CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

INDEX.

Abyſs, its waters forced up by obſtructed ſubterraneous heat, 176
Acoſta cited, 99, 122
Action of fire, how exerted, 55
Æolian bellows, 27
Æoliæ inſulæ, 11
Ægium, an earthquake there, 16
Ægyptians had better accounts of ancient times than the Greeks, 172
Æs nubigenum, 67
Ætna, Monte Gibello, 9, 10, 27, 109, 158, 166, 181, 211, 212, 231, 235, 256
Agathius cited, 46
Agitation of the ſea, rivers, lakes, &c. in earthquakes, 7, 119, 130, 158, 163, 218, 223, 253, 263, 280. & ſeq. to the end.
Agoſta, an earthquake there, 8
Agricola cited, 31, 35
Air may produce great alterations on the ſurface of the earth, 140, & ſeq.
rarefied, an aſſigned cauſe of earthquakes, 232 generated by the kindling of all inflammable ſubſtances, ibid.
this alſo an aſſigned cauſe of earthquakes, ibid.
electrified, another aſſigned cauſe of earthquakes, 259, 260 remarkably ſerene in earthquakes, 253, 261, 262, 263
Air-quake deſcribed, 24
Aix (in France) an earthquake there, 15
Albours (near mount Taurus) a famous volcano, 214
Alexandria, (in Ægypt) an earthquake there, 17
Alone thrown down by an earthquake, 100
Alpes, 17, 128, 150, 155
Alpſley (in Bedfordſhire) a field there which perfectly turns wood into ſtone, 92
Alterations on the earth's ſurface, very great, 74 cauſes of them, 240, & ſeq.
fewer of late years than formerly, 242
Altorff, an earthquake there, 1
Alumen plumeum generated from mineral waters, 89
Ammianus Marcellinus cited, 228
Amſterdam, ſea-ſhells found in a deep well there, 71
Analogy between the electrical fluid and lightning, 251
Anaphe thrown up by an earthquake, 100
Anatolia frequently alarmed by earthquakes, 181
Anaxagoras cited, 24
Anaximenes cited, 22
Ancients, how far we are indebted to them, 47
Andes, 155, 266
Angleſea, ſubterraneous trees there, 97, 136
Angola, extinct volcano's there, 20
Angra, an earthquake there, 221
Animals terrified at the approach of an earthquake, 226
Animal ſubſtances found in moſt

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

moſt parts of the bowels of the earth, 70, 143
Antego, an earthquake there, 157
Antilles, earthquakes there, 155, & ſeq.
Antioch thrice deſtroyed by earthquakes, 219
Apennine, 17, 128, 150, 155
Apulia much infeſted with earthquakes, 220
Aquila deſtroyed by an earthquake, 223
Ararat, an extinct volcano, 217
Archilaus cited, 22
Arequepa, an earthquake there, 109, 123, and a volcano, 257
Arethuſa, its fountains ſtop'd by an earthquake, 219
d'Argenſola, cited, 215
Arietatio (or claſhing of mountains) 5, 7, 38, 125, 219
Ariſtole cited, 3, 9, 10, 12, 15, 16, 17, 18, 20, 23, 24, 160, 165 defect of his hypotheſis, 24
Artrick, an earthquake there, 5
Aſbeſtus generated from mineral waters, 89
Aſcenſion iſland, 166
an extinct volcano, 171
Aſhes ejected, 7, 11, 21, 44, 104, 109, 212, 225
Aſia minor, twelve cities deſtroyed there in one night by an earthquake, 5, 127, 219, 257
Aſphaltites lake, 32
Ασφάλιος, why an epithet of Neptune, 119
Atalanta, an iſland delug'd by an earthquake, 12
Atlantis, a vaſt large iſland ſaid to be ſunk and overwhelmed in the Atlantic ocean, 12, 120, 152, 155
Avernus lake, 36
Aurum fulminans, an experiment with it recommended, 142 compared with gun-powder, 169
St. Auſtin cited, 219
Axis of the earth, its direction may have been altered by earthquakes, 154
Azores, earthquakes there, 20 and extinct volcano's, 222

B

Balaſore, earthquakes there, 116
Balavane (in Sumatra) a volcano, 107
Barbadoes, an earthquake there, 157 agitation and overflowing of the ſea there, and fiſh thrown on ſhore, 328
Batavia, earthquakes frequent there, 140
Beni-guazeval, a ſmoking and flaming cavern, 216
Bickley (in Cheſhire) a ſinking of the ground there, 114
Bitumen abounds in the bowels of the earth, 30
Bleſken, cited, 99
Bodies repreſenting fiſh-ſhells found in moſt countries of the earth, 69, 143 others repreſenting vegetables, ibid. ibid.
others repreſenting animals, ibid. ibid.
not carried thither by mens hands, or by Noah's flood, 147, 148
how probably depoſited, 164
Bodinus cited, 22
Boethius (Hector) cited, 119
Boleſlaw,

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

Bzleſtaw, its lake emits wind at the ſurface, 234
Bologna, an earthquake there, 221, 251
Bone of prodigious bigneſs found in Norfolk, 132
Borelli cited, 235, 249
Bottoni cited, 165
Bouguer, of the volcanos and earthquakes in Peru, 193, & ſeq
Bourdeaux, an earthquake there, 17
Braſmutias, 4
Βρασμὸς, 4
Dr. Brown cited, 132
Bura overwhelm'd, 12
de Buffon cited, 249, 250, 271 his natural hiſtory of earthquakes and volcanos, 209, & ſeq.

