

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

---

GENERAL INDEX.

---

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

---

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

* * * In compiling this Index an endeavour has been made to observe as much of vernacular uniformity as seemed attainable, without violating settled usage. All Saxon names, for example, which begin with EAD will be found under ED; those which begin with ECG under EG; and those which begin with Æ, will commonly be found under E. Mere contractions, like ALGAR, ALMAR, ALDRED, and ATHULF, will be found under ÆTHELGAR, ÆTHELMER, ÆTHELRED, and ÆTHELWULF, respectively. ÆLFRED and ALURED appear under the time-honoured form of ALFRED. Errors there are sure to be,—sometimes from oversight and sometimes from ignorance,—and for these the searcher's indulgence is solicited.

The ordinary numerals 1-280 refer to the text; from 281, onwards, to its Appendices. The Roman numerals refer to the Introduction and its Appendix.

A.

ABBO, Abbot of Fleury, brought to England by Oswald, Archbishop of York; p. 188.

Writes the Life of Edmund, the King and Martyr, at the invitation of Dunstan; ib. Returns to Fleury; ib. Visits Gascony, and is slain as a martyr; ib.

ABBOTS ANN, in Hampshire, granted by Edward the Elder to the New Monastery at Winchester; pp. xxix, 98. Its boundaries; pp. 98-100. Translation of the boundaries, from the Saxon; p. 338. Will of Elfsige, a bishop, bequeathing other land there; p. 133. Translation of the Will; p. 343. Domesday Surveys of the Manor, translated; p. xcvi. Its taxation in A.D. 1290-92; ib.

ABBOTS WORTHY, in Hampshire, Domesday Survey of the Manor of, translated; p. ci. Accounted for in the Exchequer by Dr. de Augustine; p. lxxix.

ABINGDON, in Berkshire, Benedictine Monastery of, Education of Abbot Ethelgar at; pp. xxxii, xxxiii. Restoration of the ancient monastery, by King Edred; p. 151. Ethelwold placed there as abbot; ib. Edred's visit; p. 152. Monks brought from thence to the New Monastery at Winchester; p. 182. Bequests to it by Ethelwold; p. 236; and by Ethelmer; p. 254. Its restoration and augmentation by King Edgar; p. 179.

ADELLARUS. Grant of land to him by King Ethelred II., in 983; pp. 228, 229.

ADRINGTON, in Somersetshire, Bequest of land there by King Alfred to his younger son; p. 63.

ADULFUS; Adulphus. See Ethelwulf.

AGATHA of Hungary marries Edward, son of King Edmund Ironside; p. 267.

ÆLFEAC. See Elfeac.

ÆLFGAR. See Elfgar.

ÆLFHEAH. See Elfheah.

ÆLFHERE. See Elfheah.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

ÆLFNOTH. See Elfnoth.
 ÆLFRED. See Alfred.
 ÆLFRIC. See Elfric.
 ÆLFSIGE. See Elfsige.
 ÆLFSINUS. See Elfsige.
 ÆLFSTAN. See Elfstan.
 ÆLFWEARD. See Elfward.
 ÆLFWIG. See Elfwig.
 ÆLFWIN. See Elfwin.
 ÆLFWOLD. See Elfwold.
 ÆLLOC. See Elloc.
 ÆSCWIG. See Escwig.
 ÆSCWIN. See Escwin.
 ÆSCULF. See Esculf.
 ÆTHEL . . . . . See Ethel . . . . .
 ALBINA, Legend of; p. 3.
 ALBION, whence derived; p. 4.
 ALBRYCHT, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Edgar in A.D. 966; p. 205.
 ALDHELM, Bishop of Selsey, witnesses a charter of King Edgar in A.D. 966; p. 204.
 ALDINGBOURNE, in Sussex, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred, to his nephew Ethelm; p. 64.
 ALDRED. See Ethelred.
 ALFER. See Elfheah.
 ALGAR. See Ethelgar.
 ALFORD, MICHAEL. Quotations made by him, in his Annales Ecclesie Anglicane, from Liber de Hyda; pp. xvi, xviii, xcv.
 ALFRED the Great, King of England. His birth and parentage; p. 25. He is sent by his father to Rome, and is anointed as King by Pope Leo IV.; ib. He returns to England; ib. And makes a second journey to Rome, with his father, King Ethelwulf; ib. [This passage, it will be observed, is confirmatory of Asser's assertion, on which doubt has been cast on account of its disagreement with some MSS. of the Saxon Chronicle.] After his second journey to Rome he is sent to Ireland, to Saint Modwenna, to be cured of a disease; p. 26. His services during the reigns of his brothers; p. 27. He defeats the Danes at Wilton, and at

ALFRED the Great—cont.

Ashdown; ib. His accession to the Crown on the death of Ethelred; ib. His genealogy; p. 28. His education and acquirements; pp. 28, 29. His introduction of learned men into England; ib. His early intercourse with Saint Grimbald at St. Bertin's Monastery in France; p. 30. He sends an embassy into France to invite Grimbald into England; ib. His purpose by this invitation was to found a New Monastery at Winchester, and to place Grimbald at its head; p. 31. Letter to him, on the occasion, of Fulke, archbishop of Rheims; p. 31. Alfred's gift to the archbishop, and the return made for it; pp. 33, 34. Grimbald's arrival; p. 35. Alfred convenes a national Council in London for his solemn reception; p. 36. Grimbald's address to the Council; pp. 36-39. Alfred's speech, and its results; p. 40. His decree respecting the education of the nobles of the realm; ib. His foundation of the University of Oxford, and list of the Professors he placed there; ib. His legislation; p. 42. His division of Wessex into counties and hundreds; ib. Glossary of terms used in his laws; pp. 42-44. His encouragement of learning and literary works; p. 44. His disposal of his revenues; p. 45; and division of his time; ib. His unremitting conflicts with the Danes; ib. He is driven into the wilds of Somersetshire, and wanders there in poverty and disguise; 46. Legend of the appearance to him of St. Cuthbert in fashion as a pilgrim; ib. Alfred's visit to the Danish camp; p. 47. He obtains large reinforcements, and constructs a fortified camp at Athelney; ib. His victories over the Danes, and his reception of Guthrum, for whom he becomes sponsor in Christian baptism; ib. Alfred becomes the first real monarch of all England, but the integrity of his kingdom is impaired by the bad faith of Guthrum;

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

405

ALFRED the Great—cont.

p. 48. He fights nine battles against the Danes in one year; ib. He raises Denulf to the see of Winchester; ib. He repairs Shaftesbury; p. 49; and repairs Rochester; ib. His naval battles; ib. He repairs the fortifications of London, and entrusts the custody of that city to Ethelred, Earl of Mercia; ib. He sends alms to Rome and to India; ib. and founds monasteries at Athelney and at Shaftesbury; ib. Alfred's vigilant administration, and effective repression of robbers and thieves; p. 50. His piety and his deep afflictions; ib. His visit to Cornwall, and to the church of St. Guerour, now called St. Neot's; p. 51. His conference with Grimbold, as to the foundation of the new monastery at Winchester, afterwards called Hyde; ib. His purchase of land there for a chapel and dormitory, and his injunction to his successor for the fulfilment of his purpose; ib. Preamble of his Will in Anglo-Saxon; p. 52; and in Middle English; p. 54; and in Latin; p. 57. Translation of the Preamble of Alfred's Will from the Saxon into English; p. 327. Continuation of the Will in Anglo-Saxon; p. 62; and in Middle English; p. 67; and in Latin; p. 71. Translation of the Will from the Saxon into English; p. 329. Enumeration of the children of Alfred; pp. 60, 61; and of his monastic foundations; p. 61. His death, and burial at St. Swithun's, Winchester; pp. 51, 61, 72. Translation of his remains to the New Monastery at Winchester; p. 76; and thence to Hyde; p. 83. Desecration of his tomb by the magistrates of Hampshire, A.D. 1786; pp. lxxv-lxxviii.

Circumstances and purpose of the Embassy to Rheims, and invitation to Grimbold; p. xxiii. Alfred's views as to Grimbold's labours in England, and the difficulty in explaining the long delay in the foundation of the New Monastery;

ALFRED the Great—cont.

ib. Variety and conflicting character of the accounts of Alfred's actual share in its foundation; pp. xxiv-xxvii. Attempt to collate and to reconcile them; ib. Account by Dr. Milner, the historian of Winchester, of the disgraceful circumstances of the desecration of A.D. 1786, and subsequent years; p. lxxv. Researches of Mr. Howard of Corby, in relation to Alfred's tomb, and to other remains of antiquity at Hyde; pp. lxxvi, lxxvii, lxxviii.

ALFRED, son of King Edward the Elder, and grandson of King Alfred, witnesses royal charters in A.D. 901; pp. 100, 116.

ALFRED, son of King Ethelred II, and of Elfgifu Emma, sent by his father to seek refuge in Normandy with Duke Richard II, his uncle; pp. 215, 267. He is induced to return into England with forces from Normandy, and is, as was alleged by the Norman party in England, betrayed by Earl Godwin and killed; p. 287. Allusion to the circumstances of his death, at the table of King Edward the Confessor, and what followed thereon; p. 289.

ALFRED (Alured), Archbishop of York. See Ethelred.

ALFRED, Bishop of Selsey, witnesses a charter of King Edmund the Elder in A.D. 945; p. 146; and a charter of King Edred in A.D. 947; p. 164.

ALFRED, an officer, witnesses charters of King Ethelstan and King Edmund, in various years; pp. 131, 144.

ALFRED, an officer of King Ethelstan, has a grant of land at North Stoneham, in Hampshire, and regrants it, in reversion, to the New Monastery at Winchester; pp. 125, 132. He has another grant of land at Chisledon, in Wiltshire; p. 147.

ALFRED, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edred; p. 165.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- ALFRED, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edwy in A.D. 957; p. 173; and another in A.D. 950; p. 178.
- ALFRED, another officer, witnesses a charter of King Edwy in A.D. 959; p. 178.
- ALFRED, a naval officer of King Ethelred II. See Elfric.
- ALFRED, of Beverley. The chronicle of quoted (as abridged by Higden) with reference to the conquests of Egbert; p. 8; with reference to the Life of Dunstan; p. 117; and with reference to the murder of King Edmund the Martyr; p. 137. His account of the battle of Scearstan quoted; p. 261.
- ALFRED, of Dorsetshire, held lands at Piddletrenthide, (a manor belonging to the New Monastery at Winchester,) in the reign of King Edward the Confessor; p. cxi.
- ALFHERD, an alderman, witnesses a charter of King Edgar in A.D. 966; p. 205.
- ALFRITHA. See Ethelfrith.
- ALLA. See Ella.
- ALLINGTON, in Hampshire. Battle fought at, between King Egbert, of Wessex, and the Mercians, in A.D. 824; p. 20.
- ALLOC. See Elloc.
- ALMAR. See Ethelmer.
- ALMARICUS, Count of Evreux. See Aylmer.
- ALNEY, in Gloucestershire. Single combat between King Edmund Ironside and Cnut, fought at; p. 263. Its consequences; p. 264.
- ALNOTH. See Ethelnoth.
- ALSI, Son of Brizi. See Elfsige.
- ALSTAN. See Ethelstan.
- ALTON, in Hampshire. Manor of, given by William the Conqueror to the New Monastery, as compensation for land taken from them at Winchester; p. xli. Grant of a pension out of the Church there by Godfrey de Lucy, Bishop of Winchester, to Hyde Abbey; p. lxxxviii. Domesday Survey of the Manor of; p. ciii.
- ALTON BERNERS, in Wiltshire [?]. Bequest of land at, by King Alfred, to Edward the Elder; pp. 63, 330.
- ALWARD. See Ethelwerd.
- ALWY; ALWYN. See Ethelwin.
- AMESBURY, in Wiltshire. Bequest of land at, by King Alfred, to his younger son Ethelwerd; pp. 63, 330. Nunnery founded there by Elfritha, or Ethelfrith (wife of King Edgar and mother of King Ethelred II.); p. 207.
- ANDOVER, in Hampshire. Bequest of the vill of, by King Edred, to St. Swithun's Monastery at Winchester; pp. 153, 346. Edgar's visit to; p. 190.
- ANELAPHUS. See Anlaf the Dane.
- ANGLES. Origin of the, and their settlement in Britain; p. 19.
- ANGMERING, in Sussex. Bequest of the vill of, to Osfrith, by King Alfred; pp. 64, 331.
- ANLAF the Dane, son of Sithric, King of Northumbria, warlike exploits of; p. 119. His visit, in disguise, to the tent of King Ethelstan, and what ensued thereon; p. 123. He is conquered by King Edmund the Elder, and baptized; p. 137.
- ANLAF (Anlafus, Olaf Trygvason), King of Norway [A.D. 956-1000]. See Olave.
- ANNA, King of the East Angles; p. 11. Annales de Hyda in the Harleian MS. 1761, Description of; pp. lxxxviii, lxxxix. Quotations from; pp. xxxiv, xxxvii, xli, xlii, xliiv. Their chronology compared with that of Liber de Hyda; p. xcv.
- ANSELM, Archbishop of Canterbury, is received at Rome, during his exile from England, by Pope Urban II.; p. 302. On his return homewards, stays at Martigny, and in conversation with the abbot there predicts the death of William the Red; pp. 303, 304. Arrives in England, and is restored to his dignities by King Henry I.; p. 305.
- ANTIOCH, death at, of Ernulfus de Hednith [?], an English exile, and his dying speech; p. 301.
- ARNEFRITH [?], a bishop, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 921; p. 109.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

407

- ARNETT, JOHN, receives an annuity out of the revenues of Hyde Abbey at the Dissolution; p. lxxii.
- ARNULFUS. See Ernulfus.
- ARUNDEL, ROGER, held land at Piddletrenthide, in Dorsetshire (a manor of the New Monastery at Winchester), under King William; p. cxi.
- ASCUUYUS, an abbot. See ESCWY.
- ASKETILLUS, Archbishop of York. See OSCYTEL.
- ASSARACUS. Legend of the conquest of Germany by, at the head of forces sent by King Ebrancus from Britain; p. 18.
- ASSER of Saint David's, Bishop of Sherborne, is invited into England by King Alfred; p. 29. Is made Professor of Grammar and Rhetoric at Oxford; p. 41. Attends a Council at Winchester in A.D. 901; p. 80. Witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 901 and 904; 81, 97, 101, 103. King Alfred's bequest to him; p. 65.
- ASSINGDON (Essingdon) in Essex. Battle fought at, between King Edmund Ironside and Cnut; p. 262.
- ASTON, WALTER, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1222-1248]. His election; p. lii. His appointment to hold an assize of arms for Hampshire; liii. His death; ib.
- ATHEA, a virgin, becomes a nun at Polesworth; p. 26.
- ATHELNEY, in Somersetshire, King Alfred takes refuge among the wilds there; and constructs a fortified camp; p. 47. He founds a monastery there in gratitude for his deliverance; p. 49.
- ATHELSTAN. See Ethelstan.
- ATHELWOLD. See Ethelwold.
- ATHULF; ATHULPH; ATHULPHUS. See Ethelwulf.
- ATSERE, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Cnut in A.D. 1119; p. 326.
- AUGUSTINE, Saint, Apostle of England. Beda's account of the circumstances which led to his English mission; p. 15.
- AUGUSTINE, Saint—cont.
Another account of it, by Fulke, archbishop of Rheims; 32. Conversion of King Ethelbert by; p. 6.
- AUGUSTINE, Augustine de, Physician to Cardinal Wolsey, renders an account in the Exchequer for the Hyde manors of Abbots Worthy, Bighton, and Leckford; p. lxxix.
- AUXERRE, in France. A National Council convened at; p. 310.
- AXMOUTH, in Devonshire. Bequest of land at, by King Alfred, to his younger son Ethelwerd; pp. 63, 330.
- AYLMER, or AMAURY, de Montfort (IV.), Count of Evreux, makes his submission to King Henry I, and is restored to his forfeited estates, p. 319.

B.

- BALDRED, King of Kent, is defeated by King Egbert; p. 6.
- BALDWIN, Count of Flanders, succeeds Count Robert; p. 308. Invades Normandy, in alliance with Lewis VI. King of France; p. 311; but speedily retreats; ib. He again invades Normandy; p. 314; and is again unsuccessful; p. 315.
- BALDWIN of Bouillon, [afterwards second King of Jerusalem,] sets out on the first Crusade; p. 300.
- BANGOR, Bishopric of, conferred on John Salcot, last Abbot of Hyde; p. lxxvii.
- BARDNEY, removal of the remains of Saint Oswald from; p. 61.
- BARFLEUR, in Normandy. Shipwreck of Prince William, son of King Henry I, and his companions, near Barfleur; p. 321.
- BARNABAS, Saint, Altar of, in Hyde Abbey; p. lii. Miracles are reported to be wrought there, and thereafter the Monastery is often called 'The Abbey of St. Barnabas'; ib.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- BARNABY, John, renders an account in the Exchequer for the Hyde manor of Slackstead ; p. lxxix.
- BARNHAM, in Sussex? Bequest by King Alfred of the vill of, to his nephew Ethelm ; pp. 64, 331.
- BARTHOLOMEW, Saint. Church of, at Hyde ; pp. lxxiv, lxxvi. Present display of Vandalism there ; p. lxxviii.
- BARTON, in Hampshire, Lease of land at, by the Community of New Minster, to Wulfmer ; pp. 258, 259, 365.
- BASING, in Hampshire. Grant of lands at, by King Edmund I., to Ethelnoth ; pp. 145 344. Regrant of the same by Ethelnoth to New Minster ; p. 146, 345.
- BATH, in Somersetshire, St. Elfheah lives there as a hermit, and founds a Monastery ; p. 214. Coronation of King Edgar at ; pp. 179, 188.
- BATH, Episcopal See of ; p. 13.
- BATH ABBEY. Foundation of, by Offa, King of Mercia ; p. 19. Corruption and punishment of the ancient Community ; p. 214. Bequest by Ethelmer to the reformed Community ; p. 254.
- BATTLE ABBEY, in Sussex. Foundation of, by William the Conqueror, on the scene of the decisive conflict with Harold ; p. 294.
- BAVARIA, a component part of ancient Germany ; p. 18.
- BEAUFORT, Henry de, Bishop of Winchester, and Cardinal. Extracts from the Register of ; p. lix. His bequest towards the restoration of the great church of Hyde Abbey ; p. lx.
- BECKLEY, in Sussex? Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to Osfrith ; pp. 64, 331.
- BEDA. Quotation from Beda's Historia Ecclesiastica respecting the baptism of Ceadwalla King of Wessex ; p. 17. His education and ministry at Wearmouth and at Jarrow ; p. 276. Simeon of Durham's account of the life and works of, in the book De Gestis Pontificum Dunelmensium ; pp. 271-273. Extracts from his own autobiographical narrative in the Historia Ecclesiastica ; pp. 273-275. Another account of him, from the Historia Aurea of John of Tynemouth ; pp. 275, 276 ; and from Malmesbury ; pp. 276, 277. Proofs that he did not visit Rome ; p. 278. Translation of his relics ; p. 279. Monastic legend as to the epithet "Venerable ;" ib.
- BEDA—cont.
- BEDDINGHAM, in Sussex? Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred, to his nephew Ethelm ; pp. 64, 331.
- BEDFORDSHIRE. Account of ; p. 13.
- BEDHAMPTON, in Hampshire, Translation of the Domesday Survey of the Hyde Manor of ; p. ciii.
- BEDWIN, in Wiltshire? Bequest of land at, by King Alfred, to Edward the Elder ; pp. 62, 329.
- BEEDING, in Sussex? Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred, to his nephew Ethelm ; pp. 64, 331.
- BELDEG. Genealogy of ; p. 28.
- BELESME :
 Montgomery, Robert' de, surnamed De BELESME, Earl of Shrewsbury, supports the elevation of King Henry I. to the crown, but not cordially ; p. 301. He is exiled by the King, and joins Robert Duke of Normandy ; p. 306. He abandons the Duke, and makes his peace with Henry ; p. 307. Whilst preparing a new insurrection, he is seized and imprisoned ; ib.
- BENEDICT BISCOP. Beda educated by ; p. 276. Beda's account of his life ; p. 278.
- BEORHTHELM, a deacon, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 904 ; p. 105.
- BEORHTNOTH. See Byrhtnoth.
- BEORHTSIE, an officer, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900 ; pp. 97, 101 ; and another in A.D. 901 ; p. 116.
- BEORHTSIGE witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan ; p. 149.
- BEORHTWOLD. See Byrhtwold.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

409

- BEORNHELM, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 901; p. 97.
- BEORNHELM, a bishop, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 901; p. 101.
- BEORNSTAN, an officer of King Edward the Elder, witnesses charters of that king in A.D. 900 and 901; pp. 97, 101, 116.
- BEORNSTAN, another officer, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 901; p. 101.
- BEORNSTAN, a priest, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 904; p. 105.
- BEORNSTAN, Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 931-934], witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan, in A.D. 932; p. 131.
- BEORNSTAN, a bishop, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921; p. 109.
- BEORNULF, King of Mercia, is defeated in battle by Egbert, King of Wessex; p. 20.
- BEORNULF, a deacon, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 900, and in 901; pp. 97, 101, 116.
- BEORHTULF, a priest, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900 and in 901; pp. 97, 101, 116.
- BERNARD, Saint, Abbot of Clairvaux, is appealed to by the Monks of Hyde, in their quarrel with Henry of Blois, Bishop of Winchester; p. xlix. Uses his influence against that prelate's project for raising his bishopric into an archbishopric, and Hyde Abbey into an episcopal see; p. 1.
- BERNICA. Description of the Northumbrian province of; p. 15.
- BETHELL FAMILY (of Hampshire). Descent of the demesne land and site of Hyde Abbey to the Paulets, through the; p. lxxix.
- BETHELL, Richard, has a grant from King Henry VIII. of the demesne land and site of Hyde Abbey, after its destruction by Wriothlesley; p. lxxiii.
- BEVERLEY. Visit of King Ethelstan to the church of St. John at, and his vow and oblation at the altar; p. 118. Beda made deacon there; p. 276.
- BIGHTON, in Hampshire. Grant of lands at, to the New Monastery at Winchester, by King Edwy, in A.D. 959; p. 174. Boundaries of the lands so granted; pp. 176-178. Translation of the boundaries from Saxon into English; p. 352. Translation of the Domesday Survey of the Manor of; p. xcvi. Manor accounted for in the Exchequer by Dr. Augustin de Augustine; p. lxxix.
- BIRIN, Saint, Bishop of Genoa, converts to Christianity Ethelwold, King of the South Saxons; p. 7. His subsequent labours in that kingdom; ib. He converts Cynegils, King of Wessex; p. 12. Monkish legend concerning him; ib.
- BISCOP, Benedict. See Benedict.
- BISUS, Bishop of Dunwich; p. 10.
- BOETHIUS de Consolatione, translated by Wenefrith, Bishop of Worcester; p. 46.
- BOHEMIA, a component part of ancient Germany; p. 18.
- BOISILUS, Saint. Remains of, brought from Melrose to Durham; p. 271.
- BONAGRATIA de Villa Dei. His Epistle to the Dominican Monks of England quoted, with reference to the monkhood of King Ethelwulf; p. 21.
- BONDA, a Member of the Council convened in London by Archbishop Ethelgar; p. 245.
- BONVILLE, Henry, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1465-1472]. Dissensions concerning the election of, to the Abbacy; p. lx. He is sent to govern the Priory of Bosgrove; ib.; and dies there; p. lxi.
- BOSGROVE Priory, in Sussex, is committed to the government of Henry Bonville, Abbot of Hyde; p. lx.
- BOURNE, Monastery of. Bequest to the, by Ethelmer; pp. 254, 361.
- BOURNE, in Kent. Crimes committed at, by Wulfbold, a rebel; pp. 244, 357.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- BOWSER, Henry, of the Inner Temple, transcribed a MS. Chronicon Monasterii de Hyda, now lost; p. xciii.
- BRABOURNE, in Kent. Land at, forfeited by Wulfbold, a rebel; p. 245. Its boundaries; pp. 245, 246. Translation of the Boundaries from Saxon into English; p. 361.
- BRANSCOMBE, in Devonshire. Bequest of land at, by King Alfred to his younger son; pp. 63, 330.
- BRECKNOCK taken from the Welsh, by Ethelfleda, Lady of the Mercians; p. 61.
- BREMULE, near Noyons. Victory at, won by Henry I. over the French under Lewis VI.; p. 317.
- BRENTFORD, in Middlesex. Victory at, won by King Edmund Ironside over the Danes; p. 262.
- BRICFERT witnesses charters of King Edgar, in A.D. 966; pp. 205, 323.
- BRICTICUS. See Byrhtic.
- BRIDGENORTH, in Shropshire, founded, or restored, by Ethelfleda, Lady of the Mercians; p. 60.
- BRINSTAN. See Beornstan.
- BRISTOL, in Gloucestershire; p. 13.
- BRITANNIA, whence derived; p. 4.
- BRITHMER. See Byrhtmer.
- BRITONS. Expulsion of the; p. 19.
- BROMLEY, Thomas, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1440-1465]. Election of; p. lx. Bequests to the Community during his headship; ib.
- BROUD. Genealogy of; p. 28.
- BROWN CANDOVER. See Candover.
- BRUTE, Legend of the Conquest of Britain by; p. 4.
- BRYCFERT. See Briefert.
- BRYNSTAN. See Beornstan.
- BUCKINGHAMSHIRE; p. 14.
- BUGA, an officer, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 904, 921, and of Ethelstan in A.D. 932; pp. 105, 110, 131.
- BURGELYN, a priest, baptizes South Saxons under Wilfred, Archbishop of York; p. 7.
- BURRHIC (Burhtric, Burgric), witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan in A.D. 940; p. 144.
- BURRHIC (Brietricus, Brihtric, Byrhtic), King of Wessex. See Byrhtic.
- BURRHIC, Bishop of Rochester [A.D. 934-946], witnesses a charter of King Edmund in A.D. 945; p. 46.
- BURNHAM, in Somersetshire. Bequest of land at, by King Alfred, to Edward the Elder; pp. 62, 329.
- BURY SAINT EDMUNDS, the Monastery of, restored by King Edgar; p. 179.
- BYRHTFERTH, an officer, witnesses charters of King Edwy, in A.D. 957 and in A.D. 959; pp. 173, 178.
- BYRHTHELM (Bysehtelm, Byrthelmus, Brythelm), Bishop of Wells [A.D. 956-973], is raised to the See of Canterbury [by King Edwy]; p. 186; but is obliged [by King Edgar] to return to his former see [in order to the elevation of Dunstan]; ib. Witnesses, as archbishop, a charter of King Edwy, in A.D. 959; p. 177. Witnesses, as Bishop of Wells, Edgar's charters to the New Monastery at Winchester, in A.D. 966; pp. 202, 205, 323.
- Note.—By an error of the Hyde scribe, following Higden, the elevation to Canterbury (just before King Edwy's death) is ascribed to that Byrthelm who filled the see of Winchester from A.D. 959 to A.D. 963, instead of the Bishop of Wells. [See Liber de Hyda, fol. 26 c; above, p. 186].
- BYRHTHELM, Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 959-963], witnesses a charter of King Edwy, in A.D. 959; p. 177.
- BYRHTHELM, Bishop of London [A.D. 953-959?], witnesses a charter of King Edwy, in A.D. 957; p. 199.
- BYRHTHELM, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred II., in A.D. 995 [?]; p. 253.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

411

- BYRHTMER, (Brihtmer, Brihtmere), Abbot of New Minster [A.D. 1008-1020], succeeds Byrhtwold in the abbacy in the year 1008, and rules the community for about thirteen years; p. xxxv. Witnesses Cnut's charter of Drayton, in A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- BYRHTMER, of Bourne in Kent. The lands of, are invaded by one Wulfbold, his relative, and a rebel; pp. 244, 359.
- BYRHTNOTH, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edwy, in A.D. 957; p. 174.
- BYRHTNOTH (Burhtnotus), an earl, witnesses charters of King Edgar, in A.D. 966; pp. 205, 323.
- BYRHTNOTH (Byrhtnoth, Beorhtnoth), an alderman or duke, witnesses charters of King Ethelred II., in A.D. 982, and A.D. 983; pp. 227, 231. Is present at a council in London, convened by Ethelgar, Archbishop of Canterbury; p. 245.
- BYRHTNOTH, Abbot of Saint Swithun's at Winchester, is elevated to that abbacy by St. Ethelwold, Bishop of Winchester; p. 182.
- BYRHTNOTH, an abbot, is present at a council convened in London by Ethelgar, Archbishop of Canterbury; p. 245.
- BYRHTNOTH, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edwy, A.D. 951; p. 178.
- BYRNHELM. See Beornhelm.
- BYRNSTAN (Brinstan, Brynstan). See Beornstan.
- BYRHTRIC (Brietricus, Brihtric), King of Wessex, is guilty of treachery towards Egbert, afterwards King; p. 20; and is poisoned by Ethelburga; p. 26.
- BYRHTRIC (Byrhtrige), an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 932; p. 130.
- BYRHTRIC, an officer, witnesses Cnut's charter of Drayton, in A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- BYRHTWIG, an abbot, witnesses Cnut's charter of Drayton, in A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- BYRHTWOLD (Brightwold), Abbot of New Minster [A.D. 995-1008] succeeds Elfsige in the abbacy, and governs the community until his death; p. xxxv.
- BYRHTWOLD (Brihtwold), Bishop of Ramsbury [A.D. 1005-1045], witnesses Cnut's charter of Drayton, in A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- BYRHTWOLD, an abbot, witnesses Cnut's charter of Drayton, in A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- BYRHTWOLD, an officer, (Bexrhtwold), witnesses a charter of King Edred, in A.D. 947; p. 165.
- BYRNRIC, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edwy, in A.D. 957; p. 173.
- BYRTHANC (Byrthancus), a knight, witnesses charters of King Edgar, in A.D. 966; p. 205, 323.

