INDEX

Abe, Shinzo, 367
absolute power, legal order and, 163–4 accountability review
artificial intelligence impact on, 248–53
executive power and, 298
grand audit and, 102–3
judicial reform and, 135–7
local people’s congresses and, 112–15
in National Supervisory Commission reform programme, 330–1
rule of law implementation and, 374–6, 389–90
supervisory reform and, 134–5
accurate justice discourse, legal language in, 241–2 active judiciary campaign
adjudicative power and, 159–60
Chinese judicial reform and, 155–7 responsibility in judicial reform and, 158–9 adjudication coordination of power for, 159–60 range of norms for, 106n.6
target values and, 200 administrative law accountability review and, 374–6
in Chinese legal system, 355–7 computer-aided sentencing and misinterpretation of, 242–4 efficiency and fairness reforms and, 298–9
judicial reform and, 396–9
judicial review limited to, 146–7
political reform and, 396
procedural reform and, 204–7
rule of law and, 370–1, 390–4
Administrative Procedural Law, judicial review limits in, 146–7 adversarial list, legal-communicative process, 220–3 AERA: Asahi Shinbun Weekly, xlv aging population, political and economic impact of, 293–4, 363 algorithm hegemony, judicial information overload and, 252–3 AlphaGo programme, 234–5, 246–8
Alpha Zero programme, 234–5, 246–8 alternative dispute resolution (ADR), xxxv, 252–3, See also dispute resolution alternative media journalistic oversight and, 119–20
political reform and, 301–2
rule of law implementation and, 378–9
American court system, judicial review in, 46–7
American exceptionalism, Chinese political reform and model of, 395–6
Amherst School, 219–20, 223–7
Analects, 421–2
The Annals of Lü Buwei (Liu), 415–16
anti-corruption initiatives
democracy in China and, 444–8
economic development and, 363–4
in National Supervisory Commission reform programme, 331–2 sanctions and penalties in, 381 supervisory agencies and, 129–35
antitheses, Chinese legal system and, 212–13
INDEX

antitheses-in-one model, institutional design and, 23 appraisal cases, local interference with judicial review in, 144–5 Arendt, Hannah, 54–5
argumentation defeasibility and uncertainty in, 222–3 Habermas on, 187–8
legal reform and, 220
policy and social arguments, 227–31 sociology of legal argumentation, 223–7 Aristotle, 91–2
artificial intelligence computer-aided sentencing debate, 240–5 human-cognitive flexibility and, 234–5 law databases upgrade, 235–7
legal analysis of judicial reform and, 248–53 litigation information system and smart courts and, 245–8 multiple-function digital identification and, 341–3 standardization of legal language and, 241–2 audit reviews. See also budget audit administrative accountability and, 102–3 local rule of law and, 112–15
supervisory reform and, 134–5
Austrian Constitution, judicial review in, 45–6 authoritarian democracy, theories of, 436–8 authoritarianism, Chinese concepts of democracy and history of, 434 authority Chongqing Incident and role of, 353–4 conditions for establishing, 54–62 confidence in economy and, 87 contract and procedure in reform of, 371–2 customary authority, 57–9
democracy and, 372–3
justified authority, 59–61, 372
power and, 8–10, 367–9
reciprocity-based authority, 17–21
rule of law and, 54–62, 314–16, 351–82
sanctions and reform of, 372 uniformity authority, 61–2
"Wen Qiang Curse" and abuse of, 354–5 autocracy, habits and attitudes as counter to, 40–1 autonomy of local government, 434–5
neoproceduralism and, xxiii–xxv trichotomy of legal order and, 277 auto-verdicts
current technology barriers to, 249n.47 judicial errors and issues of, 248–53 bankruptcy laws accountability and, 374–6
introduction of, 297–8
local interference with, 144–5
bao (return), reciprocity and, 24–6
Bary, Theofore de, 424–5
Basic Guideline for the Digitalisation of Tribunals at People's Courts (People's Supreme Court), 245–8
Beccaria, Marchese di, 153–4
Beck, Ulrich, xxi–xxii, 75 beliefs, pluralism and constitutionality and, 38–9 benevolent governance, Confucian conception of, 34–6, 48–9 Bentham, Jeremy, 149–50
The Best Defense (Dershowitz), 315–16
Between Facts and Norms (Habermas), 187–8
Big Bang structural reforms (East Asia), contract law in China and, 335 data analytics artificial intelligence and, 235–7
impact on judicial process of automation, 248–53
litigation information systems and smart courts and, 245–8
© in this web service Cambridge University Press
www.cambridge.org
INDEX

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Term</th>
<th>Page(s)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>market risks and business activism and, xlii–xliii</td>
<td>345–50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>smart networks and, 345–50</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>big mediation policy</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>adjudicative power and, 159–60</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chinese judicial reform and, 155–7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>responsibility in judicial reform and, 158–9</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>bilateral trade agreements, globalization and, 86</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bismarck, Otto von, 436–8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blau, Peter M., 24–6</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“The Blindfold of Justice” (Feng), 165–6</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>blockchain protocols, trust, public service, and elections, 343–5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>bottom-up political participation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>budget parliamentarianism and, 100–1, 295–7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>digital technology and, xli–xliii</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>judicial independence and, 396–9</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rule of law and, 400–1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bourdieu, Pierre, xxii</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bo Xilai, 353–5, 379–8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boyun Vision Technology Co. Ltd, 340–1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brandeis, Louis D., 214</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buchanan, Bruce, 235–7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buchanan, James, 178–9</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>budgetary audit</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>accountability review and, 376 rule of law implementation and, 373–4, 389–90</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>budget parliamentarianism, 100–1 government reform and, 295–7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>judicial reform and, 135–7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>local government reform and, 300–1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>budget review</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>judicial reform and, 135–7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>local rule of law and, 112–15</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>supervisory reform and, 134–5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Building of a Rule-of-Law Order, xlii–xlii</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bull, Hedly, 90</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>bureaucracy</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>anti-corruption initiative and role of, 131–2</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>in Chinese culture, 420–1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>development of rule of law and, 198–9</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>National Supervisory Commission reform proposals for, 326</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>parliamentary restraint over, 127</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>support of leadership by, 128–9</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>in Weberian regime models, 121–3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burke, Edmund, 57–9, 272–4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bush, George W., 372–3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C2J Smart Case-Handling System to Assist Judges, 246–8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>caged individualism, guanxi networks and, 67–8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Calamandrei, Piero, 215–16</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>capital accumulation policy, budget parliamentarianism and, 101</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>capitalism</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chinese economic development and, 360–1, guanxi networks and, 69–70</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marxian jurisprudence and, 284–5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cardozo, Benjamin, 24</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carillo, Santiago, 281n.11</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cartesian object-subject dichotomy, Chinese legal system, 212–13</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF), 236</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>case management system, judicial reform in China and, 151–2</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>causality, risk society and, 81</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Central Commission for Discipline Inspection (CCDI), 131–3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ceremonies, theatre state and use of, 422–3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>charisma castration, Weber’s discussion of, 128–9</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>charismatic leadership</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>political party apparatus and, 128–9</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>political power and, 123–5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>checks and balances</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>charismatic leadership and, 129</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>in Chinese judicial system, 138–9</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>judicial review and, 42–3, 299–300</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>parliaments and political leaders, 123</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cheng Jinhua, 394–6, 400–1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chen Xiaolu, 400–1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>China</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>global ascendance of, 291–3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INDEX

competition
Chinese legal reform and, 285–6
cooexistence and, in Chinese legal system, 278–80
contract law and, 334–5
legal ideology of, 262–75
networked society and restriction of, 68
compliance, sullen principle and, 159–60 computer-aided legal technology impact on judicial quality of, 248–53 legal trial and debate on, 240–5
limitations of, 242–4
The Computerisation of Legal Work, 237
Computer Management and Supervision Office (China), 237 conditional advantages, procedural value of, 167–9 Conducting the National Supervision System Reform in the Pilot Areas of Beijing, Shanxi Province and Zhejiang Province (CCCP), 129–35 conflict resolution. See dispute resolution Confucianism
Chinese legalist ideology and, 16–17
co-existence of diverse values and, 94
governance under, 34–5
individual rights vs. community and, 274–5
individual right to litigation and, 115–16 institutional design and, 23
introspection in, 49n.11
morality as core value in, 163–4 pluralist legal theory and, 413–14
Qin law and, 3–4
reciprocity-based authority and, 17–21
ren (benevolence) in, 35–6 social order and law in, 30–1 trichotomy of Legalism and Daoism with, 278–80

