

www.cambridge.org

IV.

THE CHURCH OF ANTIOCH.

Relations with Jerusalem.—St Paul's first Missionary Journey.—
"Behold we turn to the Gentiles."—The Conference at Jerusalem.—St Paul and the Three.—The decision of the Conference.—Its purpose and influence.—St Peter at Antioch.—No antagonism in principle with St Paul.—The attitude of St James.—The results of the controversy. pp. 61—83.

V.

THE INDEPENDENT ACTIVITY OF ST PAUL.

The circumcision of Timothy.—St Paul's advance into Europe.—
The Epistles to the Thessalonians.—From Corinth to Ephesus.—St
Paul at Ephesus.—I. Corinthians and the 'Cephas' party.—II. Corinthians.—The Epistle to the Galatians.—The Epistle to the Romans.
. pp. 84—103.

VI.

ST PAUL AT JERUSALEM AND THE EPISTLES OF THE ROMAN CAPTIVITY.

From Corinth to Jerusalem.—Reception at Jerusalem.—St Paul in the Temple.—His arrest and defence.—St Paul at Rome.—Attitude of the Jews and of the Christian Church towards him.—Results of his imprisonment.—The Epistle to the Philippians.—The Epistles to the 'Ephesians' and to the Colossians.—The Colossian Heresy—Ethical, not Theosophic.—Its relation to the doctrine of the Person of Christ.—
Contrast with the Judaism of Palestine, and of Rome.—Supposed connexion with Essenism.—Possibility of Greek influence.
. pp. 104—129.

CONTENTS xi

VII.

THE PASTORAL EPISTLES.

Their genuineness.—Weiss on the teaching condemned in the Epistles.—No specifically Gnostic terms.—‘Genealogies.’—‘Questionings.’—‘Profane Babblings.’—‘Oppositions.’—‘Knowledge falsely so called.’—Jewish Gnosis not Gnostic.—Traces of Dualism.—Practical not speculative.—Possibly Judaic. . . . pp. 130—146.

VIII.

JAMES, I PETER, HEBREWS, APOCALYPSE.

The Epistle of St James. Date and Authorship.—Recipients.—Characteristics of Teaching.—Traditions of Asceticism.—The First Epistle of St Peter.—His relation to Gentiles.—The Epistle to the Hebrews.—Its Address.—Dangers to faith in Palestine.—The transitoriness of the Law.—The Apocalypse.—Harmony of St John and St Paul. . . . pp. 147—163.

IX.

THE CHURCH OF JERUSALEM FROM TITUS TO HADRIAN.

Hegesippus. Was he a Judaizer?—Certainly a Palestinian.—His reception at Rome conclusive as to his own position.—Extracts from his work in Eusebius.—The election of Symeon.—List of the Bishops of the Circumcision.—The migration to Pella in 66 A.D.—Ariston of Pella.—Subsequent history of the Church at Jerusalem. . . . pp. 164—180.

X.

THE JUDAIZERS OF THE IGNATIAN EPISTLES.

Distinct from Docetæ.—Polemic confined to Epistles to Magnesians and Philadelphians.—Judaism of Pharisaic type.—Docetism not necessarily Gnostic. . . . pp. 181—187.

xii CONTENTS

XI.

CERINTHUS, ‘BARNABAS,’ JUSTIN MARTYR.

Date of Cerinthus.—His doctrine.—A Judaizing Christian at last.—
The Epistle of ‘Barnabas’. No sympathy with Jewish thought.—
Justin Martyr. Hellenizing rather than Judaizing. . pp. 188—193.

XII.

PALESTINIAN EBIONITES.

The Dialogue with Trypho. No evidence in Justin of division into sects.—History of the names Ebionite and Nazarean—Not connoting distinct communities.—Origin of Ebionism.—Essene Ebionism a later development. pp. 194—202.

APPENDIX	pp. 203—214.
INDEX	pp. 215—222.