

Index

- Abinales, Patricio, 208, 214
 Aguinaldo, Emilio and Dewey, 218
 declaration of independence from Spain, 222 and the ilustrados, 207, 214 and the Katipunan, 215 and the Spanish surrender to the U.S., 219 truce signed with the Spanish government, 217
 Aisin or Jin khanate (1616–1635)
 Liaodong province and, 134, 135, 142
 Nurgaci's establishment of, 135
 Allan, Bentley, Srdjan Vucetic, and Ted Hopf, 20
 Allison, Graham, 3
 Amoros, Donna J., 208, 214
 Anderson, Benedict, 209, 210, 211
 Anderson, James A., 31
 Andrade, Tonio, 6, 16, 41, 60
 Armitage, David, 239

 Barkin, J. Samuel, and Bruce Cronin, 238
 Barnes, Gina L., 29
 Beaulac, Stéphane, 239
 bellicist theories of state formation. See military expansionism; power-transition theory
 Bentley, Jerry, 159
 Berger, Thomas, 19
 Best, Jonathan, 70, 73
 Biddle, Nicholas, 188, 191
 Bilgin, Pinar, 4
 Blount, James, 218
 Bonifacio, Andrés, 215
 Bowring, Sir John
 Bowring Treaty of 1855 with King Mongkut of Siam, 41
 British. See Great Britain
 Bungo Funai
 Chinatowns (Tōjinmachi) in, 51
 Francis Xavier and, 53

 maritime trade and foreign alliances centered in, 54, 55–56 Shimazu army's sacking of, 61 weapons disseminated in Japan and, 60
 Burma
 East Asian international order and, 34
 East Asian regional interconnections and, 23, 43, 140
 Buzan, Barry, 17
 Buzan, Barry and Yongjin Zhang, 12
 Búzás, Zoltán I., 236
 investiture (K. ch'aekpong), 91–96
 Yi Sŏng-kye's denied by Hongwu

 Canton System, 272
 British frustration with, 167–168, 170
 East India Company and, 169–170 framework for trade created by, 166
 Hong merchants and, 166–167, 170, 171, 174, 175 opium trade and, 168
 silver and, 64, 167, 169–170
 Tokugawa shogunate's confinement of traders as a model for, 64 trade facilitated by, 166–167
 Cassel, Pär Kristoffer, 231
 Central Asian steppe regional interconnections and, 23
 Chang, Hsin-pao, 174
 Chong, Da-ham, 95
 Chong, Ja Ian, and Todd H. Hall, 233
 Chosŏn Korea (1392–1910). See also Great East Asian War; Unyō incident
 Confucian vocabulary adapted by, 34 disadvantaged status in the treaty port system, 230, 232
 founder. See Yi Sŏng-Kye language stipulations in the Treaty of Kanghwa and, 254 stability of, 37
 the Sino-Japanese War and, 224

310 Index

- Chosŏn Korea—and the Ming empire. See also Yi Sŏng-kye
 Jurchen groups as a common enemy, 123
 King Sŏnjo (r.1567–1608), 109, 116, 126
 Korea viewed as “the lips that protect China’s teeth”, 37
 Liaodong region and, 91–96 military strengthening measures, 87
Musa The Warrior and, 81, 82, 91
sadae (“serving the great”) and, 81–82, 87–89, 94, 96
 tributary relations, 32, 89–90
 Coe, Andrew J. and Jane Vaynman, 269
 Coe, Andrew J. and Scott Wolford, 8, 10, 11, 13, 18
 constructivism traditional paradigms of international relations and, 263, 267
 Cooley, Alexander and Daniel Nexon, 14
 Correlates of War data (COW), 280
 Cortes, Rosario Mendoza, Celestina Puyal
 Boncan, and Ricardo Trota José, 219
 Crossley, Pamela Kyle, 33
 Cumings, Bruce, 15
- Đại Việt kingdom. See also Mạc dynasty (1527–92); Trần dynasty (1225–1400);
 Mạc dynasty (1527–92); Trần dynasty
 (1225–1400)
 Hồ Quý Ly’s state-building efforts and, 107
 Ming dynasty and, 98, 100–101, 102–107 power struggles since the 1520s, 58–59
 Yuan Empire and, 98–99
 daimyo of Western Japan. See Hosokawa clan; Mōri clan; Oda Nobunaga; Ōtomo clan;
 Ōuchi clan; Shimazu clan Daoguang Emperor (r. 1821–1850) opium distribution and consumption and, 173
 Opium War and, 165, 177
 design of international institutions. See also tribute system
 centralized bureaucratic control and, 28–29
 China’s civil service examination system
 and, 28, 248, 265
 projection of sovereignty and, 250
 as a tool for enforcing order, 267
 Deuchler, Martina, 243
 Dincecco, Mark and Yuhua Wang, 35 discourse of resistance the circumscribing effects of power and, 251
 the language of the Kanghwa Treaty and, 245, 251
 Drea, Edward J., 234
 Dreyer, Edward L., 98
- Dudden, Alexis, 16, 42
 Dutch presence
 European and American penetration of East
 Asia and, 9, 25, 40–41, 166
 maritime trade based in Taiwan and,
 150–152, 155
 Matthew Perry’s arrival in Japan, 189
 Zheng-Dutch relationship. See Zheng clan Duthie, Torquil, 69, 72, 73
- East Asian international relations. See also Eastphalia; Sinocentric order; tribute system
 dynastic transitions and, 29–37 four-phase periodization of, 24–25 and the global status hierarchy, 237, 278 hegemonic order of, 8, 10–11, 22, 115 periods of lower-frequency warfare and,
 9, 161
 Qin-Han unification establishment of, 22 rationalist bargaining of Westphalian system exercised by actors, 10
 reordering of East Asian relations and, 276
 Sino-Vietnamese relations and, 97–98,
 106–107
 Taiping rebellion and, 40
 Western imperialism and, 5, 8, 14–17, 18, 259
- Eastphalia. See also East Asian international relations; Sinocentric order
 as a construct, 239
 Sinocentric world order defined as, 255 economic sanctions as a tool for enforcing order, 13, 267
 Elliot, Charles, 173, 174, 175–177
 Elliot, George, 176 event construction narratives about dynastic change and, 5, 23, 35, 36, 129, 130
 narratives of the Ming-Qing transition and, 33, 135–136
 Philippine independence and, 219, 223
 research on East Asian state formation
 and, 26
 extraterritoriality
 British trade with China and, 167, 176, 179, 186
 ideology of the Westphalian system and,
 15–16, 247
 Sino-Japan Regulations of Amity and, 240
 the end of “traditional” East Asia and, 229, 231
 Treaty of Amity and Commerce and, 199
 Treaty of Shimonoseki and, 225, 230