C.

Cæſalpinus cited, 25, 52
Cæſius cited, 11, 35, 36
Calabria much infeſted with earthquakes, 220
Callao (near Lima) deſtroyed by an earthquake, 218
Camden cited, 6, 81, 97, 123, 135
Caminus Ternatenſis, 11
Campania, commotions there, 5, 13, 17
Canada, earthquakes there, 7
Carapa, a volcano there, 217
Cargaviraco, an extinct Peruvian volcano, 200
des Cartes cited, 50
Dr. Caſtle cited, 92
Catanea deſtroyed by an earthquake, 8, 261
Caucaſus, ſhell-fiſh found on its top, 93
Cavities or caverns, ſubterraneous, 25, 26, 27, 28, 60, 108, 228 full of exhalations, ſteams and inflammable vapours, 31, 60 how fires are kindled in them, 36 produced by water, 230
but oftener by fire, ibid.
Cauſes of earthquakes aſſigned, 36, & ſeq. 163, 167, & ſeq. 176, & ſeq. 185, & ſeq. 202, & ſeq 207, 208, 230, & ſeq. 241, 243, & ſeq. 259, & ſeq.
Chalcis, an earthquake there, 13, 16
Chandelieres vibrating in earthquakes, 224, 250, 307, 308, 310
Charles-town, (in America) a violent earthquake there, 8, 156
Χασματίας, 4
Chatmos, (in Lancaſhire) ſubterraneous trees there, 135
Cheſhire, ſubterraneous trees in that county, 137
Childrey cited, 97, 108, 113, 114, 117, 123, 135, 136, 137, 260
Chili, frequent earthquakes there, 100, 118
Chimboraco, an extinct Peruvian volcano, 200
St. Chriſtopher's iſland, a great earthquake there, 8, 157
Chymical explanation of ſubterraneous fires and earthquakes, 183, & ſeq.
Circulation, a continual one in nature, 130, & ſeq.
Circumſtances, or phænomena of earthquakes, 1, & ſeq. 253, & ſeq.
of the great one of Nov. 1, 1755, 280, & ſeq. to the end

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

Clay, changeable into hard ſtone, 146
Clouds, ſubterraneous, an aſſigned cauſe of earthquakes, 24
blackiſh ones ſometimes precede earthquakes, 243 electric ones, cauſe thunder, lightning and earthquakes, 259, &c.
Commotion, 1, 5
Congo, extinct volcano's there, 20
Conſiderations on the cauſes of earthquakes, 253, & ſeq.
Conſtantinople, leſs ſubject to earthquakes now than formerly, 129
Corniſh diamonds generated from mineral waters, 89 hills, abound with fiſh-ſhells, 93
Cornua Amonis, 79
Cotopaxi, an extinct Peruvian volcano deſcribed, 196
flamed out anew in 1742, and inundated the neighbourhood, 197
Cugiano, an earthquake there, 123
Cumberland, ſubterraneous trees in that county, 136
Cyprus, earthquakes there, 17

D

Darkneſs from earthquakes, and eruptions of volcano's, 21
Darlington, or Oxenhall, (in the biſhoprick of Durham) pits of hot water there, called hell-kettles, 117
Dead ſea (in Paleſtine) the production of an earthquake, 118
Deafneſs cured by an earthquake, 274
Deal caſtle violently ſhaken by an earthquake, 267
Delos exempt from earthquakes, 16
Deluge, (of Noah) probably brought about by an earthquake, 153, & ſeq.
Democritus cited, 12, 46
Devonſhire hills abound with ſhell-fiſh, 93
Dial of Earthquakes, a book ſo called, 201
Dion Caſſius cited, 213
Direction and progreſs of earthquakes, 220, 224, 227, 250 of the earth's axis may have been alter'd by earthquakes, 154
Diſtinctions or differences of earthquakes, 3, 4, 274, & ſeq.
Dizzineſs, head-ach and ſickneſs occaſioned by earthquakes, 254, 265
Drake (Sir Francis) cited, 121
Duration of earthquakes, 14, 21, 42, 316
Duſt, clouds of it ejected in earthquakes, 163, 164 more ponderous than gold, 142
—this perhaps a natural aurum fulminans, ibid.

