

Index

- Acton, Dalberg-Acton, John, 1st Baron, 16
 Adams, Charles Francis, Jr., 340–1
 Africa. See sub-Saharan Africa
 Alexandrowicz, Charles Henry, 11–12, 73–4, 77, 153
 Allott, Philip, 82
 American historiography. See United States (US)
 anachronism, presentism and, 323
 Anghie, Anthony, 83
 Armitage, David, 50, 88–9
 Austin, John, 299
- Baskin, Iuri Yakovlevich, 286
 Belgium
 twentieth-century historiography, 265–6
 Bentham, Jeremy, 1–39, 297–8
 Benton, Lauren, 87–8
 Boucher d'Argis, Antoine-Gaspard, 252–3
 British historiography. See United Kingdom (UK)
 Browne, Arthur, 297
 Burke, Edmund, 299
 Butkevych, Olga, 290
- Cambridge school, 323, 374
 Carty, Anthony, 79
 Chakrabarty, Dipesh, 50, 57
 China
 Chinese as East Asian diplomatic lingua franca, 192
 'Chinese world order' and modern international law contrasted, 193–4 foundational classical texts for East Asian diplomacy, 192–3 Japanese displacement of Chinese as East Asian diplomatic lingua franca, 199–214
 Sinocentrism of international law in East Asia, 189–97
- CLS. See critical legal studies
 Cobden, Richard, 162–71
 Coke, Sir Edward, habeas corpus, theory of, 115–16
 Conrad, Patrick, 32
 Craven, Matthew, 19, 66–7
 critical legal studies (CLS), 324
 Cudworth, Ralph, and international-relations scholarship, 126–7
- Dalberg, John. See Acton, Dalberg-Acton, John, 1st Baron
 decisionism
 kinds of, 55
 organicism and, 71
 presentism and, 57
- East Asia
 de-Eurocentricisation of international law, 189
 Eurocentricism of international law in, 188, 198–206
 Japan's interwar Sonderweg historiography, 206–11
 Sinocentrism of international law in, 189–97
 'tale of two centrisms', 189–90, 212–14
 economic history
 definition of, 165–6
 historical new institutional economics (HNIE), 167 Institute of International Law, economics-centred activities of, 164 institutional and economic foundations of modern international economic law, 174–9 international economic law post-1990s, 179–81

Index

- International Law Association,
 economics-centred activities of, 164
 neoliberalism, histories of, 181
 (non-)engagement with international law,
 167–74, 181–2
 Permanent Court of Arbitration,
 economics-centred activities of, 164, 175
 Permanent Court of International Justice, economics-centred activities of, 164, 175 roots in economics law of international legal scholarship, 162–82
 World Trade Organization (WTO), 179
 Elias, Taslim O., 216, 220, 238–42
 Elliott, Sir John, 18
 Emory school of international legal history, 350–1, 354
 empire and law. See colonialism Europe
 birth of European legal history, 54–62
 de-Eurocentricisation of international law, 189 eighteenth-century historiography, 247–55
 Eurocentric historicism, 77
 Eurocentric master narrative of historiography of international law, 1, 26–8, 187
 Eurocentricist historiography, 1–14, 187–90, 198–206
 introduction to, 244–7
 nineteenth-century historiography, 255–60
 twentieth-century historiography, 260–7
 twenty-first-century historiography, 267–71
 Fairbank, John King, 190, 191
 Ferguson, Niall, 359
 France
 twentieth-century historiography, 261–2
 twenty-first-century historiography, 267–8
 Germany
 crisis of German historicism, 88
 German influence in Russia, 275–6, 284, 285 historicism of eighteenth-century German natural law, 65
 nineteenth-century historiography, 260
 Pandect science, 6
 Savigny's scientific paradigm of
 international law, 6
 Grabar, Vladimir. See Hrabar, Vladimir
 Grewe, Wilhelm Georg, 266, 302
 Grotius, Hugo, 5, 29–45, 119, 120, 123, 162, 163–4
habeas corpus, Coke's theory of, 115–16
 Harvard school of international legal history, 351, 359
 Hastings, Warren, trial of, 299
 Hayford, Joseph Ephraim Casely, 220, 223, 225–30, 232, 233, 240
 historicism
 Afrocentric historicism, 238, 242
 British historicism, 301, 313, 319, 321
 crisis of German historicism, 88
 of customary law, 238, 240
 and economic history, 166
 of eighteenth-century German natural law, 65
 Eurocentric historicism, 77
 and historical jurisprudence, 63
 and international-relations scholarship, 141, 158
 meaning in history (Historicism 1), 95 meaning of history (Historicism 2), 67 modernity and, 61
 philosophical historicism, 63
 presentism and, 57
 and TWAIL, 316
 historiography of international law. See also historicism; history; international law
 East Asia. See East Asia and economic history. See economic history
 Eurocentric master narrative of, 1, 107
 history of events, concepts and people over time, as, 327–8
 history of international law as subject of, 244–5
 and international relations. See international relations and political thought. See political thought religion and, 109, 133
 sub-Saharan Africa. See sub-Saharan Africa writing of history of international law as act of historiography, 244 history of international law alternative (non-historical) methods for law's engagement with its past, 27–8 concerns about contextualist paradigm, 27–8
 Craven's classification of scholarly engagement with, 19
 decisionism. See decisionism

