

INDEX

TO THE THREE VOLUMES.

A.

- ABELL, Mrs., Napoleon's pet English child at St. Helena, "Betsy Balcomb," ii. 334
- Aberdeen, Lord, Gell's references to family, ii. 33
- Abinger, Lord, notice of, iii. 46
 Letters of, iii. 51
- Acton, Lady, her theatricals at Naples in 1834, ii. 82
- Acton, Sir Frederick, notice of, ii. 123
- Aguilar, Colonel, letter with a lock of Mrs. Hemans' hair, iii. 279
- Ainsworth, W. H., Esq., notice of, and letters, iii. 222
- Allen, John, notice of, iii. 384
- Alpinula, Julia, remarkable sepulchral inscription, ii. 365
- Anson, Henry, acquaintance with Lady B. at Florence, i. 114
- Arlincourt, Vicomte De, notice of, and letters, ii. 190
- Auckland, Lord, notice of, iii. 356
- Auldjo, John, letter to Lady B., ii. 209
 Reference to his ascent of Mont Blanc, ii. 91

B.

- Barings, the, at Florence in 1828, ii. 56
- Bathurst, Miss, account of her death by drowning at Rome, ii. 27
 Gell's account, ii. 39
 Other references to same occurrence, ii. 126, 405
- Beattie, Dr. William, notice of, letters and poems, iii. 231
- Bianconi, Charles, letter to Lady B., iii. 265
- Biography, observations of Editor, on its legitimate inquiries, i. 1
 Remarks of Sir Egerton Brydges, i. 5
 ——— of a German writer, i. 7
 References to Goldsmith's Life, i. 9
- Blakeney, General, present at the marriage of Miss Marguerite Power, i. 457

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04833-0 - The Literary Life and Correspondence of the Countess of Blessington: Volume 3

Richard Robert Madden

Index

More information

- BLESSINGTON, LADY, account of her early life and family, i. 12
 Pedigree of the Sheehys, ib.
 Persecution of Father N. Sheehy and Edmond Sheehy, i. 15
 Detailed account of the same, i. 484
 Education, home, family circle, i. 17
 Removal from Knockbrit to Clonmel, i. 18
 First marriage and results. ib.
 Separation from Captain Farmer : residence at Cahir, i. 35
 Residence in Dublin, i. 36
 Residence at Sidmanton, Hants, i. 38
 Second marriage with Lord B., i. 39
 Peculiar character of her beauty, i. 59
 First presentation by Lord B. to his Irish friends, i. 61
 Accompanies Lord B. to his Tyrone estates, ib.
 Costly preparations made at Mountjoy Forest, i. 62
 Singular contrasts of splendour and misery, ib.
 Numerous claims on Lady B.'s bounty, i. 41
 Removal of, from Manchester Square to St. James's Square, i. 70
 Launched into fashionable life, ib.
 The éclat of her beauty, and graces of her conversation, ib.
 Turn for grave irony, ib.
 Reference to her by Moore, visits her with W. Irving in 1822, ib.
 Brilliant society in St. James's Square, i. 72
 Surrounded by the first celebrities of the time, ib.
 First acquaintance with Count D'Orsay in London, ib.
 Illustrious personages visitors at St. James's Square, i. 73
 Leaves England on a continental tour in 1822, i. 74
 Miss M. Anne Power accompanies them, i. 75
 Count D'Orsay joins their party in France, i. 80
 Extensive preparations in Paris for their tour, i. 79
 Renews her acquaintance with Denon, i. 76
 Mentions two visits to Paris, previous to 1822, i. 77
 Moore's frequent visits to her at Paris, i. 78
 In Moore's company, descends "La Montagne Russe," ib.
 Observations on art in the galleries of the Louvre, ib.
 Admires a Madonna and child, by Raphael, in spite of her "stern Protestantism," i. 79
 Sets out for Switzerland, ib.
 Joined by Count D'Orsay, and sets out for Italy, i. 80
 Her works, "The Idler in France," "The Idler in Italy," i. 81
 Is introduced to Byron, 1st April, 1823, at Genoa, ib.
 Her description of Byron, i. 83
 Byron's account of this interview, i. 84
 First mention of D'Orsay in her Diaries, i. 85
 Arrangements for the Count's accompanying the party to Naples, ib.
 Byron's liking for D'Orsay, ib.
 Byron's epigram, "Il diavolo e entrato in Paradiso," i. 86
 Lines of Byron to, ib.
 Letter of Byron to, i. 87
 Parting with Byron, i. 88

BLESSINGTON, LADY, continued.

- Byron's farewell letter to, i. 89
 Second visit to Genoa, visits his former abode, i. 131
 Observations on Byron's death, ib.
 Refers to "consequences resulting from the violation of ties, never severed without retribution," i. 132
 No cordial friendship between her and Byron, i. 90
 Departure from Genoa for Naples, 2nd June, 1823, i. 92
 Arrival in Rome, 5th July, 1823, ib.
 Disappointed, departs after nine days for Naples, i. 93
 Fastidious tastes, occasional aims at stage effects, i. 94
 Arrival at Naples, delighted with its scenery, climate, site, &c. ib.
 Her glowing description of the bay, i. 95
 Yachting excursions, i. 100
 Her account of "The Bolivar," ib.
 Residence in the Palazzo Belvidere, i. 102
 Singular beauty of its site and scenery, i. 103
 Her description of it, ib.
 Visits to Pompeii, Herculaneum, with Gell, i. 104
 Her lines on Pompeii, ib.
 Visits to ancient monuments, with eminent savans and artists, ib.
 Visits Pæstum, with Lord Morpeth, Mr. Millingen, &c. i. 105
 Notice of ruins of Pæstum, ib.
 Ascent of Mount Vesuvius, i. 107
 Celebrities who frequented the Palazzo Belvidere, i. 110
 Removal to the Villa Gallo in March, 1825, i. 111
 Departure from Naples in February, 1826, i. 112
 Proceeds via Rome to Florence, sojourn there, ib.
 Re-visits Genoa, meets Lord John Russell, ib.
 Returns to Pisa, remains there till June, 1827, i. 114
 Return to Florence, acquaintance there, ib.
 Returns to Rome, December, 1827, rents the Palazzo Negrone, i. 123
 Enormous expenditure there, ib.
 The seeds of the Encumbered Estates Court sown in Italy, ib.
 Editor, on return from Egypt, visits the Blessingtons in Rome, ib.
 Saw there the first time the young Countess D'Orsay, then three months married, i. 123
 Preparations for departure from Rome, May 7th, 1828, i. 125
 Parting entertainment given to her by Mr. Mills, ib.
 Among the guests, Sir William Gell, Mr. and Mrs. Dodwell, ib.
 Gell and Count Esterhazy see her take her departure, i. 126
 Gell's fears expressed that they should meet no more, ib.
 Refers to her visit that day to Sir W. Drummond's grave, ib.
 Visits the shrine of the Santa Casa at Loretto, i. 127
 Philosophizes a l'Anglaise on superstitious mummeries, ib.
 Witnesses the execution of three men at Ravenna, ib.
 Renews her acquaintance at Venice with W. S. Landor, i. 128
 Visits the Ambrosian library at Milan, i. 129
 Her account of a lock of the golden hair of Lucretia Borgia, an

BLESSINGTON, LADY, continued.

- several letters of hers to Cardinal Bembo: obtains some of the hair, reference to it in the "New Monthly Magazine," for 1825, i. 129
- Visits the shrine of San Carlo Boromeo, in the Duomo of Milan, i. 130
- At the close of 1828 re-visits Genoa, i. 131
- Five years previously, knew Byron there, ib.
- On last occasion saw Lady Byron and her daughter there, i. 132
- Departure for Paris, and close of her Italian life, ib.
- Returns to Paris in June, 1828, after an absence of six years, i. 133
- First visitors, Duke and Duchess de Guiche, ib.
- Rents the Hotel Ney, ib.
- Great expenditure in adorning Hotel, ib.
- The magnificence of the decorations, &c. ordered by Lord B., suitable for royalty, ib.
- Her description of the chambre a coucher and dressing-room: the bed, with its gorgeous hangings, supported on the backs of large silvered swans, &c. i. 134.
- The luxurious adornments and furniture, compared with those of the Imperial Palace at Fontainebleau, i. 136.
- Return to London in 1830, i. 166
- Conversational powers: love of intellectual society, ib.
- Three leading circles of London intellectual celebrities some twenty years ago: the remarkable women who presided over them, ib.
- Conversational powers of Fox, Mackintosh, Sydney Smith, Lord Holland, Madame de Staël, i. 154
- Her love of London life, like De Staël's love of Paris, i. 156
- Establishment in Seamore Place in 1831: beginning of third phase in her literary career, i. 166
- Her picture of "the modern Mæcæneses of May Fair," patronesses of "tame poets and petits littérateurs, who run about drawing-rooms as docile as lap-dogs," i. 165
- Reasons for giving up house in St. James's Square, i. 166
- Description of the réunions of London: celebrities at her house in Seamore Place, ib.
- Willis's reference to those réunions, and their celebrities, i. 167
- B. Haydon's references to her soirées, i. 179
- Her house robbed in Seamore Place, ib.
- Removes to Gore House, i. 180
- Changes in her tastes at different epochs, ib.
- Different periods of Editor's renewed acquaintance with her, i. 181
- Character of Gore House society, i. 182
- Laudable aim of Lady B. in bringing people together, of opposite pursuits, opinions, and interests, i. 183
- One of her foreign guests, Monsieur Julien le Jeune de Paris, in his youth a secretary of Robespierre, said to be a regicide and a terrorist, a philanthropist, a poet, and a sentimentalist in his old age, i. 184
- His recitations in the first revolution, i. 185

BLESSINGTON, LADY, continued.