E

Earth, (terreſtrial globe) impoſſible to be diſplac'd by earthquakes, 228 the direction of its axis may have been changed by earthquakes, 154 never univerſally affected by any earthquake, full of cavities and caverns, 25, & ſeq. 60, 109, 112, 229 its ſtrata, how probably formed, 164 altera-

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

alterations of its ſurface very great, 74, 94, 111, 118, 121, 143, 239
——but leſs of late than formerly, 242
cauſes of the alterations of its ſurface, 240, & ſeq.
abounds with pyrites
carries ſtrong ſymptoms of very old age, 173, 174 Earth converted into ſtone, 90
raiſed in earthquakes, 8, 105, 106, 109, 117, 156
ſinking, 45, 105, 106, 111, 113, 115, 116, 117, 122 removed in large quantities, 75, 123, 124 Earthquake, one which deſtroy'd twelve cities in a night, 5
one which ruined the whole iſland of Sicily, 8
phænomena of the great one of November 1, 1755, in various parts of the globe, 280, & ſeq. to the end.
Earthquakes, their diſtinctions or differences, 3, 4, 274 their cauſes, 36, 48, 49, 167, & ſeq. 176, & ſeq. 184, & ſeq. 210, 211, 212, 232, 234, & ſeq.
— conſiderations on them, 243, & ſeq. 257 their effects, 38, & ſeq. 94, & ſeq. 158, & ſeq.
—compared with thoſe of gunpowder and pulvis fulminans, 169 their phænomena, 1, & ſeq. 253, & ſeq.
their extent, 126, 158, 179, 220, 333 never univerſal, 3
may be propagated by bare contiguity to vaſt diſtances, 205
all countries liable to them, 127 happen at all times and ſeaſons, 18, 19, 44 chiefly in calm and ſerene weather, 223, 253, 261 places moſt expoſed to them, 10, 16, 43, 62, 128, 194, & ſeq. 205, 219, 220, 235 noiſes preceding or accompanying them, 8, 9, 27, 42, 48, 99, 161, 163, 220, 223, 243, 252 their viciſſitudes, 129
——nothing regular in them, 204 ſevere ones ſeldom follow quick upon one another, 19
whether they can be predicted, forerunners of them, 20
probably more frequent and powerful heretofore than of late, 152 may have alter'd the direction of the earth's axis, 154 cannot diſplace the globe, 228
as frequent under the ocean as under dry land, 120
ſhock ſhips at ſea, 225, 226, 263, 264, 283, & ſeq. to the end, why they happen ſeldom in England, 62
chymical explanation of them, 183, & ſeq.
artificial ones, 26, 46, 185
thought to produce mountains, 227
—reaſons againſt this notion, ibid. 234 produce, interrupt, deſtroy, and alter ſprings and fountains, 13, 44, 219, 221, 222, 225, 251
——this denied, 257, 258
denied to be the effects of ſub-

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

subterraneous vapour, fermentation or explosion, 255, & seq. 276 ascribed to electricity, 257 their directions and progress, 220, 224, 227, 250 their oscillations, 220, 224, 227, 250
agitate the sea, rivers, lakes, &c. 7, 119, 130, 158, 163, 218, 223, 253, 263, 280, & seq. to the end.
occasion dizziness, head-ach and sickness, 254, 265, 266
Effects of earthquakes, 12, 14, 38, 40, 94, & seq. 98, & seq. 112, 115, & seq. 156, & seq. 280, & seq to the end.
Electrical shock proportional to the magnitude of the solid electrified, 266
Electricity an assigned cause of earthquakes, 259
—objections thereto answered, 272 analogous to lightning, 251 felt by fish in the water, 265
England, why seldom visited with earthquakes, 62
Ἐνοσίγαιος } why epithets of Ἐνοσίχθων } Neptune, 12, 178
Epicurus, his notion concerning the production of earthquakes, 48
Ἐπικλύσης. 4
Eruptions, subterraneous, 74
—fiery ones, 9, & seq. 2, 9, & seq. 40, 102, 204, 216, 219, &c. 312.
—watery ones,
—smoky ones, 9, 164, 216, 224, 312
—sandy ones, 109
—stony ones, 10, 216, 224, 225
St. Euphemia sunk by an earthquake, and covered with a lake, 6, 12, 115, 220
Exhalations, fiery ones, 74 cause earthquakes, 23, & seq. 26, 41
Experiments illustrating the nature of earthquakes, 184, 185, 190, 244
—objected to, 255
Extent of earthquakes, 3, 15, 179 of the great one of the 1st of November 1755, 333

F

Fabianus cited, 134
Faber (Honoratus) cited, 22, 26
Fahlun (in Sweden) an earthquake there, 325
Falling-stars often precede earthquakes, 243
—how kindled, 248
Faro, earthquakes there, 6, 314
Fayal an earthquake there, 221
Fermentation, experiments to explain its nature, 166 of inflammable substances, the cause of their explosion, 210
from a mixture of pure and sulphureous air, 244
—this the cause of close sultry weather, 245
—and of thunder and lightning, 246
Ferrum nubigenum, 67
Fire philosophically consider'd, 54 its efficacy from an incorporeal principle, ibid.
possess'd of no really active power, 55, & seq.
subterraneous, how maintain'd, 41
—the chief assign'd cause of earthquakes, 48, 49, 207 —forcing

