

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

	PAGE
About the Greek—Facts and thoughts	I

CHAPTER II.

Land at Patras—Railway to Olympia—Stay at a Greek inn: its domestic economy—Primitive ideas of Leonidos with regard to cleanliness—The Museum and the ruins—The last days of Olympia	II
--	----

CHAPTER III.

La vie sauvage —Beautiful scenery between Olympia and Andrítsæna—Pass through Krestena and Greka—White heath and red anemones—Arrive in the dark—Strange quarters—The young student—We sleep on the floor	36
--	----

CHAPTER IV.

Give up Phigaleia on account of the rain—Stony road to Bassæ—Splendid situation of the temple, and utter desolation of the spot—We go without escort—Grisly experiences—Are received by the priest's wife at Andrítsæna—Our mistakes in etiquette—Return to Olympia	58
---	----

CHAPTER V.

Our classic wash—The last of Olympia—From Patras to Athens—Sikyon—Old Corinth and its acropolis—Akro-Korinthos—Isthmian Wall and the Canal—
---	--

	PAGE
Eighteen German professors—Athens—Treasures from Mykenæ, and old tombs—Alexander's sarcophagus by Lysippos—Walk up Pentelicus and look down on Marathon	83
CHAPTER VI.
Huckleberries on the Parthenon—Mykenæ—The shaft-graves and bee-hive tombs—Argos—Nauplia—Drive to the Hieron of Epidauros; the perfect theatre—Asklepios as physician and humorist—Tiryns: its wonderful walls and galleries	108
CHAPTER VII.
Nauplia to Athens by sea—The sacrifice of lambs—Anniversary of Greek Independence—The royal family—Good Friday and Easter Eve ceremonies—Dancing at Megara—Disturbed state of the country—Brigands and soldiers fighting in Thessaly—Everyone advises us not to go there—Finally we escape from Athens	142
CHAPTER VIII.
Start for Thessaly—Experience Greek hospitality at Volo—Leave for Larissa—First view of Olympos and Ossa—The town of Larissa—A Gypsy Wedding—The poor Bride	160
CHAPTER IX.
The Vale of Tempe—A brigand scare—Cæsar's inscription and the Professor's poulet —Spring of Kryologon—The three-and-twenty murderers develop into cattle-lifters—A go-as-you-please—Green tortoises	184
CHAPTER X.
We start for the monasteries of Meteora—The classic ground of Thessaly—Synopsis of the history of the monasteries—Interviewed by the Demarch of Kalabáka; our escort—Extraordinary position of Hagia Trias; the net cannot be lowered, so we have to climb the ladders	205

CONTENTS. xi

CHAPTER XI.

	PAGE
Arrive at the Monastery of St. Stephen's—The Hegoumenos' reception, his keen sense of humour—He dines with us, entertaining us royally—Ariel turns valet, strange proceedings of everybody—The churches, beautifully carved altar-screen—The cells of the Brothers of St. Basil	240

CHAPTER XII.

Leave Kalabáka—Volo and the old cities in the neighbourhood—We are criticized by a Greek woman—Thermopylæ at sunset, and splendid view of Mount Parnassos—Khalkis, the Euripos, and Bay of Aulis—The mines of Laurion—Beautiful position of the temple on Cape Sunion—Arrive at Athens two days late, the manager of our hotel thought we had been killed	271
CONCLUSION	298