

Index

- Accra, see Greater Accra Accra Metropolitan Assembly, see AMA administrative regions, 42 affective theories, see expressive theories Africa, see Ghana; sub-Saharan Africa
 Afrobarometer survey, 214, 217
 Agboghloshie (slum), 51, 59, 63
 Akan (ethnic group), 41, 50, 65, 77–79, 192, 211, 220
 Akuapem (Akan ethnic subgroup), 78
 Akyem (Akan ethnic subgroup), 78
 AMA (Accra Metropolitan Assembly), 43, 50, 54, 247, 264
 Argentina, 116, 288
 Ashaiman (slum), 63
   land rights, 59
 Ashanti (Akan ethnic subgroup), 43
 Ashanti Region, 78–79
 autocracy transition from, 73–75
 Ayawaso West, 63, 134, 292
- basic services challenges to delivery, 5, 20, 52–54 funding for, 53
   neighborhood-level variation, 20–21, 52–54, 65, 102–103
 Brazil, 288, 289, 296
 brokers
   distributive politics and, 15–16, 18–21, 32, 83, 176–177, 190–192
- Bureaucratic Quality index, 72
- campaign pledges, see also NDC; NPP credibility, 119–127, 129, 144 capture, see ethnic capture CCT (conditional cash transfer), 288, 296, 298
 chieftaincy/chiefs
   in rural areas, 16, 51, 176–177, 203–208
 Chile
   dual appeals, 289, 301
   political credibility, 294
 Chorkor, 51
 civil service reform(s) (US), 29, 284 clientelism, see also nonprogrammatic politics; particularistic goods/preferences, 8, 11, 18
   as election strategy, 25–26, 182–187, 193–198, 203–206, 209
   clientelist brokers, 83, 176, 190–192 club goods as, 22, 25, 164 core ethnic groups and, 156–159, 181, 185–190, 198–199 in slums, 21, 24, 162–164
   in the US, 279–286
   Latin America, 286–289
   local government, 248–251, 271–275
   neighborhood-level variation, 201–203
   political cost, 201–202 relational, 160–163, 174, 190–192, 197
   role of chiefs, 16, 51, 176–177, 203–208

- club goods, see also distributive politics;
 voter behavior, 91–93, 98
 clientelism and, 22, 25, 164
 distribution of, 270–275
 study methodology for, 271
 vs. private goods, 167–168, 177, 205–206, 208
 conditional cash transfer, see CCT contact theory/hypothesis, see social contact theory core ethnic groups
 clientelism and, 156–159, 181, 185–190, 198–199
 core voter model, see voter models credibility, 5, 6, 23, 107–111
 in distributive politics, 116–117, 125–131, 144
 of campaign pledges, 119–127, 129, 144
 of MPs (Members of Parliament), 133–135
 perceptions of, 128–130
 study methodology, 106, 128–129
 cross-ethnic voting, 152, 221–225
- Dangme (ethnic group), see Ga-Dangme
- data sources
 2010 census, 48–50
 Afrobarometer survey, 214, 217
 Bureaucratic Quality index, 72
 DHS (Demographic Health Surveys), 9, 48–49, 68–72
 district assembly election results, 258–259
 embedded vignette experiment, 118, 129–133
 focus groups, 35, 118 interviews, 35, 106, 118
 party manifesto content analysis, 106, 118 representative survey data (urban, rural), 35, 94–101, 117
 survey experiment, 35, 128
 wealth index, 198–200, 202
- DCE, see District Chief Executive
- decentralization, 110, 276 impact of on Ghana, 292–304
 in Latin America, 287, 290, 301
- demand-side factors, see also modernization theories, 89, 93, 178
 impact of, 293–296
 in new democracies, 33–35, 278
- Demographic and Health Surveys, see DHS
- demographics
 role of in urban African politics, 3–5, 9–11, 21, 30
- developing countries
 challenges to, 19–28
 programmatic politics, 3–6
- DHS (Demographic and Health Surveys), 9, 48–49, 68–70
- differential abstention, 5, 24, 111–114, 245
- distributive politics, see also nonprogrammatic politics
 clientelist brokers, 83, 176, 190–192
 ethnic favoritism, 24–27, 32, 149–152, 160, 164–168, 180–181, 255–258 ethnic overrepresentation, 192–193, 247, 253–254, 257, 264–265
 institutionalization of, 76, 81, 83, 116–117
 neighborhood-level variation, 17–18, 26, 94, 152–153, 193
 political cost of, 201–202
 programmatic, 4–7, 92, 119–120, 134–135
 rural–urban differences, 203–208
- district assemblies (local), 55, 74, 76, 247–251, 255–258, 299
 voter approval of members, 265–268, 270
- District Chief Executive (DCE), 54, 74, 75, 247–248, 299
- dual appeals, 12, 63, 108, 111, 115–116, 139
 Latin American success with, 279, 290, 301
- Eastern Region, 78–79, 204
- education, see secondary education
- ELAs (Electoral Areas), 54–60, 247 spatial segregation by, 270
- electoral competition, 24–26, 92, 182–190, 193–197, 203–206, 208
 distributive politics, 79–84, 111, 180–188
 ethnicity and, 8–9, 149–152
 programmatic vs. nonprogrammatic, 4–7, 89–90, 104
- electoral intermediaries, see brokers
- electoral strategies, 92