Index

311

- Fairbank, John K., 5, 89, 129
 Fazal, Tanisha M., 280
 Feng Huiyun, 120–121
 Finnemore, Martha, 13
 France
 colonial Indochina, 40, 41, 223
 European and American penetration of East Asia and, 3, 16, 25, 207, 225, 229, 234 impact of Western imperialism and, 25
 Second Opium War and, 164
 Sino-French War, 226
 Frank, Andre Gunder, 159
 Fulin (Shunzhi-period emperor, 1638–1661), 139, 140

 Garon, Sheldon, 238
 Germany
 European and American penetration of East Asia and, 3, 16, 25, 41, 207, 225, 229, 234
 Gleditsch, Kristian S. and Michael D. Ward, 280
 Global History school
 Europeans' dominance of the New World viewed by, 159 international relations of East Asian History viewed by, 5–6
 Goldstone, Jack A., 159
 Gotō, 51, 54
 Great Britain. See also Elliot, Charles
 Britain-American hegemonic transition and, 3, 9
 Canton System and, 167–168, 169–170
 European and American penetration of East Asia and, 16, 25, 225, 229, 234
 extraterritoriality and, 167, 176, 186
 Lord Macartney, 168
 Napier Affair and, 170–172
 Opium Wars and, 164, 165 profit from the opium trade, 168
 yi (barbarians) and, 172
 Great East Asian War (1592–1598), 108–128 alternative names for, 108, 109 conflict summarized, 109–113 dynamics of East Asian international relations and, 32–33, 128, 278 realist theories challenged by, 38
 Greve, Andrew Q., and Jack S. Levy, 226
 Griffiths, Ryan, 20

 Haggard, Stephan and David C. Kang, David C., 263
 Hakata (modern Fukuoka)
 Chinatowns (Tōjinmachi) in, 51
 demise of, 61
 Japanese military and, 29

 Kamiya Jutei (Hakata merchant) and, 51, 61
 Ningbo merchants and shipping agents and, 47
 silver and, 54, 60
 Han dynasty (206 BCE–220 CE) centralized government of, 26
 tribute system during, 67, 68–69
 Hanscom, Christopher, 14
 Henry, Todd, 15
 Hideyoshi. See Toyotomi Hideyoshi
 Hirado
 Chinatowns (Tōjinmachi) in, 51
 Francis Xavier and, 53
 Portuguese traders in, 57
 Wang Zhi and, 55
 Hò Quý Ly 胡季犛
 Đại Việt state-building efforts and, 107
 Sino-Vietnamese relations and, 97, 100, 106
 usurpation of the Trần throne, 36, 99–100, 102, 106
 Holland. See Dutch Presence
 Hong Taiji, 135, 144
 Hong-kyu Park, 94
 Hongwu Emperor (r. 1368–98)
 investiture of Yi Sōng-kye denied by, 82, 91–96 maritime trade ban, 45 opposition to invading Vietnam, 104
 tributary diplomacy formalized by, 49, 84–85
 Yuan dynasty overthrown by, 36
 Horowitz, Richard, 16, 42
 Hosokawa clan
 Ōuchi clan and, 50

ilustrados (enlightened ones), 211, 212, 213, See also Rizal, José and the liberal ideas of the Biak na Bata, 216 rise of, 207
 Imjin War (1592–1598). See Great East Asian War (1592–1598) international political economy (IPE). See Canton System; maritime trade; tribute system
 East Asian regional interconnections and, 23, 25, 43 restrictions on commerce in Historical East Asia and, 274 traditional paradigms of international relations and, 7–8, 18, 263, 267, 274 international relations theory. See also Ming dynasty (1368–1644)–and Vietnam; East Asian international relations; Eastphalia; event construction; military expansionism; Sinocentric order; tribute system

