

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-00961-4 - A History of Greece, Volume 12

George Grote

Frontmatter

More information

CAMBRIDGE LIBRARY COLLECTION

Books of enduring scholarly value

Classics

From the Renaissance to the nineteenth century, Latin and Greek were compulsory subjects in almost all European universities, and most early modern scholars published their research and conducted international correspondence in Latin. Latin had continued in use in Western Europe long after the fall of the Roman empire as the lingua franca of the educated classes and of law, diplomacy, religion and university teaching. The flight of Greek scholars to the West after the fall of Constantinople in 1453 gave impetus to the study of ancient Greek literature and the Greek New Testament. Eventually, just as nineteenth-century reforms of university curricula were beginning to erode this ascendancy, developments in textual criticism and linguistic analysis, and new ways of studying ancient societies, especially archaeology, led to renewed enthusiasm for the Classics. This collection offers works of criticism, interpretation and synthesis by the outstanding scholars of the nineteenth century.

A History of Greece

Widely acknowledged as the most authoritative study of ancient Greece, George Grote's twelve-volume work, begun in 1846, established the shape of Greek history which still prevails in textbooks and popular accounts of the ancient world today. Grote employs direct and clear language to take the reader from the earliest times of legendary Greece to the death of Alexander and his generation, drawing upon epic poetry and legend, and examining the growth and decline of the Athenian democracy. The work provides explanations of Greek political constitutions and philosophy, and interwoven throughout are the important but outlying adventures of the Sicilian and Italian Greeks. The final volume of Grote's history begins with the reign of Alexander the Great, and ends with a review of the Greek world at 'the close of the history of free Hellas and Hellenism'. An index to all twelve volumes completes this monumental work of scholarship.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-00961-4 - A History of Greece, Volume 12

George Grote

Frontmatter

More information

Cambridge University Press has long been a pioneer in the reissuing of out-of-print titles from its own backlist, producing digital reprints of books that are still sought after by scholars and students but could not be reprinted economically using traditional technology. The Cambridge Library Collection extends this activity to a wider range of books which are still of importance to researchers and professionals, either for the source material they contain, or as landmarks in the history of their academic discipline.

Drawing from the world-renowned collections in the Cambridge University Library, and guided by the advice of experts in each subject area, Cambridge University Press is using state-of-the-art scanning machines in its own Printing House to capture the content of each book selected for inclusion. The files are processed to give a consistently clear, crisp image, and the books finished to the high quality standard for which the Press is recognised around the world. The latest print-on-demand technology ensures that the books will remain available indefinitely, and that orders for single or multiple copies can quickly be supplied.

The Cambridge Library Collection will bring back to life books of enduring scholarly value (including out-of-copyright works originally issued by other publishers) across a wide range of disciplines in the humanities and social sciences and in science and technology.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-00961-4 - A History of Greece, Volume 12

George Grote

Frontmatter

More information

A History of Greece

VOLUME 12

GEORGE GROTE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-00961-4 - A History of Greece, Volume 12
George Grote
Frontmatter
More information

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge, New York, Melbourne, Madrid, Cape Town, Singapore,
São Paulo, Delhi, Dubai, Tokyo

Published in the United States of America by Cambridge University Press, New York

www.cambridge.org

Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9781108009614

© in this compilation Cambridge University Press 2009

This edition first published 1856

This digitally printed version 2009

ISBN 978-1-108-00961-4 Paperback

This book reproduces the text of the original edition. The content and language reflect the beliefs, practices and terminology of their time, and have not been updated.

Cambridge University Press wishes to make clear that the book, unless originally published by Cambridge, is not being republished by, in association or collaboration with, or with the endorsement or approval of, the original publisher or its successors in title.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-00961-4 - A History of Greece, Volume 12

George Grote

Frontmatter

More information

HISTORY OF GREECE.

VOL. XII.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-00961-4 - A History of Greece, Volume 12

George Grote

Frontmatter

More information

HISTORY OF GREECE.

BY

GEORGE GROTE, Esq.

VOL. XII.

WITH PORTRAIT, MAPS, AND INDEX.

LONDON :

JOHN MURRAY, ALBEMARLE STREET.

1856.

CONTENTS.

VOL. XII.

CHAPTER XCI.

First Period of the Reign of Alexander the Great—Siege and Capture of Thebes.

	Page
State of Greece at Alexander's accession—dependence on the Macedonian kings	1
Unwilling subjection of the Greeks—influence of Grecian intelligence on Macedonia	2
Basis of Alexander's character—not Hellenic	3
Boyhood and education of Alexander	ib.
He receives instruction from Aristotle	4
Early political action and maturity of Alexander—his quarrels with his father. Family discord	5
Uncertainty of Alexander's position during the last year of Philip	6
Impression produced by the sudden death of Philip	8
Accession of Alexander—his energy and judgment	9
Accomplices of Pausanias are slain by Alexander—Amyntas and others are slain by him also	ib.
Sentiment at Athens on the death of Philip—language of Demosthenes—inclination to resist Macedonia, yet without overt act	12
Discontent in Greece—but no positive movement	14
March of Alexander into Greece—submission of Athens	15
Alexander is chosen Imperator of the Greeks in the convention at Corinth—continued refusal of concurrence by Sparta	17
Conditions of the vote thus passed—privileges guaranteed to the cities	18
Authority claimed by Alexander under the convention—degradation of the leading Grecian states	20
Encroachments and tyranny of the Macedonian officers in Greece—complaints of the orators at Athens	21
Violations of the convention at sea by Macedonian officers	23

iv	CONTENTS.
		Page
Language of the complaining Athenians—they insist only on strict observance of the convention. Boldness of their language		25
Encouragements held out by Persia to the Greeks		27
Correspondence of Demosthenes with Persia — justifiable and politic		28
March of Alexander into Thrace. He forces his way over Mount Hæmus		29
His victory over the Triballi		31
He crosses the Danube, defeats the Getæ, and returns back		32
Embassy of Gauls to Alexander. His self-conceit		35
Victories of Alexander over Kleitus and the Illyrians		36
The Thebans declare their independence against Macedonia		39
They are encouraged by Alexander’s long absence in Thrace, and by reports of his death		41
The Theban exiles from Athens get possession of Thebes		42
They besiege the Macedonians in the Kadmeia, and entreat aid from other Greeks. Favourable sympathies shown towards them, but no positive aid		44
Chances of Thebes and liberation, not unfavourable		45
Rapid march and unexpected arrival of Alexander with his army before Thebes. His good fortune as to the time of hearing the news		48
Siege of Thebes. Proclamation of Alexander. Determination of the Thebans to resist		50
Capture of Thebes by assault. Massacre of the population		51
Thebes is razed; the Theban captives sold as slaves; the territory distributed among the neighbouring cities		54
The Kadmeia is occupied as a Macedonian military post. Retribution upon the Thebans from Orchomenus and Platæa		55
Sentiments of Alexander, at the time and afterwards, respecting the destruction of Thebes		56
Extreme terror spread throughout Greece. Sympathy of the Athenians towards the Theban exiles		58
Alexander demands the surrender of the chief anti-Macedonian leaders at Athens. Memorable debate at Athens. The demand refused		60
Embassy of the Athenians to Alexander. He is persuaded to acquiesce in the refusal, and to be satisfied with the banishment of Charidemus and Ephialtes		62
Influence of Phokion in obtaining these milder terms—his increased ascendancy at Athens		63
Alexander at Corinth—obedience of the Grecian synod—interview with the philosopher Diogenes		64