- clientelism as, 24–26, 164, 182–187, 193–200, 203–206
- private goods as, 174, 182–188, 193–199, 205, 208–209
- employment (Greater Accra)
  - as measure of socioeconomic class, 9–11, 47, 95
  - private vs. public, 49
- English literacy
  - as measure of socioeconomic class, 9–11, 47, 95
- Enumeration Areas (EA), 14–15, 56, 154
- episodic “gift-giving”, 174
- ethnic affiliations, 76–79, 240–241, 297
  - voter behavior and, 211–213, 241–242
- ethnic alignment, see ethnic affiliations
- ethnic capture
  - of local government, 27, 254, 263–265, 276, 277
- ethnic competition, 8–9, 149–152, 178
- ethnic composition (Greater Accra), 50–52, 60
  - neighborhood-level variation, 64–65
- ethnic favoritism
  - in distributive politics, 25–28, 32, 151, 160, 255–258
  - neighborhood-level variation, 22, 157, 164–168
  - study methodology, 225–227
  - voter expectations of, 161–164, 169, 174, 185–190, 208, 211–213
- ethnic land rights/land use, 51, 59
- ethnic migrant associations, 52
- ethnic politics, see also distributive politics; voter behavior
  - capture (of local government), 27, 254, 263–265, 276, 277
  - expressive theories of, 13, 149, 157–159, 172, 242
  - fractionalization, 14–15, 152, 216, 219
  - instrumental theories, 15, 26–27, 31, 150, 156–158, 172
  - NDC (National Democratic Congress), 224, 226
  - neighborhood-level variation, 17–18, 26, 152, 153
  - relational clientelism and, 160, 164–168, 168
  - threat hypothesis, 154, 232, 253–254
- ethnic voting, 76–80, 213, 226–230
  - in parliamentary elections, 225
  - neighborhood-level variation, 150–152, 214–224
  - study methodology for, 213–216
- ethnically aligned voters, see ethnic voting
- ethnicity
  - electoral competition and, 8–9, 149–152
  - party affiliations and, 76–79, 81, 220, 222–224, 226
  - party favoritism for core, 157–159, 185–190, 199–200, 201
  - voter behavior and, 26, 79–80, 152–153
- Ewe (ethnic group), 50, 78, 220
- expressive theories
  - of ethnic politics, 13, 149, 157–159, 172, 242
  - vs. instrumental theories, 15, 26–27, 31, 150, 156–158, 172
- expressive voting, 242
- Fanti (ethnic group), 79
- favoritism, see ethnic favoritism
- fractionalization, 14–15, 64, 152, 216, 219
- Ga (ethnic group), 40, 50, 51, 64, 78
  - characteristics unique to, 236–240
  - political overrepresentation by, 247, 253–258, 264–265, 271–275
- Ga Mashie, 51, 239
- Ga-Dangme (ethno-linguistic group), 42, 50, 78
- Gbawe
  - socioeconomic growth of, 40–42
- GDP growth rates (sub-Saharan Africa), 66
- generational change
  - in voting behavior, 295
- Ghana, 4, 41–43
  - interethnic assimilation, 15, 149
  - interethnic assimilation vs. US, 29, 283, 295
  - political system, 73–76
  - size of middle class, 68
  - supply-side factors, 296–302
  - vs. US and Latin America, 290
- Great Migration (US), 283
- Greater Accra, see also middle class; urbanization, 4
  - administrative districts, 43, 54
  - demographic changes, 40
  - ethnic composition, 50–52, 64–65
  - history of, 40, 43
  - infrastructure, 52–54

