

INDEX

TO THE CONTENTS OF VOL. I.

CHAPTER I.

NISMES.

	PAGE
Antiquities of this City—The Hôtel du Midi— Articles of Merchandise—History of the Maison Carrée—Work of Poldo d'Albenas—The Build- ing described—Origin of it—Now used as a Museum—Monument to Marcus Attius—Car- dinal Alberoni—Barbarous Project—Removal of Antiquities—The Amphitheatre described— Charles Martel—Excellent Precaution in Roman Theatres—Inscription—Officious Cicerone— Gate of Augustus—La Tour-Magne—Excava- tions—Fine Fountain—Temple of Diana— Brevity of Human Life	1

CHAPTER II.

TOWN OF ARLES.

Beucaire—Wooden Houses—Castle of King René
 —Church of St. Martha—Fabulous Monster—

	PAGE
The Hôtel described — The Hostess — Antique Furniture — Plentiful Dinner — Scrutiny—Visit to the Amphitheatre — The Préfect of Arles—Subterranean Excavations — Ancient Church of St. Anne — Altar to the Goddess of Good — Venus of Arles — Granite Obelisk — Primitive Manners — A Liberal Landlady	25

CHAPTER III.

ST. RÉMY.

Situation of the Town—Antiquities—The Triumphal Arch described — Male and Female Figures — The Mausoleum — Bassi-relievi of Battles, Infantry, &c.—Figure of a Winged Female—Latin Inscription — Variously explained — Interpretation of Monsieur P. Malosse — Respect for the Departed — On the Triumphal Arch and Mausoleum at St. Rémy	40
---	----

CHAPTER IV.

LYONS.

The Fête de Dieu — Procession through the Streets — Ecclesiastical and Military Pomp—Decorations in the Streets — Effect produced on the Mind by Sacred Music—Excitements to Religious Fer- vour — The Miserère	56
--	----

INDEX TO VOL. I.

253

CHAPTER V.

PAGE

PARIS.

Fatiguing Journey—Landau Accident—The Hôtel de Terrasse, in the Rue de Rivoli—Six Years Absence—The Duc and Duchesse de Guiche—Joy of Meeting—Fashion at Paris—Visit to Herbault's Temple of Fashion—Mademoiselle La Touche—Extravagant Charges—Caution to Husbands—A Word, also, to Wives—Visit to Madame Craufurd—Her prepossessing Appearance—House-hunting—Residence of the Maréchal Lobeau—Review in the Champ de Mars—Splendid Coup d'œil—The Marchioness de Loulé—Restrictions at Court—Accident to the Comte de Bourmont—Alarm of the Ladies—Charles the Tenth, the Dauphin, and the Dauphine—Melancholy Physiognomy of Charles the First—The Duchesse d'Angoulême—Her Trials and Endurance—French Love of Country—The Duchesse de Berri—Dinner at the Duchesse de Guiche's—William Lock—The Comte l'Espérance de l'Aigle—His high breeding—The Opera—Début of Taglioni—Her Poetical Style of Dancing—The Duc de Cazes—French and English Manners contrasted—Attentions to the Fair Sex in France—The Comtesses de Bellegarde—Character of the Duc de Gramont—Lady Barbara Craufurd—Count Valeski—Anger of the Maréchal Lobeau—Defect in French Houses—The Muette de Portici—Noblet—An old Danseuse—Gaiety at Tivoli

	PAGE
—Similarity in the Exterior of Parisian Ladies— A Quadrille Party — Demi-toilette — Late Tea- Party — Luxurious Chair — Delightful House in the Rue de Bourbon — Its costly Decorations — Its Interior described—The Princesse de la Mos- kowa—Sad Interview—Maréchal Ney	60

CHAPTER VI.

Custom of letting out Furniture — The Prince and Princesse Castelcicala—Lady Hawarden—Lady Combermere—Tone of Society at Paris—Attentions paid by Young Men to Old Ladies—Flirtations at Paris — Ceremonious Decorum — Comte Charles de Mornay — Parisian Upholsterers — Rich Furniture—Lord Yarmouth—Elegant Suite of Apartments—Charles Mills—Warm Affections between Relatives in France	109
---	-----

CHAPTER VII.