312 Index

- international relations theory (cont.)
 agency of regional actors and, 7, 13, 115–116, 241, 242, 244, 258 balance of power. See Westphalian international system Eurocentrism of, 4, 263, 281
 four determinants of interstate behavior, 263
 Historical East Asia (HEA) and, 5, 7–8, 10, 12, 269, 281 ideational and constitutive factors of societies and cultures and, 10, 13–14, 39–40, 82–83 perspectives on commerce. See international political economy (IPE); mercantilist theory the “rise of Japan” narrative and, 227 traditional paradigms of. See constructivism; international political economy; liberalism; realist theory international relations theory—tools for enforcing order. See also design of international institutions; military protection or intervention; political recognition and its removal cooperation under hegemony compared, 266 economic sanctions and, 13, 267 investiture (K. ch’aekpong, C. cefeng) authority relations in tribute practices and, 11, 32, 89–90
 Chosŏn kings and, 89, 91–96
 Koryŏ kings and, 85
 multipolar order of China after the fall of the Han and, 68 negative soft power held by the Ming and, 83, 90–91, 92–96
 Yi Sŏng-kye’s denied by Hongwu, 82
- Japan. See also Bungo Funai; Gotō; Great East Asian War (1592–1598); Hakata (modern Fukuoka); Hirado; Sino-Japanese War; Tokugawa regime; Usuki as closed (sakoku), 25, 44, 188, 190, 195 daimyo of western Japan. See Hosokawa clan; Mōri clan; Ōtomo clan; Ōuchi clan; Shimazu clan disadvantaged status in the treaty port system, 230, 232
 discord in the military after 1895, 237
 East Asian international order and, 8, 10, 16, 28, 34, 277
 European and American penetration of East Asia and, 235
 Hōi An used for Sino-Japanese trade, 58–59
 Iwakura Mission (1871–1873) and, 202–203
- John Manjiro (aka Nakahama Manjiro) and, 199–203
Nihon Shoki (Chronicles of Japan), 70, 73
 Russo-Japanese War (1904–1905), 42, 235
 Sino-Japanese silk-for-silver trade and, 51, 151
 Townsend Harris and, 198–199
 Japanese pirates. See Wokou (“Japanese pirates” [Jap. Wakō])
- Johnston, Iain Alistair
 strategic culture defined by, 118–121
- Jurchen federation
 Chosŏn relations and, 34, 37
 Ming hegemony over Northeast Asia, 134–135
- Kamiya Jutei (Hakata merchant), 51, 61
 Kanagawa, Nadia, 29, 39, 270
 Kang, David C., 13, 39, 97, 115, 121, 161, 266, 267, 270
 Kang, David C. and Alex Yu-Ting Lin, 4
 Kang, David C. and Kenneth M. Swope, 9, 279
 Kang, David C. and Stephan Haggard, 263
 Kang, David C., Dat X. Nguyen, Ronan Tse-min Fu, 38
 Kang, Etsuko Hae-jin, 117
 Kanghai Treaty. See Treaty of Kanghai (1876)
 Kelley, Liam C., 31, 38
 Kim Pu-sik (1075–1151 CE)
Samguk sagi (Records of the Three Kingdoms), 69–70
 Kim, Han-gyu, 37, 84
 Kim, Tang-Taek, 94
 Kingdom of Ryukyu. See Ryukyu Kingdom
 Koguryŏ. See Korean peninsula
 Korea
 Guoyu, 國語 or 국어 “national language”, 254
 Korean peninsula. See also Chōson Korea; Koryŏ Korea; Liaodong; Sino-Japanese War
 East Asian international order and, 8, 10, 28, 34
 East Asian regional interconnections and, 23, 25
 European and American penetration of East Asia and, 229, 233
 Korea viewed by the Ming as “the lips that protect China’s teeth”, 37, 91, 124, 125 pattern of alliances on, 70–73, 76–79 state formation on, 29
 Tang dynasty (618–907) and, 29, 35, 36, 39, 67, 68, 75–80, 276

