

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-06333-3 - The Treatment of the Insane without Mechanical Restraints

John Conolly

Table of Contents

More information

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

---

P A R T I.

THE LAST DAYS OF THE OLD METHODS OF TREATMENT.

	Page
General state of Lunatic Asylums at the close of the last century	2
The Bicêtre and Salpêtrière . . . . .	6
Pinel . . . . .	9
New Bethlem . . . . .	10
German Asylums . . . . .	12
Means of repression employed . . . . .	13
The York Asylum . . . . .	16
The Retreat at York founded . . . . .	17
State of Asylums in France and England in the early part of the present century . . . . .	18
Esquirol . . . . .	19
Exposure of the state of the old York Asylum in 1813 . . . . .	23
Exposure of the state of Bethlem Hospital in 1815 . . . . .	25
Abolition of mechanical restraints at Lincoln, Hanwell, &c. . . . .	28

P A R T II.

THE FIRST DAYS OF THE NEW OR NON-RESTRAINT SYSTEM.

Description of the non-restraint system . . . . .	35
Reception and treatment of a newly admitted patient in asylums in which mechanical restraints are not used . . . . .	36

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-06333-3 - The Treatment of the Insane without Mechanical Restraints

John Conolly

Table of Contents

More information

viii

CONTENTS.

	Page
Removal of strait-waistcoat and all restraints . . . . .	37
Explanation of the employment of seclusion . . . . .	44
Padded rooms . . . . .	44
Effect of a kind reception . . . . .	49
Attentions during the night . . . . .	51
Occupations, &c., in the day-time . . . . .	55
Bad effects of the use of mechanical restraints . . . . .	60
General medical treatment of the insane . . . . .	66
"        "        of acute mania . . . . .	69
"        "        of chronic mania . . . . .	70
"        "        of melancholia . . . . .	70
"        "        of general paralysis . . . . .	72
"        "        of mental disorder combined with epilepsy . . . . .	72
Arrangements of a Lunatic Asylum . . . . .	81
Occupations and amusements . . . . .	83
Evening entertainments . . . . .	85
Attention to the proper clothing of patients . . . . .	89
Food, and order and regularity of meals . . . . .	91
Necessity of having kind and conscientious attendants—duties entrusted to them . . . . .	94
Proper government of attendants . . . . .	103
Religious observances in an asylum . . . . .	105
Illustrative examples of the good effects on patients of releasing them from mechanical restraints . . . . .	107

PART III.

THE NEW SYSTEM IN PRIVATE ASYLUMS.

Journey of a patient to a private asylum . . . . .	137
Characteristics of the old asylums . . . . .	138
Characteristics of improved asylums, and the effect on the patients	143
Effects of a good asylum on patients in whom insanity has super- vened on weakness of mind, or has been induced by errors of education, &c. . . . .	156
General effects of a good asylum in obstinate and incurable cases . . . . .	163

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-06333-3 - The Treatment of the Insane without Mechanical Restraints

John Conolly

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS.

ix

PART IV.

ABOLITION OF MECHANICAL RESTRAINTS AT HANWELL IN 1839.

	Page
The Lincoln Asylum—Dr. Charlesworth and Mr. Gardiner Hill	176
Exertions of Colonel Clitherow and the Middlesex Magistrates to improve the condition of the pauper lunatics of the county (previous to 1831) . . . . .	180
Improvements in the treatment of the insane effected by Sir William Ellis (1831-1838) . . . . .	186
State of the Hanwell Asylum in 1839 . . . . .	189
Extracts from the Annual Reports of the Physician to the Visiting Magistrates, 1839 to 1849 . . . . .	192
First Report, 1839 . . . . .	192
Disuse of mechanical restraints, and substitutes adopted . . . . .	193
Effects of the change . . . . .	195
The number of attendants increased . . . . .	196
Second Report, 1840 . . . . .	198
Management of suicidal patients . . . . .	198
Disuse of restraints at night in the epileptic patients . . . . .	200
Vigilance and moral management substituted for restraint . . . . .	202
Seclusion in certain cases, and its effects . . . . .	207
Mode of preventing it being abused . . . . .	212
Difficulties to be overcome in abolishing restraints . . . . .	215
Want of resources in officers and attendants accustomed to rely upon restraint . . . . .	218
Third Report, 1841 . . . . .	220
Effects of the liberation of patients from restraint . . . . .	221
Illustrative cases . . . . .	222
Further precaution as to seclusion . . . . .	232
Irritating effects of restraints . . . . .	234
Necessity of forbearance in the management of lunatics . . . . .	235
Religious services, effects of, and greater tranquillity of Sunday . . . . .	237
Fourth Report, 1842 . . . . .	240
Zealous co-operation of all the officers of the asylum . . . . .	240
Further illustrations of the effects of a tranquillizing system . . . . .	242
Illustrative cases . . . . .	244
Fifth Report, 1843 . . . . .	248
Instruction of the patients . . . . .	249

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-06333-3 - The Treatment of the Insane without Mechanical Restraints

John Conolly

Table of Contents

More information

X

CONTENTS.