- At Lady Blessington's, of his dolorous poem, "Mes Chagrins Politiques," i. 185
- His gift of tears, i. 187
- D'Orsay's talent in drawing out Julien: a scene with Dr. Quin, Editor, &c. &c. i. 188
- Julien and L.E.L., i. 190
- Lady Blessington's embarrassments consequent on expensive establishment of Gore House: D'Orsay's difficulties, claims of many persons on her bounty, i. 191
- Punctuality in her accounts, ib.
- Folly of thinking of sustaining a fashionable position by the aid of literature, ib.
- Charles Lamb's opinion of literature as a calling for a livelihood, i. 192
- Expenditure at Gore House, i. 193
- Costly efforts to maintain a literary position: Scott's reference to Lydia White, ib.
- Pressure of misfortunes, and pecuniary losses of Lady Blessington, i. 194
- Beginning of literary career in St. James's Square, with the publication of "Sketches of Scenes in the Metropolis," &c.: the first sketch, descriptive of the ruin of a fashionable London establishment, and an auction of its magnificent furniture, might serve for that of the sale at Gore House twenty-seven years later, i. 208
- Vicissitudes and changes of fortune of occupiers of Gore House, i. 462
- Arrives in Paris middle of April, 1849, i. 211
- Takes an appartement near Champs Elysées, and furnishes it with much elegance, ib.
- Preparations made in vain: takes possession of the new abode 3rd of June, 1849, and dies the day following, after a sojourn of five weeks in Paris, ib.
- On arrival in Paris, found coldness and neglect in some quarters, where she had a right to expect kindness and gratitude, i. 212
- Accueil* of Prince Louis Napoleon, ib.
- Plans for a new literary career formed in Paris, i. 213
- Striking coincidences in circumstances of sudden deaths of Lord and Lady Blessington in Paris, each event shortly after arrival from London, ib.
- Reminded, in a letter to her a few weeks before her death, by a British Peeress, of the necessity of remembering religious duties, i. 214
- On two Sundays, while in Paris, attended the church of the Madeleine, ib.
- Heath's failure, Irish famine, and difficulties leading to the break-up at Gore House, i. 194
- Advice of friends on ditto, i. 196
- In April, 1849, the long-impending crash, i. 198
- Execution put in, i. 199

BLESSINGTON, LADY, continued.

- For two years previously, constant fears of executions, and arrest of D'Orsay, and precautions to prevent them, i. 199
- Particulars of first intimation of the execution in Gore House, ib.
- Auction at Gore House,—foreshadows of that denouement in some of her works: her remarks on the old curiosity shops of Paris, and breaking-up of great establishments, i. 200
- The concluding words, "So will it be when I am gone," i. 201
- Catalogue of magnificent effects and furniture of Gore House, ib.
- 10th May, 1849, and following days, Editor attends sale, meets several of the old guests and intimate friends of the house, sees Lawrence's portraits of Lord and Lady Blessington sold, several of D'Orsay's portraits, the library, Lady Blessington's ornaments of gold and silver, i. 202
- Letters of a few kind friends to her on the break-up, i. 206
- Departure from Gore House, accompanied by her nieces, for the continent, 14th April, 1849, and end of her London career, i. 208
- State of religious opinions for many previous years, weariness of spirit, vague desires for retirement from the turmoil of a life in salons and literary labours, i. 200
- Remarkable conversation of Editor with D'Orsay, respecting Lady Blessington's religious sentiments, shortly before his death, i. 352
- Particulars of her last illness and death given in a letter of Miss Power to Editor, i. 215.
- Account of monument erected by D'Orsay, i. 217
- English inscription by Barry Cornwall, i. 218
- Latin inscription, altered from one by W. S. Landor, i. 219
- Landor's original inscription and translation, ib.
- Reference to an inscription on the tomb of Dryden's daughter, i. 220
- Different accounts of the ages of Lady Blessington and sister, i. 221
- Notices in public journals of her death, i. 223
- View of her literary career, tastes, and talents, i. 225
- Some analogy with those of Madame Geoffrin, ib.
- D'Alembert's account of Madame Geoffrin—"Sa passion de donner,"—unceasing beneficence: her soirées, and entourage of authors, artists, literati, &c. i. 228
- Testimonies of Mr. and Mrs. Hall to Lady Blessington's active and untiring benevolence, ib.
- Her eagerness to discover merit in others, and enjouement of her appreciation of it, i. 230
- An outline of a class of habitual depreciators of talent, who ignore all merit superior to their own, i. 231
- Lady Blessington naturally of a generous and kindly nature, i. 232
- Testimony of one eighteen years about her, to her generous disposition, her numerous charities and sympathies with the unfortunate, ib.
- Embarrassments of late years constantly augmenting: her life a

BLESSINGTON, LADY, continued.

- continual struggle with difficulties, her position in the brilliant society around her a state of splendid misery, i. 235
 Vanity of consolation in such circumstances sought in the worldly wisdom of Rochefoucault, i. 236
 The undue importance she attached to the writings of the modern French philosophers, i. 237
 Her fatal gift of pre-eminent attractiveness in society, i. 239
 The double influence exercised by her of intellectuality and beauty, ib.
 The necessity of keeping up a dominion obtained by such influence by constant administrations of cordial professions of affection and admiration, epistolary or conversational, i. 240
 Dr. Parr's designation—"the most gorgeous Lady Blessington," ib.
 The misery of being continually "en scene," i. 241
 Her reflections on various subjects, MS. books of hers, named "Night thought books:" some of them well deserving of attention, on the wrongs and woes of women, i. 244
 Several short pieces in verse of the same character, i. 247
 Notices of her works, i. 250
 Notice of the Annuals edited by her: contributors to them: origin and decline of those periodicals—specimen of Lady Blessington's poetical contributions, i. 264
 When income from novel writing and the editing of Annuals fell off, efforts to derive emolument from connection with periodical literature of any other kind, iii. 246
 Engagement with the "Daily News," as a contributor of exclusive intelligence, i. 271
 Income derived from her literary labours for several years, i. 273
 Waifs and strays of thoughts and observations, ib.
 Lines addressed to her by various persons, i. 292
 Notice of her correspondence with celebrities of all climes and pursuits, ii. 2
 Publication of her own memoirs suggested to her, iii. 273
 Her patronage sought after, iii. 287
 Letters to Captain Marryatt, iii. 92
 — to Sir H. Bulwer, ii. 480
 — to Sir R. Peel, iii. 41
 — to Dr. Beattie, iii. 236
 — to C. J. Mathews, iii. 351
 — to Mrs. Mathews, iii. 313
 — to Lady W., respecting L. E. L., ii. 304
 — to Madame Guiccioli, ii. 236
 — to Charles Bianconi, iii. 265
 — to W. S. Landor, ii. 353
 — to John Forster, ii. 453
 — to a young lady, referring to her unhappiness, iii. 344
 — to Mrs. M., complaining of calumnies in "The Age," iii. 333
 End of a career that was not happy, iii. 344
 Notice of an unfounded rumour respecting her death, iii. 489

- BLESSINGTON, LORD, origin of Rt. Hon. Charles James Gardiner,
 2nd Viscount Mountjoy, i. 44
 Notice of family and of his father's death, i. 45
 Succession of his son, Rt. Hon. C. J. Gardiner, i. 47
 Adopts his father's political principles, i. 50
 Elected a representative Peer in 1809, i. 49
 Created Earl of Blessington in 1816, ib.
 First speech in House of Peers, i. 50
 Part taken by him on Queen's trial, i. 51
 His manners, tastes, and education, ib.
 Passion for theatricals, lavish in his patronage, i. 52
 Habits of self-indulgence, i. 53
 Acquaintance with Mrs. Brown in 1808, ib.
 His establishment at Worthing, ib.
 Ditto, in Portman Square, ib.
 His son, Charles John, born there, i. 55
 Establishment in Manchester Square, ib.
 His daughter, Rosalie, born there, ib.
 Marriage with Mrs. Brown in 1812, ib.
 Birth of Lady Harriet Gardiner, ib.
 Lord and Lady Mountjoy proceed to Paris, ib.
 Death of Lady Mountjoy in 1814, ib.
 Ages of children, birth and death of son and heir, ib.
 Notice of daughters, ib.
 Grief of Lord Mountjoy, for his lady's death, ib.
 Funeral pageant of great magnificence, ib.
 Scene at the house of mourning, Dublin, i. 56
 Second marriage, in February, 1817, with Mrs. Farmer, i. 58
 First introduction of Lady Blessington to his friends in Dublin, i. 57
 Costly preparations for visit to Mountjoy Forest, i. 62
 Follies of inordinate extravagance, ib.
 Embarrassments at time of second marriage, i. 63
 Rent roll of Irish estates, ib.
 Visit of Editor to Tyrone properties, ib.
 His liberality as a landlord, ib.
 Builds a theatre at Rash, on one of his Tyrone estates, i. 64
 Actors and actresses domiciled there—lavish expense, i. 65
 Moore's reference to those theatricals, ib.
 Disappearance of the theatre, ruin of house, &c., ib.
 Assists at banquet to John Kemble on retirement, i. 66
 Plays The Green Knight, in Valentine and Orson, ib.
 The Rash theatricals, from 1802 to 1812, ib.
 Theatrical tastes of Lord Blessington's father, i. 52
 Visits his Tyrone estates with General D'Orsay and one of the Grammonts, i. 70
 His last visit to them in 1825, ib.
 Sets out for the Continent in 1822, i. 74
 Hires the cook of an Emperor, buys a vast batterie de cuisine, i. 76
 Renews acquaintance with Byron at Genoa, i. 82
 Buys Byron's yacht, "The Bolivar," i. 90

BLESSINGTON, LORD, continued.