Index

341

- political structure, 54–56, 247–251
- socioeconomic growth of, 40–43
- housing
  - expansion of middle class, 41
  - neighborhood-level variation, 21, 54, 59–60, 163–164, 202
  - voter behavior and, 235–236
- identity-based voting, 157–158
- industrialization
  - Ghana vs. Western democracies, 49
- infrastructure
  - government provision of, 52–54
- instrumental benefits
  - voters' expectations of, 242
- instrumental theories
  - ethnic politics and, 15, 26–27, 31, 150–158, 172
  - vs. expressive theories, 13, 149, 157–159, 172, 242
- interethnic assimilation
  - Ghana, 15, 149
  - Ghana vs. US, 29, 283, 295
- intra-urban variation, see
  - neighborhood-level variation
- Jamestown (slum), 63
  - land rights of, 59
- Kenya
  - co-ethnic voting, 77, 296
  - Konkomba (ethnic group), 79
  - Kufuor, John, 265
  - Kumasi, 78
- Lagos (Nigeria), 254
- land rights/land use, see ethnic land rights/land use
- Latin America
  - clientelism, 286–289
  - programmatic transitions, 279, 286–290
- LEAP (Livelihood Empowerment Against Poverty program), 296
- linkages, see dual appeals
- Livelihood Empowerment Against Poverty program, see LEAP
- local agents/party agents, 75, 83, 162, 163, 190–193
- local elections
  - voter behavior in, 246–247
- local government
  - clientelism, 248–251, 271–275
  - ethnic capture of, 27, 254, 263–265, 276, 277
  - turnout inequality, 246–247, 251–254, 260–265, 275–276
- machine era/machine politics (US), 29, 280–286
- Madina Zongo, 51
- Mahama, John Dramani, 78, 125, 127
- MCE (Metropolitan Chief Executive), see District Chief Executive
- media
  - political reporting of, 13, 16, 184, 187, 188
  - voter behavior and, 232
- median voter theory, 12, 114–115
- Members of Parliament, see MPs
- methodology, see study methodology
- Metropolitan Chief Executive (MCE), see District Chief Executive
- Mexico, 288, 289, 298
- middle class, see also ethnicity; Greater Accra; urban politics
  - demographics, 3–4, 9–11, 21
  - distribution, 48–49, 58
  - ethnic composition, 63–65
  - forms of employment, 49
  - housing-based definitions, 46
  - income-based definitions, 45–46
  - size of, 68
  - socioeconomic-based definition, 9–11, 47
  - voter mobilization, 135–137
- Mills, John Evans Atta, 79
- mixed appeals, see dual appeals
- mobilization, see voter mobilization
- modernization theories, 12–14, 16–18, 33, 149, 153, 212, 216, 305
  - of programmatic politics, 3–7, 89, 105
- MPs (Members of Parliament), 73–74, 76, 133
  - patronage benefits by, 187–188
- municipal government, see local government
- Muslims, 50, 78
- National Democratic Congress, see NDC
- national elections
  - “winner-take-all”, 74, 82, 300