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

—forcing thro' the ground in earthquakes, 9, 10, 11, 29, 30, 31, 40, 102, 204, 216, 219, 223, 224, 312
—and from the bottom of the ſea, 29, 102, 104
—throws up rocks, 102, 332
—and mountains, 75, 96, 105, 147, 227
—rends mountains aſunder, 7, 21, 106, 327
—capable of raiſing a whole country at once, 150
—explained by chymical experiments, 183, & ſeq.
Fiſh thrown up in earthquakes, 116, 117, 327, 328, 330
Flamſteed cited, 262, 263, 265
Flanderkin iſlands, extinct volcano's there, 11
Flatuſes precede and accompany earthquakes, 12, 13
Fluids tranſmuted into ſolids, 89
Foſſiles, figured ones, the very bodies they repreſent, or the impreſſions of them, 76, 80, 143
all ſulphureous ones contain, iron, 61
Fountains produc'd, alter'd, interrupted and deſtroy'd by earthquakes, 13, 44, 219, 221, 222, 225, 251, 305, 313, 318, 327
—this contradicted, 254, 257, 269
Fuego (one of the Cape de Verd iſlands) a huge mountain inceſſantly burning, 167, 216
Fumes, ſulphureous, deſtroy elaſtic air, 246, 247
Furnerius cited, 6, 12, 13

G

Γαιήοχος, why an epithet of Neptune, 178
Gammacnorra, a high mountain burſt and diſperſed by an earthquake, 7
Garcæus cited, 5, 17, 20
Garcelaſſo de la Vega cited, 109
Gaſſendus cited, 4, 6, 12, 14, 15, 16, 33, 50
Gellius cited, 12, 22
Genoa, an earthquake there, 224
Le Gentil cited, 226
Giants of the old poets ſignificant of volcano's, 149
Dr. Gilbert cited, 66
Gimelli Carreri cited, 223
Glaſs windows ſaid to have been electrified by the exploſion of cannon, 251
Gonnapi, a volcano, 11, 21, 107, 216
Goodwin-lands, ſunk and overwhelm'd by an earthquake, 119
Grotta di cani (near Naples) 36
Guatimala an earthquake there, 123
Gulph formed by an earthquake, 224
Gun-powder firſt hinted the true cauſe of earthquakes, 37, 49, &c.
its prodigious force, ibid.
its materials analogous to thoſe which produce earthquakes, 167 its phænomena compared with thoſe of thunder and lightning, 168
—and with thoſe of pulvis and aurum fulminans, 169

H

Dr. Hales cited, 261, 262, 266
his conſiderations on the cauſes of earthquakes, 243, & ſeq
his conſiderations on the cauſes of earthquakes, 243, & ſeq.
Hall, an earthquake there, 1, 15
Hartingfordbury, an earthquake there, 262

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

Heat, ſubterranean obſtructed, an aſſigned cauſe of earthquakes, 176, & ſeq. of mineral ſprings accounted for, 187
Hecla, a volcano, 9, 10, 64, 107, 167, 211, 212, 256
St. Helena iſland, 107
Helice overwhelmed, 12
Herbs petrified, 86
Herculaneum, Heraclea, partly thrown down, and partly overwhelmed, 16, 17 examination of its lava recommended to the curious, 213
Hermitage (in Dorſetſhire) three acres of ground removed to the diſtance of forty perches there, 124
Hiera, an iſland thrown up by an earthquake, 100
Hiſtorians, natural, deficient in their accounts of earthquakes, 120, 146, 150
Holland, ſubterraneous trees there, 136
Holm (in Norfolk) cockles and periwinkles there, 197
Dr. Hooke, his diſcourſes on earthquakes, 68, & ſeq. of the effects of earthquakes, 94, & ſeq. of earthquakes in the Leeward Iſlands, 154, & ſeq.
Hurricanes accounted for, 188, 247
Hypotheſes for ſolving the phænomena of earthquakes, 22 & ſeq.

I

Jamaica, an earthquake there, 251
Japan abounds with volcano's, 215
Java, a burning mountain broke out there, 11 a mountain riven aſunder there, 106
Iceland, Iſland, abounds with ſulphur, 212 earthquakes there, 99, 109
Ignes fatui accounted for, 187 often precede earthquakes, 243
Ignition from bare fermentation, 32
Inclinatio, 4, 5
Inclinator, 4
Inſpruck, an earthquake there, 1
Inundations from earthquakes, 6, 11, 118, 280, &c. to the end. from volcano's, 197, 200
Johnſton cited, 6
Journal des Sçavans cited, 7
Iron always connected with ſulphur, 61 rained down, 66
Iſaiah cited, 175
Iſlands and ſea-coaſts why moſt ſubject to earthquakes, 165, &c. thrown up by earthquakes, 13, 14, 40, 94, 95, 100, 103, 105, 118, 120, 162 —leave an abyſs or hollow below, 120
Italy vexed with earthquakes, 62, 137, 223
Juices petrifying, 73, 79, 81, 86, 87, 139

K

Kircher cited, 6, 9, 11, 12, 14, 17, 18, 26, 27, 33, 36, 43, 44, 46, 49, 86, 88, 101, 103, 115, 118
Kempten, an earthquake there, 15
Kings (city of, in the weſt Indies) an earthquake there, 119