civil service, political reform of, 297 civil society
democracy and, 40–1
growing autonomy of, 113–14
clampdown campaigns, illegality of, 357 clan structure, social revolution and disintegration of, 31–2 class structure in China, 352
Marxian jurisprudence and, 284–5
modernization and, 281n.11
risk society and, xxi–xxii value trichotomy and role of, 287–9 clausula rebus sic statibus principle, contracts and, 338–40 client privilege, Chinese lawyers and, 116–19 CNKI database, xlv–xlv
e coerce, exclusion of, 287–9
Cohen, Joshua, 409
Collins, Hugh, 333–4 combinational optimization, contemporary legal reforms and, 72–3
commonality
Chinese constitutional order and role of, 318–20
Chinese tradition of, 271–5 individual rights and community and, 274–5
tripartite republican state model and, 275–80 communication alternative media and, 119–20
and consensus, Chinese tradition of, 272
neoproceduralism and, xxiii–xxv
value trichotomy in Chinese legal reform and, 287–9 Communist Manifesto (Marx and Engels), 274–5, 283–7 communitarianism, Rawls on, 180–1 community framework individual rights and, 274–5 market economy and, 68–9
values guidance and, 91
competing claims, procedural justice and, 289–91 consensus democracy as, 436–8 government disarray and lack of, 355
  Habermas on, 189–90
  proceduralism and, 94–5, 169–71, 174–5, 197–9
  consequences of decisions, in risk society, 82–4 consonance, Chongqing Incident and role of, 354–5 Constitutional Commission, powers of, 321–3 constitutional committee, proposed establishment of, 321–3 Constitutional Court of China establishment of, 110–11
  invigoration of Constitution through, 103–11
  constitutionalism
    charismatic leadership and direct elections and, 123–5 Chinese rule of law imperative and, 309–11
    consensus building for, 355 constitutional committee proposal and, 321–3 democratization in China and, 447–8 in Japan, 367 litigation in China and, 106–7 resistance in China to, 366–7, 382–3 separation of power in, 127 Weberian regime-building models, 120–3 constitutional law adjudication prohibited in, 106n.6
    in American court system, 46–7
    Chinese political reform and, 97–9, 313–14, 318–20, 371
    Chinese resistance to, 400–1 institutions and mechanisms for, 40–1 judicial review and, 8, 45–6, 103–11
    state power and, 7–8, 35–6
    value plurality and, 37–41
    constitutional review
      Chinese political reform initiative for, 313–14 social background and institutional design for, 320–4 Constitution Memorial Day, establishment of, 318–20 Constitution of China administrative procedural law amendments in, 146–7 judicial power structure and functional relationship in, 138–9 nominal value of, 447–8
    political reform and, 371
    constructivism, jurisprudence and, 89–96
    contestation, equilibrium vs., in Chinese legal system, 423–5 contract and contractualization authority system reform and, 371–2 Chinese civil code reforms on, 333–40 legitimation of, 174–5
    limited government structure and, 266–8
    proceduralism and responsibility of, 199–201 responsibility for consequences of, 199–201 social relations and, 336–7 standard clauses and revisions in Civil Code for, 338–40 tripartite structure of, 334–5 types of, 333–5
    unlimited government and trust in, 264–6 coordination function of law
    adjudicative power and, 159–60
    sollen (duty to do right) and, 162–3
    strengthening forces of law with, 160–1 core of certainty, Hart’s concept of, 51
    corporatism, Chinese rule of law ideology and, 311–13 corruption anti-corruption initiatives and, 129–35
    judicial reform and, 381
    lawyers’ role in, 51–2
    local judicial systems and, 140–2 major events reporting, local interference with, 144–5 cost analysis, procedural costs vs. costs of mistakes, 202–4 COVID-19 prevention and control
blockchain protocols and, 343–5
governance network model for, 340–1 Health QR Codes system and, 341–3
smart networks and, 345–50
CPC authority, management of judicial personnel and funding by, 140–2 Crackdown movement in criminal law, 159–60 credit policy, globalization and shocks in, 86–7
Criminal Law (China), clampdown campaigns and, 357 Criminal Procedural Law (China), 357 criminal procedure justice in, 316
scientific evidence in, 214–15
critical legal studies
Chinese concepts of democracy and, 441–2
order principles in Chinese culture and, 411–14
postmodernism and, 408–9
Weber and, 126–7
Cui Min, 441
Cui Zhiyuan, xix–xx, 441–2
Cultural Revolution, 354–5, 385–6, 391, 433–4 cultural traditions
Chinese conceptions of democracy and, 432–8
Chinese postmodernism and, 409–11
Chinese rule of law imperative and, 309–11
computer-aided sentencing and, 240–5
conditions for democracy and, 426–30
equilibrium and contestation and, 423–5 governance and, 48–9
individual rights vs. community and, 274–5 interpretations of, 403–30
legal pluralism and, 355–7
legal reform and, 70–1
order in Chinese law and politics and, 411–26 reciprocity and commonality, 271–5
rule of law and, 6, 403–11
sympathy without agreement as, 425–6 theatre state and resonance effect in China, 421–3 value diversification and, 175–8 currency economy, globalization and shocks in, 86–7
customary authority, 57–9
dakei (assets), government seizure of, 354–5 Dahl, Robert A., 40–1, 433
danwei institutionalization
rule of law and, 400–1
social networks and, 67–8
Daoism, xxiii–xxiv, xxx–xxxi justification and authority in, 58–9
social order and, 29–30
trichotomy of Confucianism and Legalism with, 278–80 “Dao [the Way] models after the Nature” (Chinese saying), social order and, 29–30 data management computer-aided sentencing and limits of, 244–5 judicial information overload and, 252–3
debt management
accountability review and, 374–6
judicial reform and, 135–7
local government debt crisis and, 292, 295, 300–1, 362
local people’s congresses and, 112–15
decision-making
artificial intelligence impact on, 248–53
informed consent and, 79–80
neutrality in, xxix–xxx responsibility for, 199–201
in risk society, 77–8
rulership and, 126–7
values and, 93–4
Decision to Enhance the Work of Digitalising People’s Courts in an All-Round Manner (Supreme People’s Court), 245–8 deconstructionism, Chinese postmodernism and, 408 defeasibility, legal scholarship and, 220–3 defence activities, technical nitty-gritty lawyer and, 116–19 de-ideologization, judicial independence and, 162–3 deliberation theory (Habermas), 226–7 democracy
authoritarian versions of, 436–8 authority and, 9n.6, 372–3
Chinese conceptualization of, 432–8, 440–2
Chinese political reform and, 7–8, 357–8
civil society and, 40–1
conditions in China for, 426–30
consensus versions of, 436–8 current and future Chinese initiatives for, 444–8
judicial review and, 43–5
proceduralist approach to, 438–44
rule of law and, xxii–xxiii, 2–3, 431–48 tyranny of the majority in, 42–3 democratic centralism, Chinese concept of, 432–3 demographic dividend, economic development and, 360–1 Deng, Zhenglai, xxxi Deng Xiaoping, 371, 385–6, 391, 433–4 dependency thesis, authority and, 54–7 depoliticization, rule of law and need for, 400–1
de-professionalization of judges, judicial reform in China and, 150
determinism
Chinese legal system and, 26–31
trap of equilibrium and, 25–6 developed nations, globalization and shocks in, 86–7 developmental dictatorship paradigm, state power and, 5–7
Diagram of the Great Ultimate (Zhu Xi), 26–7 Dialogue between the Social-Scientific Legal Studies and Legal Dogmatism, 208–9 difference in harmonious co-existence, Confucius’s principle of, 94 differential mode of association, Chinese ideology and, 13–14 digital technology. See also artificial intelligence Chinese judicial reform and, 234–5
crime-aided sentencing, 240–5 computerised judicial operation, 238–40
conditions for democracy in China and, 429–30
COVID-19 prevention and control network and, 340–1
e-government plan and, 340–5 judicial accessibility and, xxxvii
litigation information systems and smart courts and, 245–8
market risks and business activism and, xlii–xliii
multiple-function digital identification and, 341–3
networked urban space and risks of, xli–xlii trust, public service, and elections, 343–5 direct elections
belief in rule of law and, 125–7 local government and, 112–15 political power and, 123–5 Discipline and Punish: the Birth of the Prison (Foucault), 422–3 discretionary power of judiciary just procedure and, 163–207 media trial constraints on, 153–5 vicious cycle of constraints, 155–63
discursive sociology of law, 210–11
law as art and, 218–20
policy and social arguments and, 227–31
dispute resolution. See also alternative dispute resolution (ADR) authority of law and, 39–40, 61–2
Chinese legal theory and, 19
justice and, 28–9 persuasion vs. coercion in, 32 pluralization of, xxxv
proceduralism and, 394–6
reciprocity and, 20–1
dispute theory, government reform and need for, 291 dissenting views, proceduralism and, 174–5 distributive justice, proceduralism and, 179 diversified reality, choice-making in, 183–6 diversity in legal system, rule of law and, 355–7, 391 domestic demand, Chinese development problem of, 292 double sovereignty formula, democracy in China and, 444–8 Down, A., 437–8
Downs, Anthony, 123–4 dual-track normative-interactive process, proceduralism and, 193–5 due process of law, proceduralism and, 169–71 procedural value of, 167–9, 175
Durkheim, Emile, 284–5
Dworkin, Ronald, 227–9
dynamic equilibrium, proceduralism and, 171

East Asia, Chinese economic development and, 364–7 ecclesiastic structure, social revolution and disintegration of, 31–2 e-commerce
networked society and, 68
social relations and contract and, 336–7

Economic and Philosophical Manuscripts of 1844 (Marx), 267–8 economic development. See also market economy budget audit impact on, 373–4

Chinese adoption of rule of law and influence of, 317–18
Chinese concepts of democracy and problems of, 434
Chinese rich-poor gap and, 292–3
contract law and, 334–5
corruption and, 381
debt reduction and, 362 domestic demand crisis and, 292
good and bad law and, 286–7
historical materialism and modernization of, 281–3
international environment and, 364–7
new four modernizations in, 362–3 “original sign” in, 381, 389–90 population decline and, 293–4 postmodernism in China and, 410
postmodern theories of, 408–9
rule of law impact on, 358–9, 361–4
smart networks and, 345–50
social welfare policies and, 295
urbanization policies and, 294–5, 362–3

Economic Observer, 293–4 economic outlook. See also market economy budget parliamentarianism and, 101

legal reform and, 97–9
performance-based authority linked to, 59–61 power structure and, 3–4, 30–1 rule of law and impact of, 1–2 educational rights, constitutional litigation on, 107n.9, 108–9 Ehrlich, Eugen, xx–xxi Election Law 2010,294–5 electoral politics
authoritarianism and, 436–8 blockchain protocols and trust in, 343–5
Chinese state power and, 7–8
democratization in China and reform of, 444 element-effect premise, in computer-aided sentencing, 242–4
Elias, Norbert, 436
An Empirical Analysis and Study of Judicial Behaviours, xxxvii–xliii
Encyclopaedia of Law and Society: American and Global Perspectives, xlv
Engels, Friedrich, 274–5, 282, 284, 286–7 enlightened prince, Guanzi’s concept of, 49n.11
The Enlightened Judgments (Brian & Liu), 25–6 Enlightenment scholarship, legal ideology and, 264 time efficiency, budget constraints and, 297–8 equality
Chinese rule of law imperative and, 309–11
formula of intolerability and, 50 equal liberty principle democratic norms and, 43–5
proceduralism and, 179
equilibrium, contestation vs., in Chinese legal system, 423–5
European Charter of Local Self-Government, 113–14 European institutional design, judicial review and, 45–6 exchange of reason, proceduralism and, 193–5 executive power
budget parliamentarianism and, 101
erosion of competence in, 155–7
Independent Commission against Corruption and, 131–2
judicial independence and, 131–3, 146–7, 297, 299–300
development methodologies and support from, 207–11 local competition with, 112–15 diagnostic and, 138–9 reform and restraint of, 112, 204–7, 298 taxation decisions by, 253–6 ex post facto review, judicial reform in China and, xl–xli external supervision absence in Chinese governance of, 48–9 procedural reform and, 199–201

fa (law)
authority and, 58–9
cultural tradition of, 403–4
media norms based on, 153–5
yin and yang in governance and, 21–4
face, reciprocity and, 20–1 fact ascertainment, Chinese judiciary and, 148–9 fairness, in individual cases, 314–16
Fang Xiaoru, 403–4
favor, reciprocity and, 20–1
Faxin, China Digital Internet Service Platform for the Application of Law, 246–8
Federalist Papers, 9n.6
Feigenbaum sequence, 26–7
feminist legal studies, 408–9 Feng, Xiang, 165–6
financial policy
budget parliamentarianism and, 295–7
capitalist evolution in China of, 88–9 globalization and shocks in, 87 fiscal adjudication administrative accountability and, 102–3
local government accountability and, 112–15