CONTENTS. v

	Page
Re-constitution of Orchomenus and Plataea. Return of Alexander to Pella	65
Military operations of Parmenio in Asia Minor against Memnon..	ib.

CHAPTER XCII.

Asiatic Campaigns of Alexander.

During Alexander's reign, the history of Greece is nearly a blank.	67
To what extent the Asiatic projects of Alexander belonged to Grecian history	68
Pan-hellenic pretences set up by Alexander. The real feeling of the Greeks was adverse to his success.....	69
Analogy of Alexander's relation to the Greeks—with those of the Emperor Napoleon to the Confederation of the Rhine.....	ib.
Greece an appendage, but a valuable appendage, to Macedonia ..	71
Extraordinary military endowments and capacity of Alexander ..	ib.
Changes in Grecian warfare, antecedent and contributory to the military organization of Macedonia.....	72
Macedonian military condition before Philip. Good and firm cavalry: poor infantry.....	75
Philip re-arms and re-organises the infantry. Long Macedonian pike or sarissa	77
Macedonian phalanx—how armed and arrayed	ib.
It was originally destined to contend against the Grecian hoplites as organised by Epaminondas	79
Regiments and divisions of the phalanx—heavy-armed infantry ..	80
Light infantry of the line—Hypaspistæ, or Guards	82
Light troops generally—mostly foreigners	83
Macedonian cavalry—its excellence—how regimented	84
The select Macedonian Body-guards. The Royal Pages.....	86
Foreign auxiliaries—Grecian hoplites—Thessalian cavalry—Pæonians—Illyrians—Thracians, &c.....	88
Magazines, war-office, and depôt, at Pella	89
Macedonian aptitudes—purely military—military pride stood to them in lieu of national sentiment	90
Measures of Alexander previous to his departure for Asia. Antipater left as viceroy at Pella.....	ib.
March of Alexander to the Hellespont. Passage across to Asia ..	93
Visit of Alexander to Ilium	ib.
Analogy of Alexander to the Greek heroes.....	95
Review and total of the Macedonian army in Asia	96
Chief Macedonian officers.....	98

	Page
Greeks in Alexander's service—Eumenes of Kardia	99
Persian forces—Mentor and Memnon the Rhodians	100
Succession of the Persian crown—Ochus—Darius Codomannus . .	102
Preparations of Darius for defence	ib.
Operations of Memnon before Alexander's arrival	103
Superiority of the Persians at sea: their imprudence in letting Alexander cross the Hellespont unopposed.	104
Persian force assembled in Phrygia, under Arsites and others . . .	105
Advice of Memnon, to avoid fighting on land, and to employ the fleet for aggressive warfare in Macedonia and Greece	ib.
Arsites rejects Memnon's advice, and determines to fight	106
The Persians take post on the river Granikus	107
Alexander reaches the Granikus, and resolves to force the passage at once, in spite of the dissuasion of Parmenio	108
Disposition of the two armies	109
Battle of the Granikus	110
Cavalry battle. Personal danger of Alexander. His life is saved by Kleitus	113
Complete victory of Alexander. Destruction of the Grecian in- fantry on the side of the Persians	114
Loss of the Persians—numbers of their leading men slain	115
Small loss of the Macedonians	116
Alexander's kindness to his wounded soldiers, and severe treatment of the Grecian prisoners	117
Unskilfulness of the Persian leaders. Immense impression pro- duced by Alexander's victory	118
Terror and submission of the Asiatics to Alexander. Surrender of the strong fortress of Sardis	119
He marches from Sardis to the coast. Capture of Ephesus . . .	121
He finds the first resistance at Miletus	122
Near approach of the Persian fleet. Memnon is made commander- in-chief of the Persians	123
The Macedonian fleet occupies the harbour of Miletus, and keeps out the Persians. Alexander declines naval combat. His de- bate with Parmenio	124
Alexander besieges Miletus. Capture of the city	125
The Persian fleet retires to Halikarnassus. Alexander disbands his own fleet	126
March of Alexander to Halikarnassus. Ada queen of Karia joins him	127
Strong garrison, and good defensive preparation, at Halikarnassus	128
Siege of Halikarnassus. Bravery of the garrison, under Ephialtes the Athenian	ib.

CONTENTS. vii

	Page
Desperate sally of Ephialtes—at first successful, but repulsed—he himself is slain	131
Memnon is forced to abandon Halikarnassus, and withdraw the garrison by sea, retaining only the citadel. Alexander enters Halikarnassus	133
Winter campaign of Alexander along the southern coast of Asia Minor.....	134
Alexander concludes his winter campaign at Gordium. Capture of Kelænæ.....	136
Appendix on the Macedonian Sarissa	ib.

CHAPTER XCIII.

Second and Third Asiatic Campaigns of Alexander—Battle of Issus—Siege of Tyre.