- National Youth Employment Programme, see NYEP
- NDC (National Democratic Congress), see also clientelism; distributive politics; electoral strategies campaign pledges, 119–127, 129
 ethnic affiliations, 78–82, 192, 210, 213, 220
 ethnic politics and, 75–82, 224, 226
 manifesto analysis, 119–126
- neighborhood wealth, 216–220
 voter mobilization by, 134–137
- neighborhood wealth index goods distribution by, 193–199
- neighborhood-level variation, see also distributive politics
 clientelism, 201–203
 ethnic favoritism, 157, 164–168
 ethnic politics, 17–18, 26, 152–153
 ethnic voting, 150–152, 214–224
 ethnicity, 63–65
 housing, 21, 54, 59–60, 163–164
 in basic services, 20–21, 52–54, 65 in socioeconomic class(es), 58–64, 201–203 in urban politics, 17–18
 preferences, 90
 private goods distribution, 193–199
 within Electoral Areas, 59
- neighborhoods defining, 54–57
 variation, 59–63, 134–137
- New Deal (US), 29, 285, 288, 297
- new democracies
 challenges to, 19–28, 107–109
 characteristics of, 20–22, 36 demand-side vs. supply-side factors, 33–35, 278 growth of middle class, 3, 11
 programmatic politics, 3–6
- New Patriotic Party, see NPP
- Nima (slum), 51, 63, 190
 land rights of, 59
- nonprogrammatic politics, see also clientelism; distributive politics, 242 dominance of, 106–107, 144–145, 245
 vs. programmatic politics, 4–7, 89–90, 104
- Northern ethnic groups, 50, 52, 78
- NPP (New Patriotic Party), see also clientelism; distributive politics; electoral strategies, 75–77
 campaign pledges, 119–127
 ethnic affiliations, 78–82, 192, 210, 213, 220
 manifesto analysis, 119–126
- NYEP (National Youth Employment Programme), 128
- Ododiodiodio, 63, 239
- Old Fadama (Agboghloshie), 51
- organizational capacity (parties), 75–78, 83, 113, 163, 190–193
- parliamentary constituencies, 43
 ethnic composition, 60–63
 ethnic voting, 225
 middle class size, 63
- particularistic goods/preferences, 22
 distribution of, 167–168, 174, 181–188, 193–197 private vs. club, 167–168, 177, 205–206, 208
 vs. universalistic, 89–93
- patronage-based politics, see also clientelism; distributive politics; nonprogrammatic politics, 187–190
- pledges, see campaign pledges
- PNDC (Provisional National Defense Council), 75
- policy rhetoric, 24, 114, 119
- policy-based competition, 111
- policy-based politics, see programmatic politics
- political change demand-side vs. supply-side theories of, 33–35, 278, 304
- political competition, 84
 programmatic vs. nonprogrammatic, 7
- political credibility, see credibility
- political participation, 5, 33, 104 class-based differences, 24, 112–114, 139–143
 differential abstention, 24, 111–114, 245 local turnout inequality, 245–246, 251–254, 260–265, 275–276
- political parties, see also clientelism; nonprogrammatic politics, distributive politics, 78, 180–188, 192–197 campaign pledges of, 119–127, 129, 144

- credibility of, 116–117, 125–131, 144
 electoral competition, 80, 84, 111
 ethnic alignment of, 78–82
 in rural areas, 177, 203–209
 institutionalization, 75–76, 83, 116–117
 relational clientelism and, 159–163, 174, 190–193, 197 structure, 75–76, 83, 113, 163, 190–193
 voter expectations of, 26–27, 110–111, 158, 174, 185–190, 208, 211–213, 226–230
 voter mobilization by, 134–138
 political structure (Accra), 54–56 political system (Ghana), 73–76, 76 “winner-take-all”, 82
 preferences
   effect of socioeconomic class on, 89–91, 100–104
   neighbor-hood level variation, 90
   universalistic vs. particularistic, 89–93, 104 private goods, 97–100
   as election strategy, 174, 181–188, 193–199, 205–209
   neighborhood-level variation, 193, 199
   relational clientelism vs. episodic “gift-giving”, 160–161, 193, 197 programmatic politics, see also universalistic preferences electoral competition and, 4–7, 7, 92–94, 119–120, 134–135
   Ghana vs. Latin America, 287
   Ghana vs. the US, 280–282 in developing countries, 3–6
   policy rhetoric, 24, 114, 119
   policy-based competition, 111
   vs. nonprogrammatic politics, 4–7, 89–90, 91, 104 weakness of, 23–25, 105
 Provisional National Defense Council, see PNDC

 Rawlings, Jerry John, 75, 78, 80 relational clientelism
   ethnic politics and, 160, 164–168
   political parties and, 159–161, 163, 174, 190–193, 197 US transition to, 281
   vs. episodic “gift-giving”, 160–161, 193, 197 resource allocation favoritism in, 74, 275 rhetoric, see policy rhetoric rural areas club vs. private goods distribution, 177
   distributive politics, 175–177, 203–209
   role of chiefs, 16, 51, 176–177, 203–208
   voter behavior and, 233–234
   vs. urban areas, 9, 203
 rural–urban migration, 30, 43, 50, 233–234

