CONTENTS

List of Tables page xii
Foreword xiii
Acknowledgements xv
List of Abbreviations xvii
Cited Treaties and EU Legislation xix
Cited Cases xxii

Introduction 1

I WTO and Preferential Services Liberalization 1

II Structure of the Book 6

III Federalism and Services Liberalization: The EU and Beyond 8

IV A New Methodology to Study Services Agreements 12

PART I Preferentialism in the WTO and in the GATS 17

I Preferential Trade Agreements in the WTO 19

II The Historical Background of Preferential Trade 19

III The Control of PTAs under WTO Law 23

i The Multilateral Review of PTAs 23

ii PTAs in GATT/WTO Dispute Settlement 29

III The Implications of Proliferating Preferential Trade 34

IV Preferentialism in Services: Are Services Special? 38
Table of Contents

i Particularities of Going Preferential in Services 38
ii The Lack of Market Access Discipline in Art. V GATS 42

2 The GATS Rules on Economic Integration Agreements (EIAs) 47
   I Background of Art. V GATS 47
   II The Legal Criteria for EIAs 50
      i The Main Ingredients of Art. V 50
      ii Substantial Sectoral Coverage (Art. V:1(a)) 54 iii Absence or Elimination of Substantially All Discrimination (Art. V:1b) 58
      iv Wider Process of Economic Integration (Art. V:2) 66
      v Special and Differential Treatment (Art. V:3) 67
      vi The External Requirement (Art. V:4) 68
      vii Rules of Origin (Art. V:6) 69
   III What Benchmark for EIAs? 70

3 Elimination of Discrimination in EIAs 73
   I Non-Discrimination in EIAs 73
      i The Key Obligation: Non-Discrimination 73
      ii Discrimination Analysis in the EIA Context 74
      iii Analyzing Discriminatory Measures in Specific Commitments 79
   II The Level of Non-Discrimination Required by GATS Art. V 84

PART II Federalism and Liberalization of Services Trade 87

4 Services Regulation by Federal States 89
   I Introduction 89
   II The Impact of Federalism on Trade Liberalization 95
   III The Case of the European Union 102
      i Development of the EU’s Competences in the Field of Trade 102
      ii The (Lack of) the EU’s Internal Market of Services: Implications for External Trade 111
Table of Contents

5 Application of GATS Art. V to Federal Entities 121
   I The GATS and Sub-Central Levels of Government 122

6 A Review of Federal Entities’ Services Commitments under the GATS and Selected EIAs 147
   I Sub-Central Measures of the USA and Canada under the GATS 149
   II Sub-Central Measures in Selected EIAs 151
      i CETA 152
      ii NAFTA 155
      iii US–Korea 158
      iv Canada–Korea 162
      v Summarizing Tables 166

PART III Methodology for a Legal-Empirical Analysis of EIAs 169

7 Empirical Research on Services Preferentialism 171
   I Introduction to the Chapter on Methodology 171
   II Earlier Empirical Research on EIAs 175
   III New Directions in the Empirical Legal Research of PTAs 184

8 A New Methodology for the Study of EIAs 189
   I An Overview of the Empirical Part 189
   II The Methods of the Empirical Study 191
      i The Scoring of Sector-Specific Commitments 195
      ii The Treatment of Horizontal Limitations 206
      iii Issues Relating to a Wider Process of Economic Integration or Trade Liberalization 207
      iv Review of Commitments on Mode 4 208
x CONTENTS

9 Adaption to Scheduling Differences and Economic Realities 210
   I On Modes and Sectors 210
   II Negative vs. Positive Listing 215
   III Adaption to Economic Realities: Adding Weights 219

PART IV Analysis of the Selected Services Agreements 223

10 The Results of the Empirical Study 225
   I An Overview of the Reviewed EIAs 225
   II The Findings 231
      i Key Features of the EIAs 232
      ii Detailed Results on the EIAs 236
         EU–CARIFORUM EPA 2008 242
         EU–SOUTH KOREA FTA 2010 246
         EU–CENTRAL AMERICA AA 2012 249
         EU–GEORGIA AA 2014 252

11 Legal Analysis of the Results 257
   I Introduction to the Discussion of the Results 257
   II Results in Light of the Key Provisions of Art. V GATS 260
      i Issues of Interpretation 260
      ii Sectoral Coverage 262
      iii The Level of Non-Discrimination 265
      iv Wider Process of Economic Integration 268
         v The Scope and Depth of Mode 4 Commitments 270
   III Conclusion 280

12 Application of Art. V GATS to the EU’s EIAs 282
   Conclusion 291
CONTENTS

Appendix 1 Preferential Trade Agreements Notified by the EU to the WTO (excl. inactive PTAs) 297
Appendix 2 The Agreements Reviewed in the Empirical Study 303
Appendix 3 The Result Sheets of the Empirical Analysis 304
EU–CARIFORUM EPA 304
EU–CENTRAL AMERICA AA 315
EU–GEORGIA AA 327
EU–SOUTH KOREA FTA 338
Index 351