C.

- CAEN, in Normandy. Burial of William the Conqueror in the Church of St. Stephen, at; p. 283. Incident at his funeral, and what followed; p. 297.
- CALNE, in Wiltshire. Council held at, in A.D. 975; p. 206. Fall of the floor in which the assembly was held, and escape of Dunstan; p. 207. Bequest of the vill of, by King Edred to St. Swithun's Monastery at Winchester; pp. 153, 155, 346.
- CAMBRIDGESHIRE; p. 9.
- CAMBRIDGE, University of. Legendary account of the foundation of; p. 11. Burnt in the time of Saint Edmund the Martyr, and restored by King Edward the Elder; ib.
- CAMDEN, William, Visit of, to Hyde Abbey ruins; p. lxxiv.
- CANDOVER [afterwards called Chilton Candover?], in Hampshire, Vill of, bequeathed by King Alfred to his second daughter; pp. 63, 330.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- CANDOVER ABBAS [afterwards called Brown Candover], in Hampshire, granted by King Edward the Elder to New Minster; pp. xxix, 95, 337. Mentioned in the Boundaries of Micheldever, p. 86. Translation of the Domesday Survey of the Manor of; p. c. Philip Paytevyn, or Philip of Poitou, presented to the Church of; p. liv. Petition thereon of the Abbot and Convent of Hyde; ib.
- CANTERBURY, Archiepiscopate of; p. 6. Succession of the archbishops in the reigns of Edwy and Edgar; p. 186. Election of Byrthelm to the archiepiscopate, and his compulsory return to his former diocese [of Wells]; ib. Irregular Nomination of Elfsige, Bishop of Winchester, and his sudden death; ib. Account of the archiepiscopate of Odo; p. 187; and of that of Dunstan; ib.
- CANTERBURY, Monastery of St. Augustine at, Ethelmer's bequest to; pp. 254, 347.
- CANTERBURY, Benedictine Monastery of Christ Church at, Ethelmer's bequest to; pp. 254, 347.
- CANTERBURY besieged by the Danes in A.D. 1011; p. 213. Capture and imprisonment of Archbishop Elfeg or Elfheah; ib. His body first buried in London, but afterwards removed to Canterbury; p. 214.
- CANNING, Simon (Simon de Kaninges), abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1292-1304], receives the temporalities; p. liv.
- CANUTE. See Cnut.
- CAPEL Family, Descent of part of the abbey lands of Hyde through the; p. lxxiv.
- CAPPA, a priest, baptizes the South Saxons; p. 7.
- CARHAMPTON, in Somersetshire, Bequest of land at, by King Alfred to Edward the Elder; pp. 62, 329.
- CARLISLE, Episcopate of; p. 17.
- CATHERINE of Arragon, Consort of King Henry VIII., Labours of the last Abbot of Hyde, in the divorce of; p. lxxv.
- CEADWALLA (Cedwalla), King of Wessex. Subjection of the kingdom of the South
- CEADWALLA—cont.
Saxons by; p. 8. Baptism and death of; p. 17. The Chronicler's uncertainty as to his monkhood; ib.
- CEAULIN. Genealogy of; p. 28.
- CECIL, Robert, Earl of Salisbury. Correspondence of, with the Warden of Winchester, respecting Hyde manors; p. lxxxiii.
- CECIL, William, Lord Burghley. Correspondence of, with the last Abbot of Hyde, respecting abbey lands; p. lxxviii.
- CELRED, King of Essex; p. 9.
- CENWALD (Centwald), Bishop of Worcester [929-957], witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 130; and charters of King Edmund the Elder in A.D. 940 and 945; pp. 144, 146; and one of King Edred in A.D. 947; p. 164; and a charter of King Edwy in A.D. 957; p. 172.
- CEOLMUND (Seolmund), Bishop of Rochester, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900 and in 901; pp. 97, 101, 116.
- CEOLNOTH witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.
- CEOLSIGE witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 149.
- CEOLWALD. Genealogy of; p. 28.
- CEOLWULF, King of Mercia; p. 14.
- CEOLWULF, King of Northumbria, assumes the monkish garb; p. 18.
- CERDIC. Genealogy of; p. 28.
- CERDIC, King of Wessex; p. 12.
- CHADDLEWORTH, in Berkshire. Domesday Survey of the Hyde Manor of; p. cxiii.
- CHALE, in the Isle of Wight. Grant by Henry VIII. of a meadow at, to Winchester College, in exchange for other abbey lands; p. lxxxix.
- CHARLEMAGNE's lance and banner given to King Ethelstan by Otho, Emperor of Germany; p. 118.
- CHARLES, Count of Flanders, supports the Anglo-Norman malcontents, but afterwards makes his peace with King Henry I.; p. 320.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

413

- CHARLES III., called the Simple, King of France, marries Edgiva, daughter of King Edward the Elder; p. 112.
- CHEDDER, in Somersetshire, Request by King Alfred to the holders of land at, on behalf of Edward the Elder; pp. 62, 329.
- CHERBURY founded or restored by Ethelfled; p. 60.
- CHESTER; pp. 13, 14. Is subdued by King Egbert, p. 20. Conflicts of Alfred with the Danes at; p. 50. Recovered by Edmund the Elder from the Danes; p. 137. King Edgar's reception there, and his regal procession on the Dee; p. 189. King Edred's bequest to the Nunnery at; p. 153.
- CHESTER, Ralph of. See Higden.
- CHEWTON, in Somersetshire, Bequest of lands at, by King Alfred to Edward the Elder; pp. 62, 329.
- CHICHESTER, in Sussex, Removal of the episcopal see of Selsey to; p. 8.
- CHILHAMPTON, in Wiltshire? or CHILTON, in Somersetshire? Bequest of lands at, by King Alfred to Edward the Elder; pp. 62, 329.
- CHIPPENHAM, in Wiltshire, Occupation of, by the Danes; p. 45. Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to his youngest daughter; pp. 63, 330.
- CHISLEDON, in Wiltshire, Bequest of land at, by King Alfred to [? the Monastery of St. Swithun at] Winchester; pp. 63, 330. Acquisition of the manor of, by the community of New Minster, under the grant of King Edward the Elder; p. 114. Its boundaries; pp. 114, 115. Translation of the boundaries; p. 340. Translation of Domesday Survey of the manor of; p. cx. Lease of land at, to Alfred, a servant of King Ethelstan, by the community of New Minster; p. 147.
- CHOLSEY, in Berkshire [?], Manor of, given to King Ethelred II. by Ethelfrith or Elfritha his mother; p. 244.
- CHRISTIANA, granddaughter of King Edmund Ironside. Birth of, in Hungary; p. 267.
- Chronicon Monasterii de Hyda juxta Wintoniam* [a fragment, from Cotton MS., Domitian, A. xiv., ff. 2-20]; pp. 283-321. Notice of its chronology and character; p. xcvi. Marked Norman spirit displayed in it; ib. Its disproof of the popular fiction that Gundrada, "the Countess" (wife of Earl William de Warenne, afterwards Earl of Surrey), was a daughter of William the Conqueror; p. xcvi.
- Chronicon Monasterii de Hyda, a tempore Regis Ethelstani ad Regem Edwardum Tertium*, a manuscript transcribed by Mr. Henry Bowser, of the Inner Temple, but now lost; p. xciii.
- CHRONOLOGY of Liber de Hyda noticed; p. xciii. Collation of some examples of it with that of the Annales de Hyda in Harleian MS. 1761, and with that of the Saxon Chronicle; pp. xcvi, xcvi.
- CHRONOLOGY of Chronicon Monasterii de Hyda, in Cott. MS. Domitian, A. xiv., noticed; p. xcvi.
- CIDDI, a priest, Baptism of the South Saxons by; p. 7.
- CIRICIUS, Archbishop of Canterbury. See Siric.
- CLERMONT-FERRAND, in France (Department of Puy de Dôme). Council of; p. 299. Proclamation there of the first Crusade; p. 300.
- CLERMONT-OISE [formerly Clermont-en-Beauvais], in France (Department of Oise). Invasion of France by King Henry the First, near; p. 316. Ravages committed there; ib.
- CLUNIAC PRIORY OF SAINT PANCRAS, at Lewes in Sussex (founded by William de Warenne, Earl of Surrey). Burial of the founder at; p. 299.
- CLUNY, Foundation of the Abbey of, by William of Burgundy; p. 78. Its early abbots, and its growth; ib.
- CNUT, called The Great, King of Denmark and of England, takes the command of the invading Danish fleet, by order of his father Swcyn; p. 215. Is by the

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationCNUT—cont.

Danes proclaimed king on his father's death ; p. 216. His defeat at Lyndsey ; ib. His cruelties at Sandwich ; ib. He embarks thence for Denmark, but speedily returns to England ; ib. He is assisted by the traitor Earl Edric ; p. 217. On Ethelred's death he is recognized as King of England in a Council at Southampton ; pp. 217, 260. But is opposed by part of the magnates, and by the citizens of London, who declare Edmund Ironside king ; pp. 260, 261. He lays siege to London, but is repulsed ; p. 261. He fights the battle of Penn, and is defeated by King Edmund ; ib. He engages Edmund again at Scarstan or Sherston ; p. 261 ; and is driven into Wessex ; p. 262. Fights the battle of Brentford, in Middlesex ; p. 262. And that of Otford, in Kent, where he is defeated, and driven into the isle of Sheppey ; ib. He invades Mercia, and fights the battle of Assingdon ; ib. Is again assisted by Edric ; ib. Fights another battle at Deerhurst ; p. 263. Engages King Edmund in single combat at Alney, in Gloucestershire ; pp. 263, 264 ; and divides the kingdom with him ; p. 264. On Edmund's death, he attains complete sovereignty over England ; p. 265 ; and divides the realm into four great provinces ; ib. Entrusts the government of Mercia to Edric ; ib. Conceives anger and mistrust towards Edric ; ib. Edric's speech to the King at his audience ; p. 266. Cnut's anger is increased, and he commands that Edric be put to death ; ib. His treatment of the family and connexions of King Edmund ; pp. 266, 267. His reputed children by Elgiva or Elfgifu, daughter of Earl Elfhelm ; p. 267. His marriage with Elfgifu Emma, widow of King Ethelred ; pp. 267, 285. He winters in Denmark ; p. 268. His honourable reception of Edmund, the newly-elected bishop of Durham ; p. 269. His veneration for

CNUT—cont.

Saint Cuthbert ; p. 270 ; and pilgrimage to Garmansway ; ib. His gifts to St. Cuthbert's monastery at Durham ; ib. His small veneration for other English saints ; p. 185. His visit to Saint Edith's tomb at Wilton ; ib. He permits the translation and honourable reinterment at Canterbury of the remains of Archbishop Elfheah ; p. 214. His relations with the New Monastery at Winchester, and desire to win monkish esteem, noticed ; p. xxxv. His gift of the manor of Drayton, in Hampshire, and of a magnificently sculptured and jewelled gold cross ; p. xxxvi. Singular series of fatalities to which that cross was subjected ; pp. xxxviii, xlv, xlvii, xlviii, xlix, li, lii. Cnut's charter of Drayton, with the boundaries ; pp. 324, 325. That manor seized by William the Conqueror ; p. xxxviii.

COBHAM, Sir Reginald de, receives by royal license, from the Abbot and Convent of Hyde, a grant of the advowson of the church of Lingfield, in Surrey ; p. lix.

COLBRAND the Dane. Account of the combat between Guy of Warwick and Colbrand, as related by the chronicler Gerard ; pp. 118-123. Some objections to the basis of truth underlying that legend, noticed ; p. xliii. The probable scene of this combat is selected by the monks of New Minster for the site of their new edifice, in the year 1107-8 ; ib.

COLE, William, of Cambridge, visits the site of Hyde Abbey in A.D. 1723 ; p. lxxiv. His account of the ruins ; lxxv.

COLLINGBOURNE [sometimes called Collingbourne Pewsey], in Wiltshire. Grant of, to New Minster by King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921 ; p. 105. Its boundaries ; pp. 106-108. Translation of the boundaries ; p. 340. Translation of Domesday Survey of the manor of ; p. cix. The church of, having been alienated to the Dean and Chapter of Salisbury, is redeemed by the Abbot and Con-

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

415

- COLLINGBOURNE—cont.
vent of Hyde, and that of Micheldever substituted, in A.D. 1291 ; p. liii.
- COLLINGBOURNE, John, Abbot of Hyde [1480–85], is, by command of the Bishop of Winchester, entrusted with the common seal of Hyde Abbey, during the abbacy of Henry Bonville ; p. lx. He succeeds Abbot Thomas Wirscebur ; p. lxi.
- COLTHROP, in Berkshire. The manor and church of, taken from Winchester College by King Henry VIII ; p. lxxxii.
- COLUMPTON, in Devonshire. Bequest of land at, by King Alfred to his younger son ; pp. 63, 330.
- COMET. Appearance in Normandy of a great comet in A.D. 1066 ; p. 291.
- COMPTON, in Sussex [?], Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to his nephew Ethelm ; pp. 64, 331.
- CONSTANTINE the Great, Emperor of Rome, Sword of, given by the Emperor Otho to King Ethelstan ; p. 117.
- CONSTANTINE III, King of Scotland, is defeated and reduced to vassalage by King Ethelstan ; p. 117. An anecdote concerning him ; ib. He rebels and is again defeated ; p. 118. His death ; p. 124.
- COOKE, John, receives an annuity out of the revenues of Hyde Abbey at the Dissolution ; p. lxxii.
- CORNWALL, Episcopate of ; p. 13. King Alfred's visit to ; p. 51. Archbishop Plegmund consecrates a bishop to the diocese of ; p. 111.
- CORNWALL, Gerard of. See Gerard.
- COTTESMORE. Bequest of land at ; p. 255.
- COTTONIAN MSS. relating to Hyde Abbey described ; pp. xc, xci, xcv, xcvi, xcvii.
- COUNCILS of English Magnates held at Swinburgh, or Swinbrook ? ; pp. 53, 328 ; and at Langden ; pp. 54, 328 ; and at Winchester ; pp. 80, 119, 180, 206 ; and at Calne ; p. 206 ; and at Southampton ; pp. 217, 260 ; and at London ; pp. 244, 260.
- COUNCIL of Clermont ; p. 300.
- COURTENAY, Peter, Bishop of Winchester. Extract from the Episcopal Register of ; p. lxiii.
- COVENTRY, Episcopal See of ; p. 14.
- CRANBOURNE, in Hampshire. Grant of land at, to New Minster by King Edward the Elder ; with its Boundaries ; pp. 88–90. Translation of the Boundaries ; p. 334. Mention of, in Domesday Survey ; p. cii.
- CREDITON, in Devonshire, Episcopal See of ; p. 13.
- CREODING. Genealogy of ; p. 28.
- CRESSY, Hugh. Quotations from Liber de Hyda made by, in his Church History of Brittany ; lxxxvi.
- CREWKERNE, in Somersetshire. Bequest of land at, by King Alfred to his younger son ; pp. 63, 330.
- CRICKLADE, in Wiltshire. Burgesses at, paid certain dues to the New Monastery at Winchester ; p. cx.
- CRICKLADE, Monastery of, Bequest of Ethelmer to the ; pp. 254, 363.
- CROC held land at Collingbourne, in Wiltshire, of the abbot of New Minster ; p. cix.
- CROMWELL, Thomas, Lord Cromwell, corresponds with John Salcot, last abbot of Hyde, about the affairs of the abbey and the bishopric of Bangor, with which it is to be held in commendam ; pp. lxxv–lxxvii. Sends Visitors to Hyde, and makes orders for its regulation ; pp. lxxix, lxxx. Extracts from Visitors' Report ; p. lxxxi. Has an annuity out of the revenues of the abbey ; p. lxxii.
- CROSS of Hyde Abbey given by Cnut the Great ; p. xxxvi ; is seized by William the Conqueror ; p. xxxviii ; but afterwards restored ; p. xlvi ; and carried in procession to the new abbey ; ib. Is destroyed by fire ; p. xlvi ; and its ashes plundered ; p. xlix. Representation of it referred to ; p. xlix, note. Its restoration and solemn inauguration by the Bishop of Winchester ; p. li. Is again plundered ; p. liii.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- CRUNDAL, in Hampshire, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to his nephew Ethelm; pp. 64, 331.
- CRUSADES, Commencement of the; p. 300.
- CUDA. Genealogy of; p. 28.
- CUMBERLAND is conquered by King Edmund the Elder, and delivered to Malcolm, King of Scotland; p. 137.
- CUNDLAF (Gundlaf) witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.
- CUTHBERT, Saint, Bishop of Lindisfarne. Legend of the appearance of St. Cuthbert to King Alfred in the guise of a pilgrim; p. 46. Translation of the remains of, to Durham; p. 213. Cnut's devotion to him, and large gifts to his monastery; p. 270.
- CUTHRED, King of the East Saxons; p. 9.
- CUTHREDSBRIDGE? or CUTHREDSBURY, in Hampshire? or in Wiltshire? Grant of, by King Edward the Elder to New Minster, with its boundaries; p. 91. Translation of the boundaries; p. 335.
- CYNEGILS, King of Wessex, is converted by St. Birin; p. 12. Descent of King Egbert from him; p. 19.
- CUTWIN. Genealogy of; p. 28.
- CYNESIGE witnesses a charter of King Edwy, in A.D. 957; p. 173.
- CYNRIC (Cenricus). Genealogy of; p. 28.
- CYNRIC (Kenric), King of Wessex; p. 12.
- CYNRIC witnesses a charter of King Edwy, in A.D. 957; p. 173.
- CYNULF witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 149.
- D.
- DAMERHAM, in Wiltshire, Bequest by King Alfred to his dependants at, and provision for their freedom; pp. 66, 333.
- DANEGELD; pp. 211, 212.
- DANEMEAD. The combat between Guy, Earl of Warwick, and Colbrand the Dane, in the meadow at Hyde, anciently called Danemead; pp. 121-123. The monks of New Minster select that meadow as the site of their new abbey; p. xlii.
- DANES invade England; pp. 6, 11. Murder Saint Edmund, King of the East Angles; p. 10. Reign in East Anglia and in Essex; p. 11. Are expelled by Edward the Elder; ib. Their conflicts with the English under Ethelred and Alfred; p. 27. Their defeat at Ashdown; ib. Alfred's unintermitting conflicts with them; p. 45. Battle of Wilton; ib. Their treachery, and flight to Exeter; ib. Alfred's visit to their camp in Somersetshire; p. 47; and their subsequent defeats; ib. His clemency to their king, Guthrum or Gormund; ib. Alfred's apportionment of territory to the Danes, after the baptism of Guthrum, and its results; p. 48. Their renewed ravages, and their siege of Rochester; p. 49. Alfred's repeated strife with them by land and sea, again referred to; p. 50. His allusion to their invasions in his Will; pp. 53, 328. Ethelfleda, Lady of the Mercians, takes Derby from them; p. 61. Their invasion and devastation of Ponthieu; p. 82. Their wars with Ethelstan; pp. 118, 123. Edgar settles some of them amongst the English; p. 184; and makes them drink by the pin; ib. They renew their invasions and ravages in the reign of Ethelred the Second; p. 210. Receive tribute or ransom-money from Siric, Archbishop of Canterbury; p. 211. Their devastations at Southampton, and in the Isle of Thanet, Cornwall, and Cheshire; ib. Systematic impositions of Danegeld; p. 212. They besiege Canterbury, and imprison Elfheah, the archbishop; p. 213; and afterwards murder him; p. 214. General massacre of them by command of Ethelred; p. 215. Exemplary punishment of that massacre by new forces

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

417

DANES—cont.

- under Sweyn and Cnut; ib. They devastate Northumbria, and besiege London; but are repulsed; ib. Their depredations at Bury St. Edmunds, and Sweyn's death shortly afterwards; p. 216. They proclaim Cnut King in his father's stead, and after the flight of Ethelred, and are defeated at Lindsey by Ethelred on his return; ib. Cnut embarks at Sandwich, but returns to England with fresh forces from Denmark, and is again proclaimed king; pp. 217, 260. King Edmund Ironside makes war upon them, and repeatedly defeats them; pp. 261-263. They are assisted by the traitor Edric; ib. Partition of the kingdom; p. 264. Ultimate establishment of the Danish rule, after the death of Edmund; p. 265.
- DANIEL, a bishop, witnesses a charter of King Edwy in A.D. 959; p. 177.
- DANUBE River; p. 19.
- DAVIDSON, Andrew, receives an annuity out of the revenues of Hyde Abbey; p. lxxii.
- DAY, John, Computus Roll of, containing the revenues of Hyde Abbey estates for the year 1469 referred to; p. lxxx.
- DEE River; p. 13. Edgar's royal progress there; p. 189.
- DEERHURST, in Gloucestershire. Elfheah (afterwards Archbishop of Canterbury) takes the monkish hood at; p. 214.
- DEIRA, Province of, described; p. 15.
- DENEWULF (Denulf, Denewlphus), Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 879-908], is found as a swineherd by King Alfred, is educated and raised to the see of Winchester; pp. 48, 49. Attends a council at Winchester; p. 80. Witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900, 901, and 904; pp. 97, 101, 104, 116. Makes a grant of land for the erection of the New Monastery; pp. xxix, 80, 81. His lease of Bedhampton to King Edward the Elder noticed; pp. cv, cvi.
- DENNING, John, receives an annuity out of revenues of Hyde Abbey; p. lxxiii.
- DEORMOD, a deacon, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 904; p. 105.
- DEORMOD, an officer, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900 and 901; pp. 97, 101, 116.
- DERBY is taken by Ethelfleda, Lady of the Mercians, from the Danes; p. 61. Having again fallen into their power, it is recovered by King Edmund the Elder; p. 137.
- DERBYSHIRE; pp. 14, 15.
- DERLYNGSCOT [?]. Petition presented to the King in Parliament by the community of Hyde, respecting the advowson of the church of; p. liv.
- D'EVREUX, Aylmer. See Aylmer.
- DIACLITIANUS, Legend of the daughters of; p. 3.
- DITCHELLING, in Sussex, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to Osfrith; pp. 64, 331.
- DOMESDAY Surveys of the manors of New Minster; pp. xcix-cxiv.
- DONNINGTON? in Sussex, granted by King Edgar to the community of New Minster; pp. 202, 203, 322. Domesday Survey of the manor of; p. cxii.
- DORCHESTER, in Oxfordshire, Episcopai see of; p. 14. Consecration of a bishop to the; p. 111.
- DORFWALD, King of the East Angles; p. 10.
- DOWMAN, John, Vicar-General of the Diocese of Winchester, visited Hyde Abbey as commissary of Bishop Richard Fox; p. lxii.
- DRAYTON, in Hampshire, Gift of the manor of, to the community of New Minster, by King Cnut; p. xxxvi. Cnut's grant thereof; pp. xxxvi, 324. Lease of it, by the community, to Wulfmer; pp. 258, 259. Notice of, in Domesday Survey; p. cii.
- DREUX, or DROGO de Monceux (De Monciato; De Monceio) rebels against Lewis, King of France, and diverts the forces intended to invade Normandy to the siege of the castle of Monceux; p. 315.

D D

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- DUNBAR, in Scotland, King Ethelstan's feat of arms at; p. 118.
- DUNSTAN, Saint, Archbishop of Canterbury, is born near Glastonbury, p. 117. Alfred, Treasurer of Beverley, has narrated his life and acts; ib. Ethelgar, first abbot of New Minster, after its Benedictine reform, was probably bred at Glastonbury under Dunstan; p. xxxiii. Dunstan approves of King Edred's reforms in the monastery of Abingdon, and of the appointment of Abbot Ethelwold; p. 151. Hears from an angelic voice an announcement of the death of Edred; p. 152. Edred's bequests to him as abbot of Glastonbury; pp. 154, 347. Buries Edred; ib. His reproof of King Edwy on the day of his coronation, and compulsion of the King to return to the assembled magnates; p. 166. Dunstan's consequent exile into Flanders; p. 167. On Edwy's deposition from the throne, he hears other angelic voices, prophesying the happiness of England under the rule of Edwy's successor; ib. Is recalled by King Edgar, and made bishop of Worcester; p. 179. He reforms the English monasteries, ib.; and is present at a council held at Winchester; p. 180. Hears there another angelic voice, from a crucifix, which is confirmatory of his policy; p. 181. Re-proves Edgar for his unchaste life, and imposes penance upon him; pp. 84, 187, 191. Legend respecting his visit to the tomb of St. Edith; p. 185. Incident at his consecration by Odo; p. 186. His translation from the sees of Worcester and London to that of Canterbury; p. 186. He goes to Rome to receive the pallium from Pope John XIII.; ib. On his return, he obtains, from Edgar, the appointment of Oswald to the see of Worcester; ib. Character of his rule in England as minister of King Edgar and as primate; p. 187. He crowns Edgar at Bath, after the expiration of his penance, and in the twelfth year of his reign; p. 188. [But comp. pp. 179, 191.] By his influence, and with the support of the other prelates, Edward "the Martyr" is made king, on Edgar's death, against the will of part of the magnates of the realm, and especially of Ethelfrith, mother of Ethelred; p. 206. Dunstan is present at the Council held at Calne; ib.; and escapes without injury on the fall of the floor which occurred there; p. 207. He prophecies the ignoble character of Ethelred, on occasion of an incident which occurred at the baptismal font; p. 209. He crowns Ethelred at Kingston, and on occasion of an incident at the coronation, predicts the woes to come from the murder of King Edward; p. 210. Remonstrates with Ethelred on that king's invasion of the rights of the see of Rochester and siege of the city; ib. Another legend respecting Dunstan, from his Life by Osbert; p. 211. His skill in goldsmith's work, and his foiling of Satan, when at Glastonbury; p. 211. At the instance of St. Andrew, who appears to him in a vision, he raises Elfheah to the see of Winchester, in succession to Ethelwold; p. 214. His death noticed; p. 211. He witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 201, 204, 322; and of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 982, 983, 987, and 988; pp. 228, 230, 235, 241.
- DUNSTAN, Saint—cont.
- DUPHTER witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.
- DURHAM, The see of Lindisfarne, and the remains of St. Cuthbert removed to; p. 213. Aldhun, its first bishop, after the translation; p. 268. Difficulties which attended the election of his successor, and long vacation of the see; ib. The jocose proposal of himself, by a priest named Edmund, is seriously accepted; p. 269. His consecration as bishop; ib.; and his exemplary rule of his diocese; p. 270. King Cnut's liberality to the church of Durham; ib. Pious

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationDURHAM—cont.

labours of Alfred, a priest of that church; p. 270. His translation of the relics of many saints to Durham; pp. 271, 279. Ethelric succeeds Edmund in the bishopric; p. 279; and is succeeded by Ethelwin; ib. References to an English poem on the church of; p. 279; and to a question pending between the churches of Durham and Hexham during the episcopate of Edmund; ib.

DURLEY, in Hampshire, Grant of lands at, to the New Minster, by King Edward the Elder; p. 92. Its boundaries; ib. Translation of the boundaries; p. 336.

E.

EADGAR, Eadgot. See Edgar.
 EADELM, Eadhelm. See Edelm.
 EADLAF. See Edlaf.
 EADMER. See Edmer.
 EADMUND, See Edmund.
 EADNOTH. See Ednoth.
 EADRED. See Edred.
 EADRIC. See Edric.
 EADSTAN. See Edstan.
 EADULF, Eadulfus. See Edulf.
 EADWEARD. See Edward.
 EADWIG, Eadwine. See Edwin.
 EAHLMUND. See Ethelmund.
 EAHLSTAN. See Ethelstan.
 EAHLSWITH. See Elfthryth.
 EALDRED, Eldred. See Ethelred.
 EALHHELM, Ealhwehm. See Ethelhelm.
 EALLE, King of the South Saxons; p. 7.
 EALSWITHA, Ealswyth, Elswytha. See Elfthryth or Ethelswith.
 EASHING, in Surrey, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to his nephew Ethelm; pp. 64, 331.
 EAST ANGLES. Foundation of the kingdom of the; p. 9; its history; p. 10

EAST ANGLIA. Episcopal sees of; p. 12. Settlement of Guthrum the Dane in; p. 48. Alfred's battle there; p. 50. Allotted to King Edmund Ironside in the partition with Cnut; p. 264. After Edmund's death its government is committed to Thurkil; p. 265.

