THE LEGITIMACY OF INTERNATIONAL TRADE COURTS AND TRIBUNALS

The recent rise of international trade courts and tribunals deserves systematic study and in-depth analysis. This volume gathers contributions from experts specialized in different regional adjudicators of trade disputes and scrutinizes their operations in the light of the often-debated legitimacy issues. It not only looks into prominent adjudicators that have played a significant role for global and regional integration, but it also includes the newly established and/or less-known judicial actors. Critical topics covered range from procedures and legal techniques during the adjudication process to the pre- and postadjudication matters in relation to forum selection and decision implementation. The volume features cross-cutting interdisciplinary discussions among academics and practitioners, lawyers, philosophers, and political scientists. In addition to fulfilling the research vacuum, it aims to address the challenges and opportunities faced in international trade adjudication.

ROBERT HOWSE is the Lloyd C. Nelson Professor of International Law at NYU School of Law, New York, USA.

HÉLÈNE RUIZ-FABRI is Director of the Max Planck Institute Luxembourg for Procedural Law, and Head of the Department of International Law and Dispute Resolution.
