CAMBRIDGE LIBRARY COLLECTION

Books of enduring scholarly value

History

The books reissued in this series include accounts of historical events and movements by eye-witnesses and contemporaries, as well as landmark studies that assembled significant source materials or developed new historiographical methods. The series includes work in social, political and military history on a wide range of periods and regions, giving modern scholars ready access to influential publications of the past.

Relazioni degli Ambasciatori Veneti al Senato

These editions of reports sent back by Venetian ambassadors to the Great Council of the Republic in the sixteenth century were edited by Eugenio Albèri (1807–78) and published between 1839 and 1863. As Albèri notes in his preface, a law of 1296 decreed that all embassies and legations should submit a written report to the Council at the end of their mission, and the surviving records provide an invaluable resource for both political and economic historians. The fifteen volumes are divided into three series, on relations with European states outside Italy; with other Italian states; and with the Ottoman Empire. Volume 2 (Volume 1 of the second series), published in 1839, contains reports dating from 1527 to 1561, dealing with relations with Florence and with the duchy of Savoy: the long-term consequences of the French invasion of Italy in 1499 are an important topic.

Cambridge University Press has long been a pioneer in the reissuing of out-of-print titles from its own backlist, producing digital reprints of books that are still sought after by scholars and students but could not be reprinted economically using traditional technology. The Cambridge Library Collection extends this activity to a wider range of books which are still of importance to researchers and professionals, either for the source material they contain, or as landmarks in the history of their academic discipline.

Drawing from the world-renowned collections in the Cambridge University Library, and guided by the advice of experts in each subject area, Cambridge University Press is using state-of-the-art scanning machines in its own Printing House to capture the content of each book selected for inclusion. The files are processed to give a consistently clear, crisp image, and the books finished to the high quality standard for which the Press is recognised around the world. The latest print-on-demand technology ensures that the books will remain available indefinitely, and that orders for single or multiple copies can quickly be supplied.

The Cambridge Library Collection brings back to life books of enduring scholarly value (including out-of-copyright works originally issued by other publishers) across a wide range of disciplines in the humanities and social sciences and in science and technology.

La presente Collezione si divide in tre serie:

La 1.^a comprende le Relazioni degli Stati Europei, tranne l'Italia.

La 2.^a le Relazioni d'Italia. *

La 3.^a le Relazioni Asiatiche ed Africane.

* Abbiamo anche stimato conveniente il sottoporre le Relazioni di questa seconda serie ad una particolare distinzione, per la quale le Relazioni dei varj stati della Penisola, eccetto Roma, verranno date promiscuamente, come ci siam proposti di usare per le Relazioni del rimanente d'Europa, e come il presente 1.^o volume di questa seconda serie dimostra; mentre le Relazioni di Roma formeranno per sè sole interi volumi, dove senza interpolazione di altre verranno cronologicamente disposte, essendoci parso che così richiedesse il gran numero e l'importanza massima delle medesime, le quali costituiscono una storia del Papato, il cui valore non può essere abbastanza apprezzato che dietro l'esame stesso di questi preziosissimi documenti. Il secondo volume di questa seconda serie sarà il primo delle cose Romane, e si aprirà appunto colla Relazione di Polo Capello tornato dalla sua legazione ad Alessandro VI nell'anno 1500.