L

Labes, 4

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

Lakes produced or deſtroyed by earthquakes, 6, 12, 39, 100, 106, 113, 116, & ſeq.
Latacunga (in Peru) an earthquake there, 200, 201
Layers of earth, how probably formed, 164
Leeward-Iſlands, earthquakes there, 154, & ſeq.
—probably from a ſubterraneous ignition, like that of gun-powder, 163
Lemery, his phyſico-chymical explanation of ſubterraneous fires, earthquakes, &c. 183, & ſeq.
Lightning magnetic, 67 and thunder owe their matter to the breath of the pyrites, 57, 60, 67
—to ſulphur, 183
before an earthquake, 243
cauſed by electricity, 259, & ſeq.
Lignum foſſile, 69, 137
lodged under ground by earthquakes, 137
Lima, two earthquakes there, 6, 19, 203, 218
Lipparæ inſulæ, 11, 27, 162, 166
Lincolnſhire, an earthquake in that county, 261
Lindau, an earthquake there,
Linſchoten cited, 98, 108, 115, 119, 122
Liſbon, earthquakes there, 257, & ſeq.
Dr. Liſter on the nature of earthquakes, 68, & ſeq.
London, earthquakes there, 243, 250, 252, 262
Low-countries, an earthquake there, 5
Lucretius cited, 43
Lucrine lake greatly diminiſh'd, 95 made a marſh by an earthquake, 225
Luſus naturæ a mere whim, 72, 145
Lybia, 100 towns overthrown by an earthquake, 219

Machian iſland, a mountain there rent aſunder by an earthquake, 223
Magellanic ſtraits, the ſea very deep there, 121
and alſo very ſhallow, 122
Malaballo, (in Peru) a volcano, 217
Man iſland, ſubterraneous trees there, 136
Mandelſo cited, 221
Manilla, a mountain levelled by an earthquake there, 222
Marcellinus cited, 4, 5, 9
Marcley hill (in Herefordſhire) travell'd three days together, 123
Maritime places, moſt ſubject to earthquakes, 16, 165, & ſeq. 201, 255
St. Martha iſland, 167
Martinico iſland, an earthquake there, 157
Martinius cited, 26
Maſcarænos iſland, frequent earthquakes there, 162, 167
Mauritian iſlands, earthquakes, volcano's, and fiery eruptions there, 11, 215
Memmingen, an earthquake there, 1
Meteors, fiery ones, frequent forerunners of earthquakes, 20, 243
luminous, ſolved by the doctrine of electricity, 259
Meterranus cited, 5
St. Michael iſland, earthquakes there, 221, 222
Minerals, figured ones generated out of mineral waters, 74, 83, 89

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

Miſnia, a mountain of coal ſmoking there, 31
Molucca iſlands, earthquakes there, 7
Monte di cinere, formed by an earthquake, 225, 227
Monte, or Montagna di Somma, a volcano, 10
Monte Gibello, ſee Ætna.

Montſerrat iſland, an earthquake there, 157
Moon may have a ſhare in the production of earthquakes, 209, & ſeq.
Mottingham (in Kent) a ſinking of the ground there, 113
Mountainous places very liable to earthquakes, 16, 43, 128, 180, 254
Mountains, by ſome thought to be the mere effect of ſubterraneous fires,
—this opinion controverted, ibidem.
the work of ſea waters, 229 were probably once under water, 75, 148, & ſeq. 222
the effect of earthquakes, 75, 149, 150, & ſeq. 162 ſwallowed up in earthquakes, 118
overſet by earthquakes, 222
rent aſunder by earthquakes, 7, 21, 106, 223, 327 turned into plains, 74
new ones, 96, 105, 227
ſunk in a hollow, 9
removed to conſiderable diſtances, 7, 123 ſend forth fiery eruptions in earthquakes, 223, 312
claſhing together, 7, 219
animal and vegetable ſubſtances found on their tops, 79, 93
Mycematiæ, 9
Μυκητίαι σεισμοὶ, 9
Mummies, natural ones found upon a removal of the ſands in Norfolk, 140

N

Naples, an earthquake there, 8, 16
all its churches and palaces thrown down by an earthquake, 220
ſituated on a hollow bed of roaſted minerals, 214 Natural hiſtory, deficient in accounts of earthquakes, eſpecially of the more ancient ones, 120, 146, 150 of earthquakes and volcanos, 209, & ſeq.
Nature, her way of acting in impreſſing forms upon things, 143, 145
is always changing the ſtate of things, 170
Neptune, Greek epithets of him, 12, 178, 179
Nicomedia, an earthquake there, 5
Nile, but four of its ſeven mouths remaining, 110
Nitre, abounds in the bowels of the earth, 110
Noiſes preceding or accompanying earthquakes, 8, 9, 27, 42, 48, 60, 99, 161, 163, 220, 223, 243, 252, 305, 312, 319, 329 how accounted for, 233, 243, 252
ſometimes without any ſenſible commotion, 223
perhaps from an agitation of the electric fluid, 251
——from an electrical exploſion, 260 in volcano's, 9, 207, 223

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

Norcia, an earthquake there, 223
Nordlingen, an earthquake there, 7
Northampton, an earthquake there, 261
Nuceria, an earthquake there, 16