floating legal order, responsibility in judicial reform and, 158–9 force of law, coordination function and, 160–1 foreign direct investment (FDI), Chinese economic development and, 360–1 forensic science, criminal law and, 214–15 formalistic paradox of law, 213
rule of law and, 439–40
formal justice
legal ideology of, 262–75
proceduralism and, 169–71
formal rationality procedural justice and, 165
Weber’s theory of, xx–xxi
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Index</th>
<th>505</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>formula of intolerability (Radbruch), 50</td>
<td>rule of law in, 439</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Forsthoft, Ernst, 439</td>
<td>Weber’s influence in, 124–5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Foucault, Michel, 79–80, 367–9, 422–3</td>
<td>gestalt thinking, Chinese legal system and, 28–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>four comprehensives of Chinese governance, 311–13</td>
<td>Gini coefficient, Chinese rural-urban divide and, 292–3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>fractalism, legal order in Chinese culture and, 415–16, 416n.18</td>
<td>global governance emergence of, 84–5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>France contract law in, 333–4</td>
<td>modern transformation of, 291–302</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>legal theory in, 412–13</td>
<td>globalization Chinese economic development and, 88–9, 364–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>power devolution in, 113–14</td>
<td>Chinese population decline and, 293–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frank, Jerome N., 213</td>
<td>contemporary legal reform and, 66–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frankfurt School, 188–90</td>
<td>contract law in China and, 335</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>free-riding behavior, market economy and, 1</td>
<td>COVID-19 and, 345–50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Free Trade Zones (FTZs), 84–5</td>
<td>historical patterns of, 84–5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>local governance and, 300–1</td>
<td>judicial reform in China and influence of, 396–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>French Constitutional Law, 42n.7</td>
<td>political upheaval and, 86–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friedman, Lawrence M., xxvii–xxix, 438–9</td>
<td>postmodernism in China and, 410–11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fukuyama, 310–11</td>
<td>risk society and, 73–6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fuller, Lon L., 50–1, 167–9, 404–5n.5</td>
<td>rule of law and, 12, 438–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>funding of judiciary, Chinese courts and, 140–2</td>
<td>supranational legal systems and, 84–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>game theory market economy and, 1</td>
<td>Governance belief in rule of law and, 390–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rule of law and, xxii</td>
<td>budget constraints and, 297–8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gang of Four, 355</td>
<td>budget parliamentarianism and, 295–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gan Yang, xix–xx, 441–2</td>
<td>Burke’s concept of, 272–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gao Xiqing, 399–400</td>
<td>Chongqing Model of, 353–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Geertz, Clifford, 176, 410–11, 421–2</td>
<td>competing claims procedural arena and, 289–91</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General Principles of Civil Law, 333</td>
<td>corporatism model of, 311–13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General Principles of the Civil Law of the People’s Republic of China, 149–50</td>
<td>COVID-19 prevention and control, networked model for, 340–1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General Rules of Civil Law, 333</td>
<td>cultural traditions and, 48–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>historical materialism and, 282–3</td>
<td>e-government plan, 340–5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>people’s sovereignty and, 269–71</td>
<td>historical materialism and modernization of, 281–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rousseau’s thesis of, 432–3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
governance (cont.)
indirect administration perspective, 19–20 individual rights vs. community in, 274–5 information management and, 253–6
legalist ideology and, 15–17
limited government, two-step dual structure, 266–8
market economy efficiency and fairness and, 298–9 mimesis in institutional design of, 417–21 modernization history in China, 307–8 modernization ideology and, 257–62 modern rule of state and, 34–7 networked society and centralization of, 68–9
order principles in China and, 411–26
orthodoxy mechanism in, 264–71
performance assessments of, 132–3 political reform in, 297
private development and, 360–1
reciprocity and commonality in, 271–5
restrained freedom and constitutional inheritance in, 272–4 risk management and, 80–1 rule of law and modes of, 399–400 social diversification and, 353 sovereignty and general will and, 269–71
state-individual antithesis, internalized order and, 268–9 theatre state and resonance effect in, 421–3
three-in-one strategy of, 310–11
top-down control in, 392–3
traditional structure of, 176–7, 195–6 tripartite republican state structure and, 275–80 unlimited government, trust contract, 264–6
urbanization policies and, 294–5
value trichotomy and communicative procedure in, 287–9
yin and yang in, 21–4
gradualism, Chinese concepts of democracy and, 434
grand democracy, Chinese concept of, 432–3 grand supervision vision, political reform and, 129–35 Greater China circle, xxi
globalization and, 88–9
Grotius, Hugo, 263–4
guanxi networks
capitalism and, 69–70
Chinese legal reform and, xxxiii–xxxvii
contemporary legal reforms and, 71–2
contestation and equilibrium in, 423–5
cultural embeddedness of, 414
four comprehensives of Chinese governance and, 311–13 indirect administration and, 19–20
individuation and, 67–8
legal order in China and, 414–17, 420
modern rule of law and, 35–6
political reform and, 298–9
power and, 21
procedure and, 11–12, 36–7
social order and, 28–9
state power and, 70
strict liability in power structure and, 109 traffic rules and, 61–2
guanzhi (government regulation),
digital technology and, xli–xlii
Guanzi, 15, 49n.11
Gu Zhun, 446
Habermas, Jürgen, xxx–xxxii, 60, 153–5, 169 deliberation theory of, 226–7 developmental phases of rule of law and, 198–9 discourse theory of, 233 idealized deliberation of, 199–201
INDEX

on interest-based compromises vs.
justice-based discussions, 192–3 Luhmann and, 190–2
on normative-interactive process, 193–5 procedural formalism and, xxv on proceduralism, 187–95
Rawls and, 178–9, 186–7
rule of law and, 404–5n.5
social context of values and, 195–6
social-critical theory of, 177–8, 188–90 on subjective claims, 190–2 temporary consensus of, 170–1 Han dynasty, legal theory during,
413–14
Han Fei, 149–50, 308
Hanfeizi, 16
harmonious coexistence with differences paradigm, plurality of values and, 39
“Harmonious Society” ideology, 94–5, 353 harmony, in Chinese legal theory, xxxv Harsanyi, John C., 180–1
Headrick, Thomas, 235–7
Hegel, G. F. W., 210
He Halbo, 388–9, 394, 396
Heller, H., 439
Heywood, Neil, 97–9
Higher People’s Court of Shanxi Province, 143–4
historical materialism competing claims procedural arena
and, 289–91
Marxian jurisprudence and philosophy of rights, 283–7 modernization of Chinese law and, 281–9
value trichotomy and communicative procedure and, 287–9
historical rationality, rule of law and, 386–7
historic tradition
postmodernism in China and, 410
reciprocity and commonality in, 271–5
tripartite republican state model and,
275–80

The History of Institutions in China
(Lü Shimian), 355–7
Hitler, Adolf, 129, 373
Hobbes, Thomas, 16–17, 264–6, 283, 368–9, 383–5, 439–40
household registration policy, economic impact of, 294–5
*Hsiao, 21
Huang Ziyi, 441
Huang Zongxi, 404–5
Hu Jintao, 353
human nature, Rawls on, 182–3 human rights
computer-aided sentencing and omission of, 242–4 constitutional review and, 106–7
judicial review and, 42–3
proceduralism and, 173–4
Hume, David, 57–9, 272
hybrid law, risk society and, xxi–xxii
A Hypermodern Law: the Deep Structure of China’s Legal Order, xliii–xlvi
I Ching: Book of Change, 27–9 ICT
guanxi and impact of, 67–8
informed consent and, 79–80
social networks and, 64–5
idealized deliberation, procedural reform and, 199–201
ideology
Chinese conceptions of democracy
and, 432–8
Chinese legal theory and, 13–14
custodial authority and, 59
governance modernization and, 257–62
trichotomy of values in Chinese legal system and, 278–80
imagined community
custodial authority and, 57–9
state as, 47–9
imperial order, Chinese legal theory and influence of, 413–14
Implementation Rules of Sentencing Standardisation of 100 Commonly Used Crimes (Zichuan District Court), 241–2
independence, procedural value of, 167–9 Independent Commission against Corruption (ICAC) (Hong Kong), 131–2, 328–9 independent personality, recognition in China of, 287–9 indeterminacy of law, responses to, 211–13 indirect administration, Chinese governance and, 19–21 individual rights community and, 274–5
democratic norms and, 43–5
government power and, 34–5
historical materialism and, 282–3
judicial reform in China and, 149–50
to litigation, 115–16
litigation of, 301
state power and, 268–9
tripartite republican state model and, 275–80
individuation, Chinese legal reforms and, 67–73 inequality breakdown of social networks and, 68–9 Chinese rich-poor gap and, 292–3
information management dispute resolution and, xxxv judicial information overload and, 251n.48 justified authority and, 60
litigation information systems and smart courts and, 245–8
risk society and, 79–80
value trichotomy and disclosure and, 287–9 informed consent, decision-making and, 79–80 inherited right of freedom, Burke’s discussion of, 272–4 inner morality of law, 50–4 Inoguchi, Takashi, 438
inquisitorial system, judicial reform in China and, 150
Institute for Dispute Resolution (Kyoto University), xxxv Institute of Law (USSR Academy of Science), 235–7 institutional design Chinese economic development and, 365–6 of Chinese judicial system, 142–3
Chinese legal theory and, 23
constitutional order and, 40–1 for constitutional review, 320–4
economic development and, 362–3
judicial information overload and, 252–3
for judicial review, 110–11
judicial review and, 44–7
legal order in Chinese culture and, 416–17 local interference with court adjudication using, 144–5 mimesis in China of, 417–21 modern rule of law state, 34–7 modern social revolution and, 31–3 procedural costs and, 202–4
risk society and, 81–2
rule of law innovations in, 376–9 social complexity reflected in, 29–30 tertiary rule of law implementation and, 373–6, 388–9 top-level design approach of CCP and, 309–11 value plurality and constitutionalism and, 37–41 Institutional Law of the Judiciary, denotation of judicial independence and, 139–40 institutional reform and innovation, rule of law and, 12 Instructions on the Abolition of the Kuomintang’s Six Laws and the Determination of the Judicial Principles of the Liberated Areas (CCP), 31–2 instrumentalism, proceduralism and trap of, 196–7 instrumental rationality Chinese legal theory and, 15–17 process and, xxv–xxvi
INDEX