Alexander cuts the Gordian knot	140
He refuses the liberation of the Athenian prisoners	141
Progress of Memnon and the Persian fleet—they acquire Chios and a large part of Lesbos—they besiege Mitylene. Death of Memnon. Capture of Mitylene	ib.
Hopes excited in Greece by the Persian fleet, but ruined by the death of Memnon	142
Memnon's death an irreparable mischief to Darius	143
Change in Darius's plan caused by this event. He resolves to take the offensive on land. His immense land-force	144
Free speech and sound judgment of Charidemus. He is put to death by Darius.....	145
Darius abandoned Memnon's plans, just at the time when he had the best defensive position for executing them with effect	147
Darius recalls the Grecian mercenaries from the fleet	148
Criticism of Arrian on Darius's plan	ib.
March of Alexander from Gordium through Paphlagonia and Kapadokia	149
He arrives at the line of Mount Taurus—difficulties of the pass ..	150
Conduct of Arsames, the Persian satrap. Alexander passes Mount Taurus without the least resistance. He enters Tarsus	151
Dangerous illness of Alexander. His confidence in the physician Philippos, who cures him.....	152
Operations of Alexander in Kilikia	153
March of Alexander out of Kilikia, through Issus, to Myriandrus ..	154
March of Darius from the interior to the eastern side of Mount Amanus. Immense numbers of his army: great wealth and ostentation in it: the treasure and baggage sent to Damascus..	155

viii	CONTENTS.	Page
Position of Darius on the plain eastward of Mount Amanus. He throws open the mountain passes, to let Alexander come through, and fight a pitched battle.		156
Impatience of Darius at the delay of Alexander in Kilikia. He crosses Mount Amanus to attack Alexander in the defiles of Kilikia	ib.
He arrives in Alexander's rear, and captures Issus		158
Return of Alexander from Myriandrus: his address to his army..	ib.
Position of the Macedonian army south of the river Pinarus		159
Position of the Persian army north of the Pinarus		160
Battle of Issus		162
Alarm and immediate flight of Darius—defeat of the Persians ..		165
Vigorous and destructive pursuit by Alexander—capture of the mother and wife of Darius		166
Courteous treatment of the regal female prisoners by Alexander..		167
Complete dispersion of the Persian army—Darius recrosses the Euphrates—escape of some Perso-Grecian mercenaries		168
Prodigious effect produced by the victory of Issus		170
Effects produced in Greece by the battle of Issus. Anti-Macedonian projects crushed		172
Capture of Damascus by the Macedonians, with Persian treasure and prisoners.		173
Capture and treatment of the Athenian Iphikrates. Altered relative position of Greeks and Macedonians		175
Alexander in Phenicia. Aradus, Byblus, and Sidon open their gates to him	ib.
Letter of Darius soliciting peace and the restitution of the regal captives. Haughty reply of Alexander		176
Importance of the voluntary surrender of the Phenician towns to Alexander		178
Alexander appears before Tyre—readiness of the Tyrians to surrender, yet not without a point reserved—he determines to besiege the city.		179
Exorbitant dispositions and conduct of Alexander.		181
He prepares to besiege Tyre—situation of the place		183
Chances of the Tyrians—their resolution not unreasonable.	ib.
Alexander constructs a mole across the strait between Tyre and the mainland. The project is defeated		185
Surrender of the princes of Cyprus to Alexander—he gets hold of the main Phenician and Cyprian fleet.		186
He appears before Tyre with a numerous fleet, and blocks up the place by sea		187
Capture of Tyre by storm—desperate resistance of the citizens ..		188

CONTENTS. ix

	Page
Surviving males, 2000 in number, hanged by order of Alexander.
The remaining captives sold.	189
Duration of the siege for seven months. Sacrifice of Alexander to Herakles.	190
Second letter from Darius to Alexander, who requires unconditional submission	ib.
The Macedonian fleet overpowers the Persian, and becomes master of the Ægean with the islands.	191
March of Alexander towards Egypt—siege of Gaza	193
His first assaults fail—he is wounded—he erects an immense mound round the town.	194
Gaza is taken by storm, after a siege of two months.	195
The garrison are all slain, except the governor Batis, who becomes prisoner, severely wounded	ib.
Wrath of Alexander against Batis, whom he causes to be tied to a chariot, and dragged round the town	196
Alexander enters Egypt, and occupies it without resistance	197
He determines on founding Alexandria	198
His visit to the temple and oracle of Ammon. The oracle proclaims him to be the son of Zeus	200
Arrangements made by Alexander at Memphis—Grecian prisoners brought from the Ægean	203
He proceeds to Phenicia—message from Athens. Splendid festivals. Reinforcements sent to Antipater.	ib.
He marches to the Euphrates—crosses it without opposition at Thapsakus	204
March across from the Euphrates to the Tigris: Alexander fords the Tigris above Nineveh, without resistance.	ib.
Eclipse of the moon. Alexander approaches near to the army of Darius in position	205
Inaction of Darius since the defeat at Issus	206
Paralysing effect upon him produced by the captivity of his mother and wife.	207
Good treatment of the captive females by Alexander—necessary to keep up their value as hostages	208
Immense army collected by Darius, in the plains eastward of the Tigris—near Arbela	209
He fixes the spot for encamping and awaiting the attack of Alexander—in a level plain near Gaugamela.	210
His equipment and preparation—better arms—numerous scythed chariots—elephants	211
Position and battle array of Darius.	212
Preliminary movements of Alexander—discussions with Parmenio and other officers. His careful reconnoitring in person	213

x	CONTENTS.
		Page
Dispositions of Alexander for the attack—array of the troops . . .		215
Battle of Arbela		216
Cowardice of Darius—he sets the example of flight—defeat of the Persians		219
Combat on the Persian right between Mazæus and Parmenio . . .		222
Flight of the Persian host—energetic pursuit by Alexander		225
Escape of Darius. Capture of the Persian camp, and of Arbela . .		226
Loss in the battle. Completeness of the victory. Entire and irreparable dispersion of the Persian army		ib.
Causes of the defeat—cowardice of Darius. Uselessness of his immense numbers		ib.
Generalship of Alexander		228
Surrender of Babylon and Susa, the two great capitals of Persia. Alexander enters Babylon. Immense treasures acquired in both places		ib.
Alexander acts as king of Persia, and nominates satraps. He marches to Susa. He remodels the divisions of his army . . .		229
Alexander marches into Persis proper—he conquers the refractory Uxii, in the intermediate mountains		231
Difficult pass called the Susian Gates, on the way to Persepolis. Ariobarzanes the satrap repulses Alexander, who finds means to turn the pass, and conquer it		232
Alexander enters Persepolis		234
Mutilated Grecian captives		ib.
Immense wealth, and national monuments of every sort, accumulated in Persepolis		236
Alexander appropriates and carries away the regal treasures, and then gives up Persepolis to be plundered and burnt by the soldiers		237
Alexander rests his troops, and employs himself in conquering the rest of Persis		240
Darius a fugitive in Media		241

CHAPTER XCIV.

Military Operations and Conquests of Alexander, after his Winter-Quarters in Persis, down to his Death at Babylon.