O

Oakie hole, (in Somerſetſhire) 60
Olearius cited, 93
Opening of the earth, 156, 161, 220, 223, 224, 326
Ores and minerals, their intermixtures the work of earthquakes, 112 their natural ſeat probably deep in the earth, 241
Ormus, its ſoil abounding in ſalt, 30
Overflowing of the ſea, an effect of earthquakes, 95
Ovid cited, 68, 149
Oxford, an earthquake there, 265
Ox's eye, a meteor ſo called, 247
Oyſter-ſhells, on mount Caucaſus and Banſtead downs, 93

P

Panama undermined by the ſea, 45
often inundated by earthquakes, 46
Paphos, an earthquake there, 17
Paris, an earthquake there, 5
St. Paul cited, 175
Peſaro, an earthquake there, 6
Pembrokeſhire, ſubterraneous trees in that county, 136
Peru, frequent earthquakes there, 17, 193, & ſeq. 217 and volcanos, 193, 217
no foſſile ſhells found there, 194
—the reaſon of this, 237
its whole ſoil the produce of fire, 194
Peſaro, an earthquake there, 6
Petra Mala, eruptions of fire there, 29
Petrification, a ſymptom of old age, 173
the principle of figured ſtones, 80
Petrifying ſubſtance or liquid, 73, 79, 81, 86, 87, 139, 161, 165 Phænomena of earthquakes, 1, & ſeq. 36, & ſeq. 253, & ſeq.
of the great one of Nov. 1, 1755, in various parts of the globe, 280, & ſeq.
Phaeton, his hiſtory ſignificant of ſome ancient great earthquake, Philoſophy of earthquakes, 253, & ſeq.
Pic in the Moluccas ſwallowed up by an earthquake, of Teneriffe, an extinct volcano, 171
Places moſt expoſed to earthquakes, 10, 16, 43, 62, 128 194, & ſeq.
Plains turned into mountains, 74
Plana (in Bohemia) grotto's there, 36
Plants petrified, 86
Plaſtic principle in figur'd foſſils, a mere whim, 72, 76, 143, 145, 146
Plato cited, 3, 13, 120
Pliny (the elder) cited, 4, 5, 9, 12, 14, 16, 17, 18, 20, 89, 90, 95, 100, 118, 125, 219
Pluto's den, 226
Poles of the earth may have been alter'd by earthquakes, 154

Pompeij

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

Pompeij deſtroy'd by an earthquake, 15, 17, 19
Pool's hole, 60
Popocatepac, a Mexican volcano, 217
Pepochampeche, a Mexican volcano, 217
Portland iſland, prodigious large ſnake-ſtones there, 153
Port-royal (in Jamaica) an earthquake there, 261
Poſitions concerning earthquakes, 253, & ſeq.
Poſſidonius cited, 218
Powder heavier than gold, 142
Dr. Power cited, 64
Praya, an earthquake there, 221
Preſervation of ſubterraneous trees, &c. to what owing, 138, & ſeq.
Prochyta, an iſland forced up by an earthquake, 118
Pugnalic, an extinct Peruvian volcano, 200
Pulvis fulminans, its effects compared with thoſe of gunpowder, 169
Pumice ſtones ejected, 104
Puzzoli, fiery eruptions there, 29
Pyreneans, earthquakes there, 17, 128, 150
Pyrites, its breath in a manner totally ſulphur, 59, 245
—the aſſigned cauſe of thunder, lightning and earthquakes, ibid, & ſeq. 60
the fuel of volcano's, 65 may fire ſpontaneouſly, 63
ferments with moiſture, 210, 232
how formed, 238

Q

Querimondam (in Braſil) an extinct volcano there, 20

R

Raguſa, an earthquake there, 220
Rain may contribute to earthquakes, 206 may help to diminiſh mountains, fill up valleys, and wear away the ſea-coaſt, 241
Ratiſbon, an earthquake there, 1
Ravines in Peru, deſcribed, 193
Ray cited, 220, 225, 227
his ſummary of the cauſe of the alterations on the earth's ſurface, 240, & ſeq.
Receding of the ſea, an effect of earthquakes, 95
Regeneration of metals and minerals, 35
Reggio, an earthquake there, 8
Reſervoirs of ſubterraneous waters, 28, 39
Ῥήκτης, 4
Rhodes thrown up by an earthquake, 100
Ricaut (Sir Paul) cited,
Rimini, an earthquake there, 6
Rivers, deſtroyed by earthquakes, 13, 100, 110, 125 agitated by earthquakes, 13, 100, 110, 125, 280, & ſeq. to the end.
Rocks, thrown up by ſubterraneous fires, 102, 332
rent aſunder, 102, 161, 313, 318, 319
Rodunda, a rocky iſland cleft aſunder by an earthquake, 158, 163
Rome, an earthquake there, 223
Ruina, 4, 5