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>integrated governance structure</th>
<th>Development and resistance to, 411–14</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>local interference with court</td>
<td>political power structure and, 253–6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>adjudication using, 144</td>
<td>political reform and, 297, 382</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>in National Supervisory Commission reform programme, 329–32</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>interactional law, Chinese traditional law as, 413–14</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>interconnectivity, network structure and, 70–1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>interest-based compromises, Habermas on, 192–3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>interest groups</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>binary structure and diversification in China of, 352–5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chinese adoption of rule of law and influence of, 317–18</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>legal reform and role of, 357–8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>market economy and, 2–3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>traditional Chinese governance and, 176–7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Intermediate People's Court of Yulin, mineral rights case adjudication by, 143–4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>internalist perspective. See also globalization</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>inner morality of law and, 50–1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>judicial reform in China and, xxxix–xli</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>modern rule of law and, 34–7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>state vs. individuals in social order and, 268–9</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>international environment, Chinese legal reforms and, 364–7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>International Union of Local Authorities (IULA), 113–14</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Internet</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chinese governance and risk of, xiii–xliv</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chinese litigation services on, 245–8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chinese social relations network and, 64–5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>interpersonal relations</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chinese legal theory and, 20, 163–4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Confucian governance model and, 34–5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>proceduralism and, 36–7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>interpretative community, in risk society, 82–4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

intersubjective interactions, Habermas on, 187–8|
intra-party reforms, democratization in China and, 447
An Investigation Report of the Peasant Movements in Hunan Province (Mao Zedong), 31–2

Japan consensus democracy in, 436–8 constitutionalism in, 366–7 dispute resolution theory in, xxxv legal reform in, 253–6 Peace Constitution in, 366–7 theatre state in, 421–2
Jhering, Rudolf von, 115–16
Jiang Ping, 382–3, 394
“Jiangsu Legal Affairs Cloud,” 246–8
Jiang Tao vs. Chengdu Branch of People's Bank of China, 106–7 Jiang Zemin, 353, 431
jing (stability), Chinese legal system and, 212–13 Judeo-Christian values, American law and, 38–9 judicial foundationalism, constitutional review and, 110–11 judicial independence absence Chinese legal system of, 28–9, 396–9 computer-aided sentencing as barrier to, 242–4 constitutional reform and, 41–7
democracy and, 440
denotation in Chinese judicial system of, 139–40 governance design and, 253–6
importance of, 379–82
limited government and, 266–8
Locke's limited government theory and, 266–8 media trial as limit on, 153–5 obstacles in China to, 396–9 order principles in China and resistance to, 411–14 political power structure and, 253–6
political reform and, 297, 382
judicial independence (cont.)
political reform and establishment of, 97–9 proportional relationship to judicial review and, 145–6 qualification of judges and, 253–6
sollen (duty to do right) and, 162–3
state power restraint and, 47–9
supportive measures for, 51–2 judicial reform in China active judiciary and, 155–7
artificial intelligence and, 248–53
authority for, 135–7
computer-aided sentencing and, 241–2
calendar technology for, 238–40
constitutional review and, 313–14
democratization and, 155–7, 159–60 discretion constraints and, 155–63 enforcement and violence reduction and, xli–xlii fact ascertainment priority over normative effects and, 148–9 individual responsibility and, 158–9 inquisitorial system vs. public opinion and, 150
international environment and, 364–7 judicial openness principle and, 97–9 legal practices and obstacles to, xxxix–xli litigation reform and, 377–8 mediation and, 155–7
media trial as supervision of judicial discretion and, 153–5 megapolitan governance and, xl–xli
in National Supervisory Commission reform programme, 332
neoproceduralism and, xxxiii–xxxv nitty-gritty lawyers and, 381–2, 394–5
policy and social arguments and, 229–31
political reform linked to, 396
procedural justice correlation with satisfaction and, 202

public opinion and performance evaluation and, 157 quadrilement model of, xxxv–xxxvii recent trends in, 379–82 responsibility in trial procedure and management and, 151–2 scientific verification and, 216–17
situational ethics and, 149–50 smart design movement and, 234–5 sollen problems and, 160–1
judicial review
in American court system, 46–7
challenges to constitutionality and, 51–2 Chinese political reform and establishment of, 97–9
constitutional reform and, 41–7
democracy and, 8, 43–5, 440
executive power limits through, 299–300 impact of artificial intelligence on, 248–53
invigoration of Constitution through, 103–11
lack of impetus for, 147–8 legislative power and, 125–7 limited to specific administrative activity, 146–7
local interference with, 144–5
local rule of law and, 112–15
procedural reform and, 204–7
proportional relationship to judicial independence and, 145–6
rule of law and, 370–1, 376, 389–90
state power restraint and, 47–9
state structure and acceptance of, 388–9
supervisory reform and, 134–5
judicial system in China. See also Chinese legal system accessibility, xxxvii case overload and digital technology initiatives in, 248–53 denotation of judicial independence in, 139–40 inefficiencies in, xxxvi–xxxvii institutional design paradoxes in, 142–3
Index

- judicial authority in, xxxvi
- judicial corruption, lawyers’ role in, 51–2
- judicial discretion, inner morality of law and, 51
- judicial fairness in, xxxvi
- local interference in economic cases before, 143–5
- personnel and financial regulation of courts and, 140–2
- power structure and functional relationship in, 138–9
- JUDITH legal reasoning system, 235–7
- juridical democracy, 442–3
- Lowi’s concept of, 126
- JURIS database, 235–7
- jurisprudence of commons, market and ordinances, 278–80
- historical materialism and modernization of, 281–3
- Marxian philosophy of rights and, 283–7
- in postmodernism, 408–9
- justice
  - Chinese morality-based reflection and, 23–4
  - contestation and equilibrium in
    - Chinese concept of, 423–5
    - dispute resolution and, 28–9
    - procedures for, xxv–xxvi
    - rule of law and role of, 372
    - utilitarianism and, 90–1
  - justified authority, 59–61

- Kac, Eduardo, 234
- Kant, Immanuel
  - on law of nature, 263–4
  - procedural formalism and, xxiv–xxv
  - on punishment, 153–4
- Kawashima, Takeyoshi, xxxv
- Kennedy, Duncan, 224n.37
- Kennedy, John F., 38–9
- keyless signature infrastructure (KSI), 343–5
- King, Ambrose, 20–1
- Knight, Frank, 178–9
- Koizumi Junichiro, 128–9
- Kornai, János, 297–8, 374–6
- KRP programming language, 236
- Kuomintang legal system, social revolution and disintegration of, 31–2
- labour-capital conflict, market risks and business activism and, xlii–xliii
- Langdell, Christopher C., 213–18
- language
  - computer software and standardization of, 241–2, 244–5
  - legal-communicative process and, 220–3
  - law and society research paradigm, social-scientific legal studies and, 224–5
  - law as art, discursive forms of, 218–20
  - law as science paradigm, 213–18
  - law databases, artificial intelligence and upgrading of, 235–7
  - law enforcement, procedural justice and, 316
  - Law Magazine, 237
- lawmaking
  - neoproceduralism and, xxiii–xxiv
  - people’s sovereignty and, 270
  - Law of Lawyers, defence activities and, 116–19
  - law of resistance, 284–5
  - Law of Taxes on Personal Incomes, 352
  - lawyers, client privilege and duty of, 116–19
- leadership
  - charismatic leadership, 123–5
  - direct election of, 125–7
  - parliament and, 123
  - political party apparatus and, 128–9
  - rule of law and mentality of, 400–1
  - learning-oriented institutions, in risk society, 81–2
  - legal-communicative process, adversarial list and, 220–3
  - legal decision-making
    - big data analytics and, xxxix
    - computer-aided sentencing impact on, 242–4
Legal Decision-Making System, 236
legal ideology
defined, 257–62
genealogical analysis of, 262–75 limited government and dual state structure, 266–8 orthodoxy mechanism in, 264–71
postmodern theories of, 408–9
unlimited government concept and, 264–6
Legalism, strong country ideology and, 308
Legalist system
Chinese legal theory and, 15–17, 30–1 Confucianism and, 413n.14
governance under, 34–5
indeterminacy of law and, 211–13
institutional design and, 23
rule of law in, 440–2
legal methodologies, contemporary Chinese legal system and, 207–11
legal order complexity in China of, 414–17
conditions for democracy and, 426–30
contestation and equilibrium in, 423–5
mimesis in design of, 417–21
sympathy without agreement in, 425–6
theatre state and resonance effect and, 421–3
trichotomous structure for, 275–80
Western concepts of, 405n.6
legal paternalism, Chinese state and, 48–9 legal pluralism, Chinese state power and, 6–7, 355–7
legal positivism
Chinese legalist ideology and, 16
social contract theory and, 271
legal practice, xxxiv–xxxv, xxxix–xli
legal professionalism client defence and, 116–19
proceduralism and, 173–4
legal reform
Chinese legal system and, 13
economic outlook and, 97–9
historical materialism and, 281–9
ideology perspective on, 258–60 interaction-based obeisance to the law and, 32
proceduralism and, 204–7
theories of, xxxiii–xxvii timetableness for, 14
unconstitutionality issues and, 105
legal rules judicial reform and hardening of, 381
risk society and, 77–8
legal supervision, Chinese concepts of democracy and, 443 legal uncertainty, institutional design and, 231–4 legislation brevity of, in China, 242–4 democratization in China and, 8
judicial review and, 47–9
justification for, 60–1
Marx on, 285
scientific methods and measures and, 214n.29 Legislation Law (China), constitutional review and, 104–7 Legislative Affairs Committee (NPCSC), constitutional review process and, 104 legislative supremacy principle, judiciary’s adherence to, 145–6 legitimacy
in Chinese legal reform, 213
indeterminacy of law and, 211–13
justified authority and, 60–1
procedure and, xxvii–xxix
in risk society, 77–8
of rule of law, 410
Legitimacy, xxvii–xxix
Leser, Hans Georg, 47–9
Leviathan (Hobbes), 264–6, 368–9
Lewisian turning point
Chinese rural-urban divide and, 292–3
economic development and, 360–3
li (reason)
conditions for democracy in China and, 429–30
media norms based on, 153–5
yin and yang in governance and, 21–4
INDEX

