

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements xi
Table of Cases and Pleadings xiv
Table of Statutes and Statutory Instruments xxi
List of Abbreviations xxiii
Preface xxv

1 Introduction 1

1 Framing the ICC as a Catalyst 3
2 Complementarity as a Catalyst for Compliance 7
3 Country Selection, Methodology and Terminology 15
4 Structure of the Book 20

PART I The ICC and Complementarity: Evolutions, Interpretations and Implementation 25

2 Tracing an Idea, Constructing a Norm: Complementarity
as a Catalyst 27

1 Complementarity as Constraint 29
2 From Constraint to Catalyst: The Evolution of Complementarity 40
3 A Catalyst for Compliance: The ‘Duties’ of Complementarity 51
4 Constructivism and the Social Production of a (New) Norm 58
5 Conclusion 67

3 Mirror Images? Complementarity in the Courtroom 68

1 Complementarity as Admissibility Rule 70
2 ‘Positive’ Complementarity in the Courtroom 94
3 Complementarity as Policy and Law 99
4 Conclusion 103

4 Leveraging The Hague: Complementarity and the Office
of the Prosecutor 104

1 Preliminary Examinations 106
2 Preliminary Examinations in Practice: A Case Study of Kenya 115

x	CONTENTS
3	Investigations and Complementarity	130
4	Bridging the Gap? Examinations and Investigations as 'Positive' Complementarity	142
5	Conclusion	145
PART II The ICC in Uganda, Kenya and the Democratic Republic of Congo 147
5	Compliance and Performance: Implementation as Domestic Politics	149
1	Implementation, Standardization and Compliance	152
2	Implementation in Practice: Uganda and Kenya	157
3	Surfacing Political Discomforts: Post-Implementation Politics	167
4	Democratic Republic of Congo: Resistance and Contestation	173
5	Implementation Reconsidered: Purity, Politics and 'Performance'	184
6	Conclusion	191
6	Competing, Complementing, Copying: Domestic Courts and Complementarity	193
1	Uganda	195
2	Kenya	203
3	Democratic Republic of Congo	208
4	Between Competition and Conformity	222
5	Conclusion	236
7	Catalysing Opportunity: Complementarity and Domestic Proceedings	238
1	Democratic Republic of Congo: Mobile Courts in the ICC's Shadow	239
2	Kenya: A Turn to Impact Litigation	249
3	Uganda v. Thomas Kwoyelo : Complementarity and State Power	257
4	Conclusion	265
8	Conclusions and Recommendations	267
1	Reassessing Complementarity as a Catalyst	268
2	Towards New Horizons	273
3	Une belle époque?	294
	Select Bibliography	298
	Index	328