S

Salts regularly figured, 84
Sand thrown up in earthquakes,

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

quakes, 109, 305
tranſparent, once water, 83, 85
Sandys cited, 96, 97
Sangai, a bellowing Peruvian volcano, 206
Santorini iſland, made by an earthquake, 227 an earthquake there, 20, 114
eruptions of fire there, 29
Schottus cited, 5, 28, 32, 48
Schouten cited, 215, 225
Scotland, ſeveral parts of it ſunk by earthquakes, 119
a town ſwallowed up by an earthquake there, 117
foſſile wood found in divers parts of it, 69
Sea bears no greater proportion to the land now, than formerly, 240 may heretofore have cover'd moſt inland places, 75 its fluctuation and commotion continually exciting winds in the bowels of the earth, 28, 29, 43 contributes to the production of earthquakes, 44, 206
a great cauſe of the alterations on the earth's ſurface, 240, & ſeq.
its bottom raiſed, and iſlands formed out of it by earthquakes, 100, 101, 103, 105 turned into land by earthquakes, 129 landed up and tranſlated by ſubterraneous fires, ibid.
greatly agitated, overflowing its banks and receding from its ſhores in earthquakes, 7, 13, 14, 40, 94, 96, 100, 119, 130, 156, 158, 159, 163, 218, 222, 224, 283, & ſeq. to the end.
Sea-coaſts, why liable to earthquakes, 17, 163, & ſeq. 268
Sea-ſhores worn away by waves, 45, 78
—and partly by rains, 241
Sea water productive of ſubterraneous fermentations, 165
Σεισίχθων, why an epithet of Neptune, 12, 128
Self-opens in mines, what, 60
Seneca cited, 2, 3, 5, 10, 12, 13, 15, 16, 17, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 36, 45, 47, 48, 100, 126, 134
Dr. Shaw cited, 225
Ships at ſea violently toſs'd and jerk'd in earthquakes, 98, 130, 158, 163, 225, 226, 253, 263, 264, 276, 284, 288, 289, 298, 307, 309, 310, 317, 321, 322, 326, 331, 332, 333 buried under ground, and how, 164 Shells of fiſhes, bodies reſembling them found in moſt countries of the world, 68, 69, 143 are the very things they repreſent, or their impreſſions, 76, 80, 140 not carried thither by men's hands, or Noah's flood, 147, how probably depoſited, remote from the ſea, 164 inland places where they are found, may have been once covered by the ſea, 75
no foſſile ſhells to be found in Peru, 194
—and why, 237

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

Sicily, a great earthquake there, 261
Sidon, an earthquake there, 17, 218
Sinigaglia, an earthquake there, 7
Sinking of the earth, and bottom of the ſea an effect of earthquakes, 44, 45, 94, 105, 106, 111, 113, 115, &c. ſeq.
Smoke, aſcending through chaſms, 9, 224
Smoky eruptions, 21, 163, 216, 312
Smyrna, earthquakes there, 130, 220, 251
Soil, ſandy and loamy, often viſited with earthquakes, 43
Solfatara, or Sulfero hill, 10, 11, 214
Sophocles cited, 149
Sorca iſland, covered by the lava of a volcano, 215
Sparry incruſtations, 81, 82, 86
Species of many things may have been wholly loſt and annihilated, 152
—and new ones generated, 153
Specus Coricianus, 26
Speed cited, 81
Σφῦγμος, 4
Spirituous bodies, their force when rarefied, 34
Springs produc'd, altered, interrupted and deſtroy'd by earthquakes, 12, 13, 44, 98, 219, 221, 222, 225, 251, 305, 313, 314, 318, 328
—this however contradicted, 254, 257, 269 hot ones abound in Germany, France, and Spain, 29, 53, 187
the cauſe of their heat, 29, 153, 187
Steams rarefied, an aſſigned cauſe of earthquakes, 25, 41 mineral ones, noxious, 35, 44
of ſulphur, pyrites, nitre, &c. how kindled in the bowels of the earth, 36, 63, &c. ſeq.
Stelluti cited, 137
Dr. Stukeley, his philoſophy of earthquakes, 253, &c. ſeq.
Stobæus cited, 3
Stone may be conſolidated water, 74
Stones projected from chaſms and volcano's, 10, 224, 225
figurate ones are petrifications of ſoft ſubſtances reſembling ſea-ſhells; animals, vegetables, &c. 68, &c. ſeq.
rained down, 66
Strabo cited, 218
Stralſund burnt by lightning, 34
Strombulo, Stromboli, Strongylus, a volcano, 27, 101, 118, 162, 166
abſorbed and covered by the ſea, 11
M. Sturmius, his methodical account of earthquakes, 1 &c. ſeq.
Subverſion, [illegible] 4, 5, 39
Succuſſion, [illegible] 4, 5, 39, 41
Sulphur and iron conſtitute the pyrites, 61 abounds in the bowels of the earth, 30
—even under the ocean, 31
naturally connected with iron, 61
Sulphureous ſteams, how kindled in the bowels of the earth,

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

earth, 36, 63, & seq.
Sun's heat may contribute to the production of earthquakes, 202
Surface of the earth has undergone great alterations, 74, 94, 111, 118, 121, 143, 239
—but less of late than formerly, 242
—causes of such alterations, 240, & seq.
Surry downs, oyster-shells found there, 93
Syracuse, an earthquake there, 8