Liang, Huixing, 21
Liang Qichao, 404–5, 413–14, 419–20
liberalism, values and, 91 liberty, principle of, democratic norms and, 43–5 Li Buyun, 382–3
Li Changkui case, 153–4
Li Keqiang, 237
limited government, two-step dual structure, 266–8
limited judicial review system, 46–7
Lind, Allan, 157
Lippmann, Walter, 119–20, 153–5 literature, postmodern theories of, 408–9 litigation in Confucianism, 17–21
of individual rights, 301 internet service platforms for, 246–8 right to, 115–16, 391–2 rule of law and support for, 377–8, 400–1 litigation fees, funding of judiciary with, 141n.12 litigation information systems, Chinese development of, 245–8 Liu Bang, 30–1
Liu Jianwen, 396–9
Liu Shaoqi, 391
Liu Yunshan, 392–3
living law theory, xx–xxi
Li Zhuang case, 97–9, 155, 378
Llewellyn, Karl N., 213
local government accountability review and debt crisis of, 374–6 Chinese concepts of democracy and autonomy of, 434–5 debt crisis of, 292, 295, 300–1, 362
interference in economic court cases by, 143–5, 297–8
judicial reform and, 135–7
one country, two systems model and diversification of, 446 political reforms for, 300–1
private development and, 360–1
reform dividends for, 377 rule of law implementation and resistance of, 112–15, 395–6 theatre state and, 422–3
local knowledge
computer-aided sentencing and omission of, 242–4
proceduralism and, 176
local regulations, computer-aided sentencing and misinterpretation of, 242–4 Locke, John, 266–8, 368–9, 383–5
Lowi, Theodore, 126, 442–3
Luhmann, Niklas, xxx–xxxi, 29–30, 77–8, 187–8
Habermas and, 190–2 learning law concept of, 233
procedural justice and, 193–5
on reflexive rationality, 277
rule of law and, 404–5n.5
social context of values and, 195–6, 277
on value meanings of rules, 209
Luhmann-Parsons structural functionalism, xxviii–xxix “Lumbar Puncture in the Hospital affiliated to Tokyo University” case, 215–16
Lü Shimian, 355–7
Lyon, David, 79–80
Machiavelli, Niccolo, 16–17, 40–1, 367–9
Madison, James, 48–9, 129, 432–3, 439–40
mafia organizations
Chinese campaign against, 354–5
Chongqing incident and, 97–9, 353–4
guanxi networks and, 70
Magnaud phenomenon (France), 412–13
Maine, Henry, 333–4 major events reporting, local interference with judicial review in, 144–5 Malinowsky, Bronislaw, 24–6 Mandate of Heaven, 58–9
Mannheim, Karl, 257
Index

manufactured risk, risk society and, 74n.11
Mao Zedong
Great Proletariat Cultural Revolution, 128–9 legal reforms under, 31–2 pluralism vs. unified power for, 385–6 market economy. See also economic development; economic outlook
Chinese adoption of rule of law and influence of, 317–18
Chinese concepts of democracy and problems of, 434
Chinese judicial reform and, 138, 253–6
Chinese power structure and, 4–5
four comprehensives of Chinese governance and, 311–13
game theory and, 1 governance efficiency and fairness concerning, 298–9
historical materialism and, 281–3
interest groups and, 2–3, 352–5 judicial process and, 24–6
legal ideology and, 258–60
modern rule of law and, 34–7, 405
networked society and, 68
reciprocity and, 20–1
risk society and, 75–6
rule of law impact on, 1–2, 358–9
tripartite republican state model and, 275–80
market risks, business activism and, xlii–xliii Marx, Karl
on civil society contradictions, 267–8 game theory interpretation of, 283 historical materialism of, 274–5 on jurisprudence and philosophy of rights, 283–7
limited government structure and, 267–8
on socio-economic development, 287–9 Masahiko Aoki, xix–xx, 438
mass participation, Chinese concepts of democracy and, 443
Maximin Principle, 180–1
Ma Xiwu Trial Style, 412–13
media in China. See alternative media media trial, as supervision of judicial discretion, 153–5 megalopolitan governance, risks and legal reforms for, xl–xli Mencius, 18n.6, 188–90
legal order in Chinese culture and, 415n.18
meta-rules, computer-aided sentencing and, 242–4 methodological-legal debate, Chinese legal system and, 207–11 microcosm, legal order in Chinese culture and, 416–17 Middle Ages
civil society and, 264
legal ideology in, 263–4 middle income trap, Chinese rural-urban divide and, 292–3 migrant worker shortage (Guangdong), 360 Miller, David, 276–7
mimesis, in Chinese legal system, 417–21
Minda, Gary, 408–9
mineral rights adjudication, local interference in court rulings on, 143–4 Ming dynasty, law in, 403–4 minority interests, judiciary representation of, 162–3 mirror image principle, judicial standards and, 241–2 modernization of Chinese society and legal system, 31–3
commonality and, 272
conditions in China for, 426–30
English constitutional policy and, 272–4 failure of rule of law and, 405–7 human reasoning and, 261–2
individual rights vs. community and, 274–5
legal ideology and, 262–75
INDEX

National Supervisory Commission
ideas for, 324–6
public power vs. private interests in, 383–5
risk society and, 75
rule of law and, 404–5
state governance ideology and, 257–62
tripartite republican state model, 275–80
unification of legal system and, 355–7
Westcentric paradigm of, xxx–xxxii Mommsen, Wolfgang J., 120–1 monarchy
Chinese law and tradition of, 404–5 theatre state and resonance effect and, 421–3 monistic power structure
indirect regulation and, 21
Legalist defence of, 34–5
modern transformation of, 35–6, 281–9 Qin law and, 3–4
social revolution and, 31–3
monitoring apparatus, risk society and, 79–80 Montesquieu (Charles Secondat), legal theory and, 211 moral authority, political power and, 21 morality perspective Chinese justice and, 23–4
as Confucian core value, 163–4 Habermas on, 189–90
proceduralism and, 169–71
moral proceduralism, Habermas’s concept of, 196 multicentric governance model, history of, 15
Murakami, Junichi, 189
Napoleonic Code, 412–13
Nash equilibrium, market economy and, 1
national ethos, compliance with law and, 159–60
National Institute of Advanced Industrial Science and Technology (AIST), 236

National People’s Congress (NPC)
budget parliamentarianism and, 100–1
Chinese concepts of democracy and Standing Committee of, 435–6
democratization in China and, 8, 440–4
reposition of National Supervisory Committee and, 327–9 state power status of, 319–20
top-down control and, 393
National Project for Judicial Adjudication Information System, 239–40
National Supervisory Commission
history of repositioning of, 327–9 modernization and political reform ideas, 324–6 overview of, 324–32
regime-building models, 120–3
Weberian constitutional design for, 120–35 nation-building, plurality of values and, 39 natural law
charismatic leadership and party apparatus and, 128–9
computer-aided sentencing and omission of, 242–4 genealogy of, 263–4 Weber’s critique of, 126–7 neoauthoritarianism, debate over, 372–3 neoliberalism, risk society and, 78–9 Neoproceduralism
advocacy for, xix–xxiii, 167–78
Chinese legal tradition and, xxxii–xxxiii
conditions in China for, 428
judicial fairness and, xxxvi
jurisprudence and, 89–96
legal reform and, 204–7
roots of, xxiii–xxv rule of law theories and, 95–6 transition and change in governance and, 94–5 Westcentrism in, xxx–xxxii
INDEX

neo-traditionalism, post-revolution era and, 31–2 Networked Management Platform for Epidemic Prevention and Control in Smart Communities, 340–1
networked society
Chinese legal system and, 67–73
combinational optimization of reform and, 72–3
COVID-19 prevention and control, model for, 340–1 Internet in China and, 64–5
multiple-function digital identification and, 341–3
risk management in, xli–xlii
rule of law and, 12
smart networks, rule of law and, 345–50
neutrality
judicial independence and, 162–3
procedural value of, xxvi–xxvii, xxix–xxx, 167–9
A New Treatise on Constitutionalism: Law and Social Transition in the Age of Globalisation, xliii–xlvi
New Leftism
order principles in Chinese culture and, 411–14
risk society and, 78–9
New Middle Ages, values conflicts and, 90 Nineteenth CPC National Congress, rule of law report to, 307–16 nitty-gritty lawyers
judicial reform and, 381–2, 394–5
political reform and, 116–19, 301, 394–5
rule of law implementation and, 378
nominalist perspective, Chinese legal theory and, 19
Nonet, Philippe, 277
nonsymmetrical reform strategy, social revolution and, 31–3 normal justification thesis, 55–7 norm innovation, judicial review and, 47–9
norm multiplicity, legal order in China and, 414–17
North, Douglas, 277
Northern Song era, guanxi networks in, 70–1
Nozick, Robert, 76–7
NPC Standing Committee (NPCSC) constitutional review process and, 104 supervisory powers of, 100n.2, 321 Obama, Barack, 38–9
obeisance to law, legal reform and, 32, 198–9 obligation clause, multiple interpretations of, 242–4
one-child policy, political and economic impact of, 293–4 Organic Law of the People’s Courts, 251–2 Organic Law of Village Committees, 434–5 organization, social revolution and, 31–3 organized irresponsibility, risk society and, 74 “original sign” in economic reform, 381, 389–90
The Outlawed Mash, 422–3
Outline of a Decision Procedure for Ethics (Rawls), 178–9
Outline of a Decision Procedure for Ethics (Rawls), 92–3 outward accountability mechanism, judicial reform in China and, 152 overlapping consensus human nature and, 182–3
proceduralism and, 170–1, 181, 190–2
Pandekten model, introduction of, 31–3
Pang, Pu, 415–16
Pareto Principle, 68–9
parliamentary structure in China, 393
Chinese concepts of democracy and, 443–4
constitutional role of, 127 political leaders and, 123
rule of law and, 439–40
INDEX