Domestic Arrangements — Changes in Young People — Pleasant Recollections — Lord Lilford — The Marquis and Marquise Zamperi — Comte Alex- ander de la Borde — The Marquis de Mornay — Mode of passing the Time — Evening Visits in France—Dinner-party—The Duc Dalberg—The Duc de Mouchy—Party to Montmorency—Rous- seau's Hermitage—Sensibility, a Characteristic of Genius — Solitude — Letter of Rousseau to Vol-

INDEX TO VOL. I.

255

	PAGE
taire — Church of Montmorency — Baths at Enghien — The Comtesse de Gand — Colonel E. Lygon — The Marquis de Dreux Brezé — Contrast between him and the Duc de Talleyrand — The Baron and Baroness de Ruysch — Mr. Douglas Kinnaird — Sir Francis Burdett — Colonel Leicester Stanhope — The Marquis Palavicini — Charms of Italian Women — Lords Darnley and Charlemont — Mr. Young, the Tragedian — Lord Lansdowne — Estimate of his Character — Sir Robert Peel — Respect for the Memory of Sir William Drummond — Lady Drummond — “Vivian Grey” — Mr. Standish — Intermarriages between the French and the English	124

CHAPTER VIII.

Charles Kemble — His Daughter’s Tragedy of “Francis the First” — Recollection of John Kemble — The Opera — Count Ory — Sir A. Barnard — Secret of Happiness — Visit to Mademoiselle Mars — Her Residence described — Memorial of her Theatrical Career — The Duchesse de la Force — Madame Grassini — Anecdote of her — Visit to Orsay — Its Situation — The Princesse de Cröy — Hamlet of Palaiseau — Drama of La Pie Voleuse — Family of the Duc de Guiche — The Vaudeville Théâtre — Scribe’s Avant, Pendant, et Après — Its Dangerous Tendency — French Ambition — Parisian Shopkeepers — Their Officious Conduct	152
--	-----

CHAPTER IX.

Lord and Lady Stuart de Rothesay—French Politeness — Mr. D—— and Mr. T—— — Study of Shakspeare—Attractions of Mrs. T—— — Lady Charlotte Lindsay and the Misses Berry — Sir William Gell — Mr. and Mrs. Hare — Female Amiability — Shopping — Hints on Female Dress — Brilliancy of French Conversation — Mr. J. Strangways — A severe Trial — The Plague-spot — Miraculous Escape — Dinner given by Comte A. de Maussion — Goethe's Faust — Character of "Margaret" — The witty Mr. M—— — Lord Byron — French Quickness of Apprehension — Sept Heures — Character of Charlotte Corday — Degenerate Taste of the Parisians — Hasty Conclusions	177
---	-----

CHAPTER X.

The celebrated Dr. P—— — Society of Medical Men — Dr. Guthrie — Requisites for a Surgeon — Celebrity and Merit — The Road to Fortune, as related by Dr. P—— — Successful Stratagem — Fancied Illness — Superfluity of Embonpoint — Mode of Treatment — Another Patient — The Doctor à-la-mode — Mr. P. C. Scarlett — His Father, Sir James Scarlett — Lord Erskine — Mr. H. B—— — Visit to the Théâtre Italien — Madame Malibran's "Desdemona" — Defect in her Singing — The Princesse Pauline Borghese — The Family of Napoleon — Particulars of the

INDEX TO VOL. I.

257

	PAGE
Duchesse d'Abrantes — The Luxembourg Palace and Gardens — A Loving Couple — Holiness of Marriage — Story of the Old Bachelor and his Crafty Housekeeper	205

CHAPTER XI.