Index

313

- Koryŏ Korea (918–1392), 36
 Kongmin (r. 1351–1374), 81, 84–85
 Korean historical sources compiled during, 69–70
 Ming investiture of Koryŏ kings, 85, 91
Musa The Warrior and, 81, 82, 91
 Northern Yuan and, 85, 86, 90 territory in the Korean peninsula and, 85–86, 91
 Yi Sŏng-kye's opposition to King U, 81–82, 86–87, 94
 Kwan, Mei-Po, 33
 Kye, Seung-bum, 90
- Larsen, Kirk, 37, 236
 Lê Lợi 黎利 (1385–1433), 102, 103, 106–107
 Lee, Gyu-cheol, 94
 Lee, Ji-Young, 7, 11, 12, 14, 27, 32, 34, 116, 122, 123, 125
 Lee, Kenneth, 37
 Lee, Sunghsi, 74
 Lewis, Mark Edward, 26, 69
 Li Hongzhang, 204, 227, 232, 235
 Li Zicheng (1606–1645), 132, 137–138, 139, 142
 Liaodong
 Great East Asian War and, 125
 late Ming and, 130, 134 leaders of the fan (feudatory) southern proxy governments and, 140, 144
 Qing rule of China and, 130, 134
 the Sino-Japanese War and, 225, 234 trade with the Jurchen, 134
 the Unyō mission and, 243, 243
 Yuan-Ming transition and, 81–82, 86–87, 91–96
 liberalism
 China as a threat to contemporary Western liberal order, 20–21 concepts of modernity and modernization and, 258, 259 construction of sovereignty in the Kanghwa Treaty and, 252
 Philippine independence and, 206, 210, 216, 219, 223
 traditional paradigms of international relations and, 42, 263, 267
 Lieberman, Victor, 6, 31, 159
 Lin Zexu (Qing official), 173–175, 176, 177
 Liu, Lydia, 257
- Mạc dynasty (1527–92)
 Ming court and, 105–106
 Nguyễn regime's independence from, 59
 Tonkin heartland in Northern Vietnam controlled by, 58
 MacDonald, Paul and Joseph Parent, 3
 MacKay, Joseph, 27
 Mackinder, H. J., 278
 Majul, Cesar, 214
 Manchu Qing empire. See Qing dynasty
 Manchuria
 Qing rule of China and, 129, 130, 140
 Manifesting Awe (wei 威), 114, 122, 268
 Ming invasion of the Đại Việt kingdom and, 98
 Perry as “Lord of the Forbidden Interior”, 191
 Perry's tactics of “shock and awe”, 188, 192–193
 PRC's “Nine-Dash Line” and, 122 maritime trade. See also Canton System; port polity paradigm; Wokou (“Japanese pirates” [Jap. Wakō]); Zheng clan economic transformation of China during the Song dynasty and, 46
 Eurocentric views of East Asian commerce and, 44–45
 European and East Asian international commerce compared, 156–157, 160–163
 Hồ Quý Ly's seizing of the ports of Champa, 100
 Mongol conquest and, 47
 Zheng state based in Xiamen and, 150, 162
 Matsura domain
 capital of. See Hirado
 Matsuru Shigenobu, 56–57
 Wang Zhi and, 55
 Mearsheimer, John J., 3, 19
 Melville, Herman, 188
 mercantilist theory. See also maritime trade; Wokou (“Japanese pirates” [Jap. Wakō]) Eurocentricism of narratives of the “Age of Exploration”, 44–45
 Historical East Asia as a source for an integrated theory explaining domestic and foreign effects and, 274
 Nguyễn regime's foreign trade strategy and, 58–59
 Nobunaga's fiscal policies and, 59–60 politics of interstate commerce and, 272 military expansionism. See also power-transition theory the distinctive logics of empire and, 242
 Eurocentrism of its application to state formation, 4, 22, 161
 Ming dynasty's occupation of the Đại Việt kingdom and, 98, 102–107 seventeenth-century Yunnan and, 138–141
 the Sino-Japanese War and, 225, 226, 228

314 Index

- military protection or intervention
 - pattern of alliances on the Korean peninsula and, 67, 70–73, 77–79
 - positioning in the international hierarchy in Asia and, 125–127
 - as a tool for enforcing order, 267
 - Zhang Xianzhong's campaigns in Shaanxi and Henan, 137
- Ming dynasty (1368–1644). See also Great East Asian War (1592–1598)
 - emperors. See Hongwu; Wanli; Yongle
 - institutional and organizational maturation of the imperial system, 34, 114
 - Korea and. See Chosŏn Korea—and the Ming empire
 - Manifesting Awe (wei 威) and, 114, 122, 268
 - and the Ming-Qing transition, 33, 129–145
 - prohibition against private overseas trade rescinded by (1567), 57
 - Qi Jiguang's military tactics, 57, 127
 - Sinocentric order of, 32, 115
 - territories controlled by, 131
 - tributary relations fused with trading privileges during, 45, 49–50, 114
 - tributary relations with the Koryŏ, 85
- Ming dynasty (1368–1644)—and China's "silver century", 51, See also Wokou ("Japanese pirates")
 - collapse of China's paper money system and, 151
 - Europe's economy and, 150–152
 - Manila Bay and, 58
 - Sino-Japanese silk-for-silver trade and, 151
- Ming dynasty (1368–1644)—and Vietnam
 - Mạc and Lê courts and, 105–106
 - overthrow of the Tran dynasty and, 276
 - Zhang Fu 張輔 (1375–1449) and, 101
- Mongol Yuan. See Yuan dynasty
- Mongolia. See also Yuan dynasty
 - Altan Khaghan, 33, 133–134
 - chieftain Narhachu, 81–82, 86
 - East Asian international order and, 33–34
 - Khubilai Khan, 31, 47, 98–99
 - Oirots, 33
 - Oyirod Mongols, 130–133, 142
 - Qing rule of China and, 129, 130, 135–136, 143, 144–145
 - regional interconnections and, 43
 - Tumet Mongols, 132, 133, 142
 - Yuan dynasty and, 31
- Mōri clan
 - dominance of, 56–57
 - gunpowder weapons of, 60–61
 - Hideyoshi and, 61
 - Iwami mines and, 60, 62
- Moriyasu, Ken, 29
- Napier, Lord William, as Chief Superintendent of Trade for Britain, 170–172
- Neumann, Iver, 21
- Ngô Quyền 吳權 (897–944), 97, 99
- Nguyễn Kim 阮淦 (1476–1545), 106
- Nguyễn Huệ and the Tây Sơn Rebellion (1771–1802), 106
- Nguyễn regime
 - independent regime founded by, 58–59
 - rice cultivation adopted as an economic base by, 63
 - Zheng clan smugglers and, 63
- Nguyễn Trãi (1380–1442), 103, 105
- Nihon Shoki* (Chronicles of Japan), 69
- Nobunga. See Odo Nobunanga
- Nurgaci (1559–1626). See also Aisin or Jin khanate (1616–1635)
 - Great East Asian War and, 113, 126, 134–135
 - Manchu Qing Eight Banners and, 135, 141–142, 144–145
- Oda Nobunaga (1534–1582), 57
 - fiscal policies, 59–60
 - gunpowder weapons and, 61
 - Toyotomi Hideyoshi and, 61, 116
- Ōmura Sumitada, 57
- opium trade. See also Canton System
 - British profit from, 168
 - Qing concern with the social and economic consequences of, 164, 170
- Opium Wars (1839–1858), 182–187
 - causes summarized, 164–165
 - Daoguang Emperor and, 165, 177
 - East Asian international society challenged by, 8, 42, 186, 242, 271, 276, 280
 - establishment of a framework of diplomacy between Britain and the Qing Empire, 164
 - establishment of trade beneficial to Great Britain, 164
 - "Opium War" as a moniker, 176
 - Taiwan and, 162
 - US diplomatic relations with Japan and, 190
 - Xianfeng Emperor and, 165
- Opium Wars—First Opium War (1839–1842), 164
 - negotiations between Lin Zexu and Charles Elliot and, 174–175
- Opium Wars—First Opium War (1839–1842), negotiations between Lin Zexu and Charles Elliot and, 176