- Receives the news at Genoa of the death of his son and heir, i. 117
 An account of his surviving children, ib.
 His two daughters left in Ireland, in charge of his sister, Lady Harriet Gardiner, ib.
 Makes a codicil to his will at Genoa, 2nd June, 1823, naming Count D'Orsay sole guardian of his surviving son, and his sister guardian of his daughters, reciting engagement entered into with Count D'Orsay, to marry one of his daughters, i. 118
 Bequeathes £3000 a-year to Lady Blessington, ib.
 31st August, 1823, executes a new will, provides for intended marriage, reduces annuity to Lady Blessington, ib.
 D'Orsay's marriage took place the 1st of December, 1827, i. 125
 Great extravagance in Paris in 1828, i. 133
 Large outlay in decoration of the Hotel Ney, i. 134
 Proceeds to England, in 1829, to vote for Catholic emancipation, i. 137
 Editor visits his Lordship at St. James's Square, ib.
 His deep interest in the Catholic question, ib.
 Letter to Editor: his views for the amelioration of Ireland, ib.
 Letter of introduction to Lord Strangford, ib.
 Having voted on Catholic question, returns to Paris, i. 138
 23rd May, 1829, on his return to Paris, dies suddenly, i. 139
 Remains conveyed to Dublin: deposited in family vault, in St. Thomas's Church, ib.
 Letters of W. S. Lando on the death of, i. 140
 The embarrassment of his affairs at the time of his death, 142
 Value and extent of his Irish estates, from the schedules to act of parliament for their sale passed in 1846, i. 143
 Lists of mortgages, debts, bequests, &c. i. 460
 Remnant of the vast properties of the Mountjoys now unsold, i. 148
 Detailed account of incumbrances on his estates from Schedules of act for their sale, i. 460
 Rental of the estates, from ditto, i. 461
 Account of his death, in letter to Landor, ii. 355
 Letters from Duke of Richmond to, iii. 440
 Letter from Mrs. Siddons, iii. 442
 His letters to C. J. Mathews, i. 396; iii. 443
 To W. S. Landor, iii. 447
 B. F., letters signed, to Lady Blessington, iii. 267
 Borghese, Prince, "the noble Roman," remarkable for his obesity, i. 114
 Boulter, Primate, recommendation of Mr. Gardiner, i. 46
 Brougham, Lord, notice of, iii. 27
 Letters of, iii. 30
 Brown, Mrs., née Campbell, early acquaintance with Lord Blessington, i. 53
 Her family, children, i. 54
 Her marriage with Lord Blessington, ib.
 Death of Major Brown, ib.

- Bulwer, Sir Edward Lytton, in Italy in 1833, ii. 447
 Entertained by Archbishop of Tarento, ii. 74
 Notice of, ii. 440
 Letters of, to Lady Blessington, ii. 445
 Epistolary poem to ditto, ii. 466
 Bulwer, Sir Henry, notice of, ii. 476
 Letters to Lady Blessington, ii. 484
 Letters of Lady Blessington to, ii. 480
 Bunsen, Chevalier, Prussian minister at Rome in 1828, ii. 55
 Burdett, Sir Francis, notice of, iii. 139
 Burrell, William, Gell's reference to his new vest and cravat for each day of the year, ii. 43
 Bushe, Chief Justice, Marquess Wellesley's reference to, iii. 4, 11
 Notice of, iii. 414
 Bute, Lady, Gell's reference to, ii. 43
 Butera, Princess of, death at Naples, ii. 62
 Byng, George, Esq., notice of, iii. 376
 Byron, Lord, early acquaintance with Lord Blessington, i. 83 Refers to Lord Blessington "in all the glory of gems and snuff-boxes," i. 85
 Becomes acquainted with Lady Blessington at Genoa, i. 82
 Lines and letters to Lady Blessington, i. 86
 Observations of Lady Blessington on his death—revisiting Genoa,
 i. 131
 Lady Blessington on that occasion saw Lady Byron and her daughter at Genoa, i. 132
 References to D'Orsay, in Byron's letters, i. 84
 Gell's reference to Byron's death, ii. 33
 — anecdote of him passing the Alfred club, ii. 69
 Reference to Polidori, ii. 215
 Lines of Byron not in any English edition of his works, ii. 219
 His death. The removal of his remains, ii. 232
 Lady Blessington's remarks on his character, i. 83
 Landor's remarks on his character, ii. 381
 Mr. Armstrong's letter respecting "the Bolivar," iii. 475

C.

- Calabrella, Baroness, marries Captain Jenkins; notice of her literary career, i. 35
 Caldwell, Miss Bess, Gell's references to, ii. 31, 47, 55, 61
 Caledon, Lord, Colonel of Tyrone militia, in Clonmel, i. 37
 Campbell, Lady Charlotte, Gell's reference to, ii. 45
 Campbell, the Abbé, quarrels with Gell, Craven, the Blessingtons,
 ii. 45
 Notice of his career, ii. 106
 Campbell, Thomas, animosity to Byron, i. 90
 Letter to Lady B., iii. 221

- Canterbury, Lady, daughter of Edmond Power, widow of John Home Purves, Esq. i. 14
 Early career—See Purves.
 Death of Mr. Purves at Pensacola, in 1827, i. 446
 Marriage of Mrs. Purves with the Speaker, i. 442
 Notice of Lord and Lady Canterbury, i. 440
 Difficulties arising from Lord C.'s loss of office in 1835, i. 448
 Death of Lord C. in July, 1845, ib.
 Death of Lady C. in November, 1845, aged 54, ib.
 Notice of her daughter Mrs. Fairlie, i. 449.
 Account of Mrs. F.'s daughter, the beautiful mute, ib.
 Lines of D'Israeli on the beautiful mute, ib.
 Remarkable evidences of Mr. F.'s spiritualized mind, i. 452
 Lady Blessington's reference to her sister's death, ii. 371
 Carlisle, Lord, acquaintance with Lady B.—See Morpeth.
 Notice of, iii. 373
 Caroline, Queen, her career in Italy, from 1814, references to, ii. 8
 Her chamberlains and household, ii. 140
 Miss Demont's diary, ii. 39
 Gell's reference to his possession of sixty or seventy of the Queen's letters, ii. 88
 Charleville, Lady, intellectual society at her house, notice of, i. 162
 Chester, Henry, Esq., notice of, iii. 408
 Chesterfield, Lord, notice of, iii. 371
 C., letters signed, to Lady Blessington, iii. 271
 Chevalier le, author of voyage to the Troad, ii. 61
 Chorley, H. F., Esq., notice of, iii. 402
 Cochrane, Baillie, Esq., letter to Lady B., iii. 294
 Notice of, iii. 407
 Colman, Geo. the Younger, letters and notice of, iii. 126
 Cook, Henry, letter to Lady B., iii. 287
 Corinne, Madame de Stael's, origin of the story, iii. 146
 Correspondence of Lady B., notice of, ii. 1
 Omission of letters, iii. 346
 Correspondents of Lady B., letters of theirs omitted, ii. 7
 Cornwall, Barry (B. W. Procter), notice of, iii. 201, 202
 Letters of, iii. 202
 Cork, Dowager Lady, her celebrity as Miss Monckton in Johnson's times; her soirées of late years, i. 164
 Corry, James, early friend of Lord Blessington's, taste for theatricals, i. 7
 Assists at Lord B.'s private theatricals, i. 57, 65
 On a visit at Mountjoy Forest, i. 69
 Coventry, Lady Augusta, Gell's references to her beauty, ii. 65
 Idem, to intended marriage with Hon. H. Fox, ii. 72
 Cowper, Hon. Charles Spencer, marries the widow of Count D'Orsay;
 Notice of, i. 55.
 Crampton, John, assists in Lord B.'s theatricals, i. 66
 Letter of Sir P. C. in reference to them, ib.