Groups of Children in the Gardens of the Luxembourg — Joyous Sounds — The Nurses — The Child of Noble Birth and that of the Parvenu — Joys of Childhood — Contrast between Youth and Age — Meeting with Dr. P. — Arrival of General and the Comtesse d'Orsay — Attractions of the latter — Remark of Napoleon — Affection in Domestic Circles in France — The Duchesse de Guiche — The Comtesse d'Orsay — The Duc de Gramont — Madame Craufurd — The ci-devant Jeune Homme — Potier, the Actor — Sir Francis Burdett — Advantages of French Society — Topics of Conversation — Pedigrees of Horses — French Politeness — Deferential Treatment of the Fair Sex — Domestic Duties of the Duchesse de Guiche — Influence of Courts — Visit to the Théâtre des Nouveautés — La Maison du Rempart — Inflammable Exhibitions — Mr. Cuthbert and M. Charles Laffitte — Advance of Civilization — Lady Combermere — Mr. Charles Grant (now Lord Glenelg) — Curiosity Shops on the Quai Voltaire — Madame de Sevigné — Objects that have belonged to celebrated People — A Hint to the Ladies — Pincushion of Madame de Maintenon

	PAGE
—The Marquis de Rambouillet — Molière's Précieuses Ridicules — Pangs of Jealousy — Julie d'Angennes — Brilliant Coterie	234

CHAPTER XII.

The Marquise de Pouleprrie—The celebrated Madame du Barry — Anecdote — Mademoiselle Mars in Valerie — Her admirable Style of Acting — Playing to the Galleries — Exclusive Nature of Parisian Society — French Conversation — Quickness of Perception — Walk in the Gardens of the Tuilleries — Comparative Beauty of French and English Ladies—Graceful Walking of the Former — Difference of Etiquette — Well-bred Englishmen — Flight of Time — Colonel Caradoc, son of Lord Howden — New Year's Day — Custom of making Presents — Gallery of the Louvre — The Statues therein — Works of Art — Chefs-d'œuvre of the Old Masters — Consolation for Men of Genius — Nicolas Poussin	263
---	-----

CHAPTER XIII.

Visit to the Hôtel d'Orsay — Sad Change in it — Mr. Millingen, the Antiquary — Liberality of Comte d'Orsay — A Fanciful Notion — General Ornano — Unhappy Marriages accounted for — La Gazza Ladra — Malibran's "Ninetta" — The Calamities of Authors — Mr. D'Israeli — The Prin-
---	--

INDEX TO VOL. I.

259

	PAGE
cesse de Talleyrande — Her Person described — Her Dress and Manners — Amusing Story told by the Abbé Denon — Unexpected Arrival — Yes and No , by Lord Normanby — Lady Dysart — Comte Valeski — Influence of Agreeable Man- ners — Effects of opposite ones — Injudicious Friends — A Candid Admission — Lord — — Love of Contradiction — Remarks on the Novel of Pelham — Misery of receiving stupid Books — Malibran in La Cenerentola — French Customs — Proofs d' Amitié — Wedding Dresses	286

CHAPTER XIV.

Comte Charles de Mornay — His Wit and Good Nature — Mademoiselle Mars, in Henri III. — Some Account of the Play — Love and Ambition — Curious Incident — Romantic Notions — Passion of Love — Wordsworth's Poems — Admiration of his Writings — Religion displayed by the Upper Classes — The Duc de Bordeaux — Piety of the Great — Popularity of the Duchesse de Berri — Anecdote of her — Walter Savage Landor — His Imaginary Conversations — Sir William Gell — The Duc d'Orleans — His Envidable Situation — The Duc de Chartres — Genius of Shelley — Beauty of his Writings — His Wild Theories — William Spencer, the Poet — Melancholy Change in Him — French Prejudices towards the English — Example of it — Accomplishments of French Ladies — Talent for Conversation	311
---	-----

CHAPTER XV.

Consequences of the Revolution in France—Corruption of the Regency—Sarcastic Verses of St. Evremond — Reign of Louis the Fifteenth — Lessons taught by Affliction—Dangers of Anarchy—The Haute Noblesse previously to the Revolution—Want of Affection between Parents and Children — Superficial Judgments erroneous — Power of Fashion — The Novel of Devereux — Infrequency of Elopements in France — Les Dames de B—— — Their Attachment to each other — Old Maids — Servitude in England and France contrasted — French Masters and Mistresses — Treatment of Servants—Avoidance of Politics—French Discontent—Charles the Tenth—National Prosperity — The Duchesse de Guiche and her two Sons — Position of the Duc de Guiche	335
---	-----

INDEX

TO THE

CONTENTS OF VOL. II.