- Opium Wars—Second Opium War (1856–1860), 164
- Ōtomo clan capital of. See Bungo Funai
 gunpowder weapons of, 60
 Sōrin (1530–87), 55–57, 61
 Yoshiaki, 53–54, 56
 Yoshinago, 55, 56
- Ottoman empire
 British governing relations with, 164
- Ōuchi clan
 Hosokawa clan and, 50
 Mōri clan dominance over, 56–57, 61
- Oyirod Mongols, 130–133, 142
- Paekche. See Korean peninsula
- Pagden, Anthony, 242
- Paine, S. C. M., 226
- Palais, James, 243
- Palmerston, Viscount
 Lord Napier and, 171
 Palmerston, Viscount, military action in China supported by, 175–177
- Park, Saeyong, 271
- Park, Saeyoung, 17, 27
- Park, Seo-Hyun, 7, 17, 19
- Park, Won-ho, 85
- patterns of exchange. See international political economy
- Peloponnesian War (431–404 BCE), 3, 4
- Perry, Elizabeth, 20
- Perry, Matthew
 changes in Japan's system and, 196–198, 204–205 Dutch-speaking interpreter, 189 guise as “Lord of the Forbidden Interior”, 191 opening of Japan (1858), 42, 188–205 tactics of “shock and awe”, 188, 192–193 Treaty of Kanagawa (1854) and, 198
- Peterson, Charles, 39
- Peterson, Mark, 37
- Philippine-American War (1888–1902)
 as America's “first Vietnam war”, 221
- Philippine-American War (1888–1902), 41
 and McKinley's “benevolent assimilation” address, 221
- Philippine-American War (1888–1902), and liberal ideas evoked by the U.S., 222
- Philippines. See also Philippine-American War; Spanish-American War
 Catholic Church as administrators for Spain, 211
 European and American penetration of East Asia and, 41, 207 independence in 1898, 219, 223
 Katipunan established by Andrés Bonifacio, 215 rise of the Philippine intellectual class. See ilustrados (enlightened ones) silver trade in Manila Bay and, 58, 208
- Pines, Yuri, 9
- Pinto, Fernão Mendes, 53, 60
- piracy. See also Wokou (“Japanese pirates” [Jap. Wakō]) Jiaqing Emperor's suppression of, 168
- polarity
 absence of balancing against the United States and, 277
 multipolarity of East Asia during the Northern and Southern dynasties, 67–68, 69 patterns of warfare and, 34–40 role of culture and, 10, 13, 28–29, 39–40
 unipolarity in Historical East Asia, 8, 22, 79–80, 264, 278, 281
- political recognition and its removal. See also investiture; tribute system Historical East Asia's normative structure and, 271
 as a tool for enforcing order, 267
 as a variable rather than a constant, 280
- Pomeranz, Kenneth, 159
- port polity paradigm hegemonic Tokugawa political order and, 62 maritime trade in East Asia and, 45–46, 64 Nguyễn regime and, 58–59, 63
 ports of Kyushu and, 51, 52, 55–56, 62
 Ryukyu Kingdom and, 50 and the Zheng clan, 63, 149–163, 276
- Portugal
 alliance with the Wokuo, 57
 European and American penetration of East Asia and, 25, 40–41, 44, 156–157
 Jesuit missionary Francis Xavier, 53, 55
 Melaka and trading at Shuangyu Island, 51–53
- Portugal—colony of Macao, 40, 41, 57–58, 61, 151
 ZhengChenggong and, 154
- Pottinger, Sir Henry, 177, 179
- power-transition theory. See also event construction
 Britain-American hegemonic transition and, 3, 9
 Chinese-led regional system as a challenge to, 19–21
 Eurocentrism of, 4
 the Sino-Japanese War and, 225