EAST POPHAM, in Hampshire (part of the possessions of Hyde Abbey), noticed in Domesday Survey; p. cii.

EBBA, Baptism of; p. 7.

EBRANCUS, a legendary king of Britain, and his twenty sons; p. 18.

EDBURGA, Saint. See Ethelburga.

EDDID. See Edith.

EDGAR, King of England, deemed too young to reign on the death of his father Edmund; p. 150. Witnesses a charter of his brother King Edwy or Edwin; p. 172. Is proclaimed King of Northumbria and Mercia, on the deposition of Edwin by insurgents; p. 166. On Edwin's death becomes King of England, and is crowned at Bath in the year 957 [959. But comp. pp. 188, 191]; p. 179. He recalls Dunstan, and raises him to the see of Worcester; p. 179. He reforms and restores ancient monasteries, and founds new ones; ib. He substitutes monks for secular priests at Winchester; p. 182. He reproves Kenneth, King of Scotland, for ridiculing his meagreness of person, and offers him single combat, which Kenneth declines; p. 183. He establishes a strict police, and extirpates wolves, respecting which he makes a treaty with the King of Wales; p. 183. Creates a navy, and establishes itinerant justices throughout his kingdom; p. 184. Makes the Danes drink by the pin; ib. His family; p. 186. He is crowned at Bath, in the twelfth year of his reign, by Archbishop Dunstan; p. 188. [But comp. p. 179, 191.] He is pompously received at Chester, and makes a royal progress on the Dee to the church of St. John; p. 189. His vision in Glamorganshire, death, and character; ib.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

420

GENERAL INDEX.

EDGAR—cont.

His amour with Elfhryth of Devonshire; ib.; and with a damsel at Andover; p. 190. Enumeration of his children; p. 191. His charters to New Minster; pp. 192-205, 322, 323. His great liberality to that community noticed; pp. xxxi, 192; and his refoundation of it as a Benedictine abbey; ib.

EDGAR, Bishop of Hereford, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900 and 901; pp. 97, 101.

EDGAR, the Etheling, grandson of King Edmund Ironside, is born in Hungary; p. 267

EDGIVA (Eadgyfu, Eggivu), second wife of King Edward the Elder. Her marriage and children; p. 112. Benefactions to the Monastery of Abingdon; p. 152. King Edred's bequests to her; pp. 154, 348. Witnesses a charter of King Edmund in A.D. 940; pp. 138, 143; and another of that king in A.D. 945; p. 146; and one of King Edred in A.D. 947; p. 164; and charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 201, 205.

EDGIVA, daughter of King Edward the Elder. King of England, married to Lewis, Count of Aquitaine; p. 113.

EDGIVA, another daughter of King Edward the Elder, married to Charles the Simple, King of France; p. 113.

EDINGTON, in Wiltshire, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred, to his wife Eahlswyth, or Ethelswyth; p. 64, 331.

EDITH, Saint, sister of Ethelwulf, King of England, becomes a nun at Polesworth in Warwickshire; p. 26.

EDITH, Saint, daughter of Edgar, King of England, becomes a nun at Wilton; p. 185. Her holy life and death; ib. Archbishop Dunstan's visit to her tomb, and his vision there; ib. Cnut's visit; ib. His incredulity as to the saintship of a daughter of King Edgar, and its rebuke; ib.

EDITH, daughter of Earl Godwin, and wife of Edward the Confessor, King of

EDITH—cont.

England. Marriage of, with King Edward; p. 288. Is averse to the accession of her brother Harold; p. 290. Held the manor of Kingsclere in Berkshire; p. ci; and that of Alton in Hampshire; p. ciii.

EDGITHA (Eadgyth), daughter of King Edward the Elder, by his second wife, is sent to Henry, Emperor of Germany, and married, by the Emperor's means, to a certain duke, unnamed; p. 112.

EDGITHA, another daughter of King Edward the Elder, by a concubine, is married to Siric of Northumbria; p. 111; and is buried at Tamworth; ib.

EDHELM (? Aldelmus), Bishop of Selsey, witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; p. 202 [? 205, ? 323].

EDHELM, a deacon, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.

EDLAF witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.

EDMER, a thane, is murdered by the adherents of Wulfbold; pp. 245, 360.

EDMESAU WALDETH [? Waltheof, Earl of Huntingdon] conspires against King William I.; p. 294.

EDMUND I., called the Elder, King of England. Birth of; p. 113. Succeeds his brother Ethelstan; p. 137. Wars with the Northumbrians and the Danes, and is victorious; ib. Makes various reforms at the recommendation of Dunstan; ib.; is murdered at Pucklechurch, in Gloucestershire, by Leof, an outlaw; p. 138. His benefactions to the New Monastery at Winchester; p. 138.

EDMUND II., called Ironside, King of England, is raised to the throne by part of the magnates of the realm, assembled at London, on the death of Ethelred the Unready, and is crowned; p. 260. Goes into Wessex, and is recognized as king; p. 261. Engages in battle with Cnut, and defeats him at Penn in Somersetshire; ib.; and again at Scarstan; ib. Is betrayed by Edric; ib. Fights

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

421

EDMUND II.—cont.

another battle; ib. Raises the siege of London, and drives the Danes to their ships; ib. Wins another victory at Brentford; p. 262; and at Otford in Kent; ib. He enters Wessex; ib. Fights the battle of Assingdon; ib. Defeated by treachery of Edric; pp. 262, 263. His preparations to renew the contest at Deerhurst are interrupted by Edric; p. 263. His single combat with Cnut at Alney in Gloucestershire; pp. 263, 264. His division of the kingdom with Cnut; p. 264. Is murdered at Oxford, by a son of Edric, and by his contrivance; p. 265. He is buried at Glastonbury; ib. Enumeration of his children, and account of their subsequent fortunes; pp. 264, 266, 267. Edric's boast of the murder, and Cnut's punishment of it; p. 266.

EDMUND, King of the East Angles, is murdered by the Danes; p. 10.

EDMUND, eldest [?] son of Edmund Ironside, King of England, is sent into Hungary; p. 267. [Note.—On p. 266 this son is called Edwin.]

EDMUND, son of Edward, the Etheling, and grandson of Edmund Ironside, King of England, is born in Hungary; p. 267.

EDMUND, an alderman or duke, witnesses charters of King Edwin in A.D. 957 and 959; pp. 173, 178.

EDMUND, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edmund the Elder in A.D. 940; p. 144; and one of King Edred in A.D. 947; p. 164.

EDMUND II., Bishop of Dorchester [A.D. 1006-1016], falls at the battle of Assingdon; p. 263.

EDMUND witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.

EDRED, King of England, Birth of; p. 114. Witnesses a charter of King Edmund the Elder in A.D. 940; p. 143; and in A.D. 945; p. 146. Succeeds to the crown; p. 150. Defeats the Northumbrians, and lays their country waste; ib. Im-prisons Wulfstan, Archbishop of York; p. 151. Becomes a great benefactor to the Old Monastery of St. Swithun at Winchester; ib. Restores the Monastery at Abingdon, and places there as abbot Ethelwold, afterwards Bishop of Winchester; ib. His benefactions to that community; ib. His visit to Abingdon, and convivialities there; p. 152. Dies and is buried at Winchester; ib. His death announced to Dunstan by angelic voices; ib. His Will in Anglo-Saxon; p. 153; and in Middle English; p. 155; and in Latin; p. 158. Translation of the Will; p. 346. His grant to Lufa noticed; p. 221. His benefactions to Edulf, a priest, to the nunnery at Winchester, and to the New Monastery; pp. xxx, 161, 162, 165.

EDRED.—cont.

EDRED, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 130.

EDRED, OR EALDRED. See Ethelred.

EDRIC, Earl of Mercia, serves in the army of King Ethelred, but betrays his master, and goes over to Cnut; pp. 212, 216. And serves afterwards in the army of King Edmund Ironside, whom he also betrays; p. 261. His renewed treachery after the battle of Scaerstan; ib.; and at Assingdon; p. 262. His address to Edmund's army at Deerhurst; p. 263. He procures the murder of King Edmund; p. 265. Receives the earldom of Mercia from Cnut; ib. Incurs the king's anger for his misgovernment; p. 266. Has an audience of Cnut, and boasts that for him he had murdered Edmund; ib. Cnut declares him worthy of death, and directs his execution; ib. Diversity of the accounts which have been given of that death; ib.

EDRIC, King of the East Angles; p. 11.

EDRIC, a priest of London, is sent to Abingdon; p. 150.

EDRIC, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 164.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- EDRIC, an officer, witnesses charters of various kings in the years 921, 932, 940, 957 and 959; pp. 110, 131, 144, 173, 178.
- EDSTAN, a deacon, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900 and 901; pp. 97, 101, 117.
- EDULF (Eadulphus), successively Abbot of Medeshamstede [now Peterborough] and Archbishop of York, is made Abbot by St. Ethelwold; p. 182. Succeeds Oswald in the archbishopric of York; ib. Is present at a council in London; p. 245. Witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready [in A.D. 995?]; p. 252.
- EDULF, Bishop of Crediton [A.D. 909-934], witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder and of King Ethelstan in A.D. 921 and 932; pp. 109, 130.
- EDULF has a grant of land from King Edred at Leckford; p. 162; and re-grants it to the New Monastery at Winchester; p. 165.
- EDULF witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.
- EDULF (1) witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900; p. 97.
- EDULF (2) witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900; p. 97.
- EDWARD I., called the Elder, King of England, Founder of Hyde Abbey. Birth and parentage of; p. 60. King Alfred's bequests to him; pp. 62, 329. And dying injunctions respecting the building of the New Monastery at Winchester; pp. 51, 79. His accession and coronation; p. 77. Assistance derived by him from his sister Ethelfleda, Lady of the Mercians; p. 60. His conquest, of and arrangements respecting the government, of Mercia; pp. 14, 61. Reconquers East-Anglia and Essex; p. 10. He restores Cambridge; p. 11. Convenes a great council for the fulfilment of his father's plans respecting New Minster; p. 80. He purchases land of bishop Denewulf for that purpose; ib. His great bounty to the new community; pp. xxvii, xxx, 79, 85, 103.
- EDWARD the Elder—cont.
His wars and conquests; pp. 11, 14, 77. He removes his father's remains from the Monastery of St. Swithun at Winchester to the New Monastery; p. 62. Enumeration of his wives, concubines, and children; pp. 111, 113. Account of his amour with Egwina, the mother of King Ethelstan; p. 112. His charters granting lands and privileges to the New Monastery, with the Boundaries of the lands granted; pp. 85-110, 114. Translations of the Boundaries; pp. 334, 341. Domesday Surveys of several of the manors so granted; pp. xcix-cxiv. His death, and burial at New Minster; p. 116. Desecration of his tomb in A.D. 1786; p. lxxvii.
- EDWARD II., called the Martyr, King of England. Birth of; p. 184. He succeeds his father Edgar, by the influence of Dunstan and the other bishops, against the wishes of part of the magnates of the realm; p. 206. Dissensions, omens, and calamities which marked his reign; ib. He is murdered at Corfe Castle, by the contrivance of his step-mother Elfthryth; p. 207. Is buried, first at Wareham, afterwards at Shaftesbury; ib. Portions of his remains are taken to Leominster, and to Abingdon; ib. Abbo, a monk of Fleury, wrote his life at the request of Dunstan; p. 188. Witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 205, 323.
- EDWARD III., called the Confessor, King of England; p. 6. He is sent in his childhood into Normandy, by his father King Ethelred, during the heat of the contest with Cnut; p. 215. The English magnates send an embassy to the Duke of Normandy, requesting his return to England; p. 288; and give hostages for his safety; ib. He becomes King of England, and marries Edith, daughter of Earl Godwin; ib. Terms of the marriage; ib. Conversation at his table with Earl Godwin respecting

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

423

- EDWARD III.—cont.
his brother Alfred's murder, and sudden death of Godwin whilst asseverating his innocence of it; p. 289. His re-enactment of the laws of Alfred noticed; p. 42. Death of the king, and his burial at Westminster; p. 290. Bequeaths the crown to Duke William; ib.
- EDWARD I. (after the Conquest), King of England, succeeds his father, and is crowned at Westminster; p. 284.
- EDWARD the Etheling, son of King Edmund Ironside, is sent into Hungary; p. 266. Marries Agatha, sister of the Queen of Hungary; p. 267; and has two sons; ib.
- EDWIN, King of Northumbria; p. 10.
- EDWIN? or EDMUND? son of King Edmund Ironside, is sent into Hungary; p. 266.
- EDWIN, son of King Edward the Elder. Birth of; pp. 112, 113.
- EDWIN, King of England (Eadwig, Edwy, Edwynus), was deemed too young to succeed his father, King Edmund; p. 150. Becomes king on the death of his uncle, Edred; p. 166. Is crowned at Kingston by Archbishop Dunstan, and after his coronation withdraws himself from the assembled magnates, to whom Dunstan compels him to return; ib. He exiles Dunstan; ib. Rebellion against him of the Northumbrians and Mercians; p. 167. He is deposed, and his brother Edgar is raised to the throne; ib. Dies, and is buried in the New Monastery at Winchester; p. 167. What befel him after his death; ib. Contrast of his character with that of Edgar; ib. His grants of lands to the New Monastery; pp. xxxi, 168-178. Domesday Surveys of the manors granted by him; pp. xcix, cxiii, cxiv.
- EDWIN, uterine brother of King Edmund Ironside, is doomed to death by King Cnut, and delivered to one Ethelwerd, by whom his life is preserved; p. 266.
- EDWIN [Adewinus], Archbishop of Canterbury. See Baldwin.
- EDWIN, an abbot (1), witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921; p. 109; and one of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 130.
- EDWIN, an abbot (2), witnesses charters of King Ethelred in A.D. 987 and 988; pp. 235, 242.
- EDWIN, a monk of the New Monastery at Winchester, has a vision of St. Cuthbert, and makes a pilgrimage to Durham, of which he gives account to his abbot on his return; p. xcii.
- EDWIN, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred in A.D. 982; p. 227.
- EDWOLD witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan (undated); p. 150.
- EDWY. See Edwin.
- EDYNDON, William de, Bishop of Winchester, receives a surrender of Hyde Abbey; p. lvii. Extracts from his register; ib.
- EGBERT, King of Wessex. Genealogy of; p. 28. His union of the Saxon kingdoms; pp. 5, 9, 20, 47. His birth, education, exile, and conquests; pp. 19, 20.
- EGBERT, King of Northumbria, assumes the monkish garb; p. 18.
- EGELFLEDA. See Ethelfleda.
- EGELWARD. See Ethelward.
- EGFRID, King of Northumbria; pp. 7, 11.
- ELAF [OR ELLAF?], an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Cnut in A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- ELCUTUS, Quotation from a life of Saint; p. 189.
- ELES. Genealogy of; p. 28.
- ELFEAC [OR ELFHEAH?], an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edgar in A.D. 966; p. 205.
- ELFGAR, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edred in A.D. 947; p. 164.
- ELFGAR, an officer (1), witnesses charters of King Ethelstan and of King Edgar; pp. 150, 173, 178.
- ELFGAR, an officer (2), witnesses charters of King Ethelred the Unready and of King Cnut; pp. 227, 231, 242, 326.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- ELFGAR of Honiton, is present at a council held in London ; p. 245.
- ELFGIFU EMMA (Elgiva), daughter of Richard I., Duke of Normandy; wife of Ethelred II., King of England, and of Cnut, King of Denmark and of England. Marries King Ethelred ; pp. 213, 285 ; and lives with him unhappily ; p. 213. Re-marries with King Cnut ; pp. 267, 285. Witnesses a charter of Cnut in A.D. 1019 ; p. 325. Gives the head of St. Valentine to the New Monastery at Winchester, A.D. 1041 ; p. xxxvii.
- ELFGIFU or ETHELGIVA, daughter of Earl Elfhelm, putative sons of King Cnut by ; p. 267.
- ELFGIFU or ETHELGIVA, wife of King Edmund Ironside ; p. 264.
- ELFHEAH (Ælfheah. Ælfhege, Ælfheagus, Elfeagus, Elfege, Elphege, Elfeche), Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 984-1005], and Archbishop of Canterbury [A.D. 1005-1012], takes the cowl at Deerhurst ; p. 214 ; and lives as an anchoret at Bath ; ib. Succeeds St. Ethelwold in the see of Winchester ; ib. Brings Anlaf or Olaf the Dane to King Ethelred, and baptizes him ; p. 212. Assents to an agreement between the abbot and convent of New Minster, and Wulfmer ; pp. 258, 259. Is present at a council held in London ; p. 245. Witnesses charters of King Ethelred in the years 987, 988, and 995 [?] ; pp. 235, 241, 252. His austerities and self-discipline, 214. Succeeds Archbishop Elfric in the see of Canterbury ; p. 215. Goes to Rome to receive the pallium, and on the journey is beset by robbers ; ib. Is captured by the Danes at the siege of Canterbury ; p. 213. Refuses to pay ransom ; ib. Is imprisoned and murdered ; p. 214. Solemn translation of his remains by order of Cnut ; ib.
- ELFHEAH. See also Elfhære.
- ELFHEAH, Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 934-951], witnesses charters in A.D. 940, 945,
- ELFHEAH—cont.
and 947 ; pp. 144, 146, 164. Note concerning him and his successor Elfsige ; p. 347.
- ELFHEAH, Bishop of Wells [921?-938], witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921 ; p. 109 ; and of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932 ; p. 130.
- ELFHEAH, Bishop of Lichfield [A.D. 973-1003?], witnesses an undated charter of King Ethelred [A.D. 995?] ; p. 253.
- ELFHEAH, an officer, witnesses charters of various kings, in A.D. 921, 932, 957, and 959 ; pp. 110, 131, 149, 173, 178.
- ELFHEAH, another officer, witnesses charters in A.D. 921, 932 ; pp. 110, 149.
- ELFHEAH (Elfeche) is appointed executor of the will of Elfsige, a bishop ; p. 134.
- ELFHEAH, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edwin, or Edwy, in A.D. 959 ; p. 177.
- ELFHELM, an earl, was father of Ethelfled, first wife of King Edward I. ; p. 112.
- ELFHELM, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred II. ; p. 253.
- ELFHELM is present at a council ; p. 245.
- ELFHELM, an officer, witnesses charters of King Ethelred II. in A.D. 983 and 987 ; pp. 231, 236.
- ELFHELM POLGA is present at a council held in London ; p. 245.
- ELFHÈRE (Ælfere), an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred II. ; p. 253.
- ELFHÈRE (Alferus, Elferus) an earl of the Mercians, drives away Benedictine monks, and restores the expelled canons and their concubines ; p. 206. Buries the body of King Edward the Martyr ; p. 207 ; and dies ; p. 208.
- ELFHÈRE an alderman or duke, witnesses charters of various kings, in A.D. 940, 957, 966, and 982 ; pp. 144, 173, 227, 323.
- ELFHÈRE (Ælfere) an officer, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan ; p. 149 ; and one of King Edwin or Edwy, in A.D. 959 ; p. 178.
- ELFHUN, an abbot, is present at a council held in London ; p. 245.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

425

- ELFMER ? or ETHELMER ? (Ealmarus), Bishop of Selsey [A.D. 1009-1019?], witnesses a charter of King Cnut in A.D. 1019; p. 326. Dies; p. 268.
- ELFNOTH, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 131.
- ELFRÆD. See Alfred.
- ELFRIC, an alderman or duke, witnesses charters of King Ethelred in A.D. 982 and 983; pp. 227, 231. His treachery to that king in the war with Cnut; p. 212.
- ELFRIC, another alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred in A.D. 983; p. 231.
- ELFRIC, or ETHELRIC (Æthelfricus, Ælfric), Archbishop of Canterbury [A.D. 995-1005], assents to an agreement between the Abbot and Convent of New Minster, and Wulfmer of Barton; p. 259. Witnesses a charter of King Ethelred; p. 252.
- ELFRIC I., Bishop of Ramsbury [A.D. . . . -951?], witnesses a charter of King Edred in A.D. 947; p. 164.
- ELFRIC, Bishop of Hereford [? 940-951?], witnesses a charter of King Edmund the Elder in A.D. 940; p. 144; and again in A.D. 945; p. 146.
- ELFRIC (Ælfricus, Alfricus), an alderman or duke, witnesses charters of King Ethelred in A.D. 987, 988, [and 995]? pp. 235, 242, 253. Is present at a council held in London; p. 245. Is slain fighting for King Edmund Ironside at the battle of Assingdon; p. 263.
- ELFRIC, an abbot, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921; p. 109; of King Edmund the Elder; p. 130; and of King Edgar in A.D. 959; p. 177.
- ELFRIC, an officer, witnesses charters of Kings Edward the Elder, Ethelstan, Edwin or Edwy, and Edgar; pp. 110, 131, 144, 149, 173, 178.
- ELFRIC, another officer, witnesses charters of King Ethelstan, of Edred, and of Edwin, in A.D. 940 [?], 957, and 959; pp. 149, 165, 173.
- ELFRIC witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 142.
- ELFRIC, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred in A.D. 982; p. 227.
- ELFRID (Elfridus, Elfricus). See Elfric.
- ELFRIDA, ELFRITHA. See Elfthryth.
- ELFSIGE I. (Elsinus), Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 951-958], and Archbishop of Canterbury [A.D. 958]. Worldly ambition of, reproved; p. 186. He is raised to the archbishopric, but whilst crossing the Alps on his way to Rome to receive the pallium perishes in a snow-storm; ib. King Edred's bequests to him; pp. 154, 347. Note concerning him and his predecessor at Winchester; ib.
- ELFSIGE II., Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 1014-1033], witnesses a charter of King Cnut in A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- ELFSIGE, Bishop of Chester [? A.D. 968-990], assents to an agreement between the Abbot and Convent of New Minster, and Wulfmer of Barton; pp. 258, 259.
- ELFSIGE, a bishop, Will of, containing bequests to monasteries at Winchester, &c.; pp. 133, 343.
- ELFSIGE, Abbot of New Minster [A.D. 978?-995]; p. xxxv.
- ELFSIGE, a duke or alderman, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready in A.D. 987; p. 236.
- ELFSIGE, son of Elfhere, mentioned as witnessing a grant of land by King Edred to one Lufa; p. 221.
- ELFSIGE, son of Wulfsige, mentioned as witnessing a grant of land by King Edred to one Lufa; p. 221.
- ELFSIGE (Alsi), son of Brizi [?], held the manor of Woodmancote in the reign of William the Conqueror, of the Abbot and Convent of New Minster; p. c. Also held land at Micheldever; p. ciii. And, in the reign of Edward the Confessor, held the manor of Bedhampton; p. cv.
- ELFSIGE, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 149.
- ELFSIGE, an officer, witnesses charters of Kings Edmund the Elder, Edred, Edwy, and Edgar; pp. 144, 149, 165, 173, 178.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- ELFSIGE, another officer, witnesses charters of King Edmund in A.D. 940; and of King Edwy in A.D. 97; pp. 144, 178.
- ELFSIGE, another officer, witnesses charters of King Ethelred the Unready in A.D. 982 and 983; pp. 227, 231.
- ELFSTAN II., Bishop of London [A.D. 961-995], witnesses charters of King Edgar, and of King Ethelred the Unready; pp. 202, 227, 235, 241. Is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- ELFSTAN, Bishop of Rochester [A.D. 964? -995]. Dissension between King Ethelred the Unready and; 210. The king besieges Rochester; ib. Intervention of Dunstan in the quarrel of; ib. Is present at a council held in London; p. 245. Witnesses charters of King Ethelred in A.D. 982, 983, and 988; pp. 227, 230, 242.
- ELFSTAN, an abbot, witnesses charters of King Edgar to New Minster; pp. 205, 323.
- ELFSTAN, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921; p. 110.
- ELFSTAN witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, and of King Ethelstan; pp. 97, 149.
- ELFSTAN, an officer, witnesses charters of King Ethelstan and of King Edred; pp. 149, 165.
- ELFTHRYTH or ETHELSTWYTH (Ælfthryth, Elfritha, Ethelstwytha; p. 61, Alfritha), daughter of King Alfred and wife of Baldwin, Count of Flanders, Birth and marriage of; p. 61. Alfred's bequests to; pp. 63, 330. Her gifts to St. Peter's Abbey at Ghent; ib. note.
- ELFTHRYTH or ETHELFRIDA? a fourth daughter of King Alfred; p. 61.
- ELFTHRYTH (Ælfthryth, Elfritha, Elfrida, Alfritha, Elfstrid, Estrilda, Wylstrida), daughter of Ordgar, Earl of Devon, and wife of Earl Ethelwold, afterwards wife of King Edgar, and mother of King Ethelred II. Edgar's embassy, by Ethelwold, respecting her; p. 189. Ethelwold's stratagem, his marriage with her, and its results; ib. Issue of her connection or marriage with Edgar; p. 184, 191. Witnesses Edgar's charters to New Minster of A.D. 966; pp. 201, 205, 322. Severely corrects Ethelred in his infancy; p. 209. Endeavours to supplant Edgar's elder son Edward, in order to raise Ethelred to the throne; p. 206; but is defeated by Dunstan; ib. Causes the murder of Edward; p. 207. Gave to Ethelred lands at Cholsey, in Berkshire; p. 244; Ethelred's grant to her of lands in Kent; p. 242. Founds nunneries at Amesbury and at Whorwell; pp. 207, 208. Retires to Whorwell, and dies there; p. 208. Witnesses charters of Ethelred in A.D. 982 and 983; pp. 227, 230. •
- ELFWARD, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready; p. 253.
- ELFWARD, an officer, witnesses charters of King Edgar, and of King Ethelred the Unready; pp. 202, 227, 231.
- ELFWIG (Alfwyge), Bequest of lands at Chilton to; p. 134.
- ELFWIG? (Ælfgius), an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready in A.D. 987; p. 235.
- ELFWIG (Ælfwig), an officer, witnesses charters in A.D. 957-9; pp. 174, 178.
- ELFWIG (Ælfwig), an officer, witnesses a charter of Ethelred II. in A.D. 983; p. 230.
- ELFWIN or Elfhun, Bishop of London [A.D. 1004-1013], is sent by King Ethelred the Unready into Normandy in charge of the royal family, on the renewed invasions of the Danes; p. 215.
- ELFWIN, Bishop of Litchfield [? A.D. 921-935], witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921; p. 110; and one of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 130.
- ELFWIN or Elfwy (Alwy, Ælfwin, Ælfwig, Alwin, Alwinus) I., Abbot of New Minster [A.D. 1034-1057?], succeeds Ethelnoth as abbot; p. xxxvi.
- ELFWIN or Elfwy II., Abbot of New Minster [A.D. 1063-1066], succeeds Elfnoth [?] as abbot in 1063; p. xxxvii. Leads a