The first four Asiatic campaigns of Alexander—their direct bearing and importance in reference to Grecian history	242
His last seven years, farther eastward, had no similar bearing upon Greece	243

CONTENTS. xi

	Page
Darius at Ekbatana—seeks escape towards Baktria, when he hears of Alexander approaching.	244
Alexander enters Ekbatana—establishes there his depôt and base of operations	245
Alexander sends home the Thessalian cavalry—necessity for him now to pursue a more desultory warfare.	246
Alexander pursues Darius to the Caspian Gates, but fails in overtaking him.	247
Conspiracy formed against Darius by Bessus and others, who seize his person	248
Prodigious efforts of Alexander to overtake and get possession of Darius. He surprises the Persian corps, but Bessus puts Darius to death.	250
Disappointment of Alexander when he missed taking Darius alive.	252
Regal funeral bestowed upon Darius. His fate and conduct . . .	ib.
Repose of Alexander and his army at Hekatompylus in Parthia. Commencing alteration in his demeanour. He becomes Asia-tized and despotic	253
Gradual aggravation of these new habits, from the present moment	254
Alexander conquers the mountains immediately south of the Caspian. He requires the Greek mercenaries to surrender at discretion	ib.
Envoys from Sparta and other Greek cities brought to him—how treated	256
March of Alexander farther eastward—his successes in Aria and Drangiana	257
Proceedings against Philotas, son of Parmenio, in Drangiana. Military greatness and consideration of the family	258
Revelation of an intended conspiracy made by Kebalinus to Philotas, for the purpose of being communicated to Alexander. Philotas does not mention it to Alexander. It is communicated to the latter through another channel.	259
Alexander is at first angry with Philotas, but accepts his explanation, and professes to pass over the fact.	ib.
Ancient grudge against Philotas—advantage taken of the incident to ruin him	260
Kraterus and others are jealous of Parmenio and Philotas. Alexander is persuaded to put them both to death	ib.
Arrest of Philotas. Alexander accuses him before the assembled soldiers. He is condemned.	262
Philotas is put to the torture, and forced to confess, both against himself and Parmenio	264
Parmenio is slain at Ekbatana, by order and contrivance of Alexander	266

xii	CONTENTS.	Page
Mutiny of the soldiers when they learn the assassination of Parmenio—appeased by the production of Alexander's order.		268
Fear and disgust produced by the killing of Parmenio and Philotas		269
Conquest of the Paropamisadæ, &c. Foundation of Alexandria ad Caucasum		270
Alexander crosses the Hindoo-Koosh, and conquers Baktria. Bessus is made prisoner		272
Massacre of the Branchidæ and their families, perpetrated by Alexander in Sogdiana.		274
Alexander at Marakanda and on the Jaxartes		276
Foundation of Alexandria ad Jaxartem . Limit of march northward		277
Alexander at Zariaspa in Baktria—he causes Bessus to be mutilated and slain		278
Farther subjugation of Baktria and Sogdiana. Halt at Marakanda.		280
Banquet at Marakanda. Character and position of Kleitus		281
Boasts of Alexander and his flatterers—repugnance of Macedonian officers felt, but not expressed.	ib.
Scene at the banquet—vehement remonstrance of Kleitus		283
Furious wrath of Alexander—he murders Kleitus.	ib.
Intense remorse of Alexander, immediately after the deed		286
Active and successful operations of Alexander in Sogdiana		288
Capture of two inexpugnable positions—the Sogdian rock—the rock of Choriènes. Passion of Alexander for Roxana		289
Alexander at Baktra—marriage with Roxana. His demand for prostration or worship from all		290
Public harangue of Anaxarchus during a banquet, exhorting every one to render this worship	ib.
Public reply of Kallisthenes, opposing it. Character and history of Kallisthenes		291
The reply of Kallisthenes is favourably heard by the guests—the proposition for worship is dropped		294
Coldness and disfavour of Alexander towards Kallisthenes		295
Honourable frankness and courage of Kallisthenes	ib.
Kallisthenes becomes odious to Alexander.		298
Conspiracy of the royal pages against Alexander's life—it is divulged—they are put to torture, but implicate no one else; they are put to death	ib.
Kallisthenes is arrested as an accomplice—antipathy manifested by Alexander against him, and against Aristotle also		300
Kallisthenes is tortured and hanged		302
Alexander reduces the country between the Hindoo-Koosh and the Indus	ib.

CONTENTS. xiii

	Page
Conquest of tribes on the right bank of the Indus—the Rock of Aornos	303
Alexander crosses the Indus—forces the passage of the Hydaspes, defeating Porus—generous treatment of Porus	306
His farther conquests in the Punjab. Sangala, the last of them..	308
He reaches the Hyphasis (Sutledge), the farthest of the rivers of the Punjab. His army refuses to march farther	311
Alexander returns to the Hydaspes.....	313
He constructs a fleet, and sails down the Hydaspes and the Indus. Dangerous wound of Alexander in attacking the Malli.....	ib.
New cities and posts to be established on the Indus—Alexander reaches the ocean—effect of the first sight of tides	316
March of Alexander by land westward through the desert of Gedrosia—sufferings and losses in the army	317
Alexander and the army come back to Persis. Conduct of Alexander at Persepolis. Punishment of the satrap Orsines	318
He marches to Susa—junction with the fleet under Nearchus, after it had sailed round from the mouth of the Indus	320
Alexander at Susa as Great King. Subjects of uneasiness to him—the satraps—the Macedonian soldiers.....	321
Past conduct of the satraps—several of them are punished by Alexander—alarm among them all—flight of Harpalus	ib.
Discontents of the Macedonian soldiers with the Asiatising inter-marriages promoted by Alexander	324
Their discontent with the new Asiatic soldiers levied and disciplined by Alexander.....	325
Interest of Alexander in the fleet, which sails up the Tigris to Opis.	326
Notice of partial discharge to the Macedonian soldiers—they mutiny—wrath of Alexander—he disbands them all.....	327
Remorse and humiliation of the soldiers—Alexander is appeased—reconciliation.....	328
Partial disbanding—body of veterans placed under command of Kraterus to return.....	329
New projects of conquests contemplated by Alexander—measures for enlarging his fleet	330
Visit to Ekbatana—death of Hephæstion—violent sorrow of Alexander	331
Alexander exterminates the Kossæi.....	333
March of Alexander to Babylon. Numerous embassies which met him on the way.....	334
Alexander at Babylon—his great preparations for the circumnavigation and conquest of Arabia.....	336
Alexander on shipboard, on the Euphrates and in the marshes adjoining. His plans for improving the navigation and flow of the river	337

