

Contents

Acknowledgments	page ix
A Note on Transliteration and Translation	xi
Preface	xiii
Introduction: Prelude, Considerations, and Definitions	1
1 History Matters	35
2 Nahḍa-t Miṣr: Zaynab and the Cultural Renaissance of Modern Egypt (1912–1913)	56
3 Blindness and Insight: Challenging the Sacred/Secular Divide in Ṭāhā Ḥusayn’s The Days	73
4 An Egyptian Sophocles: Qur’ānic Inspiration in Tawfiq al-Ḥakīm’s The People of the Cave	92
5 Writing the Mad Text: Freedom, Modernity, and God in Naguib Mahfouz’s “The Whisper of Madness”	107
6 Islamism Writes Back: ‘Alī Aḥmad Bākāthīr’s The Red     Revolutionary and the Dismantling of the Secular	123
7 Secular Realism and Utopian Irony in Yūsuf Idrīs’s Faraḥāt’s Republic	139
8 Islam and Secular Nationalism in a Film Age: Unveiling Youssef Chahine’s Gamīla Al-Gazā’iriyya	160
Appendix 1 – The Whisper of Madness	191
Appendix 2 – An Interview with Youssef Chahine	197
Appendix 3 – Feature Films Produced in Egypt from     1927–1962	203
Bibliography	205
Index	211
	vii