Pashukanis, Evgeny Bronislavovich, 258–60 patriarchy, social revolution and disintegration of, 31–2
Peace Constitution (Japan), 366–7 Peng Zhen, 391, 434–5
penumbra of doubt, Hart’s concept of, 51 People’s Congress(es)
denotation of judicial independence and, 139–40 judicial appointments and dismissals by, 145–6
personnel and financial regulation of courts and, 140–2 supremacy of, judicial system design and, 142–3 People’s Court Daily, xxxv people’s sovereignty
general will and, 269–71
inner morality of law and, 50–1
performance assessments
in National Supervisory Commission reform programme, 329–32
public opinion as basis for, 157
supervisory reform and, 132–3
performance-based authority, 59–61 personality assessment, Confucian litigation and, 17–21 personal rule of politicians, Weber’s concept of, 123 Peterson, M., 236
philosophy of rights, Marxian jurisprudence as, 283–7 “Pilot Plan on the Implementation of the National Supervision System Reform in Beijing, Shanxi Province, and Zhejiang Province,” 327–9
PKU Fabao information search system, 237
Planning on the Building of Computer Information Network Systems at People’s Courts, 239–40
Plato, 60
pluralism
Chinese legal reform and, xxxiii–xxxvii
Chinese social and legal order and, 411
Chinese traditional law and, 413–14
conditions for democracy and, 429–30
interest group diversification and, 352
in Japanese democracy, 438 unified power and, 385–8
value plurality and constitutionalism, 37–41
yin and yang in governance and, 21–4
Polanyi, Karl, 276–7 policy arguments, sociology of, 227–31 policy budget system, administrative accountability and, 102–3 Political Liberalism (Rawls) and, 178–81, 183–6 political party apparatus charismatic leadership and, 128–9 Chinese adoption of rule of law and democratization of, 317–18 interference in economic court cases by, 143–5
judicial independence and barrier of, 396–9
separation from government of, 446 political power. See also power structure charismatic leadership and direct elections, 123–5
government reform and abuses of, 297
guanxi networks and, 28–9
judicial independence and barrier of, 396–9 Legalist system of, 30–1
legal reform and role of, 357–8 legislative power, 112–15
order principles in China and, 411–26
public power vs. private interests and, 383–5 restraints on judicial review and, 145–8
theatre state and, 421–2
values and beliefs and, 38–9
Index

political reform
  accountability review and, 374–6
  budget audit and, 373–4
  budget parliamentarianism and, 100–1, 295–7
  Chinese concept of democracy and, 432–8 civil rights, autonomy and self-governance and, 4–5
  constitutional review and, 109–10
  democracy in China and, 444–8
  economic outlook and, 97–9
  factors driving Chinese adoption of, 317–18
  globalization and, 86–7
  judicial reform and, 396
  legislative power for, 112–15
  of local governments, 300–1
  neoproceduralism and, xxiv–xxv
  nitty-gritty lawyers and, 301, 394–5
  rule of law linked to, 135–7, 297, 302, 357–61, 389–90 supervisory power reform and, 129–35
  timetable for, 14
  triple review mechanism for, 99–111
Politico-Legal Notes (Feng), 165–6
Politics (Aristotle), 91–2
Politics and Law Committees, Chinese judicial system and, 138–9 Popp, Walter, 235–7 population decline, 363 population decline, political and economic impact of, 293–4
The Possibility of a Rule of Law China, 176
postmodernism
  Chinese debate on impact of, 405
  Chinese self-examination and, 407–8 critique in, 408
  jurisprudence and, 408–9
  popularity in China of, 409–11 power structure. See also political power authority and, 8–10
  charismatic leadership and direct elections, 123–5
  in Chinese judicial system, 138–9
  Chongqing Incident and, 353–4
  coercion of adjudication by, 155 contemporary social phenomena and, 367–9 democracy in China and role of, 440–2
  judicial independence and, 253–6
  legal pluralism and, 6–7, 355–7
  limited government and, 266–8
  market economy and reform of, 4–5, 34–7 people’s sovereignty and general will and, 269–71
  public power vs. private interests in, 383–5
  reform of, 357–8
  restraints on judicial review and, 145–8 rule of law and reform of, 369–73
  solem (duty to do right) and, 162–3 strict liability of officials in, 109
  sympathy without agreement in, 425–6
  three-in-one strategy of, 310–11
  top-down judicial decision-making and, 32
  unconstitutionality issues and, 105–6 universal values and restructuring of, 5–7 in Weberian regime models, 121–3 power vs. rights dichotomy, Chinese political reform and, 97–9 practical rationality
    justified authority and, 59–61
    proceduralism and, 36–7
  social contract theory and, 59–61
  PRC Constitution, rule of law in, 97–9 preemptive reason thesis, 56
  uniformity authority and, 61–2
  preliminary consensus, procedural reform and, 197–9 preventive strategies, computer-aided sentencing and omission of, 242–4 primary legitimacy, procedure and, xxvi–xxix private development contract in China and, 335
  economic development and, 360–1
INDEX 519

original sin of, 389–90
of state-owned enterprises, 295 private interests, public power vs., 383–5 private rights model, constitutional review and, 107–8 probability of harm, in risk society, 77 probability-oriented approach
Chinese legal system and, 26–31
trap of equilibrium and, 25–6
procedural composite, definition of, 171–4 procedural fairness, governance design and, 253–6 proceduralism and procedural justice authority reforms and, 371–2
Chinese judicial reform based on, 157
Chinese legal tradition and, xxxii–xxxiii
choice-making in diversified reality and, 183–6
competing claims in, 289–91 conflict resolution and, 394–6 contract legitimation and deliberation, 174–5 contract responsibility and, 199–201 costs compared to probable mistake costs, 202–4 culture and value diversification integration, 175–8
defined, 36–7
democracy and, 438–44
design of procedures, xxvii different perspectives on, 164–7 discretionary power of judiciary and, 163–207 exchange of reasons and, 193–5 fairness in individual cases and, 314–16 formal rationality and, 165
global paradigm of, 204–7
Habermas–Rawls debate over, 186–7
Habermas’s analysis of, 187–95 independent value of, 167–9 interest-based compromises, 192–3 legal uncertainty, 231–4 moral argumentation and, 169–71
neoproceduralism and, xxiii–xxiv
rule of law and, 10–11, 314–16
satisfaction positive and negative correlations, 201–2 social context of values in, 195–6 social justice and, 178–87 subjective claims and, 190–2 substantive judgments and, 178–87 theories on, xix–xxiii transitioning society in China and, 94–5 trap of instrumentalism and, 196–7
values and, 94
will to power and, 171–4 procedural law of nature, 50 procedural republic, Chinese institutional reform and, 94–5 processes, utilitarian view of, xxv–xxx procuratorate. See Supreme People’s Procuratorate professionalization of lawyers defence of client and, 116–19
proceduralism and, 173–4
PROLOG programming language, 236 property rights government asset seizure and, 354–5
legal ideology of, 266–8
smart networks and, 345–50
public opinion
alternative media and, 119–20
Chinese state power and, 7–8
judicial performance evaluation and, 157
judicial reform and, 53–4, 150, 380–1
media trial as tool of, 153–5
political reform and role of, 298–9
Public Opinion (Lippmann), 153–5
public-private dichotomy Constitutionalism and, 37–41, 106n.6
smart networks and, 345–50
public security organizations, Chinese judicial system and, 138–9 public transport, redesign of, 363–4, 389–90 public welfare, limits to freedom for preservation of, 48–9 pyramid sales schemes, networked society and, 68
INDEX

Qiao Shi, 435–6, 440–2
Qin Empire
  guanxi networks in, 70–1 law during, 3–4, 15
  legal reforms in, 25–6 regime model in, 120–1
qing (emotional considerations)
  conditions for democracy in China and, 429–30
  media norms based on, 153–5
  yin and yang in governance and, 21–4
Qing dynasty, legal reform during, 31–3 qingli. See reasonableness qingli (reasonableness)
Qinshihuangdi (Emperor of Qin), 15
Qin Xiao, 383–5, 389, 399–400
Qü, Tongzu, 19–20 quality of law-making, Chinese legal reform and, 208–9
quan (adaptation), Chinese legal system and, 212–13 quasi-judicial bodies, supervisory agencies as, 129–35
Radbruch, Gustav, 50
radical indeterminacy, judicial practices, 217–18 radical objectivism, Luhmann and, 190–2 Rapoport, Anatol, 215n.32
ratio decidendi principle
  computer-aided sentencing impact on, 242–4
  constitutional review and, 106–7
  inner morality of law and, 51
  judicial independence and, 380–1
  legal decision-making, xxxix
  scientific evidence in, 215–16
ratio legitimatio status/privilege, limits of artificial intelligence and, 248–53 rational choice theory
  historical materialism and, 283
  networked society and, 64–5
rationalization, procedural value of, 167–9 rationality of system in Chinese legal culture, 415–16 Habermas on, 188–90
proceduralism and, 36–7, 170–1, 204–7
rule of law and, 386–7
rational morality, Habermas’s concept of, 196
Radbruch, Gustav, 50
real estate adjudication, local interference with court during, 144 real estate development, economic reforms and, 294–5, 362–3 reasonableness (qingli)
  Chinese legal system and, 25–6, 29–30
  four comprehensives of Chinese governance and, 311–13
  legal order in China and, 414–17
  yin and yang in governance and, 21–4
reciprocity
  Chinese legal theory and, 17–21
  Chinese social order and, 24–6, 28–9
  commonality and, 271–5
  Rawls’s view of, 182–3
redemptive contract, proceduralism and, 169–71 reflective equilibrium, 188–90 Rawls’s theory of, 178–9, 190–2
reflexive rationality, Habermas on, 188–90
“A Reform of the Party and State Leadership” (Deng Xiapoping), 433–4 Reform Movement of 1898, 386–7
regime building models
  National Supervisory Commission reform and, 129–35
  Weberian concept of, 120–3
Regulation on Managing the Building of Computer Information Network Systems at People’s Courts, 239–40 relational capitalism, networked society and, 68
relay function, proceduralism vs. contract responsibility and, 199–201 religion, public-private dichotomy and, 38–9 remedy, judicial reform in China and role of, xl–xli ren (benevolence), in Confucian authority, 35–6 rent-seeking behavior judicial reform and, 53–4
rule of law and, 1–2
Report of the Eighteenth CPC National Congress, 97–9 republicanism competing claims procedural arena and, 289–91 Rousseau’s theory of, 274–5
tripartite republican state model, 275–80
Republican Xinhai Revolution (1911), 3–4, 386–7, 389–90 research paradigms, sociology of legal argumentation, 223–7 resistance, in risk society, 78
res judicata, relativity of, in Chinese judiciary, 148–9 resonance, Chinese culture and role of, 421–3 resource allocation budget parliamentarianism and, 100–1
historical materialism and modernization of, 281–3
responsibility Chinese judiciary and distinction of, 148–9
judicial reform in China and, 158–9
legal reform and model of, 204–7 proceduralism vs. contract responsibility, 199–201 trial procedure and, 151–2 responsive law, risk society and, xxi–xxii, 73–84 restrained freedom, in Chinese governance, 272–4 two–party system reform, political unrest caused by, 399–400 retribution theory, criminal law and, 153–4 return, reciprocity and concept of, 20–1 revolutionary legitimacy charismatic leadership and, 128–9 of direct elections, 125–7 rights constitutional litigation over, 108–9 Marxian jurisprudence and, 283–7
order principles in China and, 411–14
postmodern theories of, 408–9
reciprocity and, 24–6
rule of law and, 10–11
utilitarianism and, 90–1
Risks: A Sociological Theory, 78 risk society causality in, 81 contemporary legal reforms and, 65–6
decision making in, 77–8 evolution of, 73–4 governance in China and, 80–1 information systems and, 79–80
legal rules and, 77–8 megalopolitan governance and, xli–xlii probability of harm in, 77 resistance movements and, 78 responsive legal mentality in, 73–84 rule of law and, xxi–xxiii, 12 robot-judge/robot-lawyer discourse digital technology and innovation and, 246–8
Rousseau, Jean-Jacques, 59–61, 268–71
Roman law, populism in, 432n.1
Rorty, Richard, 180–1
Rousseau, Jean-Jacques, 59–61, 268–71
rule of law administrative law and, 370–1, 390–4
advocacy for, xix–xxiii, 357–61
artificial intelligence misuse as threat to, 248–53
INDEX