- Craven, Hon. Keppel, beginning of acquaintance with Lady B., ii. 141
 Chamberlain to Queen Caroline in 1814, ii. 8, 140
 Letter to him of Mr. J. Ramsey, in re Gell, ii. 17
 Gell's references to him, ii. 29—32
 Mythological emblems, mysteries, and explanations of, for Lady
 Blessington, ii. 40
 Death of his brother, ii. 45
 Buys a large convent near Salerno, ii. 82
 Receives company in his convent, ii. 95
 Gell's reference to his son's intended marriage, ii. 90
 Diplomatic career of his son, ii. 143
 Reference to the convent at Penta, ii. 90
 Notice of, ii. 124
 Letters of, to Lady Blessington, ii. 144.

D.

- Dallas, George, letter to Lady B., iii. 286.
 Deerhurst, Lady Mary, references to her, by Gell, ii. 26, 31, 44
 Ditto "going over the mountains of China," ii. 55
 Deffand, Madame du, her epistolary and conversational talents, ii. 5 ;
 iii. 410.
 Delavigne, Cassimir, notice and letters of, ii. 199.
 Devonshire, Duchess of, her death, attended by Dr. Quin, ii. 27.
 Dickens, Charles, notice of, iii. 79
 Letters of, iii. 82
 Dillon, Lord, author of an epic poem at Florence, i. 114
 D'Israeli, Isaac, notice of, iii. 59
 Letters of, iii. 63
 D'Israeli, Right Hon. Ben., notice of, iii. 64
 Letters of, iii. 72
 Lines addressed to "a beautiful mute," i. 450
 Dodwell, Edward, the Antiquarian, cuts up a mummy in Rome, ii. 43
 Gell's references to, ii. 44, 49
 His death—marriage of his widow, ii. 75
 Countess Spour at Rome in 1834, ii. 87, 91
 Notice of, ii. 156
 Dogherty, Mrs., relative of Lady Blessington, living near Cashel, i. 42
 Donoughmore, Lord, the patron of Edmond Power, i. 22
 Dormer, Mrs., Gell's reference to, ii. 58
 D'ORSAY, COUNT ALFRED, first acquaintance with Lady Blessington in England, i. 80
 Acquaintance renewed in Florence, ib.
 Sets out from Avignon with the Blessingtons for Italy, ib.
 First acquaintance with Byron at Genoa, i. 82
 Byron's liking for him, sits for his portrait to D'Orsay, i. 86
 Byron's allusion to the French Count, a "cupidon déchainée," i. 84
 Displays his talent at drawing-out people, on Lieut. Smith, R.N.,
 i. 102
 Engagement entered into with Lord Blessington to marry one of his

D'ORSAY, COUNT ALFRED, continued.

- daughters, recited in codicil to Lord Blessington's will, June 2, 1823, i. 119
- Engagement set forth in a later will, Dec. 1, 1827; marriage with Lady Harriet Gardiner, i. 121
- His father, Gen. D'Orsay, and the Count Leon, accompanied by Lord B., visit the Tyrone estates, i. 70
- Marriage settlement, monies charged on Lord B.'s estate, &c., i. 143, 144
- Deed of separation, i. 148
- His pecuniary difficulties, arrest in London for a debt of £300 to a Paris bootmaker, i. 194
- Tradesmen allow his debts to stand over on account of the advantage of his patronage, ib.
- On his keeping at Gore House two years previously to break-up there, i. 198
- On intimation of the execution put in, told by Lady Blessington he must quit London immediately, i. 199
- Departure for Paris before break of day following morning, end of his London career, in April, 1849, i. 199
- Arrival in Paris, expectations reasonably formed of Prince Louis Napoleon's friendship, i. 212
- Former services rendered to the Prince, ib.
- His profound grief at the loss of Lady Blessington, i. 222
- Notice of the Count: his origin; early life, some account of career in London, of his pursuits in art—the close of his career—observations on his talents, and the application of them, i. 315
- His death, August 4, 1852, i. 326
- Religious sentiments in his last illness—remarkable conversation with Editor on religious subjects, i. 352
- Attended by the Archbishop of Paris, i. 328
- Singular inconsistencies in his character, i. 330
- His embarrassments—reckless extravagance—an utter ignorance of the value of money—inordinate and ill-regulated generosity—forgetfulness of the obligations contracted for the sake of others, i. 330
- His works of art and talents as an artist—portrait and busts of Wellington, busts of Napoleon, Emperor of Russia, Lamartine, Girardin, Napoleon Buonaparte, son of Jerome—pictures, Sir Robert Peel, Lord Lyndhurst, Lord Byron, Dwarkanauth Tagore, i. 333
- Verses of Lamartine to D'Orsay on his artistic talent, i. 338
- Haydon's references to ditto, i. 341
- References to his mother's family, Madame Crawford (La belle Sullivan), the mother of Countess D'Orsay, i. 344
- His grandmother, Madame Crawford, compared by Lady B. to Ninon de l'Enclos—conquests of Ninon at 56, 70, and 80 years of age, i. 345
- Notice of his death in the "Presse," by Emile Girardin, i. 354
- His funeral, i. 357

D'ORSAY, COUNT ALFRED, continued.

- Concluding observations on the Count as a man of wit—the wit combats of Gore House compared with those of the days of Dorset, Sedley, Etherege, Denham, and those of the times of Horace Walpole, Selwyn, Bubb Doddington, Townsend, &c., i. 360
 Various kinds of wit, in conversation, in displays of eloquence, in bon mots, epigrams, vers de société, &c., ib.
 Reference to Curran's conversational wit, i. 362
 In Hyde Park, in recent times, as described by Patmore—contrast with Grammont, as described in the same place in 1659, i. 366
 Dickens' tribute to his memory, i. 368
 Patmore's reference to his position in English society, ib.
 The Alpha and Omega of all moralizing on the career of a young man thrown on life in a position beset with temptations—there is no protection for it—no hope for its safety or success, where there is no dependence on religion and the restraints imposed by it, i. 369
 His remains deposited in the same sepulchral chamber in which those of Lady B. were deposited at Chambourcy, i. 372
 Of the architect of this remarkable monument—now the inmate of it—all that remains—"Pulvis et umbra, nomen, nihil," ib.
 His letters to W. S. Landor, i. 373
 Quarrel with Charles J. Mathews at Naples—statement of Mr. Mathews' correspondence and proceedings in this affair in August, 1824, i. 393
 Amicable arrangement, i. 400
 Letters to Mathews—letters to Dr. Frederick F. Quin, i. 401
 His letters to John Forster, i. 377
 Letters to—from Alfred de Vigny, i. 419
 Letters of—to Editor, i. 420
 Letters from Editor to Count, i. 423
 His embarrassments and amount of debt in 1845, i. 333
 Notice of his principal statuettes, i. 424
 Dedicatory letter to him prefixed to Godolphin, by Bulwer, i. 427
 His expected official appointment in the French Embassy in 1841, ii. 484
 His friendship for Richard J. Lane, the eminent artist—Mr. Lane lithographs about one hundred and fifty of the Count's sketches of the celebrities of the Villa Belvedere, Hotel Ney, Seamore Place, Gore House, i. 430
 Lane's opinion as to the Count's talents as an artist, i. 432
 D'Orsay's letter to Lane from Paris, eulogizing Prince Louis Napoleon, i. 435
 Another letter of his to Lane on loss of his only son, ib.
 His first visit to England, i. 317
 Notice of his connections, the Grammonts and Mareschal Sebastiani, i. 346
 Claims on government for statues and pictures seized during the Revolution, i. 437
 Notice of his Gore House picture, i. 436
 Letter from J. C. W. R., iii. 306

- D'Orsay, Lady Harriet, early life, i. 54
 Left under the care of her aunt; i. 119
 Arrangements for her marriage in 1823, i. 121
 Marriage with Count D'Orsay, Dec. 1827, i. 122, 323
 Editor meets Lady Harriet at the Blessingtons' shortly after her marriage, i. 123
 Personal appearance, apparent infelicity, i. 124
 Results of that marriage, ib.
 Returns to England with Lady Blessington in 1830, i. 166
 Takes her departure from Seamore Place early in August, 1831, i. 124
 Visits the continent with her aunt, latter end of 1833 or beginning of 1834, ib.
 In September, 1835, residing with her aunt and sister in Dublin, ib.
 Marriage settlement, i. 147
 Arrangement entered into by the Count in 1838, i. 332
 Becomes a widow, August 4, 1852, i. 328
 Concluding observations on the unhappy marriage with the Count, i. 369
 In Naples in 1832, ii. 79
 Druids' origin, Landor's notion of, ii. 382
 Drummond, Sir William, beginning of acquaintance with Lady Blessington at Naples, i. 110
 His death—grave at Rome visited by Lady Blessington in 1828, ii. 101
 Gell's references to, ii. 24, 28, 61
 Quarrel with Campbell, ii. 45, 51
 Reference to his death, ii. 61
 Reference to his works, ii. 61, 98
 Notice of, ii. 98
 Letter of Lady Blessington to him, ii. 103
 Comments on his scepticism by Rev. A. Hare, ii. 102
 Drummond, Lady, at Naples in 1832, ii. 49
 Gell's account of her tremendous dinners, ii. 63
 Durham, Lord, letters of, iii. 31
 Dudley, Lord, references to, by Gell, ii. 26, 31, 28
 Notice of, iii. 353
 D., letter signed, to Lady Blessington, iii. 41
 Dwyer, Miss Anne, early instructress of Miss M. Power, i. 17.