CHAPTER I.

PARIS.

	PAGE
Approach of Spring—Fogs on the Seine—The Jardins des Tuilleries—Impurity of the London Atmosphere—Exhilaration of the Spirits—Anecdote—The Catholic Question—Lord Rosslyn—The Duke of Wellington—Merits of a Cook— Amour Propre of a Parisian Cook—English Sauce—A Gourmand and an Epicure—The Duc de Talleyrand—A perfect Dinner—The Marquis de L——— House-hunting again—Letter from Lord B——— The Hôtel Monaco—College of St. Barbe—The Duchesse de Guiche and her Sons—A Mother's Triumph—Spirit of Emulation—The Quarter called the Pays Latin—An Author's Dress—Aspect of the Women—A Life of Study—Amabel Tastu's Poems—Effect of Living much in Society—Mr. W. Spencer—His Ab-

	PAGE
straction—Disadvantages of Civilization—Confession of Madame de — — A Hint to Comte — on visiting London—Suspicion of Poverty — A Diner Maigre —Luxurious Bishops	1

CHAPTER II.

Romantic Feelings of Lady C — — True Love—Disagreeable Neighbours—Credulity—Mademoiselle Delphine Gay — French Novels — French Critics—Eligible Mansions—Comforts of Seclusion—Genius of L. E. L.—The Comtesse d'O — — A Brilliant Talker—Letter from Mrs. Hare—Extreme Hospitality—Long Champs—Exhibition of Spring Fashions—French Beauties—Animated Scene—Promenade at Long Champs—Extravagance of Mademoiselle du Thé—Modern Morals — Cinq Mars , by Comte Alfred de Vigny—His Style—Strictures on Mankind—The best Philosophy—Speech of Lord Grey—The Caterpillar — A Voracious Appetite—A Refined Lady— La Chronique du Temps de Charles IX. , by Prosper Merimée—Estimation of Sir Walter Scott—Jules Janin—Injudicious Praise—Renewal of Youth—Self-Deception—Grey Hairs	26
--	----

CHAPTER III.

Victor Hugo's Derniers Jours d'un Condamné —Value of Common Sense—Conscience—Cunning
---	--

INDEX TO VOL. II.

263

	PAGE
—Curiosity Shops, or the Quai d'Orsay—Expensive and Tasteful Gifts—An Avaricious Vender—A Moral—Anonymous Scribbler—Weakness of Mind—Poems of Mrs. Hemans—The Minds of Genius—Poetesses of England—Arrival of Lord B—— — The Catholic Question carried—Irish Prejudices—Letters from Absent Friends—Sir William Gell—The Archbishop of Tarentum—Discoveries at Pompeii—Novel of The Disowned —Advantages to be derived from the Perusal of Works of Fiction—Politics—Charles the Tenth unpopular—Charles the First—The House of Bourbon—"Uneasy lies the Head that wears a Crown"—The Duc de T—— — Mr. Hook's Sayings and Doings —Visit to the Hôtel Monaco	52

CHAPTER IV.

A New Residence—Consolation in Sickness—House in the Rue de Matignon—Its Interior described—The Library—Drive in the Bois de Boulogne—Atmospheric Influence—The Rocher de Cancale—A Diner de Restaurant—A Gay Sight—Good Taste in Dress innate in Frenchwomen—Well-appointed Carriages—Soldier-like Air of the Male Population—Observation of the Emperor Napoleon—Characteristics of the British Soldier—National Anthem—Changes in the Journey of Life—Captain Marryat's Naval Officer—Performance of Latour d'Auvergne—Letter of Car-

	PAGE
not — Distinction awarded to Merit by Napoleon
— National Glory — Effect of Enthusiasm — Villa of the Duchesse de Montmorency — Residences on the Banks of the Thames — Bagatelle, the Seat of the Duc de Bordeaux — Earthly Happiness — Domestic Alterations — High Rents at Paris — Terrace and Aviary — Unsettled State	76

CHAPTER V.

