General Index

Ethnoms may be indexed with their toponyms. Romans are generally listed under their nomen. Many toponyms appear in a number of variants, which often indicate different sources or even errors, but in the interests of thoroughness and clarity, many of these are listed in this index. It is not always possible to determine whether repeated mentions of the same toponym refer to identical or different places. Ancient authors only appear in this index when discussed as a part of the commentary; a full list of ancient authors cited appears in the Index of Passages Cited.