xiv	CONTENTS.	Page
	Large reinforcements arrive, Grecian and Asiatic. New array ordered by Alexander, for Macedonians and Persians in the same files and companies	338
	Splendid funeral obsequies of Hephaestion.	339
	General feasting and intemperance in the army. Alexander is seized with a dangerous fever. Details of his illness	342
	No hope of his life. Consternation and grief in the army. Last interview with his soldiers. His death	345
	Effect produced on the imagination of contemporaries by the career and death of Alexander.	346
	Had Alexander lived, he must have achieved things greater still. .	349
	Question raised by Livy, about the chances of Alexander if he had attacked the Romans	350
	Unrivalled excellence of Alexander, as a military man	351
	Alexander as a ruler, apart from military affairs—not deserving of esteem	352
	Alexander would have continued the system of the Persian empire, with no other improvement except that of a strong organization	354
	Absence of nationality in Alexander—purpose of fusing the different varieties of mankind into one common type of subjection.	355
	Mistake of supposing Alexander to be the intentional diffuser of Greek civilization. His ideas compared with those of Aristotle	357
	Number of new cities founded in Asia by Alexander.	360
	It was not Alexander, but the Diadochi after him, who chiefly hellenized Asia	362
	How far Asia was ever really hellenized—the great fact was, that the Greek language became universally diffused	363
	Greco-Asiatic cities	364
	Increase of the means of communication between various parts of the world	366
	Interest of Alexander in science and literature—not great	369

CHAPTER XCV.

	Grecian Affairs from the Landing of Alexander in Asia to the close of the Lamian War.
	State of the Grecian world when Alexander crossed the Hellespont.	370
	Grecian spirit might have been called into action if the Persians had played their game well	371
	Hopes raised in Greece, first by the Persian fleet in the Aegean, next by the two great Persian armies on land	372
	Public acts and policy at Athens—decidedly pacific	373

CONTENTS. xv

	Page
Phokion and Demades were leading ministers at Athens—they were of macedonizing politics	374
Demosthenes and Lykurgus, though not in the ascendent politically, are nevertheless still public men of importance. Financial activity of Lykurgus	375
Position of Demosthenes—his prudent conduct.....	376
Anti-Macedonian movement from Sparta—King Agis visits the Persian admirals in the Ægean. His attempts both in Krete and in Peloponnesus.....	378
Agis levies an army in Peloponnesus, and makes open declaration against Antipater	380
Agis, at first partially successful, is completely defeated by Antipater, and slain	382
Complete submission of all Greece to Antipater—Spartan envoys sent up to Alexander in Asia	383
Untoward result of the defensive efforts of Greece—want of combination	384
Position of parties at Athens during the struggle of Agis—reaction of the macedonizing party after his defeat	385
Judicial contest between Æschines and Demosthenes. Preliminary circumstances as to the proposition of Ktesiphon, and the indictment by Æschines	ib.
Accusatory harangue of Æschines, nominally against the proposition of Ktesiphon, really against the political life of Demosthenes.	388
Appreciation of Æschines, on independent evidence, as an accuser of Demosthenes.....	390
Reply of Demosthenes—oration De Coronâ	391
Funeral oration of extinct Grecian freedom	393
Verdict of the Dikasts — triumph of Demosthenes— exile of Æschines	394
Causes of the exile of Æschines—he was the means of procuring coronation for Demosthenes.....	395
Subsequent accusation against Demosthenes, in the affair of Harpalus	396
Flight of Harpalus to Athens—his previous conduct and relations with Athens	397
False reports conveyed to Alexander, that the Athenians had identified themselves with Harpalus	398
Circumstances attending the arrival of Harpalus at Sunium—debate in the Athenian assembly—promises held out by Harpalus—the Athenians seem at first favourably disposed towards him..	400
Phokion and Demosthenes both agree in dissuading the Athenians from taking up Harpalus	402
Demand by Antipater for the surrender of Harpalus—the Athe-
VOL. XII.	b

	Page
nians refuse to comply, but they arrest Harpalus and sequester his treasure for Alexander	402
Demosthenes moves the decree for arrest of Harpalus, who is arrested, but escapes.	403
Conduct of Demosthenes in regard to the treasure of Harpalus—deficiency of the sum counted and realized, as compared with the sum announced by Harpalus.	404
Suspicious about this money—Demosthenes moves that the Areopagus shall investigate the matter—the Areopagites bring in a report against Demosthenes himself, with Demades and others, as guilty of corrupt appropriation. Demosthenes is tried on this charge, condemned, and goes into exile	405
Was Demosthenes guilty of such corrupt appropriation? Circumstances as known in the case	407
Demosthenes could not have received money from Harpalus, since he opposed him from first to last.	408
Had Demosthenes the means of embezzling, after the money had passed out of the control of Harpalus? Answer in the negative.	409
Accusatory speech of Deinarchus against Demosthenes—virulent invective destitute of facts	412
Change of mind respecting Demosthenes, in the Athenian public, in a few months	413
Probable reality of the case, respecting the money of Harpalus, and the sentence of the Areopagus	ib.
Rescript of Alexander to the Grecian cities, directing that the exiles should be recalled in each	416
Purpose of the rescript—to provide partisans for Alexander in each of the cities. Discontents in Greece	417
Effect produced in Greece by the death of Alexander	419
The Athenians declare themselves champions of the liberation of Greece, in spite of Phokion's opposition	ib.
The Ætolians and many other Greeks join the confederacy for liberation—activity of the Athenian Leosthenes as general. Athenian envoys sent round to invite co-operation from the various Greeks	421
Assistance lent to the Athenian envoys by Demosthenes, though in exile. He is recalled to Athens, and receives an enthusiastic welcome	422
Large Grecian confederacy against Antipater—nevertheless without Sparta. Bœotia strongly in the Macedonian interest. Leosthenes with the confederate army marches into Thessaly	423
Battle in Thessaly—victory of Leosthenes over Antipater, who is compelled to throw himself into Lamia, and await succours from Asia—Leosthenes forms the blockade of Lamia : he is slain . .	424