	Page
Sixth Report, 1844 . . . . .	249
Error of confounding the temporary seclusion of patients with the idea of solitary confinement . . . . .	253
Advantages of seclusion over all modifications of mechanical restraints . . . . .	256
Improved character of the older patients after the disappearance of instruments of restraint . . . . .	258
Seventh Report, 1845 . . . . .	262
Additional illustrations of the effects of liberation from restraint	262
Eighth Report, 1846 . . . . .	264
Conditions requisite in asylums in which restraints are to be abolished. . . . .	265
Various additional comforts consequent on the introduction of the non-restraint system . . . . .	266
Eleventh Report, 1849 . . . . .	269
No mechanical restraint resorted to for ten years . . . . .	270
No severe medical appliances found necessary . . . . .	271
Further remarks on the state of the Hanwell asylum—Services of Mr. Tulk, Mr. Serjeant Adams, and Miss Powell (now Mrs. Bowden), the matron . . . . .	274
Suppression of the schools for the patients . . . . .	275
Instruction of the insane at the Bicêtre in Paris, and of the idiotic and imbecile at Earlswood, near Reigate, and Essex Hall, Colchester . . . . .	277
Clinical instruction in insanity, necessity for . . . . .	279
Clinical lectures on insanity in Paris and in Germany . . . . .	281
Clinical lectures discontinued at Hanwell . . . . .	283
Deficient number of medical officers in the English asylums . . . . .	284
Want of a medical chief in the larger asylums . . . . .	286

PART V.

GRADUAL ADOPTION OF THE NON-RESTRAINT SYSTEM IN THE LARGE ASYLUMS OF ENGLAND, AFTER 1839.

New county asylums established . . . . .	291
State of patients brought to the new asylum, near Derby, in 1852	292
Mr. Gaskell's adoption of the new system in the Lancaster Asylum	295

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-06333-3 - The Treatment of the Insane without Mechanical Restraints

John Conolly

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS.

xi

	Page
Dr. Anderson, at Haslar Hospital . . . . .	296
Dr. Hutcheson, at the Glasgow Asylum . . . . .	297
Dr. Davey, at Colombo, Ceylon . . . . .	298
Dr. Davey and Dr. Hood, at Colney Hatch . . . . .	298
Dr. Nesbitt, at Northampton . . . . .	298
Dr. Hitchman, at Derby . . . . .	299
Details respecting the non-restraint system in the Eighth Report of the Commissioners in Lunacy (1854) . . . . .	300
Dr. Bucknill's analysis of the recent Reports of Superintendents, in the "Asylum Journal," 1856 . . . . .	302
Opening of new asylums without any instruments of mechanical restraint being considered necessary . . . . .	304
Recent Reports from the asylums of Kent, Essex, Lincolnshire, and Worcestershire . . . . .	304
New system adopted at Bethlem and St. Luke's . . . . .	308
Mr. Wilkes, at Stafford (1841) . . . . .	309
Mr. Denne, at Bedford (1851) . . . . .	310
Recent Report of the Derbyshire Asylum . . . . .	311
Mr. Alderson, at Wakefield (1856) . . . . .	314
Dr. Kitching at the York Retreat . . . . .	315
Opinion pronounced on the disuse of instrumental restraints, by the Commissioners in Lunacy (1853) . . . . .	319
Mechanical restraints still employed in the majority of private asylums in 1854 . . . . .	321
Inspection of provincial asylums defective . . . . .	325
Ill treatment of patients in detached and private residences . . . . .	327
Means of improving attendants on the insane . . . . .	333
Tenth Report of the Commissioners in Lunacy, 1856 . . . . .	335
Continued abuses and employment of restraints in some private asylums . . . . .	336
The "Psychological Journal," the Association of Superintendents, and the "Asylum Journal" . . . . .	340

PART VI.

PROGRESS OF THE NEW SYSTEM ON THE CONTINENT.

The system opposed in Paris and in Germany . . . . .	344
Adopted in Holland and Denmark . . . . .	345
Arguments employed against it on the Continent . . . . .	346

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-06333-3 - The Treatment of the Insane without Mechanical Restraints

John Conolly

Table of Contents

More information

xii

CONTENTS.

	Page
Recollections of the restraints thus defended . . . . .	355
Abuse of baths and coercion in the continental asylums . . . . .	362
Methods of coercion used in Germany and Italy . . . . .	364
Dr. Henri Curchod's account of English asylums (1845) . . . . .	367
Report on English asylums by MM. Deboutteville and Mérielle (1853) . . . . .	367

CONCLUSION.

Imperfect government and organization of asylums . . . . .	370
Qualifications of mind and heart required in directors or governors of asylums . . . . .	373
The government of asylums best conducted by medical men . . . . .	376
Evils arising from noisy committee days . . . . .	378
Humanity and justice of improving the government of asylums . . . . .	379