 Sabon Zongo, 51
 scarcity of services, 20–21, 65, 111 secondary education
   as measure of socioeconomic class, 9–11, 47, 95
 segregation benefits of socioeconomic, 293–294 neighborhood ethnic, 21 services, see basic services slums, see also distributive politics; middle class; preferences clientelism in, 21, 24, 162–164 urban population growth and, 59–63 social contact theory, 4, 15–16, 154
 voter behavior and, 231–232
 social welfare programs
   Bolsa Familia (Brazil), 288, 296
   Progreso (Mexico), 288, 298 implementing in Ghana, 296–298 LEAP (Ghana), 298
 socioeconomic class, see also middle class; neighborhoods; slums effect of on preferences, 89–91, 100–104 measures of, 9–11, 47
   neighborhood-level variation, 59–64, 201–203
   voter mobilization by, 134–137
 spatial models/spatial segregation, 114, 268–270, 293 state capacity, 20, 109, 125–127, 291 state presence, 21, 54, 90
 study methodology, 35–38, 40
   campaign mobilization, 133–135, 138 defining “neighborhood”, 54–59 defining middle class, 9–10
   ethnic voting, 213–216
   favoritism expectations, 226–227
   Ga voting behavior, 236–241 local club goods distribution, 271, 274 manifesto content analysis, 106, 118

- particularistic vs. universalistic preferences, 94–97, 100–104
- party credibility, 106, 128–130
- private goods distribution, 193, 197–200
- turnout inequality, 141–143, 258–259, 264
- voter approval, 265–270
- sub-Saharan Africa
  - rural vs. urban areas, 9, 203
  - urban growth across, 3–7, 65–73, 304
- supply-side factors, see also modernization theories, 33–35, 104, 107–108, 151, 178
- impact of, 296–304
- in new democracies, 278, 287
- swing voter model, see voter models
- tax redistribution
  - impact of, 33, 142–143
- threat hypothesis
  - in ethnic politics, 154, 232, 253–254
- traditional elites, see chieftaincy/chiefs
- Tudu, 51
- turnout inequality, 24, 112–114, 139–143
  - in local government elections, 245–247, 251–254, 260–265, 275–276
  - study methodology, 139, 143, 258–259, 264
- United States (US)
  - demise of clientelism, 282–286
  - explicit vote-buying, 281
  - interethnic assimilation, 29, 283, 295
  - machine era/machine politics, 29, 279–286
  - New Deal, 29, 285, 288, 297
  - transition to relational clientelism, 281
- universalistic preferences, 97–103, 108–109, 288
- vs. particularistic, 89–93
- urban growth (sub-Saharan Africa), 3–7, 65–73, 304
- urban middle class, see middle class
- urban planning
  - extent of, 60, 65
- urban politics, see also expressive theories; instrumental theories, 4–6, 22–28, 30
  - expected transformation of, 3–4
  - neighbor-hood level variation, 17–18
  - role of demographics, 3–5, 9–11, 21, 30
  - role of scarcity, 20–21, 111
  - state capacity and, 19, 109, 125–128
- urbanization, 4, 20, 49, 179
- slums as outcome of, 59–60
- Ushertown, 51
- valence issues
  - campaign pledges on, 120–124
- voter behavior
  - “blackmail” of parties, 189
  - by ethnic party affiliations, 211–213, 241–242
  - ethnicity and, 26, 79–80, 152–153
  - Ga-specific, 236–241
  - generational change, 295
  - Ghana vs. US, 154
  - housing constraints and, 235–236
  - in local elections, 245–247
  - media impact on, 232
  - politicians’ impressions of, 133–135
  - predictions for, 169–175, 216–221
  - resource allocation and, 74
  - rural ties and, 233–234
  - social contact theory and, 231–232
  - urban slums vs. rural areas, 175–178, 208
- voter expectations
  - of ethnic favoritism, 161–164, 169, 174, 185–190, 208, 211
  - of instrumental benefits, 242
  - of political parties, 26–27, 110–111, 158, 174, 185–190, 208, 211–213, 226–230
- voter mobilization
  - by socioeconomic class, 134–138
  - political cost of, 28, 108, 111–114, 162–163
- voter models, 157–158, 173–174
- wealth index, 154, 197, 202
- wealthy elites, 48, 89, 93, 94
- welfare state (US), 284–286
- youth associations, see ethnic migrant associations
- Zongo neighborhoods (“foreigner’s quarters”), 50, 64, 79