CONTENTS. xvii

	Page
Misfortune of the death of Leosthenes. Antiphilus is named in his place. Relaxed efforts of the Grecian army	425
Leonnatus, with a Macedonian army from Asia, arrives in Thessaly. His defeat and death. Antipater escapes from Lamia, and takes the command	427
War carried on by sea between the Macedonian and Athenian fleets	ib.
Reluctance of the Greek contingents to remain on long-continued service. The army in Thessaly is thinned by many returning home	428
Expected arrival of Kraterus to reinforce Antipater. Relations between the Macedonian officers	429
State of the regal family, and of the Macedonian generals and soldiery, after the death of Alexander	ib.
Philip Aridæus is proclaimed king: the satrapies are distributed among the principal officers	430
Perdikkas the chief representative of central authority, assisted by Eumenes of Kardia	ib.
List of projects entertained by Alexander at the time of his death. The generals dismiss them as too vast. Plans of Leonnatus and Kleopatra	431
Kraterus joins Antipater in Macedonia with a powerful army. Battle of Krannon in Thessaly. Antipater gains a victory over the Greeks, though not a complete one	433
Antiphilus tries to open negotiations with Antipater, who refuses to treat, except with each city singly. Discouragement among the Greeks. Each city treats separately. Antipater grants favourable terms to all, except Athenians and Ætolians	434
Antipater and his army in Boeotia—Athens left alone and unable to resist. Demosthenes and the other anti-Macedonian orators take flight. Embassy of Phokion, Xenokrates, and others to Antipater	435
Severe terms imposed upon Athens by Antipater	436
Disfranchisement and deportation of the 12,000 poorest Athenian citizens	437
Hardship suffered by the deported poor of Athens—Macedonian garrison placed in Munychia	438
Demosthenes, Hyperides, and others, are condemned to death in their absence. Antipater sends officers to track and seize the Grecian exiles. He puts Hyperides to death	439
Demosthenes in sanctuary at Kalauria—Archias with Thracian soldiers comes to seize him—he takes poison, and dies	440
Miserable condition of Greece—life and character of Demosthenes	442
Dishonourable position of Phokion at Athens, under the Macedonian occupation	444

CHAPTER XCVI.

From the Lamian War to the close of the History of Free Hellas and Hellenism.

	Page
Antipater purges and remodels the Peloponnesian cities. He attacks the Ætolians, with a view of deporting them across to Asia. His presence becomes necessary in Asia: he concludes a pacification with the Ætolians	447
Plans of Perdikkas—intrigues with the princesses at Pella	448
Antigonus detects the intrigues, and reveals them to Antipater and Kraterus	450
Unpropitious turn of fortune for the Greeks, in reference to the Lamian war	451
Antipater and Kraterus in Asia—Perdikkas marches to attack Ptolemy in Egypt, but is killed by a mutiny of his own troops. Union of Antipater, Ptolemy, Antigonus, &c. New distribution of the satrapies, made at Triparadeisus	452
War between Antigonus and Eumenes in Asia. Energy and ability of Eumenes. He is worsted, and blocked up in Nora	455
Sickness and death of Antipater. The Athenian orator Demades is put to death in Macedonia	456
Antipater sets aside his son Kassander, and names Polysperchon viceroy. Discontent and opposition of Kassander	457
Kassander sets up for himself, gets possession of Munychia, and forms alliance with Ptolemy and Antigonus against Polysperchon. ib.
Plans of Polysperchon—alliance with Olympias in Europe, and with Eumenes in Asia—enfranchisement of the Grecian cities. .	458
Ineffectual attempts of Eumenes to uphold the imperial dynasty in Asia: his gallantry and ability: he is betrayed by his own soldiers, and slain by Antigonus	459
Edict issued by Polysperchon at Pella, in the name of the imperial dynasty—subverting the Antipatrian oligarchies in the Grecian cities, restoring political exiles, and granting free constitutions to each	462
Letters and measures of Polysperchon to enforce the edict. State of Athens: exiles returning: complicated political parties: danger of Phokion	464
Negotiations of the Athenians with Nikanor, governor of Munychia for Kassander.	465
Nikanor seizes Peiræus by surprise. Phokion, though forewarned, takes no precautions against it	467
Mischief to the Athenians, as well as to Polysperchon, from Nikanor's occupation of Peiræus; culpable negligence, and probable collusion, of Phokion	468

CONTENTS. xix

	Page
Arrival of Alexander (son of Polysperchon): his treacherous policy to the Athenians; Kassander reaches Peiræus	469
Intrigues of Phokion with Alexander—he tries to secure for himself the protection of Alexander against the Athenians.....	470
Return of the deported exiles to Athens—public vote passed in the Athenian assembly against Phokion and his colleagues. Phokion leaves the city, is protected by Alexander, and goes to meet Polysperchon in Phokis	471
Agnonides and others are sent as deputies to Polysperchon, to accuse Phokion and to claim the benefit of the regal edict	472
Agnonides and Phokion are heard before Polysperchon—Phokion and his colleagues are delivered up as prisoners to the Athenians	473
Phokion is conveyed as prisoner to Athens, and brought for trial before the assembly. Motion of his friends for exclusion of non-qualified persons	475
Intense exasperation of the returned exiles against Phokion—grounds for that feeling	476
Phokion is condemned to death—vindictive manifestation against him in the assembly, furious and unanimous	477
Death of Phokion and his four colleagues	479
Alteration of the sentiment of the Athenians towards Phokion, not long afterwards. Honours shown to his memory.....	481
Explanation of this alteration. Kassander gets possession of Athens, and restores the oligarchical or Phokionic party	ib.
Life and character of Phokion.....	482
War between Polysperchon and Kassander, in Attica and Peloponnesus. Polysperchon is repulsed in the siege of Megalopolis, and also defeated at sea	486
Increased strength of Kassander in Greece—he gets possession of Athens	487
Restoration of the oligarchical government at Athens, though in a mitigated form, under the Phalerean Demetrius	488
Administration of the Phalerean Demetrius at Athens, in a moderate spirit. Census taken of the Athenian population.....	489
Kassander in Peloponnesus—many cities join him—the Spartans surround their city with walls	492
Feud in the Macedonian imperial family—Olympias puts to death Philip Aridæus and Eurydikê—she reigns in Macedonia: her bloody revenge against the partisans of Antipater.....	493
Kassander passes into Macedonia—defeats Olympias, and becomes master of the country—Olympias is besieged in Pydna, captured, and put to death	494

