Contents

Acknowledgments

Introduction

1 The Inward Turn in Rabbinic Literature
2 Knowledge of the Body: The Case of Sensation
3 Asserting the Needs of the Body
4 Between Body and Mind: The Suffering Self
5 Self-Knowledge and a Wife’s Autonomy
Conclusion

Bibliography

Subject Index

Source Index