316 Index

- Qi Jiguang (1528–88), 57, 127
 Qianlong Emperor (r. 1735–96), 64
 Canton System and, 166, 168
 letter to George III, 45
 Qin-Han unification (221 BC–220 AD), 8–9, 22, 24, 27, 114–115
 Chinese hegemony traced to (Phase I of East Asian history)
 historical East Asia traced to Qin, Yaqing, 14
 Qing dynasty (1644–1911). See also Canton System; Opium Wars; Taiping rebellion as a conquest state before 1644, 135–136
 emperors. See Daoguang Emperor; Fulin;
 Hong Taiji; Qianlong Emperor; Xianfeng
 Emperor; Xuanye; Yongzheng Emperor
 Empress Dowager Cixi, 204
 European and American penetration of East
 Asia and, 163
 Grand Council, 115
 Jiaqing Emperor's suppression of piracy, 168 multi-dimensionality of its reunification of China, 63–64, 143 private maritime trade during, 45
 territories controlled by, 132
 Treaty of Nerchinsk with Russia (1689), 280
 tributary system preserved by, 118
 Qing dynasty (1644–1911)—Eight Banners
 Green Standard Army and, 142
 Liaodong province and, 139, 142
 Nurgaci's state and military organizations and, 135, 141–142, 144–145

 Rawski, Evelyn, 6
 realist theory, 21
 Eurocentrism of, 3
 fall of Koguryō and, 39
 Great East Asian War (Imjin War) and, 38
 traditional paradigms of international relations and, 263, 267
 Ringrose, David, 159
 Rizal, José, 209, 214, 215
 Robinson, David, 119
 Robinson, Michael and Gi-wook Shin, 15
 Rosenthal, Jean-Laurent and R. Bin Wong, 35, 37
 Rossabi, Morris, 6
 Ruskola, Teemu, 257
 Russia
 European and American penetration of East
 Asia and, 16, 41, 140, 193, 225, 227, 229,
 230, 235, 237, 271
 Russo-Japanese War (1904–1905), 42, 235
 Treaty of Nerchinsk with the Qing
 (1689), 280

 Ryukyu Kingdom
 Confucian vocabulary adapted by, 34
 demise of its political independence, 59, 128
 East Asian international order and, 8, 10, 34
 East Asian regional interconnections and, 23
 Ryukyu Kingdom—and maritime trade in East Asia
 demise of, 50, 59
 port polity paradigm and, 50
 private coiners in, 59

 Sadao, Nishijima, 69
 Sancierco, Gregorio, 211
 Schake, Kori, 3
 Schouten, Wouter, 149
 Schumacher, John, 210
 Scobell, Andrew, 119
 Seed, Patricia, 159
 Shimazu clan
 gunpowder weapons of, 60
 Kingdom of Ryukyu and, 59, 128
 Shimazu, Naoku, 238
 Shin, Gi-wook and Michael Robinson, 15
 Shirk, Susan, 3
 Siam
 British influence on, 41
 East Asian international order and, 8, 10
 East Asian regional interconnections and, 23, 43
 silver
 Canton System and, 167, 169–170
 Ming Dynasty and. See Ming dynasty (1368–1644)—and China's "silver century
 Sinocentric order. See also East Asian international relations; Eastphalia; investiture; Ming dynasty; tribute system and core-periphery relations in premodern
 East Asia, 6
 East Asian states and peoples and, 12
 Eastphalia as a term for, 255 Great East Asian War of 1592–98 as a challenge to, 32–33, 128
 Hongwu's formalized system of tributary diplomacy and, 49, 84–85 incidence of war and, 10 international relations of historical East Asia
 and, 9, 17–18, 22–43
 Ming and, 115
 stability of compared with the Westphalian
 system, 115, 161
 tributary system as a more accurate name for, 12
 Western imperialism and, 5, 14–17, 18, 24, 259

- Sino-Japanese War
 advanced “civilization” showcased in, 237
 Chosŏn Korea as the old order and Meiji
 Japan as the new, 224
 European and American penetration of East
 Asia and, 225, 227, 229, 236
 Japan as a stakeholder in the Westphalian territorial model and, 229, 236, 277 Japanese foreign policy and, 238 military reforms in Japan and China and, 204 nation-building efforts in China and, 237 nation-building efforts in Japan and, 238
 Treaty of Shimonoseki, 225, 230, 234
 Skaff, Jonathan Karam, 33
 Song dynasty (960–1279), 30
 Sino-Japanese trade during, 46 sovereignty. See also political recognition and its removal
 investiture practice and, 11, 32
 the Westphalian international system and,
 16–17, 250, 252
 Spain
 European and American penetration of East
 Asia and, 41, 207
 Philippines and. See Philippines; Spanish-
 American War
 Spanish-American War and McKinley’s proclamation, 221 and regional hegemony, 277
 Treaty of Paris (December 10, 1898), 207, 219, 220, 221
 truce leading to Spanish surrender, 219
 Spanish-American War and event construction, 206. See also Aguinaldo, Emilio and the voices and agency of Filipino revolutionaries, 206
 Standen, Naomi, 23, 30
 state formation. See also military expansionism; political recognition and its removal;
 port polity paradigm; power-transition theory; sovereignty Eurocentrism of bellicist theories of, 4, 22
 fifth to tenth centuries AD in East Asia
 (Phase II), 24, 27–31
 Westphalian and the History of East Asia compared, 281
 Sugihara, Kaoru, 64
 Sui-dynasty
 incursions into the Korean peninsula,
 73–75, 85
 Sui-Tang unification
 East Asian regional system and, 8, 24, 28
 incursions into the Korean peninsula, 68, 125
 Sun, Laichen, 101
 Suzuki, Shogo, 17
 Swope, Kenneth M., 6, 32, 37, 101, 103
 Swope, Kenneth M. and David C. Kang, 9, 279
 Taiping rebellion (1850–1864)
 reordering of East Asian relations and,
 40, 276
 Taiwan
 Dutch maritime trade based in, 150–152, 155
 East Asian international order and, 8, 161–163
 East Asian regional interconnections and, 23
 Qing rule of China and, 63, 129, 130, 141, 161–163
 Zheng clan’s defeat of the Dutch, 157–160
 Tang dynasty (618–907)
 Gaozong (r. 649–683), 78
 Korean peninsula and, 29, 35, 36, 39, 67, 68, 75–80, 276
 state-formation in China and, 8, 24, 28–30
 Taizong (r. 626–649), 76–78
 Taylor, Keith W., 102, 103, 104, 105
 Thayer, Carlyle A., 97
 Thucydides, 3, 123
 Tibet
 Altan Khaghan and, 33, 133
 British invasion of, 167
 East Asian international order and, 8, 10,
 28, 34
 East Asian regional interconnections and, 23
 impact on Tang-Silla relations, 79
 Qing rule of China and, 129, 130
 trade and interconnectivity of, 23, 43, 140
 Tumet Mongols and, 142
 Yuan dynasty and, 31
 Tokugawa Ieyasu (1542–1616), 62, 113, 128, 194
 Tokugawa regime (1603–1867). See also Great East Asian War (1592–1598); Unyō
 (雲揚) incident
 “Great Peace Under Heaven” established by, 194–196, 197–198, 278 impact of international treaties agreed to, 202
 international treaties agreed to, 165 kokudaka taxation system inaugurated by Nobunaga, 59
 Meiji overthrow of (1868), 197–198
 Nagasaki compounds created for Chinese and Dutch traders, 64
 technological advancement during, 197
 tributary order and, 128