E.

- Epistolary curiosities, various letters, iii. 299
 Errington and Co., Gell's reference to Messrs. Errington and Lyne Stephens, Naples, 1834, ii. 86, 88
 Erskine, Henry, notice of, iii. 353
 Erskine, Lord, verses addressed to Lady Blessington, iii. 292
 Notice of, iii. 350
 Esmond, Rev. Dr., application for site of Catholic Chapel in Dublin, iii. 345

F.

- Fairlie, Mrs., notice of, i. 449
 Fairlie, Isabella, lines on, i. 450
 Death of Lady Blessington's favourite, "the beautiful mute," ii. 369
 Approaching death of the child's mother notified to Landor, ii. 370
 Falkner, Sir Frederick, notice of, ii. 123
 Farmer, Captain, an officer of the 47th Regiment at Clonmel, i. 31
 Acquaintance with Miss M. Power, ib.
 Offer of marriage, i. 32
 Marriage and its results, ib.
 Marriage certificate, i. 455
 Separation, i. 32
 Lady Blessington's account of the cause, i. 32
 This account impugned by Captain Farmer's brother, i. 33
 Defended by his brother, his letter, i. 457
 Quarrel of Captain Farmer with a brother officer, i. 33
 Sells out—proceeds to India, ib.
 Returns home—killed in the Fleet Prison in 1817, i. 39
 Inquest on his body, ib.
 Farmer, Mrs., refusal to accompany Captain Farmer to India, i. 33
 Account of marriage and separation, by Mr. Sheehy, i. 35
 Account of her residence at Cahir, by Mr. Sheehy, i. 36
 He denies injurious reports against her, i. 35
 Her residence for some years at Sidmanton, Hants, i. 58
 Her residence in London, Manchester Square, i. 38, 58
 Early acquaintance with Lord Blessington, i. 59
 Lord Blessington a visitor at her house, Manchester Square, i. 38
 Marriage with Lord Blessington in 1818, i. 58
 Ferguson, Cutlar Ronald, letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 278
 Notice of, iii. 377
 Filangieri, the, Gell's reference to, ii. 61
 Fitz-Gerald, Lord William, at Cuma in 1832, ii. 67.
 Fitz-Gerald, W. T., Esq., notice of, iii. 413
 Fitz-Herbert, Mrs., references to her marriage by a Catholic priest, supposed to be the Abbé Campbell, ii. 107, 501
 Fonblanque, A., Lady Blessington's eulogium on his character, ii. 362 Landor's opinion, "We have nothing like him in the political world," ii. 398
 Bulwer's reference to, ii. 450
 Notice of, iii. 106
 Letters of, to Lady Blessington, iii. 107
 Defence of, in a letter to Willis, iii. 373
 Forster, John, Lady Blessington's reference to, in letters to Landor, ii.
 364, 366
 Landor's references to, ii. 410
 Notice of, ii. 430
 Letters to him from Lady Blessington, ii. 432

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04833-0 - The Literary Life and Correspondence of the Countess of Blessington: Volume 3

Richard Robert Madden

Index

More information

INDEX.

507

Fox, the Right Honourable H., Gell's reference to "Black Fox," at Naples, ii. 55

Notice of. See Holland, Lord.

Fuller, Jack, notice of, and letters, iii. 120

G.

G., letters signed, to Lady Blessington, iii. 38

Galt, John, Gell's reference to, ii. 53

Notice of, and letters to Lady Blessington, iii. 162

Gardiner, Charles John, son of Lord Blessington, notice of, i. 55

Gardiner, Miss Emily Rosalie, daughter of Lord Blessington, notice of, i. 55, 121

Gardiner, Lady Harriet, daughter of Lord Blessington, references to, i. 55, 119

See Lady H. D'Orsay.

Gardiner, Lady Harriet, sister of Lord Blessington, guardian of his daughters, i. 119

Gardiner, Right Honourable Luke, son of Lord Blessington, notice of, i. 55

Death of, i. 119

Garrow, Miss Theodosia, letter to Lady Blessington, ii. 329

Garth, Captain, reference to, ii. 133

Gell, Sir William, beginning of acquaintance with Lady Blessington in Naples in 1824, i. 104

Accompanies Lady Blessington to Pompeii, &c. ib.

Constant visitor at Villa Belvedere, i. 110

Renews his acquaintance with Lady Blessington at Rome, i. 126

His parting with her in Rome, ib.

Mournful anticipations at parting, ib.

His death in April, 1836, referred to by Lady Blessington, ib.

Notice of his life, ii. 8

His letters to Lady Blessington, ii. 22

Lines written in Rome, ii. 46

His dog family, ii. 68

A model letter of introduction to him, ii. 90

At Craven's convent in June 1835, ii. 90

Affecting account, in his last letter to Lady Blessington, of the breaking-down of his health, loss of memory—singular illusions, ii. 93

Letter of introduction of Editor to grand Admiral of Egyptian fleet, ii. 97

Craven's account of last illness and death, ii. 144

Lady Blessington's account of his death to Landor, ii. 361

Bulwer's account of, ii. 448

Letters to Dr. Quin, ii. 488

Geoffrin, Madame, Lady Blessington compared with, i. 226

Girardin, Emile de, notice of, iii. 392

Glenelg, Lord, letters to Lady Blessington, iii. 38

Notice of, iii. 372

- Gore House vicissitudes, i. 462
 Godwin, William, letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 278
 Notice of, iii. 381
 Graham, John, account of the death of Lord Mountjoy, at Newross, i. 48
 Grammont, Duc de, married a sister of Count d'Orsay, when in England as Duc de Guiche, previously to Lady Blessington's departure for the continent, acquainted with her, i. 72
 Accueil of Lady Blessington on her arrival in Paris in April 1849,
 i. 211
 Grammont, Duc de, father and mother of the present Duke, accompanied the French Princes into exile. The mother died at Holyrood house in 1803, i. 348
 Her remains conveyed to France in 1825, ib.
 Lady Tankerville, sister of present Duke, a beauty of celebrity, much admired, i. 349
 Another sister of present Duke married Marshal Sebastiani, ib.
 Letters of, to Lady Blessington, ib.; iii. 275
 Grammont, Duchesse de, has the papers of Count d'Orsay. His journal alluded to by Byron, burned by herself some years previously to her death, i. 322
 Notice of, i. 315
 G., letters signed, to Lady Blessington, iii. 38
 Grant, Francis, Esq., notice of, iii. 391
 Greville, C., Esq., notice of, iii. 408
 Guiccioli, Countess, notice of, ii. 217
 Byron's first acquaintance with Guiccioli at Ravenna, ib.
 Personal appearance, ii. 222
 Colour of her hair, ii. 223
 Proofs of disinterestedness, ii. 225
 Second marriage with an "Elderly Gentleman," ii. 234
 Letters to her from Lady Blessington, ii. 236
 Letters from her to Lady Blessington, ii. 249
 Second husband of the Countess, the Marquis de Boissy, ii. 262

H.

- Hall, S. C., Esq. and Mrs., notice of, iii. 394
 Hallam, Lady B.'s acquaintance with at Florence, i. 116
 Hamilton, Terrick, Esq., Gell's reference to, ii. 71
 Notice of, iii. 407
 Hardinge, Lord, present at the marriage of Miss M. Power, i. 457
 Hare, Julius, Gell's reference to, as "Julius Hirsutus," ii. 55
 Hare, Rev. Augustus F., remarkable letter to, in re Drummond's scepticism, i. 102
 Lady Blessington's reference to his noble qualities, ii. 353
 Reference to, in a letter of Lady Blessington, ib.
 Landor's lines on his death, iii. 42

INDEX.

509

- Haydon, B. R., letters to Lady Blessington, iii. 284
 Notice of, iii. 390
 Hayter, Sir George, notice of, ib.
 Hemans, Mrs. Felicia, Lady Blessington's admiration for her writings,
 ii. 323
 Place of burial, and inscription on mural slab, ii. 324
 Herculaneum, notice of, visits of Lady Blessington and Sir W. Gell,
 ii. 110
 Herschel, Sir John, makes Lady Blessington's acquaintance in Naples,
 i. 104
 Hesse, Captain, singular notice of him by Lady Blessington, and of his correspondence with a royal personage, i. 129
 Hill, George, letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 291
 Hill, Mr., subsequently Lord Berwick, minister in Naples in 1831, i. 69
 Hogg, Dr., at Naples in 1832-3-4, i. 64, 74, 75, 82
 Notice of, iii. 412
 Holman, Lieutenant, R.N., the blind traveller, ascends Mount
 Vesuvius in June, 1821, accompanied by Editor, i. 109
 Holland House Society, Lady Blessington's observations on, i. 158
 Holland, present Lord, notice of, iii. 537
 Holland, Lady, i. 160 ; iii. 359
 H., letter to Lady Blessington signed, iii. 276
 Hook, Theodore, notice of, and letter, iii. 128
 Howden, Lord, notice of, iii. 371
 Hunt, Mr. and Mrs., their murder near Pæstum, ii. 22
 Detailed account of, iii. 352.

I.