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

427

- ELFWIN or Elfwy II.—cont.
band of monks and men-at-arms to fight against the Norman invaders; p. xxxviii; and falls on the field of Hastings; ib.
- ELFWOLD (Ælfwald, Ælfwold), an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 904; p. 104; and in A.D. 921; p. 109; and one of Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 130.
- ELFWOLD I., Bishop of Crediton [A.D. 953-972], witnesses a charter of King Edgar in A.D. 959; p. 177.
- ELFWOLD II., Bishop of Crediton [A.D. 988-1010 ?], witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready; p. 253.
- ELFWOLD, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Edwin or Edwy in A.D. 959; p. 177.
- ELFWOLD, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready; p. 253.
- ELFWOLD witnesses charters of King Ethelstan; pp. 131, 149; and of King Edwin or Edwy in A.D. 959; p. 178.
- ELIZABETH, Queen of England, Dealings of, with Winchester College, respecting Hyde Abbey manors; p. lxxxiii.
- ELLA (Alla) witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 901; p. 97.
- ELLOC (Alloc, Ælloc), an officer, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 904; pp. 101, 116.
- ELMUND (Eahlmund). See Ethelmund.
- ELY, Episcopal See of; p. 12. Reformation of its monastery by St. Ethelwold; p. 182.
- ENGLAND, Kingdom of. Legends as to its name and origin; pp. 3, 5. Comparative antiquity of, as compared with France; p. 5. Formation of the Heptarchy, and ultimate union of the kingdom; ib. Summary of its history up to the Norman Conquest; pp. 5, 6; and from the Conquest to the reign of King Edward I.; pp. 283, 284.
- EOPPE, Genealogy of; p. 28.
- ERKENWYN, King of the East Saxons; p. 9.
- ERNULF de Hednith [?] (Ernulfus), is falsely accused of conspiracy against William the Red; p. 301. Defends himself by ordeal of battle, and is victorious; ib. Joins the Crusaders, and dies at Antioch; p. 302.
- ERNULF de Hesding [?], held land at Pewsey in Wiltshire, of the New Minster; p. cix.
- ERNULF (Arnulph), of Flanders, son of Baldwin, Count of Flanders, and of Elfthryth or Ethelswyth, daughter of King Alfred; p. 61.
- ESCULF witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 149.
- ESCWY or Escwin (Æscwig, Escwius, Æscwin, Æscwi), Bishop of Dorchester [A.D. 979-1002], witnesses charters of King Ethelred the Unready in A.D. 982, 983, 988, and 995?; pp. 227, 230, 241, 252.
- ESCWY, an abbot, witnesses charters of King Edgar to New Minster in A.D. 966; pp. 202, 205, 323.
- ESLY, Genealogy of; p. 28.
- ESNE, Bishop of Hereford? Bequests of King Alfred to; pp. 65, 331.
- ESNEFRITH, a bishop [? Cynferth, Bishop of Rochester, A.D. 926-932 ?], witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 130.
- ESSEX, Origin of the kingdom of; p. 8. Conversion of the East Saxons to Christianity; p. 9. Succession of their kings, ib. Episcopal sees of; ib. In the partition with Cnut, Essex is allotted to King Edmund Ironside; p. 264.
- ESTRILDA. See ELFTHRYTH.
- ETHELBALD (Athelbold), King of Wessex, raises an insurrection on account of the enthronement of Judith of France, by his father Ethelwulf, and draws part of the magnates to his support; p. 26. On his father's death, he divides the kingdom with his brother Ethelbert; p. 27; and incestuously marries Judith, his father's widow; ib. His death; ib.; and burial at Sherborne; p. 27; note. Mention of his

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- ETHELBALD—cont.
 reign in the will of King Alfred; pp. 52, 53, 327, 328.
- ETHELBERT (Ethelbirthus), King of Kent; is converted by Saint Augustine; p. 6; and augments his kingdom; ib.
- ETHELBERT, King of Wessex, becomes King of Kent on the death of his father Ethelwulf, and partition of the kingdom with Ethelbald; p. 27. Succeeds Ethelbald in Wessex; ib.; and receives from his brothers Ethelred and Alfred their respective shares of King Ethelwulf's estate on condition of its future reconveyance; pp. 52, 327. His death; p. 27.
- ETHELBURGA, wife of Byrhtic, King of Wessex, poisons her husband; p. 19; Odium in which her memory was held by her compatriots; p. 26.
- ETHELBURGA, daughter of Anne, King of the East Angles; p. 11.
- ETHELBURGA (Edburga), Saint, daughter of King Edward the Elder, Legend concerning the childhood of; p. 113. She becomes a nun; ib.; and is buried at Winchester; ib.
- ETHELFRITH? an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 904; p. 105.
- ETHELFLED (Ælflæd, Ethelfleda, Elfleda), eldest daughter of King Alfred; Lady of the Mercians. Her birth; p. 60. Alfred's bequests to her; pp. 63, 330. Her marriage with Ethelred of Mercia; p. 60. Enumeration of towns and castles founded or restored by her; ib. Other particulars of her life and acts, p. 61. Her conflicts with the Danes and with the Welsh, and her victories; ib. Arrangements of Edward the Elder with her respecting Mercia; pp. 60, 77. Mention of her in the closing paragraphs of Alfred's Will; pp. 66, 333. Her death and burial; p. 61.
- ETHELFLED, first wife of King Edward the Elder; p. 112.
- ETHELFLED the Fair (Elfleda, Egelfleda, Candida filia), wife of King Edgar.
- ETHELFLED—cont.
 Her marriage and issue; p. 184. Gave lands at Sanderstead to the New Monastery at Winchester; p. cxii, note.
- ETHELFLED, daughter of King Edward the Elder, takes the veil; p. 112; and is buried at Romsey; ib.
- ETHELFLED, daughter of Earl Ethelwold, takes the veil, and becomes abbess of Romsey; p. 191.
- ETHELFRITH, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 149.
- ETHELGAR (Algarus), successively an monk at Glastonbury and at Abingdon, Abbot of New Minster [A.D. 968-980], Bishop of Selsey [A.D. 980-988], and Archbishop of Canterbury [A.D. 988, 939], is raised to the abbacy of New Minster by Ethelwold; p. 182. Character and early training of, by Dunstan and by Ethelwold; p. xxxii. His rule at New Minster, and his subsequent preferments; pp. xxxiii, xxxiv. Succeeds Dunstan in the archbishopric of Canterbury; p. 182. Witnesses, as abbot of Hyde, King Edgar's charters of A.D. 966; pp. 202, 205, 323. Witnesses, as Bishop of Selsey, King Ethelred's charters of A.D. 982, 987, and 988; pp. 227, 235, 241. Holds a great synod in London; p. 245. Ethelred's grant to him of Heanton, or Hinton; p. 238.
- ETHELGAR, Bishop of Crediton [A.D. 934-953], witnesses a charter of King Edmund in A.D. 945; p. 146; and one of King Edred in A.D. 947; p. 164.
- ETHELGAR, an alderman or duke, witnesses King Edgar's charters of A.D. 966; pp. 205, 323.
- ETHELGAR (Algarus), son of Elfric, is punished for his father's treason; p. 212.
- ETHELGAR, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edred in A.D. 947; p. 165.
- ETHELGAR has a grant of Sotwell, in Berkshire, from King Edwy; p. 170; and regrants it in reversion to his wife, with remainder to New Minster; p. 173.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

429

- ETHELGIVA or ELFGIFU (Ælfgyfu, Ethelgeofa, Elfgiva, Elgiva), daughter of King Alfred and Abbess of Shaftesbury. Her birth and history; p. 61. King Alfred's bequests to her; p. 64, 333.
- ETHELGIVA or ELFGIFU (Ælfgyfu), daughter of Earl Elfhelm, and wife of Cnut, King of Denmark and of England; p. 267. Doubt as to the legitimacy of the children born by her to Cnut; ib.
- ETHELGIVA, or ELFGIFU, wife of Edmund Ironside, King of England, marriage and children of; p. 264.
- ETHELM, or ETHELHELM (Athelm), nephew of King Alfred, Bequests of Alfred to; pp. 63, 332.
- ETHELM (Eahlwelm, Eahlhelm), an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edmund in A.D. 940; and one of King Edred in A.D. 947; pp. 144, 164.
- ETHELM, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921; p. 111.
- ETHELMER (Ealmarus), Bishop of Selsey [A.D. 1009-1019], dies in A.D. 1019; and is succeeded by Ethelric; p. 268.
- ETHELMER, an alderman or duke, Will of, containing bequests to various monasteries; pp. 254, 363.
- ETHELMER (Almarus), held lands in Dorsetshire, parcel of the Hyde manor of Piddletrenthide, in the reign of Edward the Confessor; p. cxi.
- ETHELMER was present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- ETHELMER, an officer, witnesses charters of King Edwin, or Edwy, in A.D. 957; p. 173; and of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 983; p. 231; and in A.D. 987; p. 236; and in A.D. 988; p. 242; and in A.D. 995?; p. 253.
- ETHELMUND, an alderman or duke, witnesses charters of King Edmund in A.D. 940; and of King Edred in A.D. 947; pp. 144, 164.
- ETHELMUND, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921; p. 111.
- ETHELNOTH (Alnoth, Elnothus), abbot of New Minster, succeeds Byrhtmer in the abbacy; p. xxxvi.
- ETHELNOTH, an abbot, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921; p. 109; and of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 130.
- ETHELNOTH, a priest, has a grant of lands at Basing, in Hampshire, from King Edmund the Elder, p. 145. He regrants them, in reversion, to New Minster; p. 146.
- ETHELNOTH, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edred in A.D. 947; p. 165.
- ETHELNOTH, son of Wifstan, is present at a council in London; p. 245.
- ETHELNOTH, an officer of King Ethelred, witnesses a charter of that king in A.D. 995?; p. 253.
- ETHELRED I., King of Wessex (Ældred, Aldred, Ealred, Ealdred, Eldred, Etheldred, Etheldredus, Aldredus), Birth and parentage of; p. 25. Bequests of his father Ethelwulf to him, jointly with his brothers; pp. 52, 327. Alfred's application to him to divide the paternal inheritance, and his reply; pp. 53, 327. His accession and piety; p. 27. His conflicts with the Danes; ib. His behaviour at the battle of Ashdown; ib. His death and burial; ib.
- ETHELRED II., called the Unready, King of England, Birth and parentage of; pp. 184, 191, 209. Is baptized; p. 209. From an incident at the font, Dunstan predicts his ignoble life; ib. Other anecdotes of his infancy and youth; ib. His accession and coronation; p. 210. Marries Emma, called by the Saxons Ælfgyfu, daughter of Richard, Duke of Normandy, pp. 213, 285. His behaviour to her; p. 213. Quarrels with the bishop of Rochester, and besieges the city; p. 210. Pays tribute to the Danes; p. 211. Misfortunes and degradations of his reign; p. 213. He orders a general massacre of the Danes; p. 215. Sends his wife and children into Normandy, for refuge, under

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationETHELRED—cont.

the protection of the bishop of London ; p. 215 ; and soon himself takes flight thither, after wandering helplessly in the Isle of Wight ; p. 216. Receives an embassy from England, after Sweyn's death, offering to restore him, on conditions ; ib. He accepts the offer, and sends his son Edward into England ; ib. His return ; ib. His benefactions to the New Monastery at Winchester ; p. xxxiv. 217. Grants Heanton, in Hampshire, to Ethelgar, bishop of Selsey, in exchange for Lambourne, in Berkshire ; pp. 238, 358. His repeated summonses to Wulfbold, a rebel ; pp. 244, 359. The magnates in council assembled adjudge the forfeiture of Wulfbold's lands in Kent to the King ; pp. 245, 359. His grant of those lands to his mother, Elfhryth, in exchange for Cholsey, in Berks ; p. 242 ; and to Adellarus of lands, afterwards given to New Minster, and called the Hyde Moors, in Hampshire ; p. 228. His death and burial ; pp. 217, 260.

ETHELRED, a King of Mercia, takes the cowl ; p. 17.

ETHELRED, Earl of Mercia under Alfred and Edward the Elder, marries Ethelfled, and has one son by her ; p. 60. Receives the lieutenancy of London from King Alfred ; p. 49. Alfred's bequest to him ; pp. 64, 331. ? Witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921 ; p. 110.

ETHELRED, archbishop of Canterbury [A.D. 870-889], joins with King Alfred in the embassy to the abbot of St. Bertin's and the archbishop of Rheims, requesting that the monk Grimbald may have leave to come to England ; p. 31.

ETHELRED (Aldredus, Aluredus), successively a monk of the Abbey of St. Swithun at Winchester, Bishop of Worcester [A.D. 1046-1060], and Archbishop of York [A.D. 1060-1069], restores the Abbey of St. Peter at Gloucester ; p. 61. Crowns King William I. at Winchester ; p. 283.

ETHELRED (Ealdred), an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932 ; p. 130.

ETHELRED witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan (undated) ; p. 149.

ETHELRED, an officer, witnesses charters of Kings Ethelstan and Edmund ; pp. 144, 150.

ETHELRED, an officer, witnesses charters of King Edwin ; p. 178.

ETHELRED, brother of Odo, held lands at Micheldever of the New Monastery, p. ciii.

ETHELREDA (Etheldrida), Saint, Abbess of Ely, was a daughter of Anna, King of the East Angles ; p. 11.

ETHELRIC, Bishop of Selsey [A.D. 1019-1038 ?], succeeds Ethelmer in the year 1019 ; p. 268.

ETHELRIC is present at a council held in London ; p. 245.

ETHELRIC witnesses an agreement between the Abbot and Convent of the New Monastery at Winchester, and Wulfmer, of Barton ; pp. 258, 366.

ETHELRIC, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921 ; and a charter of King Ethelstan (undated) ; pp. 110, 150.

ETHELRSIGE (Æthelsinus), Bishop of Sherborne [A.D. 978-991 ?], witnesses charters of King Ethelred the Unready in A.D. 982, 983, 987, and 988 ; pp. 227, 230, 235, 241.

ETHELRSIGE, an abbot, witnesses Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019 ; p. 326.

ETHELRSIGE, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edwin in A.D. 957 ; p. 173.

ETHELRSIGE, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edwin in A.D. 959 ; p. 178.

ETHELRSIGE, an officer, witnesses charters of King Ethelred the Unready in A.D. 982 and 988 ; pp. 227, 242.

ETHELRSIGE witnesses an undated charter of King Ethelstan ; p. 149.

ETHELSTAN (Athelstan, Æthelstan, Alstan, Eahlstan), King of England, Birth of ;

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationETHELSTAN—cont.

- p. 113. Witnesses charters of his father, King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 901; pp. 101, 116. Succeeds to the throne, and is crowned at Kingston; p. 117. His gifts to the abbey of Malmesbury; p. 118. Visits the church of St. John at Beverley in Yorkshire, on his way to war with the Scots, and makes a vow at the altar, which he redeems on his return from his victory near Dunbar; ib. He convenes a council at Winchester; p. 119. Has an angelic vision whilst at his devotions in that city, and watches for the return of a pilgrim of whom he is forewarned; pp. 119, 120. Induces Guy of Warwick to engage in single combat with a Danish champion named Colbrand; pp. 120, 121. His conversation with Guy of Warwick after the victory; p. 122. His renewed conflicts with the Danes, and defeat of Anlaf and his allies; p. 123. Defeats the northern Welshmen at Hereford, and subjugates Cornwall; p. 124. Repairs Exeter, and builds a castle there; ib. His death; ib. Eulogistic verses concerning him; ib. Grants lands in Wiltshire to one Alfred, by whom they are regranted, in reversion, to the New Monastery at Winchester; pp. 125, 147, 341, 342. Assents to an agreement between the Abbot and Convent on the one part, and Alfred on the other part; p. 148.
- ETHELSTAN (Alstanus), Bishop of Sherborne [A.D. 824-867], is entrusted with a share in the government of the kingdom under King Ethelwulf; p. 22.
- ETHELSTAN, Bishop of London. See Elfstan.
- ETHELSTAN (Æhlstan, Æthelstan), an alderman or duke, witnesses charters of various kings in A.D. 921, 940, 947, 957, and 966; pp. 109, 144, 148, 164, 173, 202.
- ETHELSTAN, a priest, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 904; p. 105.
- ETHELSTAN, an officer, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900; p. 97; and again in A.D. 921; p. 110; and of King Ethelstan; pp. 131, 148.
- ETHELSTAN, another officer, witnesses charters of King Ethelstan and of King Edmund the Elder; pp. 131, 150.
- ETHELSTAN (Eahlstan) witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900; p. 97.
- ETHELWSWYTH, or EAHLWSWYTH (Egelswytha, Æalswyth, Ealswith, Elswitha, Alswitha, Ethelswytha), daughter of Earl Ethelred, and wife of King Alfred; p. 60. Bequests of Alfred to; pp. 64, 331. Finds a nunnery at Winchester [dedicated to the B. Virgin], and called Nun Minster; p. 83. Dies, and is buried at New Minster; ib. Removal of her tomb in solemn procession to Hyde; p. xlv. Its desecration in A.D. 1786; p. lxxvii.
- ETHELWSWYTH? daughter of King Alfred, and wife of Baldwin, Count of Flanders. See Elfhryth.
- ETHELWYTH, King of the East Angles; p. 11.
- ETHELWYTH, a daughter of King Edward the Elder, becomes a nun [at Wilton], and is there buried; p. 112.
- ETHELWARD, younger son of King Alfred, Bequests of Alfred to; pp. 63, 330. Attends a council at Winchester in A.D. 901; p. 80.
- ETHELWARD, a son of King Edward the Elder; p. 113. Witnesses charters of his father in A.D. 900, 901, and 904; pp. 97, 100, 104, 116.
- ETHELWARD, an officer, witnesses King Ethelred's charter of A.D. 983, concerning the Hyde moors; p. 231.
- ETHELWARD, an officer, witnesses Cnut's charter to New Minster of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- ETHELWARD, an alderman or duke, witnesses charters of King Ethelred the Unready in A.D. 982, 983, 987, and 988; pp. 227, 231, 235, 242, 253. Is present at a council held in London; p. 245.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- ETHELWARD (Atelwardus), a knight, witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 205, 323.
- ETHELWARD, an officer, witnesses charters of King Edwin, or Edwy, and of King Edgar in A.D. 959 and 966; pp. 178, 202.
- ETHELWARD, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred II. in A.D. 995; p. 253; and an agreement between the abbot and convent of New Minster and Wulfmer, of Barton, pp. 258, 366.
- ETHELWARD, son of Wulfthryth, mentioned as a witness of King Edred's grant to Lufa; p. 221.
- ETHELWARD is employed by Cnut to put to death Edwin, uterine brother of King Edmund Ironside, but preserves his life; p. 266. Witnesses Cnut's charter to New Minster of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- ETHELWARD held Lomer of the abbot and convent of New Minster; p. cvi; and also Warneford (both in Hampshire); p. cvii.
- ETHELWIN (Æthelwine dux, Alwynus comes), an earl, witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 202, 205; 323.
- ETHELWIN (Ethelwynus), an alderman or duke, is present at a council held in London; pp. 244, 245. Witnesses charters of King Ethelred II. in A.D. 982, 983, 987, and 988; pp. 227, 230, 235, 242. Falls in the battle of Assingdon; p. 263.
- ETHELWIN, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred II. in A.D. 995[?]; p. 253.
- ETHELWOLD I. [Ethelwald, Athelwold], Saint, Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 963-984], is sent to Abingdon to reform the Old Monastery there; p. 151. Removes the secular canons from the Monastery of St. Swithun, at Winchester, and replaces them by Benedictine monks; pp. xxxi, 179. Effects the like reform at the New Monastery; pp. xxxi, 180. Raises Byrthnoth to the abbacy of St. Swithun's, and Ethelgar to that of the New Monastery; p. 182. Repairs St. Mary's Nunnery at Winchester; ib.; and reforms
- ETHELWOLD I.—cont.
the abbey of Ely; ib. Is present at the great council of A.D. 968[?]; p. 181. Witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 201, 205, 322; and of King Ethelred the Unready in A.D. 982 and 983; pp. 227, 230. Dies, and is succeeded in the see of Winchester by Elfheah; p. 215. His character contrasted with that of Ethelgar; p. xxxiii. Quotation from an ancient life of him; p. 151.
- ETHELWOLD II., Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 1006-1012?], is witness to a purchase of land by Ethelmer [about 1010?]; p. 254.
- ETHELWOLD, King of the South Saxons, is converted to Christianity by St. Birin; p. 7. Is adopted by Wulfhere, King of Mercia; ib. Is slain by Ceadwalla, King of Wessex; p. 8.
- ETHELWOLD, King of the East Angles; p. 11.
- ETHELWOLD the Etheling, son of King Ethelbert, and nephew of King Alfred, makes insurrection against King Edward the Elder; p. 77. Bequests of King Alfred to him; pp. 64, 331.
- ETHELWOLD, an earl, is sent by Edgar on a marriage embassy into Devonshire; p. 189. Deals treacherously with his master, and marries Elfthryth; p. 190. Is killed by Edgar in Whorwell wood; ib.
- ETHELWOLD, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edmund the Elder in A.D. 940; p. 144; and one of King Edwy in A.D. 957; p. 173.
- ETHELWOLD, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Edwy in A.D. 959; p. 177.
- ETHELWOLD is present at a Council held in London; p. 245.
- ETHELWOLD, Will of; pp. 236, 237, 357.
- ETHELWOLD, the reeve, is present at a Council held in London; p. 245.
- ETHELWOLD, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 150.
- ETHELWULF (Athulf; Athulphus; Adulphus), King of Wessex, Birth and educa-

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

433

ETHELWULF—cont.

tion of; p. 21. Is sent by his father, Egbert, to Helmstan, Bishop of Winchester; ib.; and becomes a monk at St. Swithun's; ib. On account of the difficulties respecting the succession, at his father's death, the magnates send an embassy to the Pope to obtain a dispensation from the monastic vow; p. 22; and obtain it; ib. He ascends the throne; ib. He entrusts part of the administration to Ethelstan, Bishop of Sherborne; ib.; and raises Swithun to the bishopric of Winchester; p. 23. Grants tithes, on crown-lands, to the English Church; p. 23. His marriage and children; p. 25. He sends his youngest son, Alfred, to Rome, to be anointed; ib.; and himself visits Rome, with Alfred, after his son's return; ib. He restores the English school there; ib. On his way back to England he remarries with Judith of France; p. 26. He enthrones Judith, contrary to Saxon usage; ib.; and is rebelled against by his son Ethelbald; ib. Sends Alfred into Ireland to Saint Modwenna, to be cured of a malady; ib. Founds monasteries, and makes Modwenna abbess of Polesworth; ib. Leaves an estate to his sons, Ethelbert, Ethelred, and Alfred, in joint inheritance; pp. 52, 327. Dies, and is buried at St. Swithun's, in Winchester; p. 26. Is succeeded by his son Ethelbald; p. 27. Alfred's direction for the performance of his testamentary stipulations respecting tenures; pp. 65, 332.

ETHELWULF (Athulf, Athulphus), Bishop of Hereford [? A.D. 957?–1012], witnesses charters of King Edwy in A.D. 957; p. 173; of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 202, 204, 323; of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 988; p. 242; and again in A.D. 995 [?]; p. 253. Is present at a council held in London; p. 245.

ETHELWULF, son of Baldwin, Count of Flanders, and of Elfthryth, or Ethelswyth, daughter of King Alfred; p. 61.

ETHYLDA? [so in MS.], a daughter of King Edward the Elder, marries Hugh Capet; p. 112.

ETHRIC, the Dane, succeeds Guthrum in East Anglia, and is deposed for his tyranny; pp. 11, 47.

EUSTACE, Count of Bouillon, sets out on the first crusade; p. 300.

EXETER, The Danes are driven into the west by King Alfred, and occupy the town of; p. 47. Alfred's conflict with them there; p. 50. Is repaired by King Ethelstan; p. 124.

EYNESHAM, John de, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1381–1394], succeeds Thomas de Peythy in the abbacy; p. lvii. Is directed by William of Wykeham to rectify abuses in the appropriation of chapelries belonging to the manor of Micheldever; p. lvii. Has license to use the mitre and pastoral staff; p. lviii. Death; ib.

F.

FARRINGTON, in Berkshire, Death of King ward the Elder at; p. 116.

FELICIA of Warwick, visits the hermitage of her husband Guy, after his death; p. 122.

FELIX, Saint, Bishop of Dunwich [A.D. 630–647], converts the East Angles; p. 10.

FELPHAM in Sussex, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred, to Osferth; pp. 64, 331.

FERYNG (Ferynges), Geoffrey de, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1304–1317], petitions the King in Parliament for the restoration to the Abbot and Convent of the advowson of Candover in Hampshire; p. liv. Resigns the abbacy; ib.

FEVERSHAM, Burial of King Stephen at; p. 283.

FINIAN, a monk and bishop, converts Peada, King of Mercia; p. 14.

E E

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- FISHER, John, of Chilton Candover, in Hampshire, owned the Hyde Chartulary, now "Harl. MS. 1761," and the Saxon Charters now at Winchester College; p. xc.
- FLEURY, near Orleans, Odo, afterwards Bishop of Wilton and Archbishop of Canterbury, takes the cowl at; p. 186.
- FLORENTIUS, The Florarium Historiale of, quoted, p. 11.
- FOLDBYRHT (Foldbirthus), a monk of Glastonbury, is sent to Abingdon; p. 151.
- FONTEVRAUD, in France, Burial at, of King Henry the Second; p. 284; and of King Richard the First; ib.
- FORMOSUS, Pope [A.D. 891-896], censures the neglect of the due appointment of bishops in English dioceses; p. 111.
- FORTH, Frith of; p. 15.
- FOX, Richard, Bishop of Winchester, sends his vicar general to make a visitation of Hyde Abbey; p. lxii. Confirms the election of Richard Hall as abbot; ib. Makes a second visitation; p. lxiii. Extracts from his episcopal register; ib.
- FRANCE, Antiquity of the kingdom of, contrasted with that of the kingdom of England; p. 5.
- FRANCE. See Lewis VI., King of France.
- FRANCONIA; p. 18.
- FREDERICK, a kinsman of William, Earl of Warren and Surrey, is slain by Hereward; p. 295.
- FRENE, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred in A.D. 995 [?]; p. 253.
- FREWYN, Genealogy of; p. 28.
- FRIDEGAR, Genealogy of; p. 28.
- FRIDESAG (Frealaf), Genealogy of; p. 28.
- FRIDESTAN, a deacon, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 901, p. 104.
- FRIDEWALD, Genealogy of; p. 28.
- FRITHGAR, a monk of Glastonbury, is sent to Abingdon; p. 151.
- FRYSIA; p. 18.
- FULBERT, Bishop of Chartres [1004?-1029], has a vision of the Blessed Virgin in his sickness, and is miraculously cured; p. 208. His sacred poems; ib.
- FULCRED held lands, at Collingbourne in Wiltshire, of the Abbot and Convent of New Minster; p. cix.
- FULKE, Archbishop of Rheims and Primate of France [A.D. 883-900], receives an embassy from Alfred, requesting the presence of Grimbald of St. Bertin's in England; p. 31. His reply and instructions; ib.
- FULKE, Count of Anjou, makes his peace with King Henry the First; p. 319; and gives his daughter in marriage to Prince William; ib.
- FULLERTON, in Hampshire, Domesday Survey of the Hyde manor of; p. cv.
- FYFIDE, Walter de (Fyfield), Abbot of Hyde, [A.D. 1319-1352?]. Election of, to the abbacy; p. lv. Dissensions between him and the monks; ib. Appears before the Bishop of Winchester to answer certain charges, and is acquitted; ib. Has a controversy with the Dominicans of London; p. lvi.; and with the tenants of the Abbey in Wiltshire; ib. Resigns the Abbey and its possessions into the hands of William Edyndon, Bishop of Winchester, on account of its poverty; p. lvii.
- FYKKEYS; p. 10.
- FYNN, genealogy of; p. 28.

G.

GAINSBOROUGH, in Lincolnshire, is visited by Sweyn, King of Denmark; p. 215. Sweyn returns thither, after the flight of King Ethelred, and dies; p. 216.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

435

- GARDINER, Stephen, Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 1531-1550], commends John Salcot, afterwards Abbot of Hyde, to King Henry the Eighth, for his labours towards the divorce of Queen Catherine; p. lxv.
- GASCONY, Account of a prodigy in, in the time of Dunstan; p. 188. Abbo of Fleury visits Gascony in order to monastic reformation there, and is slain; ib.
- GEOFFREY I., Abbot of New Minster [A.D. 1106-1124]; p. xlv. His dispute with the Bishop of Winchester; p. xlv.
- GEOFFREY (Galfridus), an abbot and saint, Relics of, carried to Glastonbury by King Edmund the Elder; p. 137.
- GERARD of Cornwall (Giraldus, Gyraldus, Gerardus, Cornubiensis). His chronicle De Gestis Regum Westsaxonum quoted, concerning the death and burial of King Alfred; p. 60; and concerning the foundations at Cambridge of King Edward the Elder; p. 111; and concerning the life, pilgrimage, combats, and anchoritism, of Guy, Earl of Warwick; p. 118.
- GERMAN (Germanus), an abbot, present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- GERMANY, component parts and boundaries of; p. 18. Legendary origin of the name; ib.
- GETA (Gida), wife of Earl Godwin, Character of; p. 289. Dies at St. Omers; ib. Held land at Chaddleworth, in Berkshire; p. cxiii.
- GERBOD the Fleming (Gorbodo, Gorbodus), Earl of Chester, son of Gherbod of St. Bertin's, and Matilda of Flanders, afterwards wife of William the Conqueror, departs from England, and falls into the hands of his enemies; p. 296.
- GIDLEY, in Devonshire, Bequest of lands at, by King Alfred, to his younger son Ethelward; pp. 63, 330.
- GIFFARD, Walter de, leads a division of the Anglo-Norman army at the battle of Bremule; p. 317.
- GIFFARD, William de, Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 1107-1129] and Chancellor of England, promotes the building of the new Abbey of Hyde for the monks of New Minster; p. xlv. Proves that community for their neglect of certain processional observances at the great festivals of the church; p. xlvi. Has a quarrel with the monks of St. Swithun's; p. xlvii.
- GLAMORGANSHIRE is devastated by King Edgar; p. 189.
- GLASTONBURY, Benedictine Abbey of, is endowed by King Edmund the Elder; p. 137. Relics of Geoffrey, an abbot, and of Hilda, abbess of Streoneshal, are carried thither; ib. Monks from that abbey are sent to Abingdon by Ethelwold; p. 151. Is restored and enlarged by King Edgar; p. 179. Dunstan's labours there, and his victory over the devil; p. 211. Bequests to that Community by King Edred; pp. 154, 348; and by Ethelmer; p. 254, 364. Burial there of King Edmund Ironside; p. 265.
- GLOSSARY of terms used in the laws of King Alfred and King Edward the Confessor; p. 42.
- GLOUCESTER, Foundation of St. Peter's Abbey at, by Ethelred and Ethelfled of Mercia; p. 61. Burial there of the founders; ib. Coronation there of King Henry III.; p. 284.
- GLOUCESTERSHIRE; p. 14. Is invaded by Cnut; p. 263.
- GODALMING, in Surrey, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to his nephew Ethelwold; pp. 64, 331.
- GODEWYN (Godulf), Genealogy of; p. 28.
- GODFREY, Duke of Bouillon and of Lorraine, and first King of Jerusalem, sets out on the first crusade; p. 300.
- GODMAN, abbot of Thorney, is so appointed by Ethelwold; p. 182.
- GODSALVE, John, had an annuity out of the confiscated revenues of Hyde Abbey; p. lxxii.