Unexpected Events — Mr. and Mrs. Mathews — Their Son, Charles — Evening Party — Recitations and Songs — Pleasant Recollections — Visit to the Jardin des Plantes — Amusing Incident — Humorous Imitations — Intellectual Powers — Recourse to Reading — The Comte Montalembert — His Grief on the Death of his Daughter — Restraint imposed by Society — Fate of the Unfortunate — The Prince and Princess Soutzo — Particulars relative to them — Reverse of Fortune — Mr. Rogers and Mr. Luttrell — Memory of Lord Byron — His Lampoon on Rogers — Love of Sarcasm — Conversation of Mr. Luttrell — Lord John Russell — His Qualifications — Monsieur Thiers — Monsieur Mignet — His Vigorous Writings — Friendship between Thiers and Mignet — The Baron Cailleux — Visit to the Louvre — Taste for the Fine Arts — The Marquis and Marquise de B — — Clever People — Lord Allen and Sir Andrew Barnard — The Culinary Art	97
--	----

INDEX TO VOL. II.

265

CHAPTER VI.

PAGE

Mr. Rogers and Mr. Luttrell — Society of Refined Englishmen — Mercurial Temperament of the French — Opposite Characters — M. Erard's Collection of Pictures — Antique Bijouterie — Lord Pembroke — The Duke of Hamilton — Dr. Parr — Reproof of the Duc de Blacas — Monsieur Mignet — His great Knowledge — A Clever Man — Influence of Conscience — Abilities of Lord Palmerston — Lord Castlereagh — His Uncle, the late Marquess of Londonderry — Dangers of Fashion — Mr. Cutlar Fergusson — The Baron and Baroness de Ruysch — A Mind at Ease — Dreary Weather — Sad State of the Streets — Fogs — Fascination of Madame Grassini — Sledge Party — Sledge of the Duc de Guiche — That of Comte d'Orsay — Picturesque Night Scene — Revival of an Old Fashion — The Prince Polignac — His Amiable Manners — His Difficult Position 120

CHAPTER VII.

Effects of Indisposition — Instability of Earthly Blessings — Captain William Anson (Brother of Lord Anson) — His varied Acquirements — The pretty Madame de la H — Prince Paul Lieven — Captain Cadogan (now Earl Cadogan) — Life at Sea — Visit to the Duchesse de Guiche — Her Warmth and Gentleness of Manner — Political Crisis — The Conquest of Algiers — General Ex-

VOL. II.

N

	PAGE
celmans — Rash Measure — Charles the Tenth — His Ministry unpopular — Prosperity of France — Extorted Concessions — Dissolution of the Cham- bers — The Public Press — Controversy — Commotion before the Hôtel of the Ministre des Finances — The Ministers insulted — Counsel of the Duc de Guiche — Serious Aspect of Affairs — Crowds in the Streets — Household of Charles the Tenth — Noblesse of his Court — Confusion and Alarm — Riotous Conduct — Firing on the People — Formation of Barricades — Absence of the Civil Authorities — Nocturnal Impressions — Comtes d'Orsay and Valeski — Scene in the Place de la Bourse — The Corps de Garde set on Fire — Dark- ness in the Rue Richelieu — Further Disturbances — Continued Depredations — Breach between the People and the Sovereign — Anecdote of Monsieur Salvandy	139

CHAPTER VIII.

The Dead paraded through the Streets to inflame
 the Populace — The Shops closed — The Duc de Raguse censured — His Supineness — Devotion of the Duc de Guiche to his Sovereign — The Military Dispositions defective — Flag of the Bourbons — Troops in Want of Refreshment — Destruction of the Royal Emblems — Disgusting Exhibition —
 Rumours of Fresh Disasters — Opinion of Sir
 Roger de Coverley — Revolutions the Carnivals

INDEX TO VOL. II.