	Page
Great power of Antigonus in Asia. Confederacy of Kassander, Lysimachus, Ptolemy, and Seleukus against him	495
Kassander founds Kassandreia, and restores Thebes.	496
Measures of Antigonus against Kassander—he promises freedom to the Grecian cities—Ptolemy promises the like. Great power of Kassander in Greece	498
Forces of Antigonus in Greece. Considerable success against Kassander	500
Pacification between the belligerents. Grecian autonomy guaranteed in name by all. Kassander puts to death Roxana and her child	501
Polysperchon espouses the pretensions of Herakles, son of Alexander, against Kassander. He enters into compact with Kassander, assassinates the young prince, and is recognized as ruler of Southern Greece	502
Assassination of Kleopatra, last surviving relative of Alexander the Great, by Antigonus	503
Ptolemy of Egypt in Greece—after some successes, he concludes a truce with Kassander. Passiveness of the Grecian cities	504
Sudden arrival of Demetrius Poliorketes in Peiræus. The Athenians declare in his favour. Demetrius Phalereus retires to Egypt. Capture of Munychia and Megara	505
Demetrius Poliorketes enters Athens in triumph. He promises restoration of the democracy. Extravagant votes of flattery passed by the Athenians towards him. Two new Athenian tribes created	506
Alteration of tone and sentiment in Athens, during the last thirty years	508
Contrast of Athens as proclaimed free by Demetrius Poliorketes, with Athens after the expulsion of Hippias	510
Opposition made by Demochares, nephew of Demosthenes, to these obsequious public flatteries	511
Demetrius Phalereus condemned in his absence. Honourable commemoration of the deceased orator Lykurgus	ib.
Restrictive law passed against the philosophers—they all leave Athens. The law is repealed next year, and the philosophers return to Athens	512
Exploits of Demetrius Poliorketes. His long siege of Rhodes. Gallant and successful resistance of the citizens	514
His prolonged war, and ultimate success in Greece, against Kassander	515
Return of Demetrius Poliorketes to Athens—his triumphant reception—memorable Ithyphallic hymn addressed to him	518

CONTENTS. xxi

	Page
Helpless condition of the Athenians—proclaimed by themselves...	519
Idolatry shown to Demetrius at Athens. He is initiated in the Eleusinian mysteries, out of the regular season	520
March of Demetrius into Thessaly—he passes into Asia and joins Antigonus—great battle of Ipsus, in which the four confederates completely defeat Antigonus, who is slain, and his Asiatic power broken up and partitioned	522
Restoration of the Kassandrian dominion in Greece. Lachares makes himself despot at Athens, under Kassander. Demetrius Polior- ketes returns, and expels Lachares. He garrisons Peiræus and Munychia	523
Death of Kassander. Bloody feuds among his family. Demetrius acquires the crown of Macedonia.....	525
Antigonus Gonatas (son of Demetrius) master of Macedonia and Greece. Permanent rule of the Antigonid dynasty in Mace- donia, until the conquest of that country by the Romans	526
Spirit of the Greeks broken—isolation of the cities from each other by Antigonus.....	ib.
The Greece of Polybius cannot form a subject of history by itself, but only as an appendage to foreign neighbours	528
Evidence of the political nullity of Athens—public decree in honour of Demochares—what acts are recorded as his titles to public gratitude.....	529

CHAPTER XCVII.

Sicilian and Italian Greeks—Agathokles.

Constitution established by Timoleon at Syracuse—afterwards exchanged for an oligarchy	531
Italian Greeks—pressed upon by enemies from the interior—Archi- damus king of Sparta slain in Italy.....	532
Growth of the Molossian kingdom of Epirus, through Macedonian aid—Alexander the Molossian king, brother of Olympias.....	533
The Molossian Alexander crosses into Italy to assist the Taren- tines. His exploits and death.....	534
Assistance sent by the Syracusans to Kroton—first rise of Aga- thokles	535
Agathokles distinguishes himself in the Syracusan expedition—he is disappointed of honours—becomes discontented and leaves Syracuse.....	537
He levies a mercenary force—his exploits as general in Italy and Sicily	538
Change of government at Syracuse—Agathokles is recalled—his exploits against the exiles—his dangerous character at home ...	539

xxii	CONTENTS.	Page
	Farther internal changes at Syracuse—recall of the exiles—Agathokles re-admitted—swears amnesty and fidelity.....	540
	Agathokles, in collusion with Hamilkar, arms his partisans at Syracuse, and perpetrates a sanguinary massacre of the citizens ...	541
	Agathokles is constituted sole despot of Syracuse.....	543
	His popular manners, military energy, and conquests	544
	Progress of Agathokles in conquering Sicily. The Agrigentines take alarm and organize a defensive alliance against him	545
	They invite the Spartan Akrotatus to command—his bad conduct and failure.....	546
	Sicily the only place in which a glorious Hellenic career was open.	547
	Peace concluded by Agathokles with the Agrigentines—his great power in Sicily	548
	He is repulsed from Agrigentum—the Carthaginians send an armament to Sicily against him	549
	Position of the Carthaginians between Gela and Agrigentum—their army reinforced from home.....	550
	Operations of Agathokles against them—his massacre of citizens at Gela	ib.
	Battle of the Himera, between Agathokles and the Carthaginians	551
	Total defeat of Agathokles by the Carthaginians	552
	The Carthaginians recover a large part of Sicily from Agathokles.
	His depressed condition at Syracuse	553
	He conceives the plan of attacking the Carthaginians in Africa ...	554
	His energy and sagacity in organizing this expedition. His renewed massacre and spoliation.....	555
	He gets out of the harbour, in spite of the blockading fleet.
	Eclipse of the sun. He reaches Africa safely	556
	He burns his vessels—impressive ceremony for effecting this, under vow to Demeter.....	557
	Agathokles marches into the Carthaginian territory—captures Tunês—richness and cultivation of the country.....	558
	Consternation at Carthage—the city-force marches out against him—Hanno and Bomilkar named generals.....	561
	Inferior numbers of Agathokles—his artifices to encourage the soldiers	563
	Treachery of the Carthaginian general Bomilkar—victory of Agathokles	ib.
	Conquests of Agathokles among the Carthaginian dependencies on the eastern coast	564
	Religious terror and distress of the Carthaginians. Human sacrifice.	565
	Operations of Agathokles on the eastern coast of Carthage—capture of Neapolis, Adrumetum, Thapsus, &c.	567