E E 2

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- GODWIN, an alderman or duke, falls at the battle of Assingdon; p. 263.
- GODWIN, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Cnut for New Minster in A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- GODWIN, Earl of Kent, is alleged to have betrayed Alfred, son of King Ethelred the Unready, in his descent on England; p. 287. Dies at the table of King Edward the Confessor whilst asseverating his innocence; p. 289. His character; p. 288. Gave his daughter Edith in marriage to King Edward; ib.
- GODWIN, Bishop of Rochester [A.D. 995-1020?], witnesses Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- GOGMAGOG; p. 4.
- GONDRADA. See Gundrada.
- GONLAF the Dane (Gonelaphus); p. 119.
- GORBODO or GORBODUS. See Gherbod.
- GORING, George, Negotiation of, with the Warden and Fellows of Winchester respecting the Hyde Manor of Fiddle-trenthide; p. lxxxviii.
- GORMUND the Dane. See Guthrum.
- GOSBERT (Gosberus), first Abbot of Battle, is nominated to the abbacy by King William the Conqueror; p. 294.
- GOURNAY, Hugh de, is imprisoned by King Henry I.; p. 313. General discontent occasioned by that imprisonment; ib. His liberation; ib. He rebels against the king, but at the battle of Brémule stands aloof; p. 318. Makes his peace with Henry; ib.; and is restored to his forfeited estates; p. 319.
- GRATIANUS; p. 5.
- GREGORY the Great, Saint, Pope [590-604]. Beda's account of his interview with the English youths at Rome; p. 15. His unsuccessful offer to the Pope to go himself on a mission to England; p. 16. On attaining the papacy he sends St. Austin; pp. 16, 32. King Alfred directs the translation of his Dialogues into Saxon; p. 44.
- GREGORY X. [Tebaldo Visconti], Pope [1271-1276], sent into England a Papal Bull confirming the rights and possessions of the Abbey of Hyde; p. liii. Notice of its contents; p. lxxx.
- GRESHAM, Sir John, negotiated with Abbot Salcot in order to obtain the Hyde manor of Sanderstead in Surrey; cxiii. note. After the Dissolution, obtained a grant of that manor from the King; ib.
- GRIMBALD, Saint, successively a monk of the Abbey of St. Bertin's in France, a teacher at Oxford, and first Abbot of the New Monastery at Winchester [A.D. 901-903], meets with Alfred during that prince's journey to Rome, and advises with him; p. 30. Alfred, after his accession to the throne, sends an embassy to the abbot of St. Bertin's, and to the French Primate, entreating that Grimbald may have leave to come into England; p. 31. The archbishop's reply to the request, and his account of the motives which lead him to acquiesce in it; ib. Arrival of Grimbald in England; p. 35. Object of his mission; p. 36, xxiv. A council is convened in London for his solemn reception; ib. His speech to the council; pp. 37-39; and its effect on the king and the audience; p. 40. Becomes Professor of Theology at Oxford in the second year of his residence in England; p. 41. His removal from Oxford to Winchester noticed; p. xxvi. The various and conflicting accounts of his first establishment there collated and compared; pp. xxvi, xxvii. Proof, from the chartulary of St. Bertin's Abbey, that he returned for a time to France; p. xcvi. Shortly before King Alfred's death, he confers with him respecting the intended foundation of the New Monastery of Winchester; p. 51. His grief for Alfred's death; pp. 51, 76. Exhorts King Edward the Elder to carry out his father's dying injunctions; p. 79. Remonstrates with Edward as to his purpose of building the new abbey partly at

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationGRIMBALD, Saint,—cont.

the expense of the old abbey of St. Swithun; pp. 79, 80. Praises of his labours in England, uttered by the king in a great council at Winchester; p. 80. Grimbold's exertions about the building of the new abbey; p. 81. His solemn dedication of it, in conjunction with archbishop Plegmund, to the Blessed Trinity, to the Virgin Mary, and to SS. Peter and Paul; pp. 82, 83. His labours for ecclesiastical reformation; p. 83. His regrets at observing the perfunctory labours of the secular canons, and desire to replace them by monks; ib. His personal piety and self-mortification; p. 84. His last sickness and death; ib. Michael Alford's quotation of passages from Liber de Hyda respecting Grimbold noticed; p. lxxxv. Hugh Cressy's quotations on the same subject; p. lxxxvi.

GRUMUS, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 995 [?]; p. 253.

GRUNDY, Roger, had an annuity out of the confiscated revenues of Hyde Abbey; p. lxxii.

GUADER (Gael, Wehr;) Radulphus de. See Ralph.

GULDFORD, in Surrey, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to his nephew Ethelwold; pp. 64, 331.

GUTELIN, King of Essex; p. 9.

GUNDRADA (Gondrada, Gundred), daughter of Gherbod or Gorbodo, of St. Bertin's, and of Matilda of Flanders, afterwards wife of William the Conqueror; Countess of Warren; p. 296.

GURMUND the Dane. See Guthrum.

GURMUNDUS and the Picts are expelled from England and driven into Wales; p. 5.

GURTH (Guert, Gerd), son of Earl Godwin, and brother of King Harold, Advice of, to the king, on the eve of the battle of Hastings; p. 293. Owned Chaddleworth, in Berkshire; p. cxiii.

GUTHRUM (Gurmundus, Gordinus) the Dane. His dominion in East Anglia and in Essex referred to; p. 11. He is baptized, with King Alfred as his sponsor; p. 47. Alfred settles him in East Anglia; ib. He breaks his compact with Alfred, and rules tyrannously over the East Anglians; pp. 47, 48. Dies, and is succeeded by Ethric; p. 47.

GUTHRUM, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan, in A.D. 932; p. 131.

GUY, Earl of Warwick, Return of, to England after a long absence, and arrival at Winchester in the guise of a pilgrim; p. 120. At the entreaty of King Ethelstan he engages in single combat with Colbrand the Dane, and conquers him; p. 121. He offers Colbrand's axe in oblation at St. Swithun's; ib. His conversation with the king; p. 122. Becomes a hermit; ib. Death and burial; pp. 122, 123.

GUY, Count of Ponthieu, seizes Harold, son of Earl Godwin, after his shipwreck, and delivers him to the Duke of Normandy; p. 290.

GYWR, Genealogy of; p. 28.

H.

HACUN, an officer, witnesses Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.

HAMPSHIRE; p. 7.

HAMPSHIRE Bridewell, Desecration of the tombs of Alfred, of Edward the Elder, and of Grimbold, for the erection of the; pp. lxxv, lxxvii.

HAMPTON [Heanton, or Hinton?] in Hampshire, granted by King Ethelred the Unready to Ethelgar; p. 238. Its boundaries; p. 239. Translation of the boundaries; p. 358.

HAMPTON on Thames, in Middlesex, Church of; p. lxxxii.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- HARDINGTON, in Somersetshire, Bequest of land at, by King Alfred, to Edward the Elder; pp. 62, 329.
- HARDY'S Descriptive Catalogue of MSS. relating to the early History of Britain quoted; pp. xv, xvi. His edition of Malmesbury referred to; pp. 9, 12, 13, 20, 21, 167, 207, 209, 215, xxv., xxxiv. His Remarks on Mediæval Chronology quoted; p. xciv.
- HARMONSWORTH, Manor and church of; p. lxxxii.
- HARLEIAN Manuscript 1761 described; p. lxxxviii. Quotations from it; Introduction, passim.
- HAROLD I., called Harefoot, King of England; p. 267.
- HAROLD II., King of England p. 6. Is present at his father's death, whilst at the table of King Edward the Confessor; p. 289. Is shipwrecked on the coast of Ponthieu, and is made prisoner by the Count of Ponthieu; p. 290. Is delivered to William, Duke of Normandy, who makes him take an oath to support the Duke's pretensions to the crown of England, on Edward's death; ib. Assumes the English crown on the death of Edward; ib. Receives an embassy from William; p. 291. Meets the invading army of his brother Tostig and of Harold, King of Norway, and defeats it at the battle of Standford Bridge; p. 292. Comes to London, and levies fresh forces against the Normans; p. 293. Hastens into Sussex to meet King William's army, and fights at Hastings; ib. Is defeated and killed; pp. 283, 294. Some of the monks of the New Monastery at Winchester, headed by his uncle Elfwy, their abbot, fight for him, and fall on the field; p. xxxviii.
- HAROLD, called Hardrada (Hervard), King of Norway, allies himself with Tostig, one of the sons of Earl Godwin, and invades England; p. 292. Is defeated by Harold at Standford Bridge, and slain; ib.
- HARPSFELD, Nicholas, made many quotations from the original MS. of Liber de Hyda in his Historia Ecclesie Anglicane; p. lxxxvi.
- HASTINGS, Battle of, described; pp. 291, 293, 294.
- HEAHRED witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.
- HEALDEN, an officer, witnesses King Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- HEANFERD? an alderman or governor, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 904; p. 104.
- HEDNITH? Ernulf de, is falsely accused of conspiracy against William the Red, and defends himself; p. 301. Joins the crusaders, and dies at Antioch; p. 302.
- HELIAS de la Flèche rescues William, son of Duke Robert of Normandy, after the battle of Tinchebray, and carries him into France; p. 308. Obtains for the young prince support in France and in Flanders; ib. Joins the new league against Henry I., but stands aloof at the battle of Bre-mule; p. 318.
- HELMESHAM, episcopal see of, p. 12.
- HELMSTAN, Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 838-850?], receives Ethelwulf, son of King Egbert, from his father, to be educated in the monastery of St. Swithun; p. 21.
- HENGIST founds the kingdom of Kent; p. 6.
- HENRY I., called Beauclerc, King of England, succeeds William II.; p. 283. Is proclaimed at London; p. 304. Some of the magnates refuse their recognition, and others give but a cold assent; ib. Restores Archbishop Anselm to his archiepiscopal rights; p. 305. Marries Edith, afterwards called Matilda, of Scotland; ib. Is opposed by his brother Robert, who lands with an army in England, but is induced to make peace; ib. Offers Mary, sister of Queen Matilda, in marriage to William, Earl of Mortain, but meets with a refusal; p. 306. Many discontented nobles and adherents of Robert pass into Normandy to make war against him; ib. Leads an army into

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

439

HENRY I.—cont.

Normandy, wins the battle of Tinchebray, and takes Duke Robert prisoner; p. 307. Causes of the hatred against him which obtains in France and Normandy; pp. 307, 308. Defends Theobald, Count of Chartres, against Lewis the Sixth, King of France; pp. 309, 310. Imprisons Hugh de Gournay and the Count of Eu; p. 313. Is opposed by a new and formidable league on the continent; and Normandy is invaded; p. 313. Makes an inroad into France, and obtains much plunder; p. 315. Leaves Rouen at the head of an army, but dreading disaffection, quickly returns; p. 316. On the remonstrances of the Earl of Warren again invades France, and wins the battle of Bremule, near Noyons; p. 317. Makes peace with France; p. 318. Marries his son, William, with the daughter of Fulke, Count of Anjou; p. 319. Reconciles himself with several of the discontented nobles, and restores to them their possessions; p. 320. Returns into England in A.D. 1120; p. 321. Dies [in A.D. 1135], and is buried at Reading; p. 283.

HENRY II., called Fitz-Empress, King of England, succeeds to the throne, and is crowned by Theobald, Archbishop of Canterbury; p. 284. His children; ib. Dies, and is buried at Fontevraud; ib.

HENRY III., King of England, succeeds to the throne, and is crowned at Gloucester by the Bishop of Winchester; p. 284. Dies and is buried at Westminster; ib.

HENRY VIII., King of England, employed John Salcot as a preacher at Greenwich in A.D. 1516, and as a writer and orator for the divorce of Queen Catherine of Arragon in A.D. 1529-30; p. lxxv. Praised Salcot in a letter to his ambassador at Rome; p. lxxvi. Supported his candidature for the abbacy of Hyde; ib. And made him bishop of Bangor; p. lxxvii. Translated him to Salisbury; p. lxxix. His exchanges of abbey lands noticed; p. lxxxix.

HENRY, Count of Anjou, son of Henry II., called The younger King, is crowned; p. 284. Dies; ib.

HENRY I., called the Fowler, Emperor of Germany, receives at his court two daughters of King Edward the Elder, and gives them in marriage; p. 112.

HENRY of Blois (Henricus Blesensis), Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 1129-1171], Repairs the golden altar, &c. given to Hyde Abbey by King Edred; p. 144. Quarreled with the community of Hyde; p. xlvi. Was accused of wilfully burning the abbey during the civil war between Queen Maud and King Stephen; p. xlvi. The Abbot and Convent present complaints against him to the King, to the Pope, and to St. Bernard; p. xlix. His projects for converting Hyde Abbey into an episcopal see, and the see of Winchester into an archiepiscopate; ib. Went to Rome to prosecute his plans, but was defeated; l. Inaugurated the restored cross of Hyde Abbey; p. li. His death; ib. Diversity of the views of various chroniclers as to his character and aims; p. l. One of the annalists of Hyde describes him as Chancellor; p. xlvi, note.

HENRY of Huntingdon, Quotations in Liber de Hyda from the Chronicle of; pp. 124, 189. His laudatory verses on King Alfred; p. 77.

HENRY of Knyghton. Account of Queen Maud's escape from Winchester Castle, by, referred to; p. xlvi.

HEORSTAN witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 149.

HEPTARCHY, Formation of the, and its ultimate union, under Egbert (and under Alfred); pp. 5, 21, 47, 48.

HERAUD, a knight, searches for the lost son of Guy, Earl of Warwick; p. 119.

HERBERT, the Chamberlain, held land of the Abbot and Convent of Hyde at Micheldever, in Hampshire; p. cii.

HEREFORD, Episcopal See of; p. 14.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- HEREFORD, Account of the defeat of the Northern Welshmen by King Ethelstan at; p. 124.
- HEREFORDSHIRE; p. 14.
- HEREWARD, the Saxon, Insurrection of, against King William the Conqueror; p. 295. He slays a kinsman of the Earl of Warren ib.
- HERTFORDSHIRE; pp. 9, 14.
- HESTON, in Middlesex, Church of; p. lxxxi.
- HEXHAM, Episcopal See of; pp. 17, 279.
- HIGDEN, Ralph, The Polychronicon of, quoted: on the Legend of Brute and the early history of Britain; pp. 4, 5. On the history of King Ethelwulf; pp. 25, 26. On the genealogy and life of King Alfred; pp. 28, 61. On the northern expedition of King Edmund the Elder; p. 137. On the death of Edwy; p. 167. On the murder of King Edward the Martyr; p. 207. On the early life of King Ethelred the Unready; p. 209. On the siege of Canterbury by the Danes; p. 213. Methods adopted by the Hyde Annalist in quoting from the Polychronicon, and from similar works; pp. xxi, xciv.
- HILDA, first Abbess of Streoneshalh, afterwards called Whitby, Relics of, carried to Glastonbury, by King Edmund I.; p. 138.
- HILDEWINE witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.
- Historia Major Wintoniensis* (ascribed to Thomas Rudborne, a monk of St. Swithun), quoted; pp. xxiv, xxvi.
- HOOPER, John, Bishop of Gloucester [A.D. 1550-1553], was sentenced to the stake by Salcot, last Abbot of Hyde; p. lxix.
- HOUSE OF CORRECTION for Hampshire was built, in A.D. 1786, on the site of Hyde Abbey; pp. lxxv, lxxvii.
- HOWARD, Henry, of Corby, visited Hyde after the desecration; p. lxxvii. Account of his researches; ib.
- HUBBA, the Dane; p. 10.
- HUBERT, Archbishop of Canterbury, crowns King John at Westminster; p. 284.
- HUGH de Lens, Abbot of Hyde; p. 1.
- HUGH de Port held land at Bedhampton, at Candover, at Litchfield, at Micheldever, and at Warneford, all in Hampshire, and at Sotwell, in Berkshire, of the Abbot and Convent of New Minster; pp. e, cii, ciii, cv, cvii, cviii, cxiii.
- HUGH, a monk of St. Swithun's, at Winchester, elected Abbot of Hyde; p. xlv.
- HUMBER river; pp. 6, 13, 15.
- HUN witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 149.
- HUNGARY, Two sons of King Edmund Ironside are sent into, p. 267.
- HUNGERFORD, Origin of the name of; p. 10.
- HUNTINGDONSHIRE; p. 14.
- HURSTBOURNE, in Hampshire, Bequest of lands at, by King Alfred to Edward the Elder; p. 63, 329.
- HYDE, formerly New Minster, at Winchester, Abbey of. King Alfred's purpose to found a new monastery, at Winchester; p. 31. His invitation to Grimbald was for that end; ib. His intention is frustrated by his death; p. 51. Grimbald's exhortation to King Edward the Elder for the fulfilment of his father's purpose; p. 79. Edward's first desire to carry out the plan at the expense of the old monastery of St. Swithun, is rebuked by Grimbald; ib. His purchase of land for the new abbey from the Bishop of Winchester; p. 80. Boundaries and dimensions of the purchase; pp. 80, 81. The building of the abbey; p. 81. Solemn reception there of the remains of St. Josse, brought by refugees from Picardy; p. 82. Its dedication in honour of the Holy Trinity, of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and of SS. Peter and Paul; p. 83. Adornment and endowment of the new abbey by the king and others; ib. Translation thither of the body of Alfred; ib. Sickness and death of Grimbald, the first abbot; p. 84. King Edward's grant to New Minster of lands at Micheldever, in Hampshire; p. 85; and of other lands at Craebourne, in Hampshire; p. 88;

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationHYDE—cont.

and at Cuthredsburgy [?]; p. 90; and at Durley, in Hampshire; p. 92; and at Thorley, in Hampshire; p. 94; and at Candover, in Hampshire; p. 95; and at Abbot's Anne, in Hampshire; p. 98. His grant of another piece of land at Micheldever for the Refectory; p. 101. His grant of Collingbourne, in Wiltshire; p. 105; and of Chisledon, in Wiltshire; p. 114. Burial of Edward the Elder in his new abbey; p. 116. Account of the combat of Guy of Warwick with Colbrand the Dane, in the meadow afterwards given to the Abbey of Hyde; pp. 118-123. Grant to Alfred, a servant of King Ethelstan, of lands at Stoneham, in Hampshire, and their regrant by Alfred to New Minster; pp. 124, 132. Bequests to New Minster by Elfsige, a bishop; p. 133. Grant to New Minster by King Edmund the Elder of lands at Pewsey, in Wiltshire; p. 138; and of lands at Basing, in Hampshire, to Ethelnoth, a priest; with his regrant of the same to New Minster; pp. 145, 146. Lease of lands at Chisledon, in Wiltshire, by the Community of New Minster, to Alfred, a servant of King Ethelstan; p. 147. Bequests of King Edred to New Minster; p. 153. Grant by the same king of lands at Leckford, in Hampshire, first to Edulf, and then to monasteries at Winchester; p. 161. Edulf's regrant of a portion thereof to New Minster; p. 165. King Edwin or Edwy's grant of the vill of Heaton, or Hampton, to New Minster; p. 167; and of Sotwell, in Berkshire, to Ethelgard; with Ethelgard's regrant to New Minster; pp. 170, 173; and of Bighton, in Hampshire, to New Minster; with a lease of the same by that Community to Elfric for his life; pp. 174, 175. Substitution of monks for canons at New Minster by the King, Dunstan, Archbishop of Canterbury, and Ethelwold, Bishop of Winchester; pp. 179, 180. Proceedings of the Council at Winchester, in relation thereto, and legend of the vocal crucifix; pp. 180, 181. Monks from Abingdon inducted into New Minster by Ethelwold; p. 182. King Edgar's charter to New Minster, granted in the year A.D. 966; pp. 192-202. His grant of Donnington and Telscombe, in Sussex, and of Winterbourne, in Wiltshire, to the same; 202, 322. King Ethelred's grant to New Minster of Heanton, and of other lands in the Isle of Wight, and in other parts of Hampshire; p. 217; and of the Hyde Moors in the same county; p. 228; and of Manningford, in Wiltshire, to Ethelwold; p. 231. Ethelwold's bequest of Manningford to New Minster, after his wife's death; p. 236. Bequests of Ethelmer to New Minster; p. 254. Lease by the Community of New Minster of lands at Barton and at Drayton (in Hampshire) to Wulfmer; p. 258.

HYDE—cont.

Collation of the various and conflicting accounts of the circumstances which attended the foundation of New Minster; p. xxix. Enumeration of the lands given by the founder, King Edward the Elder; ib.; and by King Ethelstan; p. xxx.; and by King Edmund the Elder; ib.; and by King Edred; p. xxxi.; and by King Edwy; ib.; and by King Edgar; ib. Growth of laxity of discipline amongst the canons; ib. The Benedictine reform by King Edgar, and by Bishop Ethelwold; pp. xxxi, xxxii. Gifts of King Ethelred the Unready; p. xxxiv.; and of Cnut; p. xxxvi. The abbacy of Elfsige; p. xxxv.; and of Byrhtwold; ib.; and of Byrhtmer; ib.; and of Ethelnoth; p. xxxvi.; and of Elfwy I.; ib.; and of Elfwy II., who leads a band of armed monks and soldiers to the field of Hastings; p. xxxviii. Consequences to the monks of New Minster which ensued upon the defeat of the Saxons; ib. The Conqueror seizes part of the monastic enclosure, and erects a palace thereon; pp. xl, xli. His subsequent relenting and gifts; pp. xli, xlii.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationHYDE—cont.

Spoilions of his successor ; ib. The profligate bargain of Losinga with Passeflambard for the abbacy ; ib. Erection of the new abbey, in the Hyde meadow, formerly called Danemead ; p. xlii, xlii. Procession of the community in the year 1110, to take possession of the new building ; p. xlv. Terms of the exchange of lands between the Fraternities of New Minster and of St. Swithun's ; p. xlv. The new charter of King Henry I. ; ib. Destruction of the new abbey in the civil wars between Stephen and Maud ; pp. xlvii, xlviii. Quarrels between the Community of Hyde and Bishop Henry of Blois ; p. xlviii. Their complaints to the King, to the Pope, and to St. Bernard of Clairvaux ; p. xlix. The monks send an embassy to Rome, and defeat the bishop's scheme for converting Hyde Abbey into a bishopric and the see of Winchester into an archiepiscopate ; p. l. Restoration to the abbey of the famous cross of King Cnut ; p. li. Slow restoration of the destroyed monastic buildings ; ib. The successive abbacies of the twelfth century ; ib. The riot, on the night of the Seven Sleepers, in A.D. 1201 ; ib. Variety of the designations given to Hyde Abbey in the mediæval writings noticed ; p. lii. The miracles of St. Barnabas ; ib. The quarrel between the Abbot of Hyde and the Pope's legate, Otho, in A.D. 1267 ; Bull of Pope Gregory X. respecting the privileges and estates of the abbey, in A.D. 1272 ; pp. liv, lxxx. Comparative neglect of learning at Hyde after the Conquest ; p. lv. The successive abbacies of the fourteenth century ; pp. lv, lvi. Surrender of the community and of its possessions into the hands of William de Edyndon, Bishop of Winchester, on the score of its great poverty, in A.D. 1352 ; p. lvii. Bishop William of Wykeham complains to the abbot of the misappropriation of certain chapelries ; ib. King Henry IV. restores to the abbey the manor of Piddletrenthide, in Dorsetshire, which had been wrongfully escheated to the crown ; p. lviii. Bequests of William of Wykeham to the abbot and monks ; p. lix. Destruction of the bell-tower ; p. lx. Bequests of Cardinal Beaufort ; ib. Election of Abbot Bonville, and the dissension about it ; p. lxi. He is sent into Sussex to govern the priory of Bosgrove ; ib. The government of Hyde is committed to the prior, Thomas Wirscectur ; ib. Wirscectur succeeds to the abbacy in A.D. 1472, and is succeeded, in A.D. 1480, by John Collingbourne ; p. lxi. Dissensions respecting the election of Thomas Forte ; ib. Forte is confirmed in the abbacy by Bishop William Waynflete ; ib. And is succeeded by Richard Hall ; p. lxii. Visitations of the abbey by Bishop Fox ; pp. lxii, lxiii. Struggles respecting the election of an abbot in A.D. 1530 ; p. lxiii. The King's influence and that of Wolsey carry the election of Salcot, who was then employed in promoting the divorce of Queen Catherine ; p. lxiv. Character of Salcot, and results of his appointment ; p. lxv. His correspondence with Cromwell respecting the bishopric of Bangor ; p. lxvii. Cromwell's visitation and his Ordinances for the regulation of the Abbey ; pp. lxviii, lxix. Connexion between Salcot and Thomas Wriothesley, afterwards Earl of Southampton ; pp. lx, lxi, lxxii. Surrender and destruction of the abbey ; p. lxxii. Pensions and annuities paid out of its estates ; ib. Accounts respecting its estates, as rendered to the Court of Augmentations ; pp. lxxix, lxxx. Grants and descent of the confiscated estates ; pp. lxxiii, lxxiv. Notices of the visits of antiquaries to its site, at various periods subsequent to the Dissolution ; pp. lxxiv-lxxviii. Account of the destruction of the abbey remains, and of the tombs of Alfred, of Edward the Elder, and of

HYDE—cont.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationHYDE—cont.

- Saint Grimbald, in order to build a Bridewell for Hampshire; p. lxxvii. Descent of the site through the Bethell family; p. lxxix. Town mansion of the abbots of Hyde noticed; p. lxxx. Specific revenues of the several monastic officers in A.D. 1535; ib.
- HYDE Chronicle, formerly Cotton MS. Vitellius, E. viii., quoted; p. xlvii.
- HYDE Chartulary in Cotton MS: Domitian A. xiv., described, p. lxxxvii.
- HYDE Chartulary in Harleian MS., No. 1761, described; p. lxxxviii; quotations from; pp. xlvii, lii, lvi, lvii, lx.
- HYDE Miscellany, formerly in the Duke of Buckingham's library at Stowe Park, described; p. xci.
- HYDEBOURNE WORTHY, Manor of, bestowed on the abbot and convent of New Minster by King Ethelred the Unready; p. xxxiv. Domesday survey of; p. cvii.
- HYDE MOORS, in Hampshire, Grant of the, by King Ethelred the Unready; p. 228.
- HYNGWAR the Dane, Death of; p. 10.

I.

- INDIA, Alms sent by King Alfred to; p. 49.
- INA, King of Wessex; p. 19.
- INGLESHAM? Bequest of lands at; p. 255.
- INGILD, Genealogy of; p. 28.
- IRMO or IRICIUS? (Hyricius), The government of Northumbria entrusted by King Cnut to; p. 265. See, also, Yric.
- ISIDORUS of Seville, Etymologicon of, quoted; p. 18.
- ISLEWORTH, in Middlesex. Church of; p. lxxxii.
- ITCHEN river, in Hampshire, mentioned as a boundary; p. 126. Its alleged obstruction by the abbot and convent of Hyde c<sup>o</sup> plained against; p. lix.

J.