- Irving, Washington, a contribution to Lady Blessington's album, iii. 277
 Notice of, iii. 400

J.

- J. G., letter in King Cambyses' vein, iii. 303
 J——, Mr., of Brussels, curious communication—mysterious occurrence, iii. 298
 James, G. P. R., notice of, iii. 397
 Jekyll, Joseph, notice of, iii. 108
 Letters to Lady Blessington, iii. 113
 Jenkins, Thomas, Captain 11th Dragoons, stationed in Clonmel, i. 34
 Intimacy with the Powers, ib.
 Supposed attachment to Miss M. Power, ib.
 His family and fortune, ib.
 His military career, ib.
 Residence in Dublin in 1809, ib.
 His establishment in Hampshire, ib.
 Subsequent embarrassments, ib.
 His marriage and death, i. 35

Jenkins, Thomas, continued.

- Meagher's reference to him, i. 36
- Bernard Wright's reference to him, ib.
- Lord Blessington's acquaintance with him, i. 34
- Present at a dinner given in Dublin by Lord Blessington, i. 57
- Departure of Capt. Jenkins, and scene, ib.
- Subsequent visit to Mountjoy Forest, i. 69
- Jesse, J. H., Esq., notice of, iii. 401
- Jerdan, W., Esq., notice of, iii. 402
- Jesuit Church, Gardiner Street, site of, obtained by Lady Blessington's aid, iii. 381
- Julien, Monsieur Le Jeune, secretary of Robespierre—figured in the Reign of Terror in a public recitation of revolutionary odes by Madame Fontenay, i. 184
- Figures as a dolorous poet with "le don des larmes" at Seamore Place and Gore House—recites his "Chagrins Politiques," i. 187
- Another scene with Dr. Quin and James Smith, iii. 136

K.

- Keats (the Poet), Landor's account of W.'s ungenerous criticism, ii. 389
- Kenyon, John, notice and letters, iii. 220
- Kielmansegg, Count von, notice of, iii. 409

L.

- Lamartine, Lady Blessington's acquaintance with at Florence, i. 114
- Poem addressed to D'Orsay, i. 338
- Lamb, Charles, Landor's and Coleridge's eulogiums on, ii. 382
- Reference of Landor to an affecting story of his sister, ib.
- Lines of Landor on, iii. 112
- Landon, Miss Letitia E., notice of, ii. 264
- Marriage of, 7th June, 1838, with Mr. Maclean, ii. 266
- Death of, 13th October, 1838, ii. 267
- Editor visits Cape Coast Castle in Feb. 1841, ii. 290
- His account of Mr. Maclean, ii. 272
- Observations on inquest, &c., ii. 275
- Charged by Lady Blessington to get her husband's consent to set up a monument at Cape Coast Castle, ii. 297
- Called on by Mr. Maclean to inquire into the death of L. E. L., ii. 290
- Result of inquiry, ii. 291
- Seized with fever while occupying the room in which L. E. L. had died, ii. 299
- Neglect experienced during illness, ib.
- Death of her husband, 28th May, 1847, ii. 301
- A lament for L. E. L. by W. S. Landor, ii. 303
- Destitute state of her mother after her death, ii. 309
- Lady Blessington's account of her death to Lady W., ii. 304

INDEX.

511

- Landon, Miss Letitia E., continued.
 Letters of Landon to Lady Blessington, ii. 310
 Bulwer's reference to, ii. 459
 Further observations on her death, ii. 295
- Landor, Walter Savage, first acquaintance with Lady Blessington, i. 114
 Notice of his career, ii. 115
 Letters from Lady Blessington to him, ii. 347
 Verses to him from Lady Blessington, ii. 353
 Letters from, to Lady Blessington, ii. 373
 Comments on the paltry grant of George IV. to Coleridge, ii. 374
 Visit to a Roman Catholic Chapel, ii. 375
 D'Orsay's letters to him, ii. 373
 Imaginary conversation between Lord Mountjoy and Lord Edward Fitzgerald, communicated to Lady Blessington in Feb. 1839, ii. 421
 Lines addressed to Lady Blessington, ii. 417
- Landseer, Sir Edwin, notice of, iii. 388
- Lansdowne, Marquess, letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 37
- Lawrence, Sir T., notice of, iii. 157
 Letters of, iii. 160
 Lines on waltzing, ib.
- Lindsay, Lady Charlotte, Gell's reference to, ii. 59, 71
- Lock, Captain William, notice of, iii. 412
- Loewe, Dr., a celebrated linguist, ii. 338
 Accompanied Sir M. Montefiore to the East, ii. 339
- Love letters, written en badinage, iii. 297
- Longman, T. N., Esq., notice of, iii. 409
- Lucas, Mr. and Mrs., Gell's reference to "very nice people from Ireland," ii. 43
- Lucretia Borgia, i. 129
- Lucca, Duc de, his pilgrimage to Rome, ii. 44
- Luttrell, Henry, early acquaintance of the Blessingtons, i. 72
 Gell's reference to, ii. 50
 Notice of, and letters, iii. 125
- Lynnhurst, Lord, notice of, and letters, iii. 37, 348

M.

- M. R. C., letter from Greece to Lady B., iii. 280
- Mackinnon, Colonel, transmitting a lock of Lord Nelson's hair to Lady Blessington, iii. 279
- Mackintosh, his conversational powers, i. 154
 On toleration for opinions, i. 184
- Maclise, D., notice of, iii. 387.
- Macready, W. C., letters to Lady Blessington, iii. 276
 Notice of, iii. 403
- Madden, R. R., lines of Dr. Beattie addressed to, iii. 235, 248
 Correspondence with Lady Blessington, iii. 252
 Correspondence with D'Orsay on the part of C. Mathews, i. 398
 Letters from D'Orsay to, i. 399
- Manners, Lord, the Orange régime in Ireland, iii. 46

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04833-0 - The Literary Life and Correspondence of the Countess of Blessington: Volume 3

Richard Robert Madden

Index

More information

- Manning, Mr., the celebrated Chinese scholar, Gell's reference to, ii. 56
- Manvers, Lady, Gell's reference to her, ii. 43
- Margravine of Anspach, Gell's reference to, ii. 38, 53
Notice of, ii. 134
- Marryat, F., notice of, and letters to Lady Blessington, iii. 92
- Marsault, Madame la Comtesse St., Mary Anne, youngest daughter of Edmond Power, i. 14
Her marriage and separation, i. 41
Lives with her father in Ireland, i. 42
Return to England in 1839, ib.
Accompanies the Blessingtons on a continental tour, i. 75
Her personal appearance in 1822, ib.
Various references to.—See Gell.
- Mathews, Charles James, joins the Blessingtons at Naples, i. 391
His early career, sojourn with the Blessingtons in Italy, i. 389
Amiable character, comic talents, i. 392
An inmate of the Palazzo Belvedere, i. 391
Accompanies Lady Blessington to Pæstum, i. 392
Notice of, i. 389
Quarrel with D'Orsay — proceedings and correspondence in that affair, i. 393
Subsequent amicable correspondence with the Count, i. 401
Letters of, to Lady Blessington, iii. 313.
Letters from Lady Blessington to, iii. 322
Letters from Lord Blessington to, i. 396 ; iii. 443
- Mathews, Mrs., letters of Lady Blessington to, iii. 324
D'Orsay's letter to her, iii. 325
- Mathias, James, (Pursuit of Literature), Gell's reference to him in Naples, November, 1833, at the age of 81, younger than ever, ii. 75
Idem—in Naples, June 2, 1834, then in his 83rd year, ii. 90
Bulwer's reference to, ii. 448
- Matuschewitz, Count, notice of, ii. 160
Letters to Lady B., ii. 161
- Meagher, Jeremiah, vice-consul at Lisbon, account of the Powers, i. 36 Account of Bernard Wright, ib.
Further account of Miss M. Power, ib.
- Medwin, Captain Thomas, notice of, iii. 410
- Mellery, abbot of Mount, letter to Lady B., iii. 292
- Millengen, the antiquarian, makes Lady B.'s acquaintance at Naples, i. 104
Initiates her into the mysteries of numismatics, ib.
Notice of, ii. 155
Letters from to Lady B., ib.
- Mills, Frank, Gell's reference to, ii. 27
Notice of, iii. 409
- Milnes, Richard Monckton, letter to Lady B., iii. 297
Notice of, iii. 405.
- Mirabeau, his description of a celebrated beauty, i. 60.
- Miscellaneous Letters, iii. 305

INDEX.