318 Index

- Toyotomi Hideyoshi (1536–1598), 25, See also Great East Asian War (1592–1598)
 invasion of Korea (1592–98), 32, 108–128
 Japan's status in the tributary order and, 116–118, 123
 Japonocentric world order envisioned by, 32–33, 123
 Ming military strength underestimated by, 108, 124
 Oda Nobunaga and, 61, 116
 Tokugawa Ieyasu's vanquishing of, 113
 Trần dynasty (1225–1400), 105
 Hồ Quý Ly's usurpation of, 99–100, 102, 106
 Lê Lợi and, 103
 Yuan Empire and, 98–99
 Treaty of Amity. See Treaty of Kanghwa (1876)
 Treaty of Kanagawa (1854), 198
 Treaty of Kanghwa (1876)
 the Unyō incident and, 240, 242, 244
 Treaty of Kanghwa (1876)—as contract, 251
 Article I and Westphalian sovereignty, 252 Article III language stipulations, 254 treaty port system
 Japan's and Korea's ambiguous status and, 230, 232
 tributary missions
 Korean relations with China and, 12, 81 trade controlled by, 11
 Vietnamese relations with China and, 12 tribute system. See also tributary missions China-Inner Asian diplomatic relations and,
 10, 33–34, 39, 122
 Chosōn-Ming relations and, 89–90
 Confucian worldview and, 10, 13, 14, 40, 82–83
 Han dynasty and, 67, 68–69
 Heaven-sanctioned authority and, 68–69, 266, 278
 investiture and. See investiture
 Japan's status in, 116–118, 123
 Japanese adaptation of, 29, 194–196 major conflicts prevented by, 114 malleability of, 30, 32–34, 115–116, 166, 167
 Manifesting Awe (wei 威) and, 114, 122, 268
 multipolarity of East Asia during the Northern and Southern dynasties and, 67–68, 69
 as a name for the Sinocentric system, 12
 Sino-Korean alliance. See Chosōn Korea—and the Ming empire
 stability of compared with the Westphalian
 system, 115
 Sui and Tang unipolarity and, 79–80 tributary relations fused with trading privileges during the Ming, 45, 49–50, 114
 Western Europeans' rejection of, 164, 166
 Yamato court and, 70, 72–74, 79, 80
 Yi Sōng-kye's interest in investiture as King of Chosōn and, 82, 90, 91–96
 Yuan period and, 84–85, 86
 Trịnh Kiểm 鄭檢 (1503–1570), 106
 Tumet Mongols
 Ming and, 133, 142
 territories controlled by, 132
 United States. See also Perry, Matthew;
 Philippine-American War; Spanish-
 American War
 absence of balancing against, 277
 American and Chinese hegemony compared,
 9, 19, 266
 Britain-American hegemonic transition and,
 3, 9
 European and American penetration of East Asia and, 3, 16, 25, 41, 42, 207, 225, 229
 Townsend Harris and, 198–199
Unyō (雲揚) incident agency of regional actors in determining the direction of the Westphalian system and, 241, 242, 244, 258
 and relations between Chōson Korea and Japan, 245, 250, 251
 Sin Hōn's exchange with Kuroda, 250
 summary of, 244
 Usuki
 Chinatowns (Tōjinmachi) in, 51
 Vaynman, Jane and Andrew J. Coe, 269
 Vietnam. See also Đại Việt kingdom; Hồ Quý
 Ly; Mạc dynasty; Nguyễn regime; Trần dynasty
 centralization of authority of, 30–31
 Champa kingdom and, 31, 38, 100, 101 domestic instability and regime contestation, 38
 East Asian international order and, 8, 10, 34, 37
 East Asian regional interconnections and, 23
 French colony of Cochinchina and, 40, 41 historical international relations in Asia and, 221, 223
 Hội An, 58–59
 Sino-Vietnamese relations and, 97–98,
 106, 276
 Trịnh rulers of Tonkin, 63

