Contents

Acknowledgments page vii

Introduction 1
  Contact and Truth 1
  Sympathy and Epistemology 4
  Sympathy and Relationality 12
  Defining Human Contact 16
  Defining Sympathy and Empathy 19
  Philosophies of Sympathy and Human Contact 24
  Overview of the Book 35

1 Transcendental Approaches to Human Contact 38
   Emerson 39
   Thoreau’s Transcendental Approach to Human Contact 59
   Louisa May Alcott, Behind a Mask 65
   Whitman 68

2 “Some True Relation”: The Evolution of Hawthorne’s Understanding of Human Contact 86
   Puritan Conceptions of Truth and Contact 89
   The Scarlet Letter: Be True! Be True! Show Your Worst! 93
   The House of the Seven Gables, “The Thing Itself,” and How to “Take It” 108
   Hawthorne’s Critique of Sentimental Forms of Sympathy 114

3 “The Sentiment of Justice Must Revolt in Every Heart”: White Empathy with the Humanity of Black Autobiography 123
   Sympathy and the Problem of Black Individuality 123
   The Humanity of Autobiography 132
   Aural and Visual Perception in The Heroic Slave 155

4 “All the Vivacities of Life Lie in Differences”: Abrasive Sympathy after Uncle Tom’s Cabin 166
   Abrasive Contact in The Minister’s Wooing 174
   Conclusion 197
Contents

5  “Sweet Skepticism of the Heart”: Dickinson’s Sympathetic Phenomenology 198
   Spirit Letters 200
   Kernels and Husks: Beyond Interiority 206
   Sympathy and Social Recognition 218
   Dickinson’s Phenomenology 228
   Conclusion 236

6  Conclusion 239

Bibliography 246
Notes 266
Index 286