

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-05403-4 - Narrative of Services in the Liberation of Chili, Peru, and Brazil,
from Spanish and Portuguese Domination: Volume 1

Thomas Cochrane

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS.

	PAGE
PREFACE, . . . . .	xi

CHAPTER I.

Invitation to take command of Chilian Navy—Arrival at Valparaiso—First expedition to Peru—Attack on Spanish shipping at Callao—Departure for Huacho—Capture of Spanish convoys of money—Paita taken—Return to Valparaiso to reorganise the squadron—Offer to give up my share of prize money to the Republic—This offer declined by the Supreme Director—Popular congratulations—Attempt on Lady Cochrane's life, . . . . .	1
-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---

CHAPTER II.

Second expedition to Peru—Disappointment at not being provided with troops—Failure of rockets—Departure for Arica—Capture of Pisco—Capture of Spanish ships at Puna—Determine to make an attempt on Valdivia—Arrival off that port, and capture of Spanish brig of war Potrillo —Troops obtained from Conception—Flag-ship nearly wrecked—Attack on forts, and conquest of Valdivia, . . . . .	23
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

CHAPTER III.

Departure for Chiloe—Preparations of the enemy—Capture of Fort Corona—Failure at Fort Aguy, and subsequent
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--

VOL. I.

a

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-05403-4 - Narrative of Services in the Liberation of Chili, Peru, and Brazil,
from Spanish and Portuguese Domination: Volume 1

Thomas Cochrane

Table of Contents

More information

vi

CONTENTS.

	PAGE
retreat—Return to Valdivia—Capture of Osorio— Return to Valparaiso—Enthusiastic reception—Chagrin of the ministry—Importance of conquest of Valdivia in a political point of view—Promotion of officers under arrest—Employment of Indians by the Spaniards— Career of Benavides—Mutinous spirit of the seamen in consequence of their captures being appropriated by Government—Resignation of my commission—Refusal thereof—Renewed offer of an estate—This again declined —Seamen obtain their wages—Private purchase of an estate—Government gives notice of taking it—Appoint- ment of flag captain against my wishes—Annoyance given to me by Minister of Marine—Renewed resigna- tion of the command—Officers of the squadron resign in a body—Government begs of me to retain the command —My consent—General San Martin—The Senate— Zenteno—Corruption of parties in the Administration, .	48

CHAPTER IV.

Obstacles to equipping the squadron—Sailing of the liberating expedition—Debarcation at Pisco—Long inaction of the army—General San Martin removes to Ancon— Capture of the Esmeralda —Exchange of prisoners— Acknowledgment of the service by General San Martin —Lady Cochrane's visit to Mendoza, . . . . .	76
--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

CHAPTER V

San Martin's violation of truth—Removal of blockade— Spanish depression—Troops dying of fever—San Martin's designs on Guayaquil—Mutinous conduct of officers—Refusal to obey orders—Deposition of Viceroy —San Martin gives me troops—Jealousy of San Martin —Attack on Arica—Capture of Tacna—Capture of Moquega—Refusal of more men—an armistice ratified— Distress of Lima—Dissatisfaction of the army—Lady Cochrane in action—Devotion of seamen, . . . . .	96
-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-05403-4 - Narrative of Services in the Liberation of Chili, Peru, and Brazil,
from Spanish and Portuguese Domination: Volume 1

Thomas Cochrane

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS.

vii

PAGE

CHAPTER VI.

- Return to Callao—Lima abandoned—Hesitation of General San Martin to occupy the City—Loss of the San Martin—Excesses of the Spaniards—Proclamation of independence—San Martin assumes autocratic power under the title of Protector—My remonstrance—His reply—Mutinous state of the squadron from neglect, . . . . 119

CHAPTER VII.