Index

319

- von Glahn, Richard economic relations in East Asia discussed by, 18, 25 might and wealth of the Sui-Tang empires discussed by, 28
- Wade, Geoff, 44
- Waltz, Kenneth N., 278
- Wang Zhi, 53–56, 57, 60, 63
- Wang, Yuan-kang, 121
- Wang, Zhenping, 76, 78–79
- Wanli reign period (r. 1572–1620) assessment of, 136
 devolution of Ming power during, 127 military revival during his rule, 108, 124
 Mongol tribes of the steppe and, 124
 Three Great Campaigns (Wanli san da zheng), 108, 127
 Wanli reign period (r. 1572–1620), military intervention in Korea, 125–127
 Yang Yinglong Miao uprising, 127
- Ward, Michael D. and Kristina S. Gleditsch, 280
- Ward, Steven, 237
- Westphalian international system balance-of-power lessons from Historical East Asia, 276 changes-in-polarity lessons from Historical East Asia, 281 concept of sovereignty and, 4, 16–17
 as a construct, 239, 263
 Correlates of War data (COW), 280
 evolution of the East Asian international system and, 5, 14–17, 42
 Japan as a stakeholder after the Sino-Japanese War, 229, 236 military protection as a tool of, 13 multipolar system of sovereign equality among states, 8, 22, 115, 161 shift away from the tributary system and, 11, 241 warfare in East Asian history as a challenge to, 34–40
- Whitemore, John, 102, 106
- Wigan, Karen, 30
- Wills, John E., Jr., 29
- Wokou (“Japanese pirates” [Jap. Wakō] 倭寇) appellation defined and seafarers identified with, 45, 48 Chinese mercantile expansion into the, 64 diffusion of gunpowder and, 60
 global trade during the Ming and, 45–46, 54
 Hideyoshi’s assessment of Ming military capabilities and, 124
 Hu Zongxian’s diplomatic mission and, 56
 Japanese envoys sent to the Ming court and, 56
 Ming court’s reversal on overseas trade, 57–58
 Qing dynasty and, 63
 Ryukyu as a hub of maritime East Asia and, 59
 Wang Zhi as a, 53–56, 57, 60, 63
 Zheng Shungong’s meeting with Ōtomo Sōrin, 55
 Zhu Wan and, 54
- Wolford, Scott and Andrew J. Coe, 8
- Womack, Brantly, 25, 32
- Wong, R. Bin, 27, 159
- Wong, R. Bin and Jean-Laurent Rosenthal, 35, 37
- Woodside, Alexander, 5, 6, 28
- Wright, David, 33
- Wu Sangui (1612–1678)
 fan (“feudatory”) government established in Yunnan by, 138, 139–141 Qing defeat of rebel kingdoms and resistance regimes and, 138, 139–141, 144 rebellion of the fan (feudatories), 140
- Xianfeng Emperor, 165
- Xinjiang
 Qing rule of China and, 129, 130
 Xuanze (Kangxi period emperor 1662–1722), 140, 141, 145
 reunification of China (1683), 63, 130, 162
- Yamagata Aritomo, 228, 229
- Yamaguchi
 Francis Xavier and, 53
- Yamgata Aritomo, 235
- Yasunori, Arano, 123
- Yi Sōng-kye
 Chosŏn established by, 82, 86
 investiture as King of Chosŏn sought by, 82, 83, 90, 91–96 military action against the Ming and, 81–82, 86–87, 94
- Yongle Emperor (r. 1402–1424)
 Ming court’s invasion of the Đại Việt kingdom and, 98, 100–101, 103–104
- Yongzheng Emperor’s banning of opium, 168
- Yuan dynasty collapse of, 32, 133
 Koryŏ Korea and, 85, 86, 90
 maritime trade during, 47
 Tibet and, 31
 Trần dynasty and, 98–99 tribute system during, 84–85, 86

320 Index

- Yuan dynasty (cont.)
 unification of China (Phase III of the East Asian world), 24, 26, 30, 31–32, 143
- Yuan Shikai, 36, 186
 as Chinese Resident-General of Korean affairs, 224, 232
- Yunnan
 Mongols and, 101, 143
 reunification of China during the Qing, 129, 138–141
 Wu Sangui's fan (“feudatory”) government established in, 138, 139–141
- Zarakol, Ayse, 13
- Zelditch, Morris, 95
- Zhang Xianzhong (1605–1647), 132, 137, 139, 142
- Zhang Yongjin and Barry Buzan, 12
- Zhang, Feng, 7, 8, 26, 32, 33, 115, 122
- expressive hierarchy discussed by, 14, 116, 121
- Zhao, Gang, 40
- Zheng clan
 informal port polity established in coastal Fujian, 63, 149–163, 276 Taiwan captured from the Dutch by, 41, 149–163
 vanquishing by the Qing (1683), 63, 162
 Zheng Zhilong as translator and privateer under the Dutch flag, 149
- Zheng clan—Zheng Chenggong (1624–1662) background of, 152–154, 157
 Southern Ming state based in Xiamen, 63, 150, 157
 Taiwan captured from the Dutch, 157–160
 Wu Sangui's rebellion supported by, 140
- Zheng He expeditions, 44, 122, 156
- Zhu Wan, 54
- Zhu Yuanzhang. See Hongwu Emperor