

CONTENTS

Memorial Note page v

Preface xi

Chapter I. ROBINSON'S VOTE

The election of C. K. Robinson to the mastership of St Catharine's. Rumours that he had obtained the mastership improperly. G. F. Browne and Shilleto. Manifesto to members of the Senate from the Fellows of St Catharine's. Reply of F. J. Jameson. Jameson and Robinson. The events immediately preceding the election. Suggested explanation of Jameson's anger. pages 1-19

Chapter II. THE JUDGES AND TRINITY COLLEGE

Coke's visits to Trinity. Subsequent visits of other Judges. Whewell and the Judges. Whewell and the belief that Trinity Lodge is a royal palace. The question of the reception of the Judges at the winter assizes. The opinion of Counsel. Settlement of the dispute. pages 20-35

Chapter III. THE RELIGIOUS TESTS (1862-1871)

The Royal Commissioners and the religious tests. Effects of the tests. The party opposed to the tests. Cambridge petition against them (1862). E. H. Perowne's defence of them. Parliamentary action. General Election of 1865. Continuation of Parliamentary action. Supporters of the tests. The meeting at Cambridge in November 1869. A Joint deputation to the Prime Minister from Oxford and Cambridge. The Government Bill of 1870. The controversy at Cambridge over the conduct of the Council of the Senate. The Universities Tests Act of 1871. pages 36-90

Chapter IV. THE CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY AND CORPORATION ACT

Sir John Patteson's award. The powers of the Proctors and the Spinning House Court. Emma Kemp. Cautious policy of the Proctors. Arrest of Jane Elsdon. Council of the Senate and the Borough Council. Advice of the Proctors. Arrest of Daisy Hopkins. Application in Court of Queen's Bench for writ of Habeas Corpus. Meeting of rate-payers. Action by Daisy Hopkins for false imprisonment. The Borough Council prepare to appeal to Parliament. Reopening of negotiations between Council of the Senate and the Borough Council. Agreement between the two bodies reached. The Cambridge University and Corporation Act. pages 91-143

Chapter V. EDUCATIONAL REFORM (1860–1880)

Reform of the Previous Examination and ordinary degree course. Criticism of Voluntary Theological Examination. Establishment of the Theological Tripos. Compulsory Greek. School Certificates and the Previous Examination. Renewed protest against Compulsory Greek. Poll-men and the lectures of Professors. The Moral and Natural Sciences Triposes. The Professorship of Zoology and Comparative Anatomy. The Cavendish Professorship. Reform of the Natural Sciences Tripos. The Double Honours Syndicate. The Law and History Tripos. The History Tripos. Establishment of an Indian and a Semitic Languages Tripos. Reform of the Classical Tripos. Reform of the Mathematical Tripos. The Smith's Prizes. Honours Examinations in the Easter Term. pages 144–235

Chapter VI. THE TRINITY REFORMERS

The reformers among the Fellows of Trinity and the Statutes of 1860–1861. The effects of Whewell's death. The programme of the reformers. The pamphlet of J. L. Hammond. The appointment of a committee for revising the Statutes. The draft Statutes. The Crown postpones approval. Election of W. Aldis Wright to a fellowship. pages 236–262

Chapter VII. THE STATUTORY COMMISSIONERS AND THE UNIVERSITY

The appointment of a Royal Commission. Agitation for and against reform. The appointment of a Statutory Commission. Internal reform. Appointment of the Teaching Syndicate. Appointment of a Syndicate for professorships. Revision of Statutes by Council of the Senate. Divisions in the Council. Trinity College and the Council of the Senate. Presentations to benefices by the University. The Questionnaire of the Commissioners. Draft Statutes of the Commissioners. The Representation of the Council of the Senate. The fifteen draft Statutes and the Council of the Senate. Memorials on the fifteen Statutes. Concessions by the Commissioners. The Dixie Professorship of Ecclesiastical History. Dr Kennedy and the Regius Professorship of Greek. The Regius Professorship of Divinity. pages 263–332

Chapter VIII. THE STATUTORY COMMISSIONERS AND THE COLLEGES

Trinity College and the revision of its Statutes. Revision of their Statutes by the other Colleges. The Commissioners and the Colleges. Heads of Houses. Entrance scholarships. Tenure and value of fellowships. Protests by the Masters of Magdalene and Corpus. The Master of Caius' Easter sermon. pages 333–359

Index

361–367