

Contents

	page	xi
Preface
Acknowledgements		xiii
Chronology of Borges' Life and Works		xvi
List of Abbreviations		xxii
1. Borges' Classical Revisions	I
A Rumour of Homer	3
Pierre Menard's Odyssey and Aeneid	6
Zeno after Kafka	8
Classical Memory and Forgetfulness	9
Classical Absences and Desires	12
Classics at the Crossroads: Towards a Global Vision	14
Key Terms and Concepts	20
Aims and Scope of the Book	26
2. The Flow of Heraclitus	30
Borgesian Time and the Classics	32
Heraclitean Receptions	40
Receptions of the Unfinished Text	45
Borges and the Disclosure of Antiquity	49
3. The Idea of Homer	52
Homer in Borges' Postclassical Landscapes	54
Homeric Identities and Identifications	61
Odyssean Voyages into the Post-Historical Self	66
Borges' Homer in the Twentieth Century	71
4. Virgil's Touch	76
The Cultural Geography of Borges' Virgil	78
The Slow Hand and the Tears of Things	88
Borges' Virgil in Cultural History and Aesthetics	95
5. Antiquity in the Poetic Cosmos	98
Classical Fragments in Borges' Poetic Siluae	101

x

Contents

Myth, Poetry and the Möbius Effect of Literature	107
Heraclitus between Chaos and Universal History	118
6. Interlude: Borges and Global Classics	120
Global Classics and the Centreless Perspective	120
Antiquity as a Fragment	122
Borges' Global Classicism and 'World' Literature	124
Global Classics vs World Studies	125
7. Successors of Borges' Classicism	127
Italo Calvino	130
Umberto Eco	139
Derek Walcott	147
Bibliography	159
Index	171