- Abstract Order, 121
 Algebraic symbols, 62–69; interpretation of laws of, 74–80; examples of, 83–92; iterative, 66, 86, 138; for extended Abstract Geometry, 143, 146
 Apollonius, 70
 Archimedes' axiom, 124, 137
 Brianchon hexagon, 47
 Betweenness, 95
 Cayley, 144
 Chasles, 160
 Correlative, 5
 Correspondence of the points of two lines, 44
 Dedekind, 125
 Dependent points, 33
 Desargues' theorem, 6, 31; for a star, 107, 120; Desargues, 117
 Duality, principle of, 5, 42, 55
 Enriques, 119, 125
 Equable distribution of points of harmonic net, 136
 Fano, 14, 120
 Gergonne, 144
 Harmonic point, from three others, 10; separation in harmonic relation, 119
 Heath, 47
 Hilbert, 93, 120
 Hölder, 125
 Homographic, 150
 Imaginary elements, 165–175
 Incidence, Propositions of, in three dimensions, 4, 70; in higher space, 33
 Involution, 62
 Iterative symbols, 66, 86, 138
 Kepler, 117, 146
 Klein, 131
 L'huillier, 144
 Lüroth, 131
 Moebius tetrads, 61
 Moulton, 120
 Numbers, v. Staudt's introduction of, 93
 Onesided surface, 118
 Order of points of a line, 96, 118; abstract order, notion of, 121
 Pappus' theorem, 47–52, 56, 60, 78, 81, 128
 Pasch, 109
 Peano, 97, 120; Peano's axiom, 97
 Perspective, figures in, 10, 13
 Perspectivities, a chain of, 17, 21
 Plane, definition of, 100; plane systems, related, 148
 Postulated points, 107, 114; elements, 116
 Projection, 43; Projective, 150
 Ptolemy, 70
 Reciprocal, 5
 Related ranges, 18, 25, 53, 55, 139, 160
 Reyes-y-Prosper, 109
 Schur, 93, 109
 Segment, 95
 Separation, effected by a line, 103; by a plane, 104; of two points by two, 118, 119
 Servois, 144
 Sixth point, constructed from five points in line, 15, 60, 77
 Space, system of three dimensions, 104; of four and five dimensions, 37
 Steiner, 144, 162; Steiner's existence theorem, 155
 Symbols, algebraic, 62–69; element-symbols, 70; iterative, 66, 86, 138; argument for, 152
 System, of points, 33, 100, 104, 148, 150; of symbols, 66, 143, 165
 Syzygy, 33, 71
 Taylor, 47, 62, 117, 146
 Transversals of four lines having three transversals, 27; of any four lines, 161
 Zeuthen, 131