- Tampering with Chilian officers—The Archbishop of Lima—His expulsion—Negociation for surrender of the Forts—This counteracted—San Martin's bombastic Proclamations—His refusal to encounter the enemy—The Spaniards relieve Callao—Delusive proclamation—The unblushing falsehood—Spaniards carry off the treasure—Discontent of the squadron, . . . . . 138

CHAPTER VIII.

- Prolonged destitution of squadron—The men mutiny in a body—The seamen's letters—San Martin sends away the public treasure—My seizure of it—Private property restored—San Martin's accusations against me—The squadron paid wages—Attempt on the officers' fidelity—I am asked to desert from Chili—Ordered to quit on refusal—Monteagudo's letter—My reply—Justification of seizing the treasure—No other course possible, . . . 151

CHAPTER IX.

- Arrival at Guayaquil—Address to Guayaquilenos—Injurious monopolies—Ministerial folly—Departure from Guayaquil—Arrival in Mexico—Anchor at Acapulco—Mock Ambassadors—Plot against me—Return to Guayaquil—Venganza taken possession of—Agreement with Junta—General La Mar—Orders to withhold supplies—Abominable cruelty—Courtly splendour—Destruction of a division of the Army—Dissatisfaction of officers—Renewed overtures from San Martin—Their refusal by me—Warning to the Chilian Government, . . . . . 168

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-05403-4 - Narrative of Services in the Liberation of Chili, Peru, and Brazil,
from Spanish and Portuguese Domination: Volume 1

Thomas Cochrane

Table of Contents

More information

viii

CONTENTS.

PAGE

CHAPTER X.

Return to Valparaiso—Thanks of the Government—Reasons for satisfaction—Illegitimate trade—Turned to good account—Denunciation of Officers deserted—Investigation of accounts—San Martin's charges against me—My refutation—Government refuses its publication—Cruelty to Spanish prisoners—Retirement to Quintero—Political fruits of our success—Destitute condition of squadron—Infamous attempt to promote dissatisfaction therein—Object of this course—Steps taken to defeat it—Disavowed by the Minister—Sympathy of officers—Attempt to get rid of Gen. Freire—Its eventual result—Letter of the Captains . . . . .	192
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

CHAPTER XI.

Negotiations with Bolivar—Exile of Monteagudo—Complaints of the Limenos—Extravagance of the Government—Exculpation of San Martin—Effects of popular dissension—Disagreement of Bolivar and San Martin—Vote of Peruvian Congress—Extraordinary neglect of the Chilian Squadron—San Martin's arrival at Valparaiso—I demand his trial—Countenance of the Supreme Director—Squadron at length paid wages—Revolt of Conception—General Freire apprises me of it—Freire asks for my support—His letter not replied to—San Martin's influence, . . .	218
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

CHAPTER XII.

The squadron taken from me—I accept invitation from Brazil—Letter to the Supreme Director—San Martin quits Chili—His prudence—Opinion of his Aide-de Camp—Ministerial neglect—Permission to quit Chili—Letter to General Freire—For the first time made public—Letter to the Captains and Officers—To the Chilian people—To the foreign merchants—To the President of Peru—San Martin actuated by revenge—This shewn from his letters, . . . . .	238
--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-05403-4 - Narrative of Services in the Liberation of Chili, Peru, and Brazil,
from Spanish and Portuguese Domination: Volume 1

Thomas Cochrane

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS.	ix
CHAPTER XIII.	PAGE
Freire marches on Valparaiso—Elected Supreme Director— He begs of me to return—My reply—Subsequent letter to General Freire, . . . . .	256
CHAPTER XIV.
Injustice to the squadron—Inconsistency of this—Estate taken from me—My losses by litigation—Endeavours to enforce my claims—Petty excuses for evading them—I am charged with expenses of the Army—And with costs for making legal captures—My conduct approved at the time—Ministerial approbation—Paltry compensation at length given—Ministerial corruption—Proved by San Martin—Cause of official animosity to me—Conclusion,	271
APPENDIX, . . . . .	287

---