- JARROW, Education and life of Beda at; p. 278.
- JERUSALEM, Odo, Bishop of Bayeux, undertakes a pilgrimage to, and dies in Sicily; p. 296. Beginning of the crusades for the recovery of; p. 300.
- JOHN, King of England, succeeds to the throne, and is crowned at Westminster by Hubert, Archbishop of Canterbury; p. 284.
- JOHN XIII, Pope [965-972], sanctions the expulsion of secular canons from the monasteries at Winchester, and their replacement by Benedictine monks; p. 179. Gives the pallium to Dunstan, as Archbishop of Canterbury; p. 186.
- JOHN of Hexham, a contemporary of Beda; p. 278.
- JOHN of Saint David's (Joannes Menevensis), is brought into England by King Alfred, and made a teacher at Oxford; p. 41.
- JOHN Scotus or Erigena [?], (Joannes Monachus) a colleague of Saint Grimbald, comes into England by the invitation of King Alfred, and is made a teacher at Oxford; p. 41.
- JOHN of Pontoise (Joannes de Pontissara), Bishop of Winchester, confirmed the election of Geoffrey de Feryng, as Abbot of Hyde; p. xlvii. Extract from his Episcopal Register; ib.
- JOHN de Sandale, Bishop of Winchester. See Sandale.
- JOHN of Tynemouth, Quotations from the Historia Aurea of, concerning the life and acts of St. Ethelwold, Bishop of Winchester; p. 182.
- JOHN, Abbot of Hyde [1181-1222], mediated between the monks of Christchurch and the archbishop of Canterbury; lii. Went on an embassy to Rome; ib. Notice of a midnight riot at Hyde Abbey during his incumbency; p. li.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

JOSSE, Saint (Jodocus), The remains of, are brought into England by fugitives from Picardy, and are solemnly received at New Minster; p. 80.

JUDITH of France, daughter of King Charles the Bald; successively wife of Ethelwulf, and of Ethelbald, Kings of England, and of Baldwin, Count of Flanders; pp. 26, 27. Excites, by her enthronement contrary to Saxon usage, an insurrection in England against Ethelwulf; ib.

JUDITH, a niece of King William the Conqueror, marries Waltheof, a Saxon earl [here called Edmesau Waldeth]; p. 295.

JULIUS CÆsar; p. 5.

JUTES, Origin of the, and their settlement in Kent and in the Isle of Wight; p. 19.

K.

KARETICUS, a British chief, expelled from England, with his adherents, and driven into Wales; p. 5.

KEMBLE'S Codex Diplomaticus Ævi Saxonici referred to; pp. xxii, xl. His Saxons in England quoted; p. 371.

KENNETH (Kynadius, Kyncidius), King of Scotland, depreciates King Edgar on account of his smallness of stature, and is challenged to single combat; p. 183.

KENRED, Genealogy of; p. 28.

KENRED, King of Mercia, takes the cowl; p. 18.

KENT, Description of the Kingdom of; p. 6.

KINGSCLERE, in Hampshire, is bequeathed by King Alfred to his second daughter; pp. 63, 330. Is given by William the Conqueror to New Minster; pp. xli, ci. Domesday survey of the manor of; ib. A petition was presented to King Edward I. in Parliament, by the abbot and convent, complaining of a wrongful presentation to their church of; p. liv.

KINGSTON on Thames, in Surrey, King Edward the Elder is crowned at; p. 77. King Ethelstan is crowned there; p. 117; and King Edred; p. 150; and King Edwy; p. 166; and King Ethelred the Unready; p. 210.

KNIGHT, Thomas, had a lease of the Hyde manor of Piddletrentthide; p. lxxxii; and surrendered it to Winchester College; ib.

KYNEGILS, King of Wessex. See Cynegils.

L.

LAMBOURNE, in Berkshire, is bequeathed by King Alfred to his wife Ethelswyth; pp. 64, 331. Exchange of lands there between Earl Elfric and Ethelgar, Bishop of Selsey; p. 238.

LANFRANC, Archbishop of Canterbury [1070-1089], crowns King William the Red; p. 283.

LANGRIGAN; p. 4.

LANDSLOWNE MS. 717, Mr. Hardy's description of the; p. xv. Further notice of it; pp. xvi, xvii.

LANTFRED De Miraculis gloriosi antistitis Swythuni, quoted; p. 23.

LANZO, first prior of the monastery of St. Pancras at Leves, performs the funeral obsequies of William, Earl of Warren and Surrey, its founder; p. 299.

LA SALLE, John de, granted land at Sanderstead, in Surrey, to the abbot and convent of Hyde; p. cxiii, note.

LAVERSTOKE, in Hampshire, belonged before the Conquest to New Minster, and was restored by William the Conqueror; pp. xlii, civ. Erroneous statement in modern editions of the Monasticon Anglicanum, respecting it; p. xli, note. Translation of Domesday survey of the manor of; p. civ.

LEATHERHEAD, in Surrey, Bequest of lands at, by King Alfred, to Edward the Elder; pp. 63, 330.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

445

- LECKFORD ABBAS, in Hampshire, Grant of land at, by King Edred to Ethelwulf; p. 162. Regrant to New Minster; p. 165. Ethelwulf's translation of Domesday survey of the manor of; p. cv. Accounted for in the Exchequer by Dr. Augustine; p. lxxix.
- Legenda Sanctorum* quoted; p. 277.
- LEICESTER, Episcopal see of; p. 14.
- LEICESTERSHIRE; p. 14.
- LELAND, John, visited Hyde Abbey shortly after the Dissolution; p. lxxiv. Collectanea of, quoted; p. xxvi.
- LEO IV., Pope [A.D. 847-855], grants to Ethelwulf, son of Egbert, a dispensation from the monastic vow, that he may ascend the throne of Wessex; p. 22. Receives Alfred, son of Ethelwulf, at Rome, and anoints him as king; p. 25.
- LEOF (Liof), an outlaw, murders King Edmund the Elder at Pucklechurch; p. 137.
- LEOF (Leof), an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edwy in A.D. 959; p. 178.
- LEOFRIC, Abbot of Exeter, is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- LEOFRIC, Abbot of Michelney, is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- LEOFRIC, an abbot, witnesses charters of King Ethelred the Unready, in the years 983, 987, 988, and 995?; pp. 231, 235, 242, 253.
- LEOFRIC, another abbot, witnesses a charter of the same king; p. 242.
- LEOFRIC, an officer, is present at a council held in London; p. 245. Witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 995?; p. 253.
- LEOFSIGE (Leofsus), Abbot of Thorney, succeeds Wulfstan in the see of Worcester; p. 267.
- LEOFSIGE, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 995?; p. 253.
- LEOFSIGE of Morden is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- LEOFSIGE, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 988; p. 242.
- LEOFSTAN, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready; p. 242.
- LEOFSTAN of Sussex is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- LEOFWIN, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 995?; p. 253; and one of King Cnut in A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- LEOFWIN, son of Ethelwulf, is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- LEOFWIN, son of Leofiat, is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- LEOFWIN, an officer, witnesses Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- LEOFWIN has a bequest from Ethelwold; p. 236.
- LEOMINSTER, in Sussex? Bequest of the vill of by King Alfred, to Osferth; pp. 64, 331.
- LETCOMBE, John, abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1394-1408], received the temporalities; p. lviii. Had a bequest from William of Wykeham; ib. Made his appeal to the King in Chancery against the escheator for Dorsetshire; ib.
- LEWES, in Sussex, Certain burgesses in, paid dues to New Minster; p. cxi. Burial there of William, Earl of Warren and Surrey; p. 299.
- LEWIS VI. (Laodowicus), called the Fat, King of France, succeeds Philip I.; p. 308. Receives William, son of Robert, Duke of Normandy, and espouses his cause against Henry I., King of England; ib. Asserts the supremacy of the French Kings over the Norman Dukes; ib. Supports the Anglo-Norman malcontents, and makes war against Theobald, Count of Chartres, who is supported by Henry, p. 309. Insists on the deliverance of the Count of Nevers, who had been imprisoned by Theobald; p. 310. Invades Normandy, but returns into France without fighting; p. 311. Prepares a new invasion of Normandy; p. 316. Is met by Henry at Brémule, near Noyons, and is defeated with great loss; p. 317. Levies another

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- LEWIS VI.—cont.
 army, but is induced to make peace; p. 318.
- LEWIS, Duke of Aquitaine, marries Edgiva (Æadgyfu), daughter of King Edward the Elder; p. 113.
- Liber de Hyda*, History of; p. xv. Its character and contents described; p. xx. Hardy's account of John Stow's bridge-ment of it quoted; p. xv. Extracts made from the Macclesfield MS. by Sir H. Spelman; p. lxxxiv; and by Michael Alford; p. lxxxv; and by Nicholas Harpsfeld; p. lxxxvi; and by Hugh Cressy; ib. Its Chronology noticed; pp. xciii, xcvi.
- LICHFIELD, in Staffordshire, Episcopal see of; p. 14.
- LILOGES, in France, Death of King Richard I. at or near; p. 284.
- LINCOLN, Episcopal see of; p. 14. The city is recovered by King Edmund I. from the Danes; p. 137.
- LINDISFARNE, in Northumbria, Episcopal see of; p. 17. Its removal to Durham; pp. 17, 213.
- LINDESEY, in Lincolnshire, Defeat of the Danes under Cnut, by King Ethelred, at; p. 216.
- LINGFIELD, in Surrey, was bestowed on New Minster by Queen Ethelfled; p. cxii, note. The advowson of the church was granted by the abbot and convent to Sir Reginald de Cobham; p. lix.
- LITCHFIELD, in Hampshire, Domesday survey of the Hyde manor of; p. cviii.
- LIVING. See Lyfing.
- LEWELLYN (Ludwallus), a King of Wales, makes a treaty with King Edgar, and pays him tribute in wolves; p. 183.
- LOEGRIA; p. 5.
- LOHAN, a priest, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 904; p. 104.
- LOMER, in Hampshire, Domesday survey of the Hyde manor of, translated; p. cvi.
- LONDON, John, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1408–1414], Election of; p. lix. A suit is instituted against him for obstructing the river Itchen; ib.
- LONDON; pp. 8, 9, 13. King Alfred convenes a council there, for the reception of Grimbald; p. 36. And repairs its fortifications; p. 49. And entrusts the government of it to Ethelred of Mercia; ib. Burning of, in A.D. 988; p. 211. Burial there, in St. Paul's Church, of archbishop Elfheah or Elphege; p. 214. Siege of the city by the Danes; p. 212. Raising of the siege by King Ethelred the Unready; p. 215. The citizens send hostages to Sweyn, on hearing of his successes in Wessex; p. 216. Burial there, in St. Paul's Church, of King Ethelred; pp. 216, 260. Councils held there in the reign of Ethelred; pp. 244, 245; and again on his death; p. 260. Edmund Ironside is proclaimed King in London, and crowned; ib. London is again besieged by the Danes, and the siege raised by Edmund; p. 261. In the partition with Cnut, London is assigned to Edmund; p. 264. A fleet is brought thither by Earl Godwin; p. 288. Godwin attends King Edward the Confessor there, and dies whilst asserting his innocence of the death of Alfred the Etheling; p. 289. King Harold II. comes thither, and levies forces to repel the Normans; p. 293. Councils held there on the accession and marriage of King Henry I.; pp. 301, 305.
- LONGPÉRIER, M. de, opinion of, respecting the Saxon "mancus," noticed; p. 372.
- LORRAINE; p. 18.
- LOSINGA, Herbert de, Bishop of Norwich, made a simoniacal contract with Passesflambard, for the abbacy of New Minster; p. xlii. Satirical verses upon him; ib.
- LOSINGA, Robert de, titular Abbot of New Minster [1091–1094], pp. xlii, xliii.
- LUARD's edition of the Annales de Wintonia referred to; pp. xxiv, seqq.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

447

- LUCY, Godfrey de, Bishop of Winchester, granted a pension to Hyde Abbey out of the church of Alton, in Hampshire; p. lxxxviii.
- LUDGERSHALL, William de, sold to the abbot and convent of Hyde certain tenements in Southwark, for the town mansion of the abbot when attending Parliament; p. lxxx.
- Lufa. Recitals concerning lands in Hampshire, granted to, and held by one Lufa, and forfeited by his crime; pp. 221, 254.
- LYFING (Living, Lewing, Lifingus), Archbishop of Canterbury [A.D. 1013-1020], witnesses Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- LYNN, Arnold, was claimed as a monk by the Benedictines of Hyde, and by the Dominicans of London; p. lvi.
- M.
- MAINE is conquered by King William I.; p. 296.
- MAIOLUS, Abbot of Cluny; p. 78.
- MALCOLM I., King of Scotland, receives Cumberland from King Edmund the Elder, on terms of help and alliance; p. 137.
- MALCOLM III., called Greathead (Canmore), King of Scotland, invades Northumberland, and is defeated by its earl, Robert Mowbray; p. 301.
- MALMESBURY, Benedictine Abbey of, King Ethelstan's gift to; p. 118. Falls into decay; p. 167. Ethelmer's bequest to it; p. 254.
- MALMESBURY, William of. See William.
- MANNING's edition of the Will of King Alfred from the Stowe Park MS. referred to; pp. xxii, 52, 63, 64, 328, 329.
- MANNINGFORD ABBOTS, in Wiltshire, granted by King Ethelred the Unready to Ethelwold, and by him bequeathed, in reversion, to New Minster; pp. 232, 233, 236, 356. Domesday survey of the manor of, translated; p. cviii.
- MARCOMANNUS, King of the Franks; p. 5.
- MARGARET, granddaughter of King Edmund Ironside, is born in Hungary; p. 267.
- MARIANUS Scotus, quotations from the Chronicle of, on the life and death of King Alfred; p. 61. On the education of the children of King Edward the Elder; p. 77. On the gift of King Ethelstan to Malmesbury Abbey; p. 118. On the conquests and death of King Edmund the Elder; p. 137. On the death and character of King Edwy; p. 167. On the restoration and foundation of monasteries by King Edgar; p. 179. On the government and the reforms of Edgar; p. 183. On the battle of Searstan; p. 261.
- MARINUS I., otherwise called MARTIN III., Pope [A.D. 882-884], frees the English school at Rome from taxation at the request of King Alfred; p. 49. Sends to him a portion of the holy cross; ib.
- MARTIGNY, Benedictine Abbey of, is visited by Archbishop Anselm on his return from Rome; p. 304. Account of his conversation there with the Abbot, concerning William, the Red King; ib.
- MARY, daughter of Malcolm Greathead, King of Scotland, is offered in marriage to William, Count of Mortain; p. 306.
- MATILDA, daughter of Baldwin, Count of Flanders, wife of Gorbodo, of St. Bertin's, and of William the Conqueror. Her marriage with Duke William; p. 286. Issue of that marriage; ib. Her children [by Gorbodo]; p. 296.
- MATILDA, daughter of Malcolm Greathead, King of Scotland, Death of; p. 311. Her character, obsequies, and epitaph; pp. 312, 313.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- MATILDA (MAUD), the Empress, daughter of Henry I., King of England, wife of Henry V., Emperor of Germany, and of Geoffrey Plantagenet, Count of Anjou. Destruction of Hyde Abbey during the strife between the Empress and Stephen; p. xlvi. Her escape from Winchester; ib.
- MATTHEW of Westminster, Flores Historiarum ascribed to, quoted; p. xliii.
- MATTHEW Paris, Account of the battle of Seearstan by, referred to; p. 261.
- MAXIMUS, titular Emperor of Rome, Revolt of, in Britain; p. 5.
- MELLITUS, Saint, Bishop of London, converts Sibert, King of Essex; p. 9. Founded St. Peter's Church at Westminster; ib.
- MELROSE, in Scotland; p. 271.
- MEON, in Hampshire, Bequest of lands at, by King Alfred to his younger son, Ethelward; pp. 63, 330.
- MERCIA, Kingdom of, described; p. 13. Is devastated by the Danes under Sweyn; p. 215. Is invaded by Cnut; p. 262.
- MERSEY River; p. 13.
- MICHELDEVER, in Hampshire, is granted by King Edward the Elder to the New Minster at its foundation; pp. 85, 101. Its boundaries; pp. 86, 102, 333, 339. Domesday survey of the manor of; p. cii. The church of Micheldever was appropriated to the Dean and Chapter of Salisbury by the Community of Hyde in place of that of Collingbourne; p. liii. Remonstrance of Bishop William of Wykeham with the Abbot of Hyde, concerning a misappropriation of the revenues of certain chapelries belonging to Micheldever; p. lvii. On the Dissolution of monasteries the manor is granted by the King to Thomas Wriothesley, afterwards Earl of Southampton; p. lxxiii. Suit respecting the bounds of the manor, between Henry, Earl of Southampton, and Thomas Petre; p. lxxiii. The manor passed by descent to the family of Russell, and by sale to that of Baring; p. lxxiv.
- MILBOURNE [in Dorsetshire?], Requests of lands at, by King Alfred, to his younger son, Ethelward; 63, 330.
- MILNER's account of the desecrations at Hyde in 1786 (from his History of Winchester); p. lxxv.
- MODWENNA, Saint, Alfred is sent by his father, King Ethelwulf, to her, to be cured of a malady; pp. 26, 51. Ethelwulf's grant of land to her, for the establishment of nunneries in England; 26. Resides at Stramshall; ib. Visits Rome; ib. Her death; ib.
- MONCHI, or MONCEUX, Dreux de (Drogo de Monciato), rebels against Lewis VI., King of France, and causes him to abandon his intended invasion of Normandy; p. 315.
- Monasticum Anglicanum* referred to; pp. lxiii, lxx, note.
- MONTGOMERY, Robert de (called Robert de Belesme, or de Belemia), Earl of Shrewsbury, supports the elevation of Henry I. to the throne, but not cordially; p. 305. Is exiled by the king, and joins Robert, Duke of Normandy; p. 306. Makes his peace with Henry; p. 307. Prepares a new insurrection, but is seized and imprisoned; ib.
- MONTGOMERY, Roger de, goes with his brother Ernulf, into Normandy, to stir up war against King Henry I.; 306.
- MONTREULL, Church of St. Josse, near, Translation of relics from the, into England, and their reception at New Minster; p. xxviii.
- MORTAIN, Guillaume, Count of, quarrels with King Henry the First, joins Robert, Duke of Normandy, and stirs up war against Henry; p. 306. Is taken prisoner in Normandy; p. 307.
- MORTIMER, Ralph de, held the manor of Hydebourne Worthy, in Hampshire; p. cvii.
- MOUNDREVE, in Hampshire, Manor of; p. lxxxi.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

449

MOWBRAY, Robert de, Earl of Northumberland, defeats Malcolm, King of Scotland; p. 301. Conspires against King William II., is defeated, and imprisoned; ib.

N.

NAFENA is present at a council held in London; p. 245.

NAVY of England under King Edgar, and its discipline; p. 184.

NEOT, Saint, is appointed by King Alfred to teach theology at Oxford; p. 41.

NEVERS, Count of, opposes the pretensions of King Henry I. with respect to Normandy; p. 309. Is made prisoner by Theobald, count of Chartres; ib.

NEW MINSTER. See Hyde, Abbey of.

NICHOLAS IV., Pope [A.D. 1288-1292]. Valuation of the possessions of Hyde abbey, in the record called the Taxation of; lxxx, xcvi.

NORMANDY, Flight of Alfred and Edward, sons of King Ethelred the Unready, into; p. 215. Ethelred follows them thither; p. 216. Descent of the dukes of; p. 284. Appearance of a comet in; p. 291. Legend concerning a monastery in; p. 302. Disorders in Normandy after the death of King William II; p. 304. Devastation of churches there; p. 307. Causes of the war there, during the reign of Henry I; p. 306. Progress and incidents of that war; pp. 307, 311. Invasion of Normandy by Lewis VI. of France and Baldwin, Count of Flanders, and their speedy retreat; p. 311. Rejoicings there for the victory of the Anglo-Normans at Brémule; p. 318.

NORMANS, Invasion of England by the; pp. 291, 293.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE; p. 14.

NORTH STONEHAM, in Hampshire, King Ethelstan's grant of the vill of, to a certain Alfred, and its regrant to New Minster, with the boundaries; pp. 124, 132. Translation of the boundaries; p. 341.

NORTHUMBERLAND. See Northumbria.

NORTHUMBRIA, description of the Kingdom of; p. 15. Revolutions of government in; p. 17. King Alfred's battle with the Danes in; p. 50. Is recovered from the Danes by King Edward the Elder; p. 77. Reconquest of, by King Edmund the Elder; p. 137. King Edred's defeat of the Northumbrians, and devastation of their country; p. 150. His entertainment of Northumbrians at the abbey of Abingdon; p. 152. Government of, entrusted by King Cnut to Irmo or Yric; p. 265.

NORWICH, Episcopal See of; p. 10. Its translation from Elmham; p. 12.

NORWINAN is present at a council held in London; p. 245.

NOTTINGHAM is recovered by King Edmund the Elder from the Danes; p. 137.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE; pp. 14, 15.

O.

OCCA (Ocea, Oceoc), an officer, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 900, and in A.D. 901; pp. 97, 101, 116.

ODO (Oda, Odda), Saint, successively Bishop of Ramsbury [A.D. 921?-942] and Archbishop of Canterbury [A.D. 942-958], was by birth a Dane, but served in the army of King Edward the Elder; p. 186. Is made bishop of Wilton [so in MS., following Higden]; ib. Legend as to the assistance he gave to King Ethelstan [at Brunanburh] in his conflict with the Danes; pp. 124, 187. Is translated to the see of Canterbury;

F F

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationOdo—cont.

- p. 187. Crosses to Fleury to take the cowl, prior to his enthronement; ib. Accompanies King Edred into Northumbria; ib. Removes the relics of St. Wilfred to Canterbury; ib. Crowns King Edred; p. 150. Bequests to him in that King's Will; pp. 153, 347. Consecrates Dunstan; p. 186. Crowns King Edwin or Edwy; p. 166. Imposes penance on King Edwy; p. 187. Shares with Dunstan the credit of withstanding that king's excesses; p. 187. He repairs the Cathedral of Canterbury, and effect of his prayers on that occasion; p. 186. Witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 921; p. 109; and one of King Ethelstan, in A.D. 932; p. 130. And charters of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 940 and 945; pp. 144, 146. And of King Edred, in A.D. 947; p. 164. And of King Edwy, in A.D. 957; p. 172. His death and burial; p. 186. His reproving appearance, in a vision, to Elfsige, his titular successor, and what ensued thereon; p. 186.
- ODO, Saint, Abbot of Cluny, [A.D. 910-943]; p. 78.
- ODO, Bishop of Bayeux and Earl of Kent, schemes to attain the Papacy, and makes a lavish expenditure at Rome; p. 296. His encouragement of discontent against King William the Conqueror, and his fall; ib.
- ODO, of Winchester, gave the New Minster manor of Chaddleworth to Robert, steward of Hugh de Port; p. cxiii.
- ODO, Steward of the Household to King William the Conqueror, held lands at Micheldever, in Hampshire, of the abbot and convent of New Minster; p. cii.
- ODO (Odda), an officer, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 921; p. 110; of King Ethelstan, in A.D. 932; p. 132; of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 940; p. 144.
- ODO, a deacon, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 904; p. 105.
- OFFA, first King of the East Angles; p. 10. His descendants; ib.
- OFFA, tenth King of the East Saxons, goes to Rome, and becomes a monk; pp. 9, 17.
- OFFA, King of the Mercians, founds monasteries at St. Alban's and at Bath; p. 19. Genealogy of; p. 28.
- OGLE, Sir Challoner, inherited part of the Hampshire lands of Hyde Abbey; p. lxxiv.
- OLAVE (Olaf, Anlaf, Olaus), Trygvason, King of Norway [A.D. 956-1000], is brought to King Ethelred the Unready by Elfheah, bishop of Winchester, who baptizes him, King Ethelred being his sponsor; p. 212. Returns to Norway; ib.
- ORDBYRHT, Bishop of Selsey [A.D. 989-1009], is present at a council held in London; p. 245. Witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready [in A.D. 995?]; p. 253.
- ORDBYRHT (Osobysihe), an abbot [perhaps identical with the Ordbyrht above mentioned], witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; p. 202; and of King Ethelred, in A.D. 983, 987 and 988; pp. 231, 235, 242.
- ORDBYRHT (Ordbirthus, Ordbright), a monk of Winchester, is sent to the monastery at Abingdon; p. 151.
- ORDEAH, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edmund the Elder in A.D. 940; p. 144.
- ORDGAR, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 904; p. 104.
- ORDGAR (Orgar, Osdgar, Osgarus), Earl of Devonshire, is father of Elfhryth, second wife of King Edgar; pp. 184, 189, 191. Witnesses a charter of King Edgar in A.D. 966; 202.
- ORDGAR (Ordarus, Ordgarus), an alderman or duke, [perhaps identical with the Ordgar above mentioned], witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 205, 323.
- ORDGAR, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edwy in A.D. 959; p. 179.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

451

- ORDMER, an alderman or duke, was father of Ethelfled the Fair, first wife of King Edgar; p. 191.
- ORDULF, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 904; p. 104.
- ORDULF, an officer, witnesses charters of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 987, 988, and 995?; pp. 236, 242, 253; and an agreement between the community of New Minster and Wulfner; pp. 258, 366.
- OSBERN (Osbert, Osbertus, Osduerus), a monk of Canterbury, Quotations from the Life of St. Dunstan, written by; p. 211. Sir Henry Spelman's conjecture respecting those quotations noticed; p. lxxxv.
- OSCYTEL (Oskytel, Asketillus, Uscytel, Usketillus), successively Bishop of Dorchester [A.D. 950-958] and Archbishop of York [A.D. 958-972], Bequests of King Edred to; pp. 154, 348. Witnesses a charter of King Edwy in A.D. 957; p. 172. Witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 201, 205, 323. His death; 188.
- OSCYTEL, an earl, falls at the battle of Assingdon; p. 263.
- OSFERTH (Osfrith), an alderman or duke, Bequests of King Alfred to; pp. 64, 331. Witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921; p. 109; and one of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 130.
- OSGAR, an abbot, witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 202, 205, 323.
- OSGAR, a monk of Glastonbury, is sent to the monastery of Abingdon; p. 151.
- OSLAC, an officer, witnesses King Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- OSRIC (Oseg, Osrith), a Danish king, or general, is defeated by King Alfred; pp. 27, 50.
- OSRIC, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edwy in A.D. 959; p. 178.
- OSSIRH becomes a nun at Polesworth; p. 26.
- OSULF (Osulphus, Othulphus), Bishop of Ramsbury [A.D. 952?-970], witnesses charters of King Edwy in A.D. 957 and 959; pp. 173, 177; and charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 202, 205, 323.
- OSULF, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 904; p. 104.
- OSULF, a minister, witnesses a charter of King Edwy, in A.D. 959; p. 178.
- OSWALD, Saint (Oswold), Bishop of Worcester [959-993] and Archbishop of York [972-993], is raised to the see of Worcester by the influence of Dunstan; p. 186; and to the see of York on the death of Oscytel; p. 188. His labours and his patronage of learned men; ib. Assists Dunstan in the coronation of Edgar at Bath, in A.D. 970; ib. Is present at a council held in Winchester; p. 181; and at a council held in London; p. 245. Witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 202, 205, 323; and of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 982, 983, 987, 988; pp. 227, 230, 235, 241. His pious death; p. 188.
- OSWALD, Saint, King of Northumbria [..-642], Translation of the remains of, by Ethelfled, from Bardney to Gloucester; p. 61.
- OSWARD (Oseward), an officer, witnesses charters of King Edwy in A.D. 959, and of King Ethelred the Unready in A.D. 988; pp. 178, 242.
- OSWARD, a knight, witnesses charters of King Edgar; pp. 205, 323.
- OSWIN (Oswynus), Relics of, translated to Durham by Alfred, a priest; p. 271.
- OTHO I., called the Great, Emperor of Germany [A.D. 936-973], marries Ethelgiva, or Edgina [comp. p. 117], daughter of King Edward the Elder; p. 112. Sends presents to King Ethelstan; p. 117.
- OTHO, a papal legate, visited Hyde Abbey to keep the festival of Christmas in A.D. 1267; p. liii. In consequence of a quarrel between his servants and those of the

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationOTHO—cont.

abbot, he laid the abbey under interdict ;
ib.

OTHO. See also Odo.

OVID quoted by the Hyde chronicler ; p.
167.

OXFORD, University of. Account of the foundation of the University by King
Alfred ; p. 41 ; and of the professors established there ; ib. ; and of the town and gown riot which occurred in A.D.
1354, and led to a change of the site ;
p. 42. Grimbald's residence there, and the difficulties which attend its chronology noticed ; pp. xxv, xxviii.

OXFORD is taken by the Danes under Sweyn ; p. 215. Murder there of King
Edmund Ironside by the contrivance of Edric ; p. 265.

OXFORDSHIRE ; p. 14.

P.

PALMER, John, received an annuity out of the confiscated revenues of Hyde Abbey ;
p. lxxii.

PALMER, Thomas, received a like annuity ;
p. lxxii.

PARKER, Thomas, Earl of Macclesfield, and
Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, Notice of the library formed by him ; p.
xix.

PARTEN or PATTEN, William of Waynflete.
See William.

PASCHAL II., Pope [A.D. 1099-1118], excommunicates Theobald, Count of Chartres, and his adherents, and enjoins
Lewis VI. to prosecute the war ; p. 310.