267

	PAGE
of History — Observation of Voltaire — Doctors Pasquier and de Guise — Report of Fire-arms — Paucity of Provisions — Female Courage — Do- mestic Entrenchment—Further Hostilities—Con- flicting Rumours — The Sublime and the Ridi- culous — Juvenile Intrepidity — Fatality — The Soldiers and the Populace — Visit to Madame Craufurd — Barricade in the Rue Verte — Ap- proaching Mob—Safe Arrival in the Rue d'Anjou — Terror of Madame Craufurd — Her Anxiety for her Relatives — Composure of the Marquis d'Aligre—Riotous Assembly in the Rue Verte— Their Conduct towards the Author — Dangerous Symbol of Aristocracy—Arrival at Home	158

CHAPTER IX.

Familiarity of French Servants—Power of the People — Misguided Men — Further Rumours — Who are the People?—An Intruder—A Revolutionary Hero — The Tuilleries and the Louvre taken —
 Sir Thomas Lawrence's Portrait of the Dauphin
 — The Terrible and the Comic — Trophies of Victory—The Palace of the Archbishop of Paris sacked—Concessions of Charles the Tenth—The Duchesse de Berri — Lord Stuart de Rothesay—Noble Conduct—The Duchesse de Guiche—Her trying Situation — The Provisional Government
 —The Tri-coloured Flag — Meeting of the Deputies—Bitter Feelings towards the Royal Family

	PAGE
— Bravery of the Populace — Lafayette and his Followers — Scene in the Street — “The Good Cause” — The wealthy M. Laffitte — Valuable Collections at Paris — Courageous Conduct of the Duchesse de Guiche — Her Champions — Attack on the Hôtel of the Duc de Guiche — Comte Alfred d’Orsay — Painful Position	179

CHAPTER X.

Sanctuary of Home — Madame C — — Intoxicated Revolutionist — His Good Nature — The Proprietor of a Wine-Shop — Politeness of all Classes in France — Barrack in the Rue Verte — Difficulty of obtaining Admission — Agitation of Madame C — — Comte Valeski — The Barracks attacked and taken — Dangerous Route — Impassable Gulf between the Sovereign and the People — The Royal Cause hopeless — A Fine Youth killed — Reflections on his Death — Number of Persons killed during the last Three Days — Details of a Battle — Rumour respecting the Dauphin — Interment of the Page — Fatality attending the Bourbons — Absence of the Dauphine — Revolt of the Troops — The Duchesse de Guiche at St. Germain — Her noble Bearing — The Duc de Gramont — The Château du Val, the Residence of the Princesse de Poix — The Fugitive Duchess — Popularity of Lafayette — The Duc d’Orleans named Lieut.-General of France — Order restored

INDEX TO VOL. II.

269

	PAGE
— Abdication of Charles the Tenth—Renewed Excitement—Clamours against the King—A Fickle People—Wicked Rumours—The King quits Rambouillet—School of Adversity—Desertion by Friends—Route to Cherbourg	200

CHAPTER XI.

Rumour relative to the Son of Napoleon—Unsettled State of Affairs—Conflicting Rumours—The Duke of Orleans—Charms of a Crown—Aspect of the Champs Elysées—Unsought Popularity—Comte d'Orsay—Scene of Destruction—Shattered Trees—Pride of the People—Re-action after Excitement—Anecdote—The Jeweller's Wife—Passions of the French—Playing at Soldiers—Enthusiasm of the Garde Nationale—Return to Paris of the Duchesse de Guiche—Confidence of the Duc—Courage of the Duchesse—General Gerard—The Duke of Orleans accepts the Crown—Popularity, an unstable Possession—Abilities of Louis Philippe—Expectations formed of him—Person of Lafayette—Appearance in Public of the new Sovereign—The Queen—Her painful Position—The King of the French in the Place Vendôme—Monsieur Mignet—His varied Acquirements—The celebrated General Peppé—Strange Infatuation—Charles the Tenth embarks at Cherbourg—Devotion to the exiled Bourbons

	PAGE
—The English Popular at Paris—Mr. Hamilton, Secretary of the Embassy—Brilliant Conversation of M. Thiers—The Prince and Princesse Soutzo —Mr. Poulter—Lesson of Resignation—De- parture for England—Leave-taking—Adieu to Paris.....	221

THE END.

LONDON:

PRINTED BY MOVES AND BARCLAY, CASTLE STREET, LEICESTER SQUARE.