513

- Montefiore, Sir Moses, Gell's reference to, ii. 47
 Instance of devotion and filial affection, ii. 143
 World-wide benevolence and charitableness of heart and mind, ii. 389.
- Montmorenci, Duc de Laval, notice of, ii. 125.
- Montague, Lady M. Wortley, her epistolary talents, ii. 5.
- Moore, Thomas, early acquaintance with the Blessingtons, i. 73
 Reference to Lord B.'s theatricals, i. 65
 Visits Lady B. with Washington Irving, i. 70
 Renews his acquaintance with her at Paris, i. 76
 Lines of his to Lady B., i. 296
 Notice of, iii. 187
 His first lines, iii. 190
 Letters of, to Lady B., iii. 196
 Galt's remarks on "the Loves of the Angels," iii. 169
 Letter to the Editor on slavery, iii. 201
 Account of a scene of, witnessed by the Editor, iii. 193
- Morpeth, Lord, acquaintance with Lady B. at Naples, i. 104, 110
 His prize poem on Pæstum, i. 105
 Notice of, iii. 373
- Mountjoy family, burial-place at Cappagh, near Rash, i. 68
 Desire of Lord B. to be interred there, ib.
- Mountjoy, Dowager Lady, residing at Rash, after her husband's death, i. 65
 Residing in Dublin in 1807, i. 67
 Death in 1839, i. 117
- Mountjoy, Lady, notice of family, marriage, and death, i. 53—57.
- Mountjoy, Lord, vide Blessington.
- Murray, James, Captain of 47th, suitor to Miss M. Power, i. 29
- Murray, Lord Charles, account of his sojourn in Naples in 1822, career and death in Greece, ii. 137
- Mysterious occurrence, letter of Mr. J., iii. 299

N.

- Naples, Editor's account of Naples and its vicinity, i. 95
 Evenings passed by Editor on board "the Bolivar," i. 100
- Napoleon, Prince Louis, the present Emperor of the French, attention paid, and services rendered to him, when in exile, by Lady B. and Count D'Orsay, how repaid on a throne, i. 212, 329, 356, 359
 Notice of his origin and career, i. 464—475
 On his elevation to the Presidency of the Republic, i. 470
 Lamennais' observation to Editor respecting the Prince, i. 359
 Landor's lines, the Quest of Honour, applicable to him, i. 360
 Visited in Bath in Aug. 1846, by Landor, ii. 416
 Landor's great interest in and anxiety for the welfare of the Prince, January 1849, i. 416
 Landor writes to the President, ib.
 Remarkable letter of Duke of Wellington in reference to, i. 357

- Nizzensitter, C., letter to Lady B., iii. 381
 N. L., an eccentric correspondent of Lady Blessington, labouring under singular delusions, iii. 307
 Normanby, Lord, theatricals at Florence, i. 112, 116
 Lady Blessington's reference to, i. 116
 Letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 39
 Notice of, iii. 366

O.

- Odin's stone pillar, Sir W. Scott's account of, ii. 83
 O'Flaherty, Father, the parish priest of Cappagh, patronized by Lady
 Blessington, i. 69
 Lord Blessington's liberality to him, ib.
 His amusing correspondence, ib.
 Osborne, T. B., Esq., notice of, iii. 406
 Ossian's poems, reference to, by Sir W. Scott in Italy, ii. 83.
 Ossuna, Duc d', notice, ii. 177
 Letters to Lady Blessington, ib.

P.

- Pæstum, i. 107
 Pagani, Padre, President of the Roman Catholic Colleges of Rugby and Ratcliffe, his learning extolled by W. S. Landor, ii. 404
 Parr, Dr. Samuel, Gell's reference to his death, ii. 42
 The doctor's "holy kiss," ii. 51
 Notice of, iii. 150
 Letters of, ib.
 Miss Calcraft's references to, iii. 153
 Mr. Horseman's lines on, iii. 155
 Extract from a sermon, iii. 156
 Peel, Sir Robert, disposal of his papers for publication, i. 5
 Letters to, of Lady Blessington, iii. 43
 Statements of, on the subject of Lady Blessington's letter, iii. 44
 Letters in reference to Marryat, iii. 105
 Perry, James, the editor of the Morning Chronicle, refuses to insert a slander in his paper relative to Captain Farmer's death, i. 40
 Beginning of his acquaintance with Lord Blessington, ib.
 Notice of, iii. 383
 Peretti, Francesco, nephew to Pope Sixtus V., story of, ii. 84
 Phipps, General, letters to Lady Blessington, iii. 283
 Notice of, iii. 380
 Pilgrim, the, his lines and letters to Lady Blessington, iii. 303
 Piazzi, the celebrated astronomer, i. 107, ii. 128
 Polidori, notice of, ii. 212.
 Pompeii, ii. 104
 Ponsonby, Lord, minister at Naples in 1832, ii. 67
 Popery, triumphs of, singular instance of one, iii. 303.
 Portuguese song translated, iii. 294

INDEX.

515

- Powell, John Allan, law agent of the Milan commission, friend of Lord Blessington, i. 51
- Power, Anne, eldest of the children of E. Power, death, i. 16, 28
- Power, Capt. Michael, brother of the preceding, his death in India, a young man of twenty-two, i. 16, 24
- Power, Edmond, father of Lady Blessington, early history, i. 12
- Pedigree, ib.
- Recklessness, improvidence, i. 19
- Magisterial terrorism, ib.
- Patronized by Lord Donoughmore, i. 20
- Lady Blessington's account of terrorism in his family, i. 21
- His pursuits, tastes, and appearance, i. 23
- Exercise of magisterial duties—rebel hunting, i. 24
- Shooting a peasant boy, ib.
- Indicted for murder, i. 25
- Name expunged from magistracy, ib.
- Inquest on boy shot, i. 476
- Indictment and sworn informations, i. 481
- His paper prosecuted for a libel on Colonel Bagwell, i. 22
- Death of his first wife, i. 41
- Second marriage, ib.
- Aided in his latter years by his daughters, ib.
- Amount of pecuniary aid from Lady Blessington, ib.
- End of his career, i. 42
- Power, Edmond, Junr., death of, i. 28
- Power, Miss Margaret, niece of Lady Blessington, memoirs of her aunt, i. 12
- Her affectionate regard for her aunt's memory, ib.
- Obligations of the Editor to her, passim.
- Her poetry praised by Landor, ii. 414
- Power, Miss Ellen, younger sister of Miss M. Power, Landor's reference to, ii. 408
- Power, Marguerite, early life, i. 11, 16, 17
- Her personal attractions, i. 29
- Attentions of Captain Farmer, i. 30
- Offer of marriage to her, ib.
- Repugnance to Captain Farmer, i. 31
- Marriage with Captain Farmer, ib.
- Unhappy results, ib.
- Separation, i. 32
- Lady Blessington's account of same, ib.
- Return to her father's, ib.
- Distinguished officers present at her marriage: the present Lord Hardinge, General Blakeney, i. 28, 31; iii. 456. See Mrs. Farmer.
- Power, Miss Mary Anne, youngest daughter of Edmond, i. 14
- Marriage with Count St. Marsault, i. 41
- Separation, ib.
- Attention to her father, i. 42
- Sojourns with Mrs. Dogherty near Cashel, ib.
- Mentioned in Lord Blessington's will, i. 121

Power, Miss Mary Anne, continued.

Early life, i. 221

Gell's references to her, under various designations, ii. 23, 34, 39,
 40, 57, 64, 68, 72, 91

Pratt, Miss, author of the novel entitled "Inheritance," Gell's reference to, ii. 64

Procter, Barry W., letters to Lady Blessington, iii. 200, 202

Purves, Mrs., Miss Ellen Power, her marriage, i. 14, 69

Her remarkable beauty, i. 29

The "coteries" of Tipperary, ib.

Early acquaintance with Colonel Stewart, i. 37

Death of Mr. Purves, i. 69

Reference to ages of Mrs. Purves and sisters, i. 221

Career, subsequent to second marriage, iii. 440

See Canterbury, Lady.

Q.

Quin, Dr. Frederick F, reference to by Gell, ii. 27.

Notice of him, ii. 120

D'Orsay's letters to him, i. 44

Scene with Monsieur Julien, i. 184

Ditto on another occasion, i. 136

Gell's letters to him, ii. 488

Duchess of Devonshire's, ii. 492

R.

Richmond, Duke of, letters to Lord Mountjoy, iii. 440

R——, L——, letters signed L. R., to Lady Blessington, iii.
 290

R——, J. C. W., letter signed J. C. W. R., to D'Orsay, iii. 306

Ratcliffe College, ii. 404 ; iii. 260

Ramsay, James, of Naples, sketch of Sir W. Gell, ii. 17

Gell's reference to him, ii. 90

Reeve, H., Esq., notice of, iii. 407

Reilly, Charles, Surgeon R.N., espouses the cause of Abbé Campbell, ii. 45

Notice of his career, ii. 107

Reynolds, F. Mansell, notice of, and letter, iii. 104

Ricciardi, the, Gell's references to them, ii. 61, 68

Richardson, Dr., attended Lady Mountjoy to the Continent in 1814 : subsequently travelling physician to Lord Belmore in the East,
 i. 54

Letter on death of Lord Blessington, i. 142

Roberts, Emma, notice of, ii. 335

Letters to Lady Blessington, ii. 336

Rogers, early acquaintance of the Blessingtons, i. 73

INDEX.

517

- Romano, Rocco di, notice of, iii. 414
 Romer, Mrs. Isabella, notice of, ii. 339
 Letters to Lady Blessington, ii. 341
 Rose, Mr., Gell's reference to the man of Greek inscriptions, ii. 43
 Rosslyn, Lord, letters to Lord Blessington, i. 136 ; iii. 56
 Notice of, iii. 57
 Rothwell (the painter), at Naples in 1834, ii. 81, 82
 Russell, Lord John, early acquaintance with the Blessingtons, i. 73
 Eulogized by Lady Blessington, i. 113
 Letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 36
 Notice of, iii. 361
 Rushton, Edward, notice of, and letter, iii. 450

S.