PASSEFLAMBARD, Ralph (Ranulphus Flambard), Bishop of Durham, plundered the abbot and convent of New Minster ;
xli. And made a simoniacal contract with Losinga respecting the abbacy ; xlii.

PAULET Family, Descent of part of the Hyde Abbey estates to the ; p. lxxix.

PAULET, Sir John, had a grant of manors alienated by Bishop Salcot from the see of Salisbury ; p. lxxviii.

PAULINUS, Saint, Archbishop of York,
Mission of, to Northumbria ; p. 16.

PAYTEVYN, Philip [? Philip of Poitou], is presented to the church of Candover, in Hampshire ; p. liv. And petitioned against by the abbot and convent of Hyde ; ib.

PEADA, King of Mercia, is converted to Christianity by Finian ; p. 14.

PEADA, a priest, baptizes the South Saxons ;
p. 7.

PELAGIUS II., Pope [A.D. 578-590], Reception by, of the proposals of Gregory for a mission to Britain ; p. 16.

PENDA, King of Mercia ; p. 13.

PENN, in Somersetshire, Battle of, between King Edmund Ironside and Cnut ; p.
261.

PESTILENCE in England in A.D. 988,
Account of the ; p. 211.

PETERBOROUGH Abbey is restored and reformed by Ethelwold, and Edulf is made abbot there ; p. 182.

PETER-PENCE granted for maintenance of the English school at Rome ; p. 25.

PETRE, Thomas, and Henry Wriothesley,
Earl of Southampton, Suit between, respecting Micheldever manor ; p. lxxiii.

PETRUS witnesses a charter of King Ethel-stan ; p. 149.

PEVENSEY, in Sussex, Landing of Duke
William of Normandy on the coast near ; p. 291. Siege of the castle of, by William the Red ; p. 298. Death there of William, Earl of Warren ; p.
299.

PEWSEY, in Wiltshire, Bequest of lands at,
by King Alfred to his son, Edward the Elder ; pp. 62, 329. Grant of the manor of, by King Edmund the Elder, to the New Minster ; p. 138. Boundaries of ; pp. 141. Translation of the boundaries ; p. 344. Domesday survey of the manor ; p. cix.

PHILIP I., King of France, Death of ; p.
308.

PHILIP Paytevyn [? Philip of Poitou] ;
p. liv.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

453

PICARDY, Ravages of the Danes in; p. 82.

PICTS, Inroads of the; p. 5.

PIDDLETRENTHIDE, in Dorsetshire, Accounts rendered in the Exchequer for the Hyde manor of; p. lxxix. Granted to Winchester College, after the Dissolution, in exchange for other lands and churches; p. lxxxii. Leased to Thomas Knight; p. lxxxii. Goring's application, under the patronage of Queen Elizabeth, for a lease of it; p. lxxxiii. Domesday survey of the manor of; p. cx.

PLEGMUND (Pleymund, Plegmundus), Archbishop of Canterbury [A.D. 890-914], attends a council held at Winchester; p. 80. Consecrates New Minster; p. 82. Consecrates bishops to various sees; p. 110. Witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 900, 901, and 904; pp. 96, 100, 104, 116.

POLESWORTH, in Staffordshire, Foundation by King Ethelwulf of a nunnery at; p. 26.

POLLARD, John, was appointed by the vicar-general Cromwell to make a visitation of Hyde Abbey; p. lxx.

PONTHIEU is invaded and devastated by the Danes; p. 82. Part of the inhabitants seek refuge in England, and bring with them (from Montreuil) the relics of their patron saint; ib. They are hospitably received in Winchester; ib. Shipwreck of Harold, afterwards King of England, on the coast of, and his imprisonment there; p. 290.

PONTIUS, Abbot of Dorchester [?], and his monks make solemn intercession for King Henry I. on the formation of the continental league against him; p. 314.

POPHAM, Robert de, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1282-1292], petitions the King and Parliament respecting intrusive presentations to the churches of Kingsclere and Derlingscot; lv.

PUCKLECHURCH in Gloucestershire, Murder of King Edmund the Elder at; p. 137.

R.

RALPH (Radulphus), Archdeacon of London, Chronicle of, quoted; p. 9.

RALPH de Guader (Ranulphus de Wehr, de Gaël), first Earl of Norfolk (after the Conquest), Marriage and conspiracy of; p. 296. Flees from England, and is condemned to perpetual exile; ib.

RALPH de Mortimer held the manor of Hydebourne Worthly; p. cvii.

RAMSEY, Augustinian monastery of, is restored by King Edgar; p. 179.

RAYMOND de Saint Giles, Duke of Toulouse, sets out on the first crusade; p. 300.

READING, in Berkshire, The Danes are defeated by Alfred, in A.D. 870, and driven in flight to; p. 27. Burial there of King Henry the First; p. 283.

REDWALD, King of the East Angles, Conquests of; p. 10. His conversion to Christianity, and subsequent apostacy; ib.

REGNOLD, an alderman or duke, witnesses King Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.

REMIGIUS, Saint; p. 33.

REPPES, William, Abbot of St. Benet of Hulme, and Bishop of Norwich, served King Henry VIII. in the divorce of Queen Catherine, and was rewarded; p. lxvi.

RETEL held Warneford, in Hampshire, of the New Minster; p. cvii.

REYBURN, son of Guy, Earl of Warwick; p. 119.

REYNALD, son of Guthrum the Dane, is conquered by King Edmund the Elder; p. 137.

RHINE River; p. 18.

RICHARD I., called the Fearless, third Duke of Normandy [A.D. 942-996]. Gives his daughter, Emma, in marriage to King Ethelred the Unready; p. 213. Succeeds his father; p. 285.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- RICHARD II., called the Good, Duke of Normandy [A.D. 996-1026], receives Emma Elfyfu and her sons as refugees from England, after the invasion by Sweyn; p. 215. Receives an embassy from Cnut, seeking marriage with Emma, after the death of Ethelred; p. 267.
- RICHARD III., Duke of Normandy [A.D. 1026-1028], Succession of; p. 285.
- RICHARD, son of King Henry I., embarks for England at Barfleur, and is drowned; p. 321.
- RICHARD I., called Lionheart, King of England, succeeds his father, and is crowned at Westminster; p. 284.
- RINGWOOD, in Hampshire, Bequest of lands at, by Bishop Elfsige, to the monastery of St. Swithun at Winchester; p. 134.
- RIPON, in Yorkshire, Episcopal see of; p. 17. Burial there of St. Wilfred; p. 187. Translation thence of the remains of Wilfred; ib. Monastic controversy as to their identity, noticed; ib.
- ROBERT I., called the Devil, Duke of Normandy [A.D. 1028-1035], Pedigree of; p. 284. Goes on pilgrimage to the Holy Land, leaving his infant son, William, to the care of his nobles; p. 285. Dies; ib.
- ROBERT II., called Shorthose, Duke of Normandy [A.D. 1087-1134], rebels against his father; 297. Receives his father's curse; ib. Joins the Crusaders; p. 300. Returns from the Holy Land; p. 305. Leads an army into England, against King Henry I, but consents to peace on condition of Henry's relinquishment of all claim to Normandy, and on receipt of an annual pension; p. 306. Receives malcontents from England, and is incited to make war on Henry; ib. Fights a battle [at Tinchebray], and is defeated; p. 307; and sent into England to be imprisoned; ib.
- ROBERT, Earl of Gloucester, conducted the siege of Wolvesey Castle in Winchester, and spared the old monastery; p. xlviiii.
- ROBERT, Count of Flanders, sets out on the first Crusade; p. 300. Dies; p. 308.
- ROBERT, Archbishop of Canterbury, crowns King Edward I. at Westminster; p. 284.
- ROBERT, Steward of Hugh de Port, held the Hyde manor of Chaddleworth in Berkshire; p. cxiii.
- ROCHESTER, Episcopal see of; p. 6. Is besieged by the Danes; p. 49; and by King Ethelred the Unready; p. 210. Is redeemed by Dunstan; ib.
- ROCHESTER, Cathedral Monastery of, Bequest of Ethelmer to the; p. 254.
- ROGER, Bishop of Salisbury, celebrates the obsequies of Matilda of Scotland, Queen Consort of King Henry I.; p. 312.
- ROGER of St. Valery, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1248-1263]; p. liii.
- ROGER of Wendover, Quotations by the Hyde Chronicler from; pp. 260-268.
- ROGERS, John, was sentenced to the stake by Salcot, last Abbot of Hyde; p. lxxix.
- ROLLO (Rollins, Raoul, Rou), first Duke of Normandy [A.D. 911-927], invades France in A.D. 876; p. 284. Found the duchy of Normandy; p. 285. Dies; ib.
- ROMAN URNS were found beneath the site of Hyde Abbey; p. lxxvii.
- ROMANS withdraw from England; p. 5.
- ROME. Beda's account of the conversation of the English youths with St. Gregory at; p. 15. Beda's invitation to, by Pope Sergius I.; p. 276. Arguments to prove that Beda never visited Rome; p. 278. Ina's foundation of the English school at; p. 25. Ethelwulf sends Alfred to Rome, to be anointed; ib. Alfred's second visit, with Ethelwulf; ib. Ethelwulf restores the English school founded by Ina; ib. Alfred sends alms to Rome; p. 49. Archbishop Elfheah goes to Rome to receive the pallium, and falls into the hands of robbers on the way; p. 215. His deliverance; ib. Archbishop Elfsige goes to Rome to receive the pallium, and is frozen to death whilst crossing the Alps; p. 186. Ambitious projects of Odo, bishop of Bayeux, and his lavish expenditure at Rome; p. 296. The Abbot and Convent of Hyde send

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationROME—cont.

an embassy to Rome to complain of the wrongs inflicted on the Community by Bishop Henry of Blois; p. l. Results of the mission; ib.

ROMSEY, Benedictine Abbey of, Burial there, of Ethelfled, daughter of King Edward the Elder; p. 112. Ethelmer's bequest to it; p. 254.

ROTHERFIELD, in Sussex, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to Osferth; pp. 64, 331.

Rotuli Curiae Civitatis Wintoniae, quoted; p. lix.

ROUEN, Death of King William the Conqueror at; p. 297. Departure from, of King Henry I., to make war on France, and his retreat; p. 316. Return of Henry to, after the battle of Brémule; p. 318.

ROWBURY, in the Isle of Wight, Domesday survey of the Hyde manor of; p. cvi.

RUALD (Rualdus, Rewalan, Riwalo), Abbot of New Minster [A.D. 1073-1091], succeeded Wulfric in the abbacy; p. xli. Was present at a council in London; ib.

RUALD held Lomer, in Hampshire, of New Minster; p. cvi.

RUDBORNE, Thomas, a monk of Saint Swithun's at Winchester, The Historia Major of, quoted, in relation to the affairs and history of New Minster; pp. xxiv, xxvi, xxxix, xl.

RUMSEY, Richard, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1509-1530], succeeded Richard Hall in the abbacy; p. lxii. Visitation of the community during his rule; p. lxiii. Dies; ib.

RUNCORN, in Cheshire, is founded by Ethelfled, Lady of the Mercians; p. 60.

RUSSELL Family, Descent of Hyde manors, in Hampshire, to the; p. lxxiv.

S.

SAINT ALBAN'S ABBEY, in Hertfordshire, is founded by Offa, King of Mercia; p. 19.

SAINT BENNET HULME, Abbey of, in Norfolk, was governed, as abbot, by John Salcot; p. lxvi. Salcot was succeeded in the abbacy by William Reppes; ib.

SAINT BERTIN'S MONASTERY, at Sithieu, now SAINT OMERS, in France, Early intercourse of Alfred with Grimbold at; p. 30. Alfred invites Grimbold into England from; pp. 31, 35, xxiv. Proof from its chartulary that Grimbold made a temporary return thither; p. xcvi.

SAINT GERMANS, in Cornwall, Episcopal see of, and its transfer to Exeter; p. 13.

SAINT JOHN'S PRIORY, near Chester, Visit of King Edgar to; p. 189.

SAINT JOSSE, near Montreuil, in France, Removal of relics from the church of; pp. 82, xxviii.

SAINT OMERS, in France, Visit of Tostig to, after his brother Harold's assumption of the crown; p. 292. Death of Geta, or Gida, wife of Earl Godwin, at; p. 289. [See also SAINT BERTIN'S MONASTERY, above.]

SALCOT, John, last Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1530-1538], Bishop of Bangor [A.D. 1534-1539], and Bishop of Salisbury [A.D. 1539-1559], preached before the king at Greenwich; p. lxv. Was made abbot of St. Bennet's Hulme, in Norfolk; ib. Became a candidate for the abbacy of Hyde, and was supported by the royal influence; p. lxiv, lxv. Gardiner's report to the king concerning Salcot's services in the divorce suit against Queen Catherine; p. lxvi. His other labours and courtly services; pp. lxvi, lxvii. His correspondence with the Vicar-general Cromwell, and with Wriothesley, afterwards grantee of Hyde Abbey; ib. Obtained the bishopric of Bangor, retaining the abbey in commendam; p. lxvii. Made Wriothesley and Wintershall joint seneschals of the abbey; p. lxxii. Sentenced several Protestants to the stake, as king's commissioner; p. lxviii. Obtained the bishopric of Salisbury; ib. Surrendered the abbey of Hyde into the king's

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationSALCOT, John,—cont.

hands; p. lxxii. Turned Protestant, under Edward VI.; p. lxxviii; and alienated several manors of the see of Salisbury to the Duke of Somerset; ib. Returned to Catholicism under Mary; p. lxxix. Again sentenced Protestants to the stake, and amongst them Bishop Hooper and John Rogers; ib. Notice of an agreement made by him, prior to the Dissolution, with Sir John Gresham, for the alienation of the manor of Sanderstead, in Surrey; p. cxiii, note.

SALISBURY, Episcopal see of p. 13. [See also SALCOT, above.]

SALISBURY, Dean and Chapter of, Grant of the church of Collingbourne Pewsey, in Wiltshire, to them, in place of that of Micheldever, in Hampshire; p. liii.

SANDALE, John de, Bishop of Winchester, certified the election of William de Odiham, as abbot of Hyde; p. liv. Extract from the episcopal register of; ib.

SANDERSTEAD, in Surrey, was given to the New Minster by Queen Ethelfled; p. cxi, note. Other land there given by Walter Sanders; ib. Suit respecting the manorial limits, between the abbey of Hyde and the priory of Bermondsey; ib. Inchoate agreement for its alienation by Salcot to Sir John Gresham; ib. Domesday survey of the manor; p. cxiii.

SANDWICH, in Kent. Cruelties committed there by Cnut, and his embarkation thence for Denmark; p. 216.

SAVAGE, John, Escheator for Dorsetshire, seized the manor of Piddletrenthide from Hyde Abbey, alleging the infringement by the community of the duties attached to their tenure; p. lviii. Decree in Chancery commanding him to make restitution; ib.

SAXONS enter Britain; p. 5. Their origin, settlements, and partitions; pp. 5-19. Formation of the Heptarchy; ib.

SAXONY; p. 18.

SCOTLAND, English conquests in, and relations with; pp. 117, 118, 150, 183, 305, 311.

SCOTS, Inroads into England of the; p. 5. Surrender to King Edred of the; p. 150.

SCOTTISH SEA; p. 15.

SEARU, a priest, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 904; p. 105.

SEAXHELM, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 130.

SEBBA, King of Essex. See Sibba.

SEGER, King of Essex; p. 9.

SELANDIA; p. 18.

SELID (Salid, Salidus), Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1151-1171]; p. li.

SELSEY, in Sussex, Episcopal see of, is founded by St. Wilfred; p. 7; and removed to Chichester; p. 8.

SELSEY, Monastery of, founded; p. 7.

SELWOOD, in Somersetshire, Battle fought there between King Alfred and the Danes; p. 47.

SENECA quoted by the Hyde chronicler; p. 187.

SERGIUS I., Pope [A.D. 687-701], writes to the Abbot of Jarrow, inviting him to give permission to Beda to visit Rome; p. 276. Argument to prove that the invitation was never accepted; p. 278. Baptizes Ceadwalla, King of Wessex; p. 17.

SEVERN River; p. 13.

SEVERUS, Lucius Septimius, Emperor of Rome; p. 5.

SEXBURGA, daughter of Anna, King of the East Angles; p. 11.

SEXRED, King of Essex; p. 9.

SEYMOUR, Edward, Duke of Somerset, Protector of the Realm, received from Bishop Salcot a grant of certain manors belonging to the see of Salisbury; p. lxxviii.

SHAFTESBURY, in Dorsetshire, Foundation of a nunnery there by King Alfred; p. 61. His daughter Ethelgiva becomes abbess there; ib. Ethelmer's bequest to that nunnery; pp. 254, 364.

SHELDON Family, Descent of part of the abbey lands of Hyde to the; p. lxxii.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

457

- SHERBORNE, Episcopal see of; p. 13. Consecration of a bishop to that see, by Archbishop Plegmund; p. 111.
- SHIRBURN Castle, in Oxfordshire, Notice of the library there, belonging to the Earls of Macclesfield; p. xix.
- SHREWSBURY; p. 13.
- SHROPSHIRE; p. 14.
- SIBBA, King of Essex; p. 9. Takes the cowl; p. 17.
- SIBERT (Sebertus), King of Essex. See Sigebyrht.
- SIBERT, King of the East Angles. See Sigebyrht.
- SICILY. Death in Sicily of Odo, Bishop of Bayeux, whilst on pilgrimage to the Holy Land; p. 296.
- SIGARD, King of Essex; p. 9.
- SIGEBYRHT (Sigebriht, Sigebert), King of the East Angles, Conversion and monkhoo of; p. 10, 17.
- SIGEBYRHT (Sibert, Sebertus), King of Essex, is converted by St. Mellitus; p. 9.
- SIGEBYRHT is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- SIGEFERTH, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edwy in A.D. 959; p. 178.
- SIGERIC, Bishop of Cornwall [A.D. 986 ?-993], witnesses charters of King Ethelred the Unready in A.D. 987 and 988; pp. 235, 241. Is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- SIGERIC, an abbot [probably identical with the Sigeric above mentioned], witnesses a charter of King Ethelred in A.D. 983; p. 231.
- SIGWARD, of Kent, is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- SIGHELM, a bishop, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 901; pp. 101, 116.
- SIGHELM, Bishop of Sherborne? [921 ?-933], witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 921; p. 110; and a charter of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 130.
- SIGRED, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan in A.D. 932; p. 131.
- SIGRED (Sired), an officer, witnesses King Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- SIHTRIC witnesses King Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- SIRIC, King of Northumbria, marries Edgitha or Ethelgiva, daughter of King Edward the Elder; p. 111.
- SIRIC, Archbishop of Canterbury [A.D. 990-994], proposes the payment of tribute money to the Danes by way of buying them off; p. 211. Results of his expedient; ib.
- SLEDDU, King of Essex; p. 9.
- [SOLOMON, King of Hungary. See STEPHEN, King of Hungary.]
- SOMERSET, County of; pp. 13, 47, 154, 348.
- SOTWELL, in Berkshire. King Edwy's grant of land at, to Ethelgar; p. 170. Ethelgar's regrant; p. 173. Domesday survey of the Hyde manor of; p. cxiii.
- SOUTHAMPTON is visited by Danish pirates, and the neighbouring coast is devastated; p. 210. A council of the Danes and Danish faction is held at Southampton, and Cnut is proclaimed King of England, in opposition to King Edmund Ironside; pp. 217, 260.
- SOUTHEASE, in Sussex, is granted by King Edgar to the abbot and convent of New Minster; p. 203. Domesday survey of the manor of, translated; p. cxi.
- SOUTHWARK, Acquisition of a town mansion for the abbot of Hyde in (adjacent to "The Tabard"); p. lxxix.
- SOUTH SAXONS, Formation of the kingdom of the; p. 7. Its subjection by. Ceawalla, King of Wessex; p. 8.
- SPELMAN, Sir Henry, extracts from Liber de Hyda made by, in his Concilia, noticed; p. lxxxiv.
- STAFFORD is recovered by King Edmund the Elder from the Danes; p. 137.
- STATFORDSHIRE; p. 14.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- STANDFORD or STAMFORD BRIDGE, in Yorkshire, Battle of (between Harold II. and Tostig); p. 292.
- STEPHEN, Count of Aumale or Albemarle, and a pretender to the crown of England, levies war against King Henry I.; p. 313. Joins the continental league formed against Henry, but stands aloof at the battle of Brémule; p. 318. Fortifies himself, and is besieged; p. 320. Henry offers terms of peace, which are accepted, and restores his lands; ib.
- STEPHEN, Count of Blois, afterwards King of England [1135-1154], marries a daughter of King William the Conqueror; p. 286. His accession and coronation; p. 283.
- STEPHEN, Saint, King of Hungary [A.D. 997-1038], receives the sons of King Edmund Ironside; p. 267.
- STEPHEN, Count of Chartres, sets out on the first crusade; p. 300.
- STEYNING, in Sussex, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to Ethelwold; pp. 64, 331.
- STIR, son of Wulf, is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- STONEHAM (North), in Hampshire, is granted to a certain Alfred by King Ethelstan, and by the grantee given, in reversion, to NewMinster; pp. 124, 131, xxx. Domesday survey of the manor of; p. ci.
- STOW, John, abridged Liber de Hyda; p. xv. His abridgment, now Lansdown MS. 717, described; p. xvi. His Historical Collections, quoted; p. xvii.
- STOWE Park Manuscript, III.; p. 33 [now at Ashburnham], quoted and described; pp. xxii, xci.
- STRATTON in Cornwall, Bequest of land at, by King Alfred to Edward the Elder; pp. 62, 329.
- STRATTON, in Hampshire, Mention in Domesday survey of the Hyde manor of; p. cii. Its descent to the family of Russell; lxxiv; and thence, by sale, to that of Baring; ib.
- STRODE, Nicholas, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1416?-1440], was ordained priest; p. lix. The precise date of his election to the abbacy doubtful; ib. Had license to grant the advowson of the church of Lingfield, in Surrey, to Sir Reginald de Cobham; ib. Joined in the address of the Parliament to Humphrey, Duke of Gloucester; lx. His death; ib.
- STUBBINGTON, Manor of; p. lxxxii.
- STRUTT'S Manners and Customs of the English People, referred to; xlix. His Regal Antiquities referred to; p. xci.
- STURMINSTER, in Dorsetshire, Bequest of land at, by King Alfred to his younger son, Ethelward; pp. 63, 330.
- STUTEVILLE, Robert de, passes into Normandy as a malcontent, and incites war against King Henry I.; p. 307. Is captured at the battle of Tinchebray, and sent as a prisoner into England; ib.
- SUFFOLK, County of; p. 12.
- SULGEAT witnesses an agreement between the Community of New Minster and Wulfmer; p. 258.
- SURREY, County of; pp. 7, 13, 117, 154, 348.
- SUSSEX, County of; pp. 8, 13, 153, 154, 347, 348. See also South Saxons, kingdom of the.
- SUTTON, in Hampshire? Bequest of lands at, by King Alfred to Edward the Elder; pp. 62, 330.
- SWEDEN; p. 18.
- SWEYN, King of Denmark (Sven, Swanus), invades England, and devastates Mercia; p. 215. Takes the cities of Oxford and of Winchester, but is repulsed by King Ethelred from London; ib. Subjugates Wessex; ib.; and receives hostages from the citizens of London; ib. Demands tribute from the men of Bury St. Edmunds on threat of burning their town and monastery; p. 216. His miserable death at Gainsborough; ib.
- SWEYN, son of Cnut the Great and Elfgifu; p. 267.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- SWYTHUN, Saint, Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 852?-862], administers the ecclesiastical affairs of the kingdom under King Ethelwulf; p. 23. Miracles wrought at his tomb; ib. His appearance in a vision to rebuke the neglectful monks; p. 24.
- SWYTHUN, Monastery of Saint. See under Winchester.
- SIWARD (Siward, Seward), the huntsman, held land at Micheldever of the New Minster; p. ciii.
- T.
- TACHBURY, in Hampshire, Domesday survey of the Hyde manor of; p. cvii.
- TAMWORTH, in Staffordshire, founded or restored by Ethelfled, Lady of the Mercians; p. 60. Burial there of Edgiva, daughter of King Edward the Elder; p. 111.
- TANNER'S Notitia Monastica referred to; p. xvii.
- TATA (Tæta) witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in the years 900, 901, and 904; pp. 97, 105, 116.
- TAUNTON, in Somersetshire, Bequest of lands at, by Elfsige, a bishop; p. 133.
- TELSCOMBE, in Sussex, is given to New Minster by King Edgar; pp. 203, xxxi.
- TESTWOOD was sentenced to be burnt as a heretic by Bishop Salcot; p. lxxviii.
- TETT (Tætwa), Genealogy of; p. 28.
- THAMES River; pp. 6, 8, 12, 13, 171, 215, 262. Is made a boundary of the respective kingdoms of King Edmund Ironside and of Cnut, in the partition between them; p. 264.
- THANAN [?], a bishop, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 921; p. 109.
- THANET, Isle of, is devastated by the Danes, in the reign of King Ethelred the Unready; p. 211.
- THEOBALD, Archbishop of Canterbury, crowns King Henry I. at Westminster; p. 284.
- THEOBALD, Count of Blois?, embarks at Barfleur for England, and is drowned; p. 321.
- THEOBALD, Count of Chartres, makes war upon Lewis VI., King of France, and is supported by King Henry I.; p. 309. Makes the count of Nevers prisoner; p. 310; and refuses to release him save on ransom; p. 310. Is excommunicated; ib.
- THEODRED, Bishop of London [A.D. 921?-951], witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 921; p. 109; and one of King Ethelstan, in A.D. 932; p. 130; and of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 940 and 945; pp. 143, 146; and a charter of King Edred, in A.D. 947; p. 164.
- THEODRED, an earl, is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- THETFORD, Episcopal see of; pp. 10, 12.
- THOMAS, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1177-1181], was brought from the priory of Bermondsey to be made Abbot of Hyde; li.
- THORE, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready in A.D. 983; p. 230.
- THORLEY, in Hampshire, is granted to New Minster by King Edward the Elder; p. 94. Its boundaries; ib. Boundaries translated from the Saxon; p. 337.
- THORNEY, Benedictine Abbey of, Benefactions of King Edgar to the; p. 179. Godman is made abbot there by Ethelwold; p. 182.
- THORPE'S edition of The Anglo Saxon Chronicle, quoted; p. xxxvii. His Diplomatarium Anglicum Ævi Saxonici, quoted or referred to; pp. xxvii, xl, xcii, ciii, civ, 329.
- THUNDERFIELD, in Surrey, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to his nephew, Ethelm; pp. 64, 331.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- THURKIL (Turkillus), alderman or duke of East Anglia, receives his government from King Cnut; p. 265. Witnesses Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- THURKIL, an officer, witnesses King Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- THURINGIA; p. 18.
- TINCHEBRAY, Battle of; p. 307.
- TITCHBORNE, in Hampshire [?], Bequest of lands at, by Elfsige, a bishop; p. 134.
- TITHES of crown lands granted to the Church by King Ethelwulf; p. 23.
- TITULUS, King of the East Angles; p. 10.
- TOSTIG (Tostius), brother of King Harold II., forms an alliance with Harold, King of Norway, and invades England; p. 292. Is defeated and slain in the battle of Standford Bridge; ib.
- TUNBERT (Tunburtus), Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 872 ?-879], Death of; p. 48.
- TUTAC witnesses a charter of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 901; p. 101.
- TWICKENHAM, in Middlesex, Church of; p. lxxxi.
- TWYFORD, in Hampshire, Bequest of lands at, by King Alfred to his younger son, Ethelward; pp. 63, 330.
- TYNE River; p. 15.
- TYRREL, Walter, kills King William the Red, whilst hunting in the New Forest; p. 303.
- U.
- UFA witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.
- UHTRED, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 921; p. 110; and a charter of King Ethelstan, in A.D. 932; p. 131; and one of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 940; p. 135.
- ULFGAR. See Wulfgar.
- ULFRIC. See Wulfric.
- ULFSIGE. See Wulfsige.
- ULVEVA. See Wulfa.
- UPTON, in Berkshire [?], Bequest by Ethelwold of lands at; p. 236.
- URBAN II. (Eudes), Pope, [A.D. 1088-1099], presides at the council of Clermont; p. 300. Decrees there the first Crusade; ib. Receives Anselm, Archbishop of Canterbury, during his exile; p. 302.
- V.
- VAL-DES-DUNES, near Caen, Battle of; p. 286.
- VALENTINE the Martyr, Saint, Head of, given to the monks of New Minster by Elfgifu Emma, to reward their prayers for Harthacnut; p. xxxvii.
- VANNES, Peter, ambassador of King Henry VIII. at Rome, wrote to Thomas Cromwell respecting the application made to the Pope on behalf of Salcot, Abbot of Hyde; p. lxxviii.
- VIGILANTIUS De Basilica Petri quoted by the Hyde Chronicler, respecting the conversion of the South Saxons; p. 7; and respecting the monkhood of King Ethelwulf; p. 21; and respecting the Council at Winchester, and the disputes between the secular priests and the Benedictine monks; p. 181.
- VINCENT (Vincentius), of Beauvais, Spèculum Historiale of, quoted, with relation to the foundation of the French monarchy; p. 5.
- W
- WALDA, a priest, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, A.D. 904; p. 105.
- WALERAN, the huntsman, held land at Micheldever, of the abbot and convent of New Minster; p. cii.
- WALL, Samuel, purchased part of the Hampshire lands of Hyde Abbey, in A.D. 1825; p. lxxiv.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