CONTENTS. xxiii

	Page
Agathokles fortifies Aspis—undertakes operations against the interior country—defeats the Carthaginians again	569
Proceedings of Hamilkar before Syracuse—the city is near surrendering—he is disappointed, and marches away from it.....	570
Renewed attack of Hamilkar upon Syracuse—he tries to surprise Euryalus, but is totally defeated, made prisoner, and slain	572
The Agrigentines stand forward as champions of Sicilian freedom against Agathokles and the Carthaginians	574
Mutiny in the army of Agathokles at Tunès—his great danger, and address in extricating himself	575
Carthaginian army sent to act in the interior—attacked by Agathokles with some success—his camp is pillaged by the Numidians	577
Agathokles invites the aid of Ophellas from Kyrênê.....	ib.
Antecedent circumstances of Kyrênê. Division of coast between Kyrênê and Carthage	578
Thimbron with the Harpalian mercenaries is invited over to Kyrênê by exiles. His chequered career, on the whole victorious, in Libya	580
The Kyrênæans solicit aid from the Egyptian Ptolemy, who sends Ophellas thither. Defeat and death of Thimbron. Kyrenaica annexed to the dominions of Ptolemy, under Ophellas as viceroy.	582
Position and hopes of Ophellas. He accepts the invitation of Agathokles. He collects colonists from Athens and other Grecian cities.....	583
March of Ophellas, with his army, and his colonists, from Kyrênê to the Carthaginian territory—sufferings endured in the march .	586
Perfidy of Agathokles—he kills Ophellas—gets possession of his army—ruin and dispersion of the colonists.....	587
Terrible sedition at Carthage—Bomilkar tries to seize the supreme power—he is overthrown and slain	588
Farther successes of Agathokles in Africa—he captures Utica, Hippo-Zarytus, and Hippagreta	589
Agathokles goes to Sicily, leaving Archagathus to command in Africa. Successes of Archagathus in the interior country	592
Redoubled efforts of the Carthaginians—they gain two great victories over Archagathus	ib.
Danger of Archagathus—he is blocked up by the Carthaginians at Tunis	593
Agathokles in Sicily. His career at first prosperous. Defeat of the Agrigentines	594
Activity of Agathokles in Sicily—Deinokrates in great force against him.....	595

xxiv	CONTENTS.	Page
	Agrigentine army under Xenodokus—opposed to the mercenaries of Agathokles—superiority of the latter.....	596
	Defeat of Xenodokus by Leptines—Agathokles passes over into Africa—bad state of his army there—he is defeated by the Carthaginians	597
	Nocturnal panic and disorder in both camps	598
	Desperate condition of Agathokles—he deserts his army and escapes to Sicily	599
	The deserted army kill the two sons of Agathokles, and capitulate with the Carthaginians.....	600
	African expedition of Agathokles—boldness of the first conception—imprudently pushed and persisted in	601
	Proceedings of Agathokles in Sicily—his barbarities at Egesta and Syracuse	602
	Great mercenary force under Deinokrates in Sicily—Agathokles solicits peace from him, and is refused—he concludes peace with Carthage.....	603
	Battle of Torgium—victory of Agathokles over Deinokrates	604
	Accommodation and compact between Agathokles and Deinokrates	605
	Operations of Agathokles in Liparæ, Italy, and Korkyra—Kleonymus of Sparta	606
	Last projects of Agathokles—mutiny of his grandson Archagathus—sickness, poisoning, and death of Agathokles.....	607
	Splendid genius of action and resource—nefarious dispositions—of Agathokles.....	609
	Hellenic agency in Sicily continues during the life of Agathokles, but becomes then subordinate to preponderant foreigners	611

CHAPTER XCIII.

Outlying Hellenic Cities.—1. In Gaul and Spain. 2. On the coast of the Euxine.
Massalia—its situation and circumstances	613
Colonies planted by Massalia—Antipolis, Nikæa, Rhoda, Emporiæ—peculiar circumstances of Emporiæ.....	616
Oligarchical government of Massalia—prudent political administration.....	617
Hellenising influence of Massalia in the West—Pytheas, the navigator and geographer	619
Pontic Greeks—Pentapolis on the south-west coast.....	620
Sinôpê—its envoys present with Darius in his last days—maintains

CONTENTS. xxv

	Page
its independence for some time against the Mithridatic princes— but becomes subject to them ultimately	621
The Pontic Herakleia—oligarchical government—the native Ma- riandyni reduced to serfs	622
Political discord at Herakleia—banishment of Klearchus—partial democracy established	624
Continued political troubles at Herakleia—assistance invoked from without	625
Character and circumstances of Klearchus—he makes himself despot of Herakleia—his tyranny and cruelty	ib.
He continues despot for twelve years—he is assassinated at a festival	627
Satyrus becomes despot—his aggravated cruelty—his military vigour.....	628
Despotism of Timotheus, just and mild—his energy and ability ...	629
Despotism of Dionysius—his popular and vigorous government— his prudent dealing with the Macedonians, during the absence of Alexander in the East	630
Return of Alexander to Susa—he is solicited by the Herakleotic exiles—danger of Dionysius, averted by the death of Alexander.	631
Prosperity and prudence of Dionysius—he marries Amastris—his favour with Antigonus—his death	633
Amastris governs Herakleia — marries Lysimachus—is divorced from him—Klearchus and Oxathres kill Amastris—are killed by Lysimachus	634
Arsinoë mistress of Herakleia. Defeat and death of Lysimachus. Power of Seleukus	635
Herakleia emancipated from the despots, and a popular govern- ment established—recall of the exiles—bold bearing of the citi- zens towards Seleukus—death of Seleukus	636
Situation and management of Herakleia as a free government— considerable naval power	637
Prudent administration of Herakleia, as a free city, among the powerful princes of Asia Minor—general condition and influence of the Greek cities on the coast	638
Grecian Pentapolis on the south-west of the Euxine—Ovid at Tomi.	639
Olbia—in the days of Herodotus and Ephorus—increased num- bers, and multiplied inroads of the barbaric hordes	641
Olbia in later days—decline of security and production	644
Olbia pillaged and abandoned—afterwards renewed	646
Visit of Dion the Rhetor—Hellenic tastes and manners—ardent interest in Homer	ib.
Bosporus or Pantikapæum	648
Princes of Bosporus—relations between Athens and Bosporus ...	ib.

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-00961-4 - A History of Greece, Volume 12
George Grote
Frontmatter
More information

xxvi	CONTENTS.	Page
	Nymphæum among the tributary cities under the Athenian empire
	—how it passed under the Bosporanic princes	650
	Alliance and reciprocal good offices between the Bosporanic princes Satyros, Leukon, &c. and the Athenians. Immunities of trade
	granted to the Athenians	651
	Political condition of the Greeks of Bosphorus—the princes called themselves archons—their empire over barbaric tribes	653
	Family feuds among the Bosporanic princes—war between Satyros
	and Eumelus—death of Satyros II.....	654
	Civil war between Prytanis and Eumelus—victory of Eumelus—he kills the wives, children, and friends, of his brother	656
	His victorious reign and conquests—his speedy death	ib.
	Decline of the Bosporanic dynasty, until it passed into the hands of
	Mithridates Eupator	658
	Monuments left by the Spartokid princes of Bosphorus—sepulchral
	tumuli near Kertch (Pantikapæum)	ib.
	Appendix on the Localities near Issus	665
	INDEX.—[The references are made to the later editions.]	671

Purchasers of Grote's Greece may obtain, on application to the Publisher, Appendix to Grote's Greece, Vols. I. & II.