rule of law (cont.)
authority and, 54–62
belief in, 391
budget audit and implementation of, 373–4 centralized state power in China and, 5–7
Chinese legal reform and importance of, 11–12, 34–7, 64–7, 253–6, 357–61
Chinese top-level design and cultural characteristics in, 309–11
as Chinese universal value, 382–3 conditions in China for, 426–30
constitutional design and, 7–8 cultural traditions and, 6, 403–11 current economic conditions and, 361–4
democracy in China and, 2–3, 431–48
developmental phases of, 198–9 direct elections and belief in, 125–7 factors driving Chinese adoption of, 317–18
failure in China of, 360–1 globalization as threat to, 87–8 incentives for implementation of, 111–20 independence from values of, 39–40 institutional innovation and implementation of, 376–9 judicial reform trends in China and, 379–82 limits on government power through, 47–9 local rule-of-law competition, 112–15, 300–1
market economy and, 1–2, 358–9
mentality in China for, 400–1 modern scholarship and debate in China over, 405–7 multilevel elements in, xxi national circumstances in China and, 399–400
political reform and, 47–9, 135–7, 302
power and authority reform through, 369–73
procedural justice and, 10–11
public power vs. private interests in, 383–5
risk society and, 73–84
smart networks and, 345–50
social diversification and authority system and, 351–82 tertiary design for implementation of, 373–6, 388–9 triple review mechanism alternative, 99–111 rule-of-law-index, 114–15
Rule of Law Index, xxvii–xxxviii
Rule of Law Zhejiang ideology, 376–9 Rules to Administer Computer Networks, 239–40 running the party strictly ideology, supervisory reform and, 129–35

Said, Edward, 409
Sakae, Wagatsuma, 333–4
sanctions
anti-corruption initiatives, 381
as law, cultural tradition of, 403–4
political reform and role of, 372
in risk society, 82–4
Sandel, Michael J., 38–9, 76–7, 90–2
Saphire, R., xxvii–xxix satisfaction, procedural justice correlations with, 201–2 Savigny, Friedrich von, 159–60
Scales Judicial Big Data Co. Ltd., 246–8
Schlink, Berhard, 235–7
Schmitt, Carl, 123–4, 208n.24 scholarly rationality, rule of law and, 386–7 Schriftlichkeitsprinzip (the principle of reviewing all written records), 200 Schumpeter, Joseph, 123–4 scientific evidence, in criminal law, 214–15
self-examination human nature and, 18n.6
in postmodern Chinese scholarship, 407–8 self-reflection, Habermas and, 188–90 self-revolution of political parties, 128–9 Selznick, Philip, xxi–xxii, 277 semiotics of law, argumentation and, 224n.37 sentencing in China, computer-aided sentencing debate, 240–5 separation of powers
information management and, 253–6
institutional design and, 81–2
Series on Law and Risk Society, xliii–xlv Series on the Translation of Contemporary Legal Masterpieces, xliii–xlvi Sesame Credit, 347–8
Several Opinions on Pushing Forwards the Developing of Three Platforms for an Open Justice (Supreme People’s Court), 245–8
Shang, Lord of, 25–6
Shanghai Municipal People’s High Court Big Data Information System, 246–8
Shao Yong, 26–7
The Significance of Legal Procedures: An Alternative Reflection on the Building of Legal Order in China, xix–xx, xliii–xlv, 164, 167–9, 171–4
Simian, Lü, 6
Simmel, Georg, 284–5, 423–5, 434
Simpson, O. J., 315–16
situational ethics
authority and, 56–7
Confucian governance model and, 34–5
ren (benevolence) and, 35–6
Six Laws, Chinese Communist Party criticism of, 31–2 smart courts
Chinese development of, 245–8 hijacking of adjudication in, 248–53
limitations of, 248–53
Smart Courts and Internet Rule of Law Forum, 246–8 smart design, Chinese judicial reform and, 234–5
"Smart Judge" judicial system, 246–8 social capital, market economy and, 68 social context of values
proceduralism and, 195–6
tripartite republican state model and, 275–80
social contract theory Chinese power structure and, 368–9
general will and people’s sovereignty, 269–71
individual rights vs. community and, 274–5
justified authority and, 59–61
limited government structure and, 266–8
Locke’s limited government theory, 266–8
people’s sovereignty and general will and, 269–71
proceduralism and, 173–4
Rawls and, 181
of Rousseau, 269–71
state-individual antithesis and internalized order in, 268–9 social-critical theory (Habermas), 177–8, 188–90
social justice
Habermas on interest-based compromises in, 192–3
proceduralism and, 174–5, 178–87
social order
binary structure of, 352–5
Chinese judicial power and, xxxiv–xxxv
Chinese legal system and, 26–31
conditions for democracy and, 426–30
constitutional review and role of, 320–4
contestation and equilibrium in, 423–5
contractual reforms and, 333–40
embeddedness of law in, xx–xxi
historical materialism and, 282–3, 287–9
limits to freedom for preservation of, 48–9
market economy and, 260–1
modernization in China and revolution in, 31–3
Index

social order (cont.)
modern pluralism and, 34–7 one country, two systems model and diversification of, 446
power and authority reconfiguration
and, 36–7, 367–9
reciprocity and, 24–6
risk orientation and, 65–6
rule of law and, 29–30, 351–82
smart networks and, 345–50
sollen (duty to do right) and, 162–3
state vs. individuals and, 268–9
sympathy without agreement in, 425–6 tripartite republican state and, 275–80
yin and yang in, 21–4

social-scientific legal studies
Chinese legal reform and, 207–11
democratization in China and, 443–4
government and, 115–16
of people, 115–16
of states, modern rule of law and,
85–6
Weber’s criticism of, 126–7
Spring and Autumn period, 15

social theory, sociology of arguments, 227–31

social trust, judicial review and role of, 43–5

social welfare
budget parliamentarianism and
reform of, 101
Chinese legal system and role of, 418–20
democracy and, 43–5
full trust contract and, 264–6
guanxi networks and, 70
ideology and, 258–60
indirect administration and, 19–21
individuals and, 268–9
judicial independence and review
and, 47–9
limited government structure and,
266–8
market competition and, 2–3
modern constitutionalism and, 35–6
National People’s Congress role in, 319–20
order principles in China and, 411–26
power and authority in, 367–9

of Constitution, judicial review and, 103–11
democratization in China and, 443–4
general will and, 269–71
of people, 115–16
of states, modern rule of law and,
85–6
Weber’s criticism of, 126–7
Spring and Autumn period, 15
stability
Chinese concepts of democracy and
importance of, 434
Rawls on, 181
Stahl, Fredrich Julius, 438–9
stakeholders, neoproceduralism and,
xxiii–xxiv
State Bureau for Letters and Calls, 108–9
state-owned enterprises (SOEs)
budget parliamentarianism and
reform of, 101
Chinese concepts of democracy and
reform of, 436
economic development and, 360–1
privatization of, 295
reform of, 444–8
soft budget constraint and, 374–6

state structure
Chinese adoption of rule of law and
role of, 317–18
Chinese legal system and role of, 418–20
democracy and, 43–5
full trust contract and, 264–6
guanxi networks and, 70
ideology and, 258–60
indirect administration and, 19–21
individuals and, 268–9
judicial independence and review
and, 47–9
limited government structure and,
266–8
market competition and, 2–3
modern constitutionalism and, 35–6
National People’s Congress role in, 319–20
order principles in China and, 411–26
power and authority in, 367–9

*democratization in China and, 443–4
*general will and, 269–71
*of people, 115–16
*of states, modern rule of law and,
85–6
Weber’s criticism of, 126–7
*Spring and Autumn period, 15
*stability
*Chinese concepts of democracy and
importance of, 434
*Rawls on, 181
*Stahl, Fredrich Julius, 438–9
*stakeholders, neoproceduralism and,
xxiii–xxiv
*State Bureau for Letters and Calls, 108–9
*state-owned enterprises (SOEs)
budget parliamentarianism and
reform of, 101
*Chinese concepts of democracy and
reform of, 436
economic development and, 360–1
privatization of, 295
reform of, 444–8
soft budget constraint and, 374–6

*state structure
*Chinese adoption of rule of law and
role of, 317–18
*Chinese legal system and role of, 418–20
democracy and, 43–5
full trust contract and, 264–6
guanxi networks and, 70
ideology and, 258–60
indirect administration and, 19–21
individuals and, 268–9
judicial independence and review
and, 47–9
limited government structure and,
266–8
market competition and, 2–3
modern constitutionalism and, 35–6
National People’s Congress role in, 319–20
order principles in China and, 411–26
power and authority in, 367–9

