

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-06231-2 - The Influence of Climate in the Prevention and Cure of Chronic Diseases

James Clark

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS.

PART THE FIRST.

ON CLIMATE.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS. Difficulties of the subject—Many diseases originate in Climate—Change of air or climate therefore proper—Nature of this remedy too often misunderstood—Its value shown in the case of the citizen—Its application requires discrimination—Cases in which it is most useful—Act of travelling beneficial—Too much is often expected from climate—What this can effect—Change of climate acts like other remedies and not specifically. p. 1—16.

ENGLAND.

LONDON. Peculiarity of its Climate—Modified artificially—Temperature of London compared with environs. p. 17—20.

SOUTH COAST OF ENGLAND. Its climate—Its temperature compared with London—Fall of rain—General character of the coast from Worthing to Southampton. HASTINGS. General character of its climate—Much sheltered—Effects on Disease. BRIGHTON. Its climate the reverse of Hastings—being dry and bracing—Best season is autumn. ISLE OF WIGHT, UNDERCLIFF. Its topography—Climate. p. 20—30.

SOUTH-WEST COAST. Devonshire—Its temperature—Places frequented by invalids. TORQUAY. Its climate—Dawlish—Exmouth—Sidmouth—Effects of climate of Devonshire on various diseases—In consumption—Table of temperature in-doors and without, at Torquay and Nice. p. 30—36.

CORNWALL. PENZANCE. Its situation—Temperature and its variations—Great equability of temperature—Its springs cold—Fall of rain—Great humidity—Subject to winds—Characters of the different winds—Effects of the climate in consumption and other diseases—a good summer residence. FLUSHING. p. 36—50.

WEST OF ENGLAND. Bath—Bristol—Cheltenham—Temperature—Clifton—Its topography—Climate.—General effects of the milder parts of England in disease. p. 50—62.

FRANCE.

WEST AND SOUTH-WEST OF FRANCE. General character of its climate—Its temperature—Winds—Vegetation—Effects on disease. PAU. Its topography—Climate—Temperature—Fall of rain—Winds—Character of the different months—Diseases—Effects on disease. p. 64—73.

SOUTH-EAST OF FRANCE. Frequented improperly by consumptive persons—General temperature of Provence—Fall of rain—Number of wet days—General character of the climate—Subject to cold winds—Beneficial in certain cases. MONTPELIER. Its climate—Consumption very prevalent. MARSEILLES. Its climate—Prevalence of consumption—Favourable in certain diseases. AIX. Its Climate—Temperature—Winds—Diseases. HYEERES. Its topography—Climate—Diseases. p. 73—83.

NICE.

Its temperature compared with those of other places—topography—General character of its climate—Winds—Humidity—

CONTENTS.

xxi

Diseases—Effects of the climate on consumption—In bronchial diseases—In asthma, gout, rheumatism, scrofula—Dyspepsia—In other affections—Residence of invalids—Period of arrival and departure. VILLA FRANCA, &c. p. 83—96.

ITALY.

General character of its climate. GENOA. Its situation and general climate—Its diseases and effects on disease. FLORENCE. Its situation—Temperature—Rain—Its diseases, and its effects on diseases. PISA. Its situation—Climate—Temperature—Rain—Diseases. NAPLES. General character of its climate—Temperature—Rain—Its diseases—Effects on diseases—Unfavourable in consumption—Residence of invalids. ROME. General character of its climate—Its temperature—Rain—Winds—Effect of Winds on Disease—Diseases of Rome, Malaria—Malaria fevers—Their nature—Origin—Predisposing and exciting causes, &c.—Healthy and unhealthy situations—Is Malaria increasing?—Great sensibility of the Romans—Singularly affected by perfumes—Nervous diseases—Inflammation of the chest—Consumption—Headache, &c.—Diseases in which the climate is beneficial—Consumption—Bronchial affections or affections of the air passages—Chronic rheumatism—Rome unsuitable to persons labouring under nervous diseases, or disposed to apoplexy, to hæmorrhage, or subject to agues—Choice of a residence in Rome—Exercise—Cautions to invalids in sight-seeing—Proper period of arriving at, and leaving Rome. p. 108—132.

OF A SUMMER RESIDENCE.

Two plans; to recross the Alps or remain in Italy—Invalids that should leave Italy—Period of leaving it—Cases that may remain—Residences in Italy. VICINITY OF NAPLES. Best situations. ISCHIA. Mineral waters—Analysis—Baths—Their uses—Mineral waters of Naples. SIENNA. Temperature—General climate. BATHS OF LUCCA. Temperature of the place—Residence of invalids—Mineral waters—Analysis—Uses. SWIT-

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-06231-2 - The Influence of Climate in the Prevention and Cure of Chronic Diseases

James Clark

Table of Contents

More information

xxii

CONTENTS.

ZERLAND. Temperature—Cautions to invalids—Best places of residence in Switzerland—Sea-voyage during summer—Mineral waters during summer—Cure de raisins—Travelling—Cautions. p. 133—149.

MADEIRA.

Its temperature—Great equality—Rain—Rainy days—Comparative climate—Health of the inhabitants—Consumption—Its degree of prevalence—Effects of the climate on it—Opinion of Drs. Heineken and Renton—Statement of deaths and recoveries—Madeira both a winter and summer climate—Its merits compared with the south of Europe—Time of arriving at and leaving Madeira. p. 150—166.