

Contents

| | |
|---|-----------------|
| Preface: Confronting Empire | page vii |
| Prologue. “Scene of a Foul Transaction”: The Languages of Empire and the Carib War in St. Vincent | i |
| 1 “The Principal Cornucopia of Great-Britain’s Wealth”: The Languages of Commerce, Liberty, Security, and Maritime Supremacy and the Celebration of Empire | 20 |
| 2 Outposts of “ Loose Vagrant People ”: The Language of Alterity in the Construction of Empire | 50 |
| 3 “A Fabric at Once the Dread and Wonder of the World”: The Languages of Imperial Grandeur, Liberty, Commerce, Humanity, and Justice and the American Challenge to Empire | 84 |
| 4 Arenas of “Asiatic Plunder”: The Languages of Humanity and Justice and the Excesses of Empire in India | 120 |
| 5 Sites of Creolean Despotism: The Languages of Humanity and Justice and the Critique of Colonial Slavery and the African Slave Trade | 156 |
| 6 “A Fruitless, Bloody, Wasting War”: The Languages of Imperial Grandeur, Liberty, Humanity, and Commerce in the American Conflict | 200 |
| 7 “This Voraginous Gulph of Hibernian Dependence”: The Languages of Oppression, Corruption, Justice, Liberty, and Humanity and the Identification of Imperial Excesses in Ireland | 244 |
| 8 A “Shadow of Our Former Glory”? The Discussion of Empire in the Wake of American Secession | 296 |
| | v |

| | |
|---|-----------------|
| vi | Contents |
| Epilogue. “Against Every Principle of Justice, Humanity, and Whatever is Allowed to be Right Among Mankind”: Standards of Humanity and the Evaluation of Empire | 341 |
| Index | 363 |