a lifetime without brothers and sisters?” asks Joanna Moorhead.

A Sam Thompson, aged 10

When my mum’s friend had a baby, it made me think about being an only child for the first time. I thought, would I like to have brothers and sisters? But to be honest, my friend’s sister looked quite annoying – he was always having to watch her and I decided I was better off on my own. There are lots of good things about being an only child. I have privacy, and I like that; some of my friends have to share a bedroom and I know that will never happen to me. Plus I get time on my own with Mum and Dad, and that’s very special.

B Jasmine Weller, aged 13

I always felt a bit different from other kids, and just thought it was something about me. Then I made friends with three other people who are all only children. I suddenly realised that they felt a lot like me. We all need to spend quite a lot of time on our own, and some of our friends with brothers and sisters find that strange – they think we don’t like them or something. However, there are pluses, too. I think it’s good to be able to entertain yourself sometimes, and my mum says I’ve got a great imagination.

C Bethany Shaw, aged 15

One of the bad things about being an only child when you’re young is the reaction you get from other people. They think you’re spoilt – you see that look in their eyes. And then you have to prove you’re not spoilt, although you know you’re not and nor are most only children. In general, I think the negatives outweigh the positives, but on the other hand it’s all I’ve known and I’m OK with it.

D Leah Mitchell, aged 29

I went away to school when I was seven, and the hardest thing I found was making friends. Because I was an only child, I just didn’t know how to do it. The thing is that when you’re an only child, often there aren’t any other children at a gathering. I found being an only child interesting, in that it gave me a place at the grown-ups’ table and gave me a view into their world that children in a big family might not get. And I know it has, at least partly, made me into the person I am: I never like the idea of being one of a group, for example. I’m not comfortable with being one of a gang.

E Laura Arnold, aged 36

I know some only children feel stifled by their parents’ constant demands and worries, but that wasn’t my experience. I found being an only child enriching, which I think is mainly because we get on so well. I’ve got two children now and I do find that scary. The problem is I’ve absolutely no experience of this kind of situation; nothing in my past has prepared me for having to divide myself between the needs of these two little people, and the guilt is hard when I feel I’ve not been there enough for one of them. And on a practical level, things like sibling rivalry are going to be a whole new ball game.