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org reconfiguration of judicial authority and, xxxvi
state-individual antithesis, internalized order and, 268–9 theatre state and resonance effect in Chinese state, 421–3
three-in-one strategy of, 310–11
top-down control in, 392–3
traditional Chinese governance and, 176–7 trial procedures and, 151–2
tripartite republican concept of, 275–80 Statute of the Judiciary (China), judicial power structure and functional relationship in, 138–9 Steele, Jenny, 65–6 strict liability, in power structure, 109 strict responsibility system, judicial reform in China and, 151–2 strong country ideology, modernization in China and, 307–8 structural functionalism procedure and, xxviii–xxix social-scientific legal studies and, 209n.26 structural integration, supervisory reform and, 132 subjectivism, Confucianist moral persona and wellbeing and, 18–19 substantive justice
Chinese legal tradition and, xxxii–xxxiii
choice-making in diversified reality and, 185–6
costs of, 202–4
Summers, S., xxviii–xxix
Sun Yat-sen, 386–7
Sun Zhigang case, 321
supervisory power, reform in China of, 129–35 supranational legal systems contemporary legal reform and, 66–7
globalization and, 84–9
rule of law and, xxi
Supreme Court of the United States, constitutionality of laws and, 46–7 supreme norm, rule of law and, 39–40
Supreme People’s Court (China), xxxvii–xxxviii constitutional interpretation powers proposal for, 323–4 constitutional lawsuits before, 107n.9
denotation of judicial independence and, 139–40
digital information systems in, 245–8
Five-Year Reform Guideline for, 238–40
invigoration of Constitution through, 103–11
judicial reforms in, 379–82 limited authority of, 140–2
local interference in economic cases before, 143–5
pilot reforms by, 141n.12
power structure and functional relationship of, 138–9
procedural justice correlation with satisfaction and, 201–2
sentencing guidelines of, 245
smart courts and, 246–8
Supreme People’s Procuratorate
power structure and functional relationship of, 138–9
review meeting of, 53
supervisory reform and, 132–3
surveillance, theory of, risk society and, 79–80 symmetry, reciprocity and, 24–6
System to Support the Application of Laws for China’s Courts, 239–40 Tanaka, Akihiko, 90, 277
Tanase, Takao, xxxv Taniguchi, Yasuhei, xxv–xxvi
taoism. See Daoism
The Taoist I Ching, 27 taxation reform
budget audit and, 373–4
interest groups and, 352
judicial independence and, 398
local rule of law and, 112–15
second tax reform proposal, 295
top-down control and, 393–4 TAXMAN program, 235–7 technology. See artificial intelligence; digital technology e-government plan and decentralization through, 340–5 judicial innovation and, 238–40
social science research and, xxxvii–xliii telos, governance restructuring and, 34–5 temporary consensus, proceduralism and, 170–1 Terada, Akira, 422–3
Teubner, Gunther, xxi–xxii, 277 theatre state, Chinese culture and role of, 421–3
The Five-Year Development Plan for the Digitalisation Project of People’s Supreme Court (2016–2020), 245–8
A Theory of Justice (Rawls), 178–81, 183–6
Thibaut, John, 157
Third Wave of Legal Reform, xxxiv–xxxv
Three Represents, 353
tianxia (All under Heaven)
legal order in Chinese culture and, 415n.18
rule of law and, xxi
time pressure problem, judicial reform in China and, 151–2 Tocqueville, Alexis de, 112, 125–7
top-down control
Chinese concepts of democracy and, 436
digital technology and, xli–xlii
incentives for rule of law implementation and, 111–20
judicial independence and, 396–9
legal order and, 163–4
local government reform and, 300–1
post-revolution judicial decision-making and, 32
rule of law and, 5–7, 97–9, 309–11, 392–3 totalitarian state, market competition and, 2–3 Toulmin, Stephen, 220, 222–3 traceability management of cases judicial reform in China and, 151–2 limits of, 204–7
proceduralism vs. contract responsibility and, 200
procedural reform and, 199–201
trade partnerships with China
contract law and, 335
globalization and, 86
traditional notions of justice, Chinese legal system and, 195–6 tradition-based authority, in Chinese history, 58–9 traffic rules coordination of, 159–60
uniformity authority and, 61–2
tragedy of the commons, market economy and, 1 transaction costs
authority and, 55–6
government anti-corruption efforts and reduction of, 132–3 Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership (TTIP), 84–5 Trans-Pacific Trade and Investment Partnership (TPP), 84–5 transparency budget review and, 253–6
in decision-making, 169–71
judicial reform and, 234–5
of local governments, 300–1
political reform and role of, 204–7, 297, 389–90
rule of law and, 371–2, 391–2
state structure and, 60, 163–4 trial reforms and, 355
trap of equilibrium
Chinese legal theory and, 11
reciprocity and, 24–6
social revolution and, 31–3
Treatise on Government (Locke), 266–8 trial procedure
judicial reform in China and responsibility with, 151–2
Ma Xiwu Trial Style, 412–13
Index

- tripartite republican state structure, 275–80
- contract law and, 334–5
- historical materialism and, 281–9
- jurisprudence coexistence and competition in, 278–80
- values and, 276–8
- triple review mechanism, alternative rule of law and, 99–111
- Trotsky, Leon, 288n.17
- Trump, Donald, 128–9
- trust in law and governance
  - blockchain protocols and, 343–5
  - computer-aided sentencing and restoration of, 241–2
  - limited government structure and, 266–8
  - local interference in judiciary and decline of, 144–5
  - unlimited government and contract of, 264–6
- truth seeking, verism ideology in Chinese judicial system and, 148–9
- two-step order, governance with, 267–8
- Tyler, Tom R., 157, 201–2
- tyranny of the majority, democracy and, 42–3
- uncertainty
  - globalization and rise of, 87–8
  - risk society and, 74–5
  - unconstitutionality, judicial review, 103–11
- Unger, Robert M., 277, 413–14
- unified power
  - authority and, 61–2
  - one country, two systems model of, 446
  - pluralism and, 385–8
  - rule of law reforms and, 357–8
- United Kingdom, rule of law in, 439
- United States
  - Chinese policies of, 387–8
  - Chinese trade agreements with, 86
  - fair play and democratic theory in, 437–8
  - Japanese treaties with, 366–7
- legal reform in China and, 395–6
- presidential elections in, 372–3
- racism in, 406–7
- Universal Charter of Local Self-Government, 113–14
- universalized value consensus, traditional Chinese governance and, 176–7
- universal values. See also value pluralism; values
  - Chinese centralized state power and, 5–7
  - Chinese legal theory and, 365–6
  - criticism of, 387–8
  - definition and explanation of, 385–8
  - globalization and, 85–6
  - rule of law as, 382–3
- unlimited government, full trust contract, 264–6
- unpredictability, risk society and, 74–5
- urbanization policies
  - Chinese rural-urban divide and, 292–3
  - economic development and, 294–5, 362–3
- urban-rural divide, Chinese rich-poor gap and, 292–3
- US Federal Sentencing Guidelines, 245
- utilitarianism
  - constitutional law and, 35–6
  - process in context of, xxv–xxx
  - risk society and, 76–7
  - values and, 90–1
- value pluralism, 37–41, 167–9
- culture and integration of, 175–8
- proceduralism and, 169–71
- Rawls on, 183–6
- values. See also universal values
  - authority and, 56–7
  - communicative procedure and trichotomy of, 287–9
  - democratic decision-making and, 93–4
- globalism and conflicts in, 89–96
- judicial democratization and, 160–1
- of proceduralism, 167–9
- proceduralism conditioned on, 196–7

© in this web service Cambridge University Press
Index

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Values (cont.)</th>
<th>Weibo, 301–2</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>process and, xxv–xxvii</td>
<td>Weimar Republic, 124–6, 436–8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rawls on, 92–3, 182–3</td>
<td>constitutionalism in, 126–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>social context of, 195–6</td>
<td>weiwên (social stability maintenance), digital technology and, xli–xlii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>tripartite republican state model and, 275–80</td>
<td>Wellmer, Albrecht, 187–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>utilitarianism and, 90–1</td>
<td>Wen Qiang Curse, 354–5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>verification predicament, law as science paradigm and, 213–18</td>
<td>Wenzhao, Xiong, 390–4, 396–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>verism, Chinese judiciary reform and, 148–9</td>
<td>Western legal theory</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>voting rights, Chinese state power and, 7–8</td>
<td>democracy and, 432–3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vyshinsky, Andrey Yanuaryevich, xvii, 258, 285, 319</td>
<td>legal ideology in, 262–75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Walker, Laurens, 157</td>
<td>legal order in, 405n.6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wang Lijun, 354–5</td>
<td>neoproceduralism and, xxx–xxxi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wang Qishan, 130–1, 327–8</td>
<td>proceduralism in, 165–6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wang Renbo, 385–8</td>
<td>rationality in, 386–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wang Shaoguang, xix–xx</td>
<td>rule of law in, 404–5n.5, 439</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wan Li, 435–6</td>
<td>Western Zhou dynasty, 15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Warring States Period, 15</td>
<td>What Kind of Law Is Needed by the Market Economy (Zhu), 165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Legalist system in, 211–13</td>
<td>White Paper on the Rule of Law, 114–15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Waterman, D. A., 236</td>
<td>Wilhelm II Republic, 124–5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Weber, Max, xx–xxi, 57–9</td>
<td>will to power, proceduralism and, 171–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>on authoritarian democracy, 436–8</td>
<td>Wittfogel, Karl A., 424–5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>on bureaucracy, 122–3, 326</td>
<td>Wittgenstein, Ludwig, 26–7, 220–3, 410–11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>on charismatic leadership and direct elections, 123–5</td>
<td>Wolfers, Arnold, 89–90</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>on checks and balances, 123</td>
<td>world cosmopolitanism, globalization and, 85–6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>on Chinese legal culture, 415–18, 424–5</td>
<td>World Trade Organisation (WTO), 438–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>development and ideology and, 258–60</td>
<td>Worldwide Declaration of Local Self-Government, 113–14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>on legal order, 405n.6</td>
<td>Wu Jinglian, xix–xx</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>on modernity, 261–2</td>
<td>Wu Ying, 360–1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>on political party and charismatic leadership, 128–9</td>
<td>Wuzhen Consensus, 246–8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>on power and authority, 383–5</td>
<td>Xiamen CPC Committee, interference in real estate adjudication, 144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>regime-building models of, 120–3</td>
<td>Xiang, Yicong, on procedure, xxv–xxvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>on rule of law, 404–5n.5</td>
<td>Xiao Kaiquan, 237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>value neutrality and political theory of, 126–7</td>
<td>Xie, Pengcheng, xxv–xxvi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wei, Dunyou, xxx–xxxiii</td>
<td>Xi Jinping, 377–8, 385–6</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| Xu Yunhe case, 155 | © in this web service Cambridge University Press  www.cambridge.org
Index

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Yang Xiaokai, xix–xx</th>
<th>zero-judgment ideology, responsibility in judicial reform and, 158–9</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Yao Jiaxin case, 153–4</td>
<td>Zhang Lixing, 237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yasuda, Nobuyuki, 278–80</td>
<td>Zhang Qiong, 441</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ye Shi, 122, 325–6</td>
<td>Zhang Weiyang, xix–xx, 335</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yi Fuxian, 293–4</td>
<td>Zhang Wuchang, 335</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>yin and yang, in Chinese social order, 21–4</td>
<td>Zhang Yi, 393–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yiwenzi, 27–9</td>
<td>Zhao Tingguang, 237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yu, Jiangrong, 19–20</td>
<td>Zheng, Chunyan, xxix–xxx</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yuan Shikai, 386–7</td>
<td>Zhu, Suli, 165, 175–8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yu Keping, xix–xx</td>
<td>Zifu Huarong, 237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yulin (Shanxi Province), mineral rights case adjudication in, 143–4</td>
<td>Zhu Rongji, 352, 399–400</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yu Yingshi, 413n.14</td>
<td>Zhu Xi, 26–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“ZAO-Face-off” app, 345–50</td>
<td>Zur Dialektik von Moderne und Postmoderne: Vernunftkritik nach Adorno (Wellmer), 189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Zeng Chengjie, 359–61</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Zentaro Kitagawa, xvii–xviii</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>