

Contents

List of Figures	page vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Abbreviations and a Note on Style	xi
Introduction: Fear, Panic, and the Violence of Empire	1
1 Colonial Insecurity in Early British India, 1757–1857	25
2 Re-Assessing the ‘Garrison State’: Pacification and Colonial Disquiet in Punjab	67
3 Law, the Punjab School, and the ‘Kooka Outbreak’ of 1872	103
4 Frontier Terror and the Murderous Outrages Act of 1867	140
5 Imperial Recruiting and Imperial Anxieties, 1870–1920	181
Conclusion: Colonial Vulnerability and the Insecurity of Empire	217
Epilogue: The Insecurity State Today	231
Bibliography	235
Index	255