- S. A., letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 305
 Saurin, Attorney-General of Ireland, Marquess Wellesley's account of his Orange régime of fifteen years, iii. 4
 Scarfe, Captain, Gell's reference to, in re Abbé Campbell, ii. 45
 Scarlett, Sir James, see Abinger, iii. 46
 Scott, Sir Walter, at Naples, in 1832, ii. 63, 64
 Gell's reminiscences, ii. 70, 71, 72, 74, 77, 78, 79, 80, 83, 84, 87
 Seigné, Madame de, her epistolary talent, ii. 5
 Sheehy, Father Nicholas, relative of Lady Blessington's mother, i. 15
 Persecution and death, ib.
 Detailed account of him, i. 484
 Sheehy, Edmond, Esq., maternal grandfather of Lady Blessington, i. 14
 Persecution and death, i. 15
 Detailed account of, i. 484
 Pedigree of his family, i. 12
 Rev. W., author of "Reminiscences of Rome," now a priest of Ratcliffe College, iii. 261
 Shelley, P. B., Esq., notice of, iii. 415
 Sheridan, Miss Louisa, notice and letters of, to Lady B., ii. 329
 Siddons, Mrs., letter to Lord Blessington, iii. 442
 Sigourney, Mrs. Lydia, notice of, ii. 322
 Letters to Lady Blessington, ii. 325
 Styled "the American Hemans ;" similarity of her genius and her fate, ii. 323
 Simmons, Bartholomew, notice and letters of, iii. 204
 Smith, Albert, notice of, iii. 411
 Smith, James, notice of, iii. 132
 Letters and poems, iii. 139
 Smith, Horace, notice and poems, iii. 136, 147
 Smith, Lieut., R.N., Commander of "The Bolivar," i. 100
 D'Orsay's talent of drawing out people tried on him, ib.
 Soutzo, Prince Michael, notice of, iii. 375
 Spencer, Hon. W. R., notice of, and letter, iii. 122
 Stael, Madame de, conversational talents, i. 155

- Starke, Anna Maria, Gell's reference to; gives parties and misereres in Rome, ii. 43
- Stewart, Thomas, nephew of Sir W. Drummond, lines to Lady Blessington, i. 303
- Becomes a Benedictine monk, ii. 105
- His assassination, ib.
- His servant, Luigi Baranelli, recent murder by, ib.
- Stewart, William, Esq., of Killymoon, Colonel of Tyrone militia, i. 37
- Stationed at Clonmel in 1804, ib.
- Intimacy with the Powers, ib.
- Notice of, ib.
- Intimacy with Lord Blessington, i. 69
- Entertained at Mountjoy Forest in 1816, ib.
- Ditto in 1823, i. 70
- Gell's reference to, in Italy in 1829, ii. 59
- Gell's inquiry after the amiable Colonel of Killymoon, ii. 93
- Early admirer of Miss Ellen Power, i. 445
- Strangford, Lord, notice of, and letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 40
- Strangways, Hon. William Thomas Horner Fox, notice of, iii. 410
- Strangways, J., an intimate acquaintance of Lady B. in Italy, i. 314
- Stuart, D., of Erskine, letter, iii. 274
- Sue, Monsieur Eugene, notice of, ii. 190
- Letters to Lady Blessington, ii. 192
- Observations of an eminent litterateur on his writings, iii. 458
- Swartzenberg, the Prince of, notice of his career, ii. 167
- Letters to Lady Blessington, ii. 169
- Swift, Godwin, reference to him in a letter of Lady Blessington, ii. 354
- Landor's reference to him as "a representative of the earliest patriot in Ireland," ii. 376
- Notice of family, iii. 434

T

- T. F. W., remarkable letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 266
- Tagore, Dwarkanauth, the celebrated Hindoo Baboo, notice of, and letters from, to Lady Blessington, ii. 204
- Talbot, C. R. M., letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 288
- Notice of, iii. 413
- Talbot, Sir George, his "great and good dinners," at Rome, ii. 43.
- Talfourd, Sir N., notice of, iii. 378
- Tarento, Archbishop of, Gell's references, ii. 23
- Death of his favourite Annette, ii. 61
- His letter on cats, ii. 74
- Notice of, ii. 157
- Letters of, to Lady Blessington, ii. 159
- Thackeray, W. M., Esq., notice of, iii. 399
- Teggart, Arthur, early acquaintance of Lord and Lady Blessington, i. 58
- Notice of, ib.
- Torlonia, Duc et Banquier, Luigi Chiave's account of his death, ii. 202

INDEX.

519

U.

- Uwins (the Painter) makes Lady B.'s acquaintance in Italy, i. 104
 His pictures referred to by Gell, ii. 65
 Letters to Lady Blessington, iii. 285
 Notice of, iii. 391

V.

- Vesuvius, great eruption of, June, 1821, i. 109
 Vespucci, America Contessa, notice of, ii. 317
 Letter to Lady Blessington, ii. 319
 Vigny, Alfred de, notice and letters of, ii. 201
 Vyse, Colonel, at Naples in 1832, ii. 68

W.

- Wade, General, an old Irish officer—commandant of the Castello del
 Ovo, Naples, i. 98
 Some account of origin, ii. 223
 Watson, Dr., a celebrated linguist, ii. 24, 76
 Watson, Solomon, a Quaker banker of Clonmel, libel on Colonel
 Bagwell in Power's paper, i. 443
 Action against him by M'Carthy, ib.
 Wellesley, Marquis, notice of, iii. 1
 His reference to an "old Orangeman, named Saurin," iii. 4
 Letters to Lady Blessington, iii. 9
 Wellington, late Duke of, notice of, iii. 13
 Letters of, to Lady Blessington, iii. 18
 Wellington, present Duke of, notice of, iii. 25
 Letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 26
 Westmacott, Richard, the eminent sculptor, i. 111; ii. 20
 Westmoreland, Lady, Gell's reference to, ii. 32, 51
 Her ladyship's account of the burning of St. Paul's in Rome, ii. 492
 Of the death of Pius the Seventh, ii. 493
 Of "the acrimonies, fierce and awful," of the partizans of the several candidates for the vacant throne, ii. 494
 Editor's account of the events referred to, the scenes he witnessed in front of the Quirinal, ib.
 Of the annulment of first election by Austria—final election of Leo XII., iii. 493
 Further particulars of that election, iii. 478
 Westmoreland, Lord, letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 132
 Notice of, iii. 369
 White, Charles, marries Lady Emily Rosalie (Mary) Gardiner, i. 55, 117
 Letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 289
 White, Miss, at Rome in 1828, ii. 58
 Visited by Sir Walter Scott, near Pæstum, ii. 63
 At Portici in 1834, ii. 81
 Scott visits her when dying, ii. 193

- Wilkie, Sir D., letter to Lady Blessington, iii. 284
 Notice of, iii. 385
 Wilkinson, Egyptian traveller, Gell's reference to his discoveries, ii. 59
 Willis, N. P., notice of, iii. 171
 Letters of, to Lady Blessington, iii. 175
 Reference to Sir W. Gell, ii. 12
 Letter to him respecting Fonblanque, iii. 173
 Commerce of compliment, iii. 177, 481
 Wortley, Lady E. S., notice of, iii. 396
 Wright, Bernard, Alderman Hackett's account of, i. 20
 Tortured by Sir T. Judkin Fitzgerald, i. 21
 In the employment of Power, i. 22
 Wyatt, Richard J., Esq., notice of, iii. 390
 Wycherley, the dying veteran comedian's last counsel to his young wife, ii. 434

ERRATA TO VOL. I.

| | | | |
|-------------------------------|----------------------|-------------|------------------------|
| Page 120, line 12, for | his last will, | read | another and last will. |
| 166, 5, | latter part of 1831, | | beginning of 1831. |
| ib. 13, | 1832, | | 1831. |
| 292, 14, | atqui, | | æque. |
| ib. 17, | atque, | | atqui. |

ERRATA TO VOL. II.

| | | | |
|-------------------------------|-----------------------|-------------|-------------------|
| Page 119, line 31, for | Langdon, | read | Langdale. |
| 203, 16, | Tajore, | | Tagore. |
| 204, 7, | The Continent, | | France. |
| 259, 20, | amies, | | amis. |
| 261, 14, | rassurer, | | resaisir. |
| 303, 16, | Yarrow, | | Garrow. |
| 360, 20, | heiress, | | heir |
| 375, 11, | comme, | | connue. |
| 388, 12, | assist, | | exist. |
| 407, 15, | maims, | | mains. |
| 485, 1, | Edward Lytton Bulwer, | | Sir Henry Bulwer. |

ERRATA TO VOL. III.

| | | | |
|-----------------------------|--|---------------|--|
| Page 7, line 10, for | Conqueror of Tippoo } Saib and the Nizam, } | read { | Conqueror of Tippoo Saib and hero of the Nizam. |
| 43, 33, | Sessions, | | Session. |
| 46, 4, | Daughter of Lord C., | | Daughter of Lady C. |