

Contents

Foreword by Jim Ife	page vii
Acknowledgements	xv
Acronyms and abbreviations	xvii
1 The critical potential of social work	1
Introduction	1
Critical social work	3
Why critical social work?	10
What is the approach taken in this book?	11
Our reflections on social work	14
Social work: Diverse possibilities for justice	21
Challenges to critical social work and the increased need for this work	22
Structure of this book	29
Summary	31
Review questions	31
Further reading	32
2 Where in the world are we? The contexts of practice	33
Introduction	33
Global capitalism	35
Neoliberalism and managerialism	37
Technologisation	44
Globalisation	46
Nation-states	48
Nationalism and racialisation	50
Social conservatism and authoritarian populism	53
Patriarchy and gender orders	55
Hegemonic masculinity and heteronormativity	59
Biomedical discourses	60
The (inter)connections of dominant social forces	64
Summary	67
Review questions	69
Further reading	69

3	What can we do? A critical response to social contexts	71
	Introduction	71
	Responding to challenges posed by contemporary contexts	71
	Responding at global and local levels	77
	Social policy as a vehicle to respond to contextual challenges	77
	Activism and participation in social movements	83
	Community development	88
	Critical practice in organisations	92
	Undertaking social research	97
	Summary	99
	Review questions	100
	Further reading	100
4	How did we get here? The history of critical social work	101
	Introduction	101
	Historical perspectives on social justice	103
	Social justice and modernity	106
	The origins of social work	109
	Charitable Organisation Societies (COSs)	110
	The settlement movement: Reformers and revolutionaries	113
	Australia and social work, 1788–1970	117
	Radical social work in the 1970s	120
	Critical social work: Renewing the social justice tradition	125
	Summary	130
	Review questions	130
	Further reading	130
5	Values and ethics for critical practice	131
	Introduction	131
	Codes of ethics	133
	A critical analysis of the codes and their limitations	134
	Leaving my values at home? An objectivist view of ethics	139
	Critical reflection	141
	Epistemology: Our theory of knowledge	142
	A critical approach to ethics	143
	Objectivity and ethics	144
	Critical evaluation of ethical decision-making models	147
	Understanding critical reflection as moving beyond our own thinking	151

An example of critical reflection on practice	153
Summary	158
Review questions	159
Further reading	159
6 Theories for practice	161
Introduction	161
What is theory?	162
Why is theory important for practice?	168
Individualist theories in social work	174
Trauma-informed practice	179
Systems-based theories	180
Giuseppe: What do students think?	183
Adopting a critical lens: Limitations of establishment theories	186
Critical perspectives	187
Developing a critical response to Giuseppe	201
Summary	206
Review questions	207
Further reading	207
7 Social work practice	209
Introduction	209
Practice processes	210
Practice methods	212
Practice skills	219
Constructing a professional narrative (assessment)	224
Individualist theories in practice	225
Systems theory in practice	226
Critical theories in practice	229
Summary	239
Review questions	239
Further reading	239
8 Diverse voices	241
Introduction	241
The voice of the client/service user/consumer	242
Our use of language	250
Listening to diverse voices	253
Openness to diverse forms and sources of knowledge	258
Working across difference	265

Summary	270
Review questions	271
Further reading	271
9 Fields of practice	273
Introduction	273
Aged care and working with older persons	274
Mental health	282
Child protection	291
Summary	298
Review questions	298
Further reading	298
10 Contemporary and emerging challenges (and opportunities) for social work	300
Introduction	300
Responding to increasing wealth inequality and poverty	301
Critical approaches to addressing men’s violence against women	311
Threats to the planet: The importance of green or ecosocial work	322
Summary	332
Review questions	332
Further reading	333
11 Advancing critical social work into the future	334
Introduction	334
The challenge of the ‘failed activist’	336
The challenge of the ‘lone crusader’	342
The challenge of embracing uncertainty and discomfort	345
The challenge of believing that ‘there is no alternative’	348
Summary	350
Further reading	350
Glossary	352
References	366
Index	408