T

Tacitus cited, 5, 10
Taormino, an earthquake there, 8
Teneriffe, the island and pic of rais'd by subterraneous fire from out of the sea, the Pic of, an extinct volcano, 171, 216
Tercera, an extinct volcano there, 20 earthquakes frequent there, 221
hills there made even with the plain, 115
Ternate, an earthquake there, 7, 116 and a volcano, 214
Thales, his notion of earthquakes exploded, 3, 22
Thera and Therasia, thrown up by an earthquake, 13, 100
Θεμελιεῦχος, why an epithet of Neptune, 179
Thia thrown up by an earthquake, 100
Thunder and lightning produced by the same matter as earthquakes, 184 owe their matter to the breath of the pyrites, 57, 60, 66 concomitants of earthquakes, 104, 110 their phænomena explain'd, 108
an electrical explosion, 260
Tiberius, twelve cities of Asia destroyed in one night by an earthquake in his reign, 5, 127, 219
Tides may contribute to the production of earthquakes, 203
Τιναξιφοιγαίης, why an epithet of Neptune, 178
Trees subterraneous in Cheshire, 136, 137
in Cumberland, 97, 136
in the isle of Man, ibid.
in Anglesea, 97
in Lancashire, 135
in Holland, 136
how deposited, 160
sinking into chasms, 8
Tremor, 4, 41, 46
Trinidado or Trinity island, 167
Tripergula, its salubrious baths ruin'd by the rising of a new mountain, 105
Τρόμος, 4
Tyre, destroyed by an earthquake, 127

V

de la Valle cited, 110
Valleys partly filled up through rains, 241
many of them have been mountains, 92 & sq.
Vapours, inflammable, their force, 33
Varenius cited, 9, 11, 21, 106
Vegetable substances found under ground in most parts of the earth, 70 much below the level of the sea, ibid.
Venice, an earthquake there, 1

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

Vernatti cited, 142
Verulam (Lord) cited, 12
Vesuvius, Vesuvus, Monte di Somma, 9, 10, 21, 118, 158, 181, 211, &c seq. 231, 256
Villa Franca (in Tercera) covered by an earthquake, 99, 222
Virgil cited, 149
Volcanello, 14
Volcano's described, 209, &c.
are mountains made up in great part of pyrites, 64
fed by pyrites, 65
mostly in high mountains near the sea, or in islands, 201, 237
why not in plains, 239
how produced, 231
reasons for their spontaneous kindling, 64, 65
probably first kindled at or near the creation, 64
first kindled at no very great depth, 215, 235, 249 communicate with one another to very great distances, 27, 126 often eject vast quantities of water, 197
—sometimes boiling hot, 236
bellow by equidistant fits or intervals in the violence of their conflagration, 206 immense force of their explosion, 210 may cause earthquakes in their neighbourhood, 210, & seq. 217, 222, 227, 249 their various effects, 125, 222 constantly inflamed at the time of neighbouring earthquakes, 182 cease raging when earthquakes cease, 162 break forth afresh when replenished with combustible materials, 171
—and thereby prevent or abate the violence of earthquakes, 180 beneficial, upon the whole, to the territories that surround them, ibid.
Vulcaniæ insulæ, 11
Vulcan's Court, 150
Vulcan's Fields, 11

W

Water, one of the assigned causes of earthquakes, 45, 46
—but insufficient to solve all their phœnomena, ibid.
one of the assigned chief causes of the alterations on the earth's surface, 130, &c. 240 may excavate the inward parts of the earth, 45 torrents of it issuing through apertures in earthquakes, 11, 12, 21, 98, 104, 156, 161, 224, 305, 227 rais'd in vapour by one quality, and precipitated by another, 130 transmutable into stone, 74, 83, &c.
—instances thereof at the Peak in Derbyshire, 81 has in itself a petrifying quality, ibid.
ejected by volcano's, 106, 197
—sometimes boiling hot, 236
a powerful conductor of electricity, 268
Waters strangely agitated in earth-

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-108-05990-9 - The History and Philosophy of Earthquakes
Edited by a Member of the Royal Academy of Berlin
Index
More information

earthquakes, 7, 119, 130, 150, 158, 163, 218, 221, 223, 253, 263, 280, & seq. to the end, Water-quake deſcribed, 275
Water-ſpouts deſcribed, 277
accounted for, 188
Waves wear away rocks and ſhores, 45
Weather almoſt always ſerene and calm in earthquakes, 253, 261, 262, 263
Welſchius cited, 10, 11, 14, 21
Weſtminſter-hall, its walls violently mov'd by an earthquake, 260
Weſtram (in Kent) a ſinking of the ground there, 113
Wight (iſle of) an earthquake there, 260
Wind a great cauſe of the alterations on the earth's ſurface, 130, & ſeq. 140 precedes, and ſometimes accompanies earthquakes, 12 may cauſe earthquakes, 22, 23, 41, 44, 233 continually excited in the bowels of the earth, by the boiſtrous raging of the ocean, 28, 29, 43
iſſuing through apertures in earthquakes, 13
diſcharged from mines, lakes, and rivers, 234, 318, Winterton (in Norfolk) a bone of a prodigious ſize found there, 132
Dr. Woodward, on the cauſe of earthquakes, 175

Y

York, an earthquake there, 5

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org