

Contents

	Introduction	page 1
1	Setting the Stage: How Incarcerating Humans Became a Salient Feature of Efforts to Protect Non-Humans	12
1.1	A Passion for Punishment – A Primer on Criminal Punishment in Animal Law	12
1.2	The Historical Lack of Options	18
1.3	The Criminal Law As Cudgel in Shaping Public Morals	22
2	Putting Carceral Animal Law in Context: An Overview of the Mass Criminalization Problem in the United States	25
2.1	The Incarceration Epidemic	27
2.2	Hardships Flowing from Convictions Beyond Incarceration	30
2.3	Race and Mass Criminalization	39
3	A Descriptive Account of the Carceral Animal Law System	44
3.1	Widespread Support for Carceral Animal law	44
3.2	The Rhetoric of Incarceration: Courthouse Advocacy and Public Relations Campaigns	49
3.3	The Substantive Law of Incarceration: More Crimes and Increased Sentences	53
3.4	Structural or Procedural Reforms in the Service of Increased Incarceration	63
4	General Critiques of the Carceral Turn in Animal Protection	97
4.1	The Legislative Cost of Felony Cruelty Laws: The Correlation Between Passing Felony Laws and Exempting Agricultural Cruelty	98
4.2	Incarceration As Ineffectual in Securing Civil Rights: Lessons from Tough-on-Crime Policies	110

4.3	Animal Abuse Registries Are Harmful to Animal Protection Efforts	126
4.4	The Principle of Disinterested or Neutral Prosecutors and Animal Cruelty Prosecutions	135
5	Race, Mass Criminalization, and Animal Law	151
5.1	Animal Protection Is Perceived As a “White Thing” and That Is Relevant to Crime and Punishment	156
5.2	Specific Issues of Race in the Enforcement of Animal Cruelty Laws	166
6	Animal Protection and the “Link” Between Animal Abuse and Human Violence	193
6.1	An Overview of the Link As a Justification and Explanation for Carceral Policies	194
6.2	Overview of the Link Research in the Social Sciences	205
6.3	Critique of the Link As the Talisman and Shibboleth of Carceral Animal Law	227
6.4	Prison Is Not the Answer: The Link Data Does Not Support a Carceral Solution	236
6.5	Treatment As Opposed to Incarceration?	244
6.6	Final Thoughts on the Link: Critiquing the Link As Entrenching the Human/Animal Divide	248
7	Anticipating Challenges to the Critique of Carceral Animal Law	251
7.1	The Absence of Alternatives	252
7.2	The Power of Criminal Law in Shaping Norms and Mainstream Support for Prosecutions	258
7.3	Revenge or Retribution and Animal Protection	264
7.4	Why Do Animal Crimes Have to Be the Proverbial Guinea Pig for Sentencing Reform?	266
7.5	Incapacitation As the Last-Best Defense of Carceral Animal Law	270
8	Conclusion: Toward a New Research and Advocacy Agenda for Animal Protection	273
	Index	284