461

- WALLINGFORD, in Berkshire, Certain tenants at, paid dues to Hyde abbey; p. cxiv.
- WALSINGHAM, Sir Francis, Secretary of State to Queen Elizabeth, wrote to the Warden and Fellows of Winchester respecting the Hyde manor of Piddletrent-hide in Dorsetshire; p. lxxxiii.
- WALTER (? Waltherus, Baltherus), a hermit, Translation of the relics of, to Durham; p. 271.
- WALTER witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.
- WALTHEOF, Earl of Huntingdon, conspires against King William I.; p. 294.
- WANTAGE, in Berkshire, Bequest of the vill of [his birthplace], by King Alfred to his wife, Eahlswyth; pp. 64, 331.
- WAREHAM, in Dorsetshire, The Danes depart from, to go to Exeter, and suffer great loss by shipwreck; p. 45. Burial there of King Edward the Martyr; p. 207.
- WARENNE, Reginald de, Earl of Warren, in Normandy, goes into Normandy, with other malcontents, to stir up war against King Henry I.; p. 307. Is imprisoned; ib.; and released; ib.
- WARENNE, William de, I., Earl of Warren and of Surrey, Strife between Hereward the Saxon and, on account of the slaying of Frederick, the earl's kinsman; p. 295. Is made Earl of Surrey; p. 298. Divides his inheritance between his two sons; p. 299. Is killed at the siege of Pevensey, in Sussex; ib.; and buried at Lewes; ib.
- WARENNE, William de, II., Earl of Surrey and of Warren, supports the elevation of Henry I. to the throne, but not cordially; p. 305. Serves under Henry in the war with France; p. 316. Remonstrates with the king against the suspicion entertained of his fidelity; ib. Leads a division of the Anglo-Norman army at the battle of Brémule; p. 317.
- WARNEFORD, in Hampshire, Domesday survey of the Hyde manor of; p. cvii.
- WARWICK is founded or restored by Ethelfled, Lady of the Mercians; p. 60.
- WARWICKSHIRE; p. 14.
- WATLING Street; p. 215.
- WATSBURY [?] is founded or restored by Ethelfled, Lady of the Mercians; p. 60.
- WAYNFLETE. See William [Patten] of Waynflete.
- WEARMOUTH, Residence of Venerable Beda in the Monastery of; pp. 275, 278.
- WEDMORE, in Somersetshire, Bequest of lands at, by King Alfred to Edward the Elder; pp. 62, 329.
- WEHR, Radulphus de. See Ralph de Guader, Earl of Norfolk.
- WELLOW, in Hampshire, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred to his daughter Ethelfled; pp. 63, 330.
- WELLS, Episcopal see of; p. 13. A bishop consecrated to the see of, by Plegmund; p. 111.
- WENDOVER, Roger of. See Roger.
- WEREFRIETH (Werefrid, Werferth, Wiferth, Wifhith, Wirefrithus), Bishop of Worcester [A.D. 873-915], translates, by command of King Alfred, Gregory's Dialogues and Boethius De Consolatione, into Saxon; p. 44. Alfred's bequest to him; pp. 65, 331. Witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 900 and 901; pp. 97, 101, 116.
- WERULF (Wærulf), a priest, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.
- WESSEX, Description of the kingdom of; p. 12. Union of other kingdoms with; pp. 19, 27, 47. Is partially subjugated by the Danes under Sweyn; p. 215. Edmund Ironside is recognized as king by the people of; p. 260.
- WESTLIA; p. 18.
- WESTMINSTER, Foundation of the church of Saint Peter at; p. 9. Coronation of William the Red at; p. 283; and of Henry II. at; p. 284; and of Richard I.; ib.; and of John; ib.; and of Edward I.; ib. Burial there of Matilda,

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationWESTMINSTER—cont.

Queen consort of Henry I; p. 312; and of Henry III; p. 284.

WHITCUIRCH [in Hampshire? or rather Whitchurch Canons, in Dorsetshire?], Bequest of lands at, by King Alfred, to his younger son, Ethelward; pp. 63, 330.

WHORWELL, in Hampshire, King Edred's bequest of the vill of, to New Minster; pp. 153, 346. Foundation of a nunnery there, by Efhryth, wife of King Edgar, and mother of King Ethelred the Unready; p. 207.

WIGFERTH, a deacon, witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan; p. 148.

WIGHELM, Bishop of Selsey [A.D. 89...-902], witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 901; p. 97.

WIGHELM, a deacon? witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900 and A.D. 904; pp. 97, 105.

WIGHT, ISLE OF, is given to Ethelwold, King of the South Saxons, on his conversion to Christianity, by Wulfhere, King of Mercia; p. 7. Settlement of immigrants from Jutland in; p. 19. Lands in, given to New Minster, by King Ethelred the Unready; pp. 218, 219, 220, 353, civ. King Ethelred, when fleeing from the victorious Danes, takes refuge in the; p. 216.

WIGMUND (Wimund), Bishop of Lichfield [?], witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 900 and 901; pp. 97, 101, 116.

WIHTBORÐ (Wihtbriord, Wiltbord), witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900, 901, and 904; pp. 97, 101, 105, 116.

WIHTGAR witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 921; of King Ethelstan, in A.D. 932; and of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 940; pp. 110, 131, 144.

WIHTSIGE witnesses a charter of King Edwy, in A.D. 959; p. 178.

WILFRED (Wilfrid), Saint, Bishop of York [A.D. ...-709], converts the South Saxons; p. 7. Founds the monastery of Selsey; ib. Controversy respecting the alleged translation of his remains by Archbishop Odo from Ripon to Canterbury; p. 188. Legend concerning him; p. 8.

WILFRED, of Northumbria, Saint. Contest between the monks of Canterbury and those of York as to the removal of the remains of the Northumbrian saint to Canterbury, instead of those of St. Wilfred of York; p. 188.

WILFRED (Wilfridus, Bilfridus), a hermit, Translation of the relics of, to Durham; p. 271.

WILFRED (Wylferd), a knight, witnesses charters of King Edgar in A.D. 966; pp. 205, 323.

WILFRYTH, concubine of King Edgar, Account of the unwilling amour of, with Edgar, and of its issue; p. 184. Retires to the nunnery of Wilton, and is honoured as a Saint; p. 185.

WILLEY, in Wiltshire, Bequest of the vill of, by King Alfred, to his daughter Efhryth; pp. 63, 330.

WILLIAM I., called The Conqueror, Duke of Normandy [A.D. 1035-1087], King of England [A.D. 1066-1087]. Pedigree of; p. 284. He is entrusted to the care of the nobles of Normandy on his father's departure for the Holy Land; p. 285. A conspiracy is formed against him on receipt of the news of his father's death; ib. Obtains the support of the King of France; ib. Makes war against France, and fights the battle of Val-des-Dunes; p. 286. Besieges and takes Alençon, and punishes the citizens for their contemptuous behaviour; p. 286. Marries Matilda of Flanders; ib. Receives an embassy from England; p. 287. Resents the treacherous murder in England of Alfred, eldest son of King Ethelred, whom he had sent thither in consequence of the embassy; ib. Receives a second embassy, and consents,

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationWILLIAM I.—cont.

on certain conditions, to send Edward, afterwards called The Confessor, into England; p. 288. Obtains possession of the person of Harold, son of Earl Godwin, on his shipwreck on the coast of Ponthieu, and exacts from him an oath to support his own pretensions to the crown of England, in the event of Edward's death; p. 290. Invades England after Harold's assumption of the crown; p. 291. Destroys his ships; p. 293. Sends messengers to Harold; ib. Fights and wins the battle of Hastings; pp. 283, 293, 294. Is crowned at London, by Ethelred, Archbishop of York; pp. 283, 294. Founds the Abbey of Battle; p. 294. Conspiracies and insurrections against him; p. 295. Punishes Ralph, Earl of Norfolk; Odo, Bishop of Bayeux, and other malcontents; p. 296. His punishment of the monks of New Minster for their participation in the battle of Hastings noticed; p. xxxviii. Builds a palace at Winchester, on part of the enclosure of New Minster; pp. xl, xli. Relents somewhat towards that community, and grants to it certain lands in compensation; pp. xli, ci, civ. Goes into Normandy to repress the insurrection of his son Robert; p. 297. Dies at Rouen, and is buried at Caen; pp. 283, 297. Incident at the funeral, with respect to the building of St. Stephen's church at Caen; p. 297.

WILLIAM II., called the Red or Ruddy, King of England [A.D. 1087-1100], makes a rapid journey into England on perceiving the imminence of his father's death; p. 298. Is crowned by Archbishop Lanfranc, pp. 283. Defeats the conspiracy of Odo of Bayeux, and of the Count of Mortain, and besieges Pevensey and Rochester; p. 298. His character; p. 299. His appointment of a certain abbot in England; ib. Makes war against Philip, King of France; p. 300. Subdues the Manceaux or people of Maine, and the Anglo-Norman malcontents, headed by Robert Mowbray, Earl of Northumberland; ib. Quarrels with Anselm, Archbishop of Canterbury; p. 302. His spoliation of New Minster; p. xli. Monkish legend respecting a prediction of his death; p. 303. Is slain by the hand of Walter Tyrrel whilst hunting in the New Forest; ib. Archbishop Anselm's prediction of his death, in a conversation at Martigny; p. 304. Is buried at Saint Swithun's, Winchester; pp. 283, 303.

WILLIAM II.—cont.

WILLIAM, called Longsword, second Duke of Normandy [A.D. 927-943], succeeds his father Rollo; p. 285.

WILLIAM, son of Robert II., Duke of Normandy, is saved from the projects of King Henry I., by Hélie de la Flèche, and carried into France, where he is protected by King Lewis VI.; p. 308. Long and unsuccessful wars on his behalf; pp. 309, 316, 319, 320. Refuses King Henry's offers, but expresses his willingness to go to the Holy Land; p. 321.

WILLIAM VII., Count of Poitou, sets out on the Crusade; p. 300.

WILLIAM, Count of Ponthieu, makes his peace with King Henry I.; p. 319.

WILLIAM, Count of Mortain. See Mortain.

WILLIAM, son of King Henry I. and titular Duke of Normandy, is invested with the duchy of Normandy, by King Lewis the Sixth, on the deposition of William, son of Duke Robert the Second p. 319. Marries the daughter of Fulke, Count of Anjou; p. 319. Embarks for England, and is drowned by shipwreck; p. 321.

WILLIAM de Aldriato, Steward of King William the Red, is accused of conspiracy, and condemned to death; p. 301.

WILLIAM, Count of Eu, is convicted of conspiracy, and blinded; p. 301.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- WILLIAM of Malmesbury is quoted with reference to the episcopal sees of Kent; p. 6. And with reference to the bounds of the kingdom of Essex; p. 9. And to the sees of Wessex and Mercia; pp. 13, 14. And to the exile and conquests of Egbert; p. 20. And to the history of the Abbey of Cluny; p. 78. And to the wars with Scotland; pp. 117, 118. And to the history of King Ethelstan; p. 124. And to the murder of King Edmund, by Liöfa; p. 138. And to the life of Wulfstan, Archbishop of York; p. 151. And to the history of King Edwy; p. 166. And as to that king's death; p. 167. And as to the life and acts of St. Ethelwold, Bishop of Winchester; p. 181. And as to King Edgar's conversation with Kenneth, King of Scots; p. 183. And as to drinking by the peg; p. 184. And as to Edgar's amours; p. 189. And as to the death of King Edward the Martyr; p. 207. And as to the life of King Ethelred the Unready; p. 209. And as to the monkhood, death, and translation of Archbishop Elfheah, of Canterbury; p. 214. Collation of various passages in Malmesbury's History respecting New Minster; pp. xxv, xxvi.
- WILLIAM [Patten, or Parten] of Waynflete, Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 146...-1486], and Lord Chancellor, sent Bonville, Abbot of Hyde, to govern Bosgrove Priory, in Sussex, and entrusted the government of Hyde to Wirscetur, the prior; p. lx. Confirmed the election of Thomas Forte, as Abbot of Hyde; p. lxi. Extracts from his episcopal registers; pp. lix, lxi.
- WILLIAM of Wykeham, Bishop of Winchester. See Wykeham.
- WILLIAM of Worcester, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1263-1282]; p. liiii.
- WILLIAM of Odiham, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1317-1319]; p. liv.
- WILLS of King Alfred, in Anglo-Saxon; pp. 52, 62; in Middle English; pp. 54, 67; in Latin; pp. 57, 71; translated from the Saxon into English; pp. 327, 329. Of King Edred, in Anglo-Saxon; p. 153; in Middle English; p. 155; in Latin; p. 158; translated from the Saxon into English; p. 346. Of Elf-sige, a bishop, in Anglo-Saxon; p. 133; in Middle English; p. 134; in Latin; p. 135; translated from the Saxon into English; p. 343. Of Ethelwold, in Anglo-Saxon; p. 236; in Middle English; p. 237; in Latin; ib.; translated from the Saxon into English; p. 357. Of Ethelmer, alderman or governor of Hampshire, in Anglo-Saxon; p. 254; in Middle English; p. 255; in Latin; p. 257; translated from the Saxon into English; p. 363.
- WILTON, Battle of; pp. 27, 45.
- WILTON, Burial of Etheltilda, daughter of King Edward the Elder; p. 112. King Edred's bequest to the Benedictine Nunnery of; pp. 153, 346. Profession there of St. Edith, daughter of King Edgar; p. 185. Cnut's visit to Wilton; his incredulity as to her sanctity, and its rebuke; ib. Dunstan's visit thither; ib. Restoration of, by King Edgar; p. 179. Ethelmer's bequest to it; pp. 254, 363.
- WILTSHIRE; pp. 13, 47, 154, 347.
- WINCHESTER is made an episcopal see; p. 13. King Egbert convenes a council there; p. 21. Archbishop Plegmund consecrates a bishop to the see of; p. 111. Edburga, or Ethelburga, daughter of King Edmund the Elder, is buried at; p. 113. King Ethelstan convenes a council at; p. 119. Sieges of, by the Danes; pp. 119, 215. Combat there between Guy of Warwick and Colbrand; p. 120. King Edgar holds councils there; pp. 180, 206. St. Ethelwold's administration of the see of; p. 182. Elfheah succeeds Ethelwold in the see of; p. 214. King Edred's bequests to the see of; pp. 154, 346. Ethelmer's bequest to the guild of mass priests at; p. 254. And

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More informationWINCHESTER—cont.

to the guild of deacons; ib. Quotations from the Historia Major Wintoniensis; pp. xxiv, xxvi, xxxix, xli. Conflicting statements of Winchester historians respecting the foundation and building of the New Minster, noticed; p. xxv. Palace built by William the Conqueror at; pp. xl, xli. Dues paid to New Minster by certain inhabitants of; p. cviii. Rotuli Curie Civitatis Wintonia, quoted; p. lix. Erection there of a Bridewell, on the site of King Alfred's tomb; p. lxxv. Burial there of King William the Red; pp. 283, 303. King Henry the First proceeds with an army towards Winchester, on the invasion of Robert, Duke of Normandy; p. 305.

WINCHESTER, Friaries at; p. lxxxii.

WINCHESTER, New Minster of. See Hyde, Abbey of.

WINCHESTER, Saint Swithun's, or Cathedral Monastery of. Neglect by the monks of Saint Swithun's of their devotions at his tomb, and its rebuke; p. 23. Votive gift by Guy, Earl of Warwick, of Colbrand's axe to the high altar of St. Swithun's church; p. 121. Bishop Elfsgie's bequests to the monastery; p. 133. King Edred's gifts and bequests thereto; pp. 151, 154, 346. Its golden altar repaired by Bishop Henry of Blois; p. 151. Burial of King Edred at; p. 152. The monastery restored and endowed by King Edgar; p. 179. The secular canons replaced by Benedictine monks from Abingdon; pp. 179, 182. Approval of the replacement by Pope John XIII.; ib. Disturbances excited by the ejected canons, and their results; ib. Byrhtnoth made abbot; p. 182. Ethelmer's bequests to the monastery; p. 254. Inconveniences which arose from the too great proximity of the two monasteries of Winchester; p. xlii. Terms of the arrangement, and exchange of lands between the two communities, in order to the erection of a new monastery for the monks of St. Peter; p. xliii. Hugh, a monk of Saint Swithun, becomes Abbot of New Minster; ib. Dissension between the monks of Saint Swithun and William Giffard, their bishop, and its curious expression; p. xlvi. Attempt of Bishop Henry of Blois to make his see archiepiscopal; p. l. Interference of St. Bernard with that project; ib.

WINCHESTER, Saint Swithun's—cont.

WINCHESTER, Saint Mary's Monastery at, otherwise called Nun Minster. Foundation of the Nun Minster by King Alfred and by Ethelswyth; pp. 61, 83. Edulf's gift to it; pp. 165, 350. And bequests of King Edred; pp. 154, 346; and of Ethelmer; pp. 254, 364.

WINCHESTER, Saint Mary's College at, Acquisition by the College of the Hyde Abbey manors of Woodmancote, in Hampshire, and of Piddletrenthide, in Dorsetshire, in exchange for manors and churches taken from it by King Henry the Eighth; p. lxxxii. Narrow escape of the College from further spoliation by Henry's death; p. lxxxii. Queen Elizabeth's attempts in a like direction; p. lxxxiii. Muniments of the College quoted, or referred to; Introduction, passim; pp. 85, 90, 92, 95, 147, 324.

WINTERBOURNE MONKTON, in Wiltshire, is granted by King Edgar to the New Minster; pp. 203, xxxi. Boundaries of the manor so granted; p. 204. Translation of the boundaries; p. 352. Domesday survey of that manor; p. cx.

WINTERSHULL, John, was appointed seneschal of Hyde Abbey; p. lxxii. Had an annuity out of the revenues of the dissolved abbey; ib.

WIRSCETUR, Thomas, Abbot of Hyde [A.D. 1472-1479], was appointed, whilst holding the office of prior, to govern the abbey, in the absence of Abbot Bonvile; p. lxi. Succeeded to the abbacy on Bonvile's death; ib.

WODELOCK, Henry de, Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 1305-1316], issued an epi-

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- WODELOCK, Henry de,—cont.
 scopal letter asking the contributions of the people towards completing the restoration of Hyde Abbey; p. li.
- WODEN, Genealogy of; p. 28.
- WOHNILF, a priest, witnesses a charter of King Edward I, in A.D. 904; p. 104.
- WOLSEY, Thomas, Bishop of Tournay [A.D. 1513-152...], of Lincoln [A.D. 1515], of Durham [A.D. 1523-1530], and of Winchester [A.D. 1529-1530]; Archbishop of York [1514-1530], and Cardinal, confirmed the election, to the abbacy of Hyde, of John Salcot, last abbot; p. lxiii. Extract from his episcopal register; p. lxiv.
- WOODMANCOTE, in Hampshire, belonged to New Minster; p. c. Was held of the abbey by Alsi, son of Brixi; ib. Was leased by Salcot to Richard Bethell, and accounted for by him in the Court of Augmentations; p. lxxxii. Was granted to Winchester College by King Henry VIII, as compensation for college lands seized by him; ib.
- WORTHY, in Hampshire; pp. 96, 103. Dispute respecting the advowson of the church of noticed; p. lxii. See also ABBOTS WORTHY and HYDEBOURNE WORTHY.
- WORTING, in Hampshire. Domesday survey of the Hyde manor of; p. ci.
- WRIOTHESLEY, Thomas, first Earl of Southampton, and Lord Chancellor, Parentage and rise of; p. lxx. Was appointed joint seneschal of Hyde Abbey by Salcot; p. lxxii. And visitor of the abbey by Thomas Cromwell; ib. His report; ib. Obtained a grant of the manors of Micheldever and Stratton; p. lxxiii; and an annuity; ib.
- WRIOTHESLEY, Henry, third Earl of Southampton, had a suit in Chancery respecting the Hyde manor of Micheldever; p. lxxiii. Forfeited that manor on his attainder, but recovered it under James I; ib.
- WRIOTHESLEY, Thomas, Earl of Southampton and of Chichester, left the Hyde manors of Micheldever and Stratton to his co-heiresses; p. lxxiv.
- WRIOTHESLEY, Rachel, Lady Russell, acquired the manor of Stratton; p. lxxiv.
- WULFA BETESLAU (Ulveva Beteslau) held of the abbot and convent of New Minster the manor of Laverstoke; p. civ.
- WULFBOLD. Recital of the crimes and forfeitures of Wulfbold, a Kentish rebel in the reign of King Ethelred the Unready; pp. 243, 252, 359. Boundaries of the forfeited lands in Kent; p. 246. Translation of the boundaries; p. 361.
- WULFBOLD, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 921; p. 110.
- WULFGAR, an alderman or duke, witnesses charters of King Edmund the Elder in A.D. 940, and of King Edred in A.D. 947; pp. 144, 164.
- WULFGAR, Bishop of Ramsbury [A.D. 981-985?], witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 983; p. 230.
- WULFGAR, an abbot, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 995 [?]; p. 253.
- WULFGAR (Wulgar, Ulgar), an officer, witnesses charters of various kings in the years 921, 932, 940, 957, and 959; pp. 110, 131, 144, 149, 173, 178.
- WULFGEAT, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 995 [?]; p. 253.
- WULFHHERE, King of Mercia, adopts Ethelwold, King of the South Saxons, on his admission to Christian baptism; p. 7.
- WULFHHERE (Wulfere), an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 904; p. 105.
- WULFHHERE, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edwy, in A.D. 959, p. 178.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

GENERAL INDEX.

467

- WULFHEAH (Ulfeah), an officer, witnesses charters of King Edwy in A.D. 959, and of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 987 and 995 [?]; pp. 178, 236, 253. Is present at a council in London; p. 245.
- WULFHELM, successively Bishop of Wells [A.D. 914-923], and Archbishop of Canterbury [A.D. 923-942], witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 921; p. 109; and of King Ethelstan, in A.D. 932; p. 129; and of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 940; p. 143.
- WULFHELM II., Bishop of Wells [A.D. 938-955], Bequests to, by King Edred; p. 154. Witnesses charters of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 940 and 945; pp. 144, 146.
- WULFHELM, an officer, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 900 and 904; pp. 97, 105; and in A.D. 921; p. 111. And a charter of King Ethelstan, in A.D. 932; p. 131. And a charter of King Ethelstan (undated); p. 148. And of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 940; p. 144.
- WULFHELM witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 901; p. 97.
- WULFHUN, Bishop of Selsey [A.D. 931-940?]. Witnesses a charter of King Ethelstan, in A.D. 932; p. 130.
- WULFHUN, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Edgar, in A.D. 966; p. 323.
- WULFHUN (Wlune), a knight, witnesses a charter of King Edgar, in A.D. 966; p. 205.
- WULFHUN, an officer of King Edward the Elder, witnesses a charter of that king in A.D. 904; p. 105.
- WULFMER, of Barton in Hampshire, has from the abbot and convent of New Minster a lease of land for two lives; pp. 259, 365.
- WULFMER, an officer (Wulfmahi), witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 921, and of King Edwy, in A.D. 959; pp. 110, 178.
- WULFNOTH witnesses charters of King Ethelstan; pp. 131, 150.
- WULFRED, a priest, witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 901; pp. 101, 116.
- WULFRED, a deacon, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 904; p. 105.
- WULFRED witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder and of Ethelstan; pp. 97, 149.
- WULFRIC, Abbot of New Minster [A.D. 1069-1072], was deposed from his office by Archbishop Lanfranc; p. xli.
- WULFRIC, an officer, witnessed charters of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 900, in A.D. 904, and in A.D. 921; pp. 97, 105, 110.
- WULFRIC, son of Wulfrun, is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- WULFRIC, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 940; p. 144; and a charter of King Edred, in A.D. 947; p. 165; and charters of King Edwy, in A.D. 957 and 959; pp. 173, 178.
- WULFRIC, an officer, witnesses charters of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 983, 988, and 995 (?); pp. 231, 242, 253.
- WULFRIC (Ulfric) CUFING, had lands bequeathed to him by Elfsige, a bishop; p. 134.
- WULFRIC (Ulfric), of Wickham, had lands bequeathed to him by Elfsige, a bishop; p. 134.
- WULFSIGE (Wulfsy), Bishop of London [A.D. 898-910?], witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder in A.D. 900 and 904; pp. 97, 104.
- WULFSIGE I., Bishop of Sherborne [A.D. 943-958], witnesses charters of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 945; p. 146; and of King Edred, in A.D. 947; p. 164.
- WULFSIGE, an abbot (Wulfsy, Ulsige, Wulfus, Wulsius), witnesses a charter of King Ethelred; p. 253. Is present at a council in London; p. 245. Falls at the battle of Assingdon; p. 263.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-04869-9 - Liber Monasterii de Hyda: Comprising a Chronicle of the Affairs of England, from the Settlement of the Saxons to the Reign of King Cnut; and a Chartulary of the Abbey of Hyde, in Hampshire. A.D. 455-1023

Edited by Edward Edwards

Index

More information

- WULFSIGE, an alderman or duke, witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready; p. 236.
- WULFSIGE witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, A.D. 900 and 921; pp. 97, 110.
- WULFSIGE, an officer, witnesses charters of King Ethelstan and of King Edmund the Elder; pp. 131, 144, 150.
- WULFSIGE, an officer, witnesses charters of King Ethelred the Unready; pp. 228, 231, 242.
- WULFSTAN I., Archbishop of York, witnesses a charter of King Edward the Elder, in A.D. 921; p. 109; and of King Ethelstan, in A.D. 932; p. 129; and of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 945; p. 146. Is imprisoned by King Edred, and fined; p. 151.
- WULFSTAN II., Archbishop of York and Bishop of Worcester [A.D. 1003-1023], witnesses a charter of King Cnut, in A.D. 1019; p. 326. Death of; p. 267.
- WULFSTAN II., Bishop of London [A.D. 995-1003?], witnesses a charter of King Ethelred the Unready, in A.D. 995 (?); p. 252.
- WULFSTAN witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, of King Ethelstan, and of King Edgar; pp. 97, 105, 148, 202.
- WULFSTAN, a knight, witnesses charters of King Edgar, in A.D. 966; pp. 205, 323.
- WULFWIN (Wulwyn), a knight, witnesses charters of King Edgar, in A.D. 966; pp. 205, 323.
- WULLAF, an officer, witnesses a charter of King Edmund the Elder, in A.D. 940; p. 144.
- WULSEGAR is present at a council held in London; p. 245.
- WURED, an officer, witnesses King Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.
- WYR, Genealogy of; p. 28.
- WYKEHAM, William de, or William of Wykeham, Bishop of Winchester [A.D. 1366-1404], wrote to the Abbot of Hyde, respecting the alleged misappropriation of the revenues of certain chapelries; p. lvii. Bequests of, to the Abbot and monks of Hyde; p. lix. Extracts from the Episcopal Register of; pp. lvii, lviii.
- WYLFERD. See Wilfred.
- WYLSTRIDA. See Elfhryth.
- WYNSIGE (Winsy), Bishop of Lichfield [A.D. 964-973], witnesses a charter of King Edgar, in A.D. 966; p. 202.
- WYNSIGE witnesses charters of King Edward the Elder, and of King Ethelstan; pp. 97, 149.
- WYTHBURGA, daughter of Anna, King of the East Angles; p. 11.

Y.

- YORK, City of, was built by Ebrancus; p. 29. Archiepiscopal see of; pp. 14, 17, 188, 279, 292. Dispute between the monks of Canterbury and those of York, concerning the bones of St. Wilfred; p. 187. Conflicts of King Harold II. at York with his brother Tostig, and Harold, King of Norway; p. 291, 292. Siege of the city; p. 292. Harold's departure from York on the invasion of the Normans; p. 293.
- YRIC (Hyricius, Irmo), Alderman or Earl of Northumbria, is entrusted by King Cnut with the government of Northumbria; p. 265. Witnesses Cnut's charter of A.D. 1019; p. 326.

LONDON:

Printed by GEORGE E. FYRE and WILLIAM SPOTTISWOODE,
Printers to the Queen's most Excellent Majesty.

For Her Majesty's Stationery Office.

[497.—750.—7/66.]