INDEX

- history of international law (cont.)
 global history of international law, approaches to, 30–45
 historicism. See historicism history in international law, concept of, 19, 20
 humility as essential tool for, 33–4, 44–5 idea of, 104–5
 ‘international law and empire’ studies, 33 international law in history, concept of, 19
 jurisdictional basis of, 330
 laws’ engagement with history, 245–6 layers of ‘reading’ the past, 29–45 nation state basis of, 330–1 origins of, 62–73
 perpetual present–past, 79–94
 post-colonial history, 73–9
 presentism. See presentism reasons for interest in, 273 scale of, 14–30
 scope of, 1–14, 22–3
 subject of historiography, as, 244–5
 successor to, 94–104
 ‘turn to context’, 25–6
 ‘turn to history’, 49–54
 ‘turn to international and global’, 49–54
 ‘turn to law’, 14–15
 types of users of, 246
 uses of history within, 245
 writing of, as act of historiography, 244 Hobbes, Thomas, and international-relations
 scholarship, 108, 128
 Holland, Thomas Erskine, 295–6
 Hrabar (Grabar), Vladimir, 285, 290
- ICJ. See International Court of Justice (ICJ)
 imperialism. See colonialism
 international law
 definition of as modern public international law (PIL), 4–5 ‘Dominion of the Law of Nations’, 181 emergence of law of nations, 6–8
 Eurocentricism of, 1–14, 187–90
 Grotius: ‘father’ of international law, 5, 7, 162
 and historians’ ‘turn to law’, 14–15
 history of. See history and legal positivism, 6
 Peace of Westphalia (1648) as foundation event, 7
 universalist perspective adopted, 1–5
 universalist perspective discredited, 13–14
- international relations (IR)
 American institutionalisation of, 139
 ‘American social science’, as, 137
 author’s analytical approach, 137
 British ‘birth’ of, 137
 configurational approaches, 141, 143–4
 contribution of historical IR scholarship to, 137, 151–8
 Cudworth, Ralph, 126–7
 disciplinary divide between IR and legal
 history, 137–41
 dominant themes of new historical IR
 scholarship, 136–7
 engagement with history, 136
 enhanced scope of new historical IR
 scholarship, 159
 European adoption of, 140–1
 habeas corpus, Coke’s theory of, 115–16
 Hobbes, Thomas, 108, 128
 interpretivist approaches, 141
 More, Henry, 126–7
 neopositivist approaches, 141
 new historical IR scholarship, 159
 (re)turn to history, effects of, 158
 (re)turn to history, reasons for, 136, 145–51
 theoretical approaches to history of
 international law, 141–5
 ‘turn to law’, 14–15
 US dominance of, 137–41
 IR. See international relations
- Japan
 autonomy from China, 196
 China’s use of modern international law against, 204
 displacement of Chinese as East Asian diplomatic lingua franca, 199–214
 interwar Sonderweg historiography, 206–11
 Kyoto school, 208–9
 Meiji-era modernisation and westernisation, 201
 Japan’s attempts for autonomy, 196
 Jaucourt, Louis de, 253
 jurisprudence, historicism and historical jurisprudence, 63
- Kachenovski, Dmitri, 289
 Kennedy, David W., 82–3
 Knop, Karen, 99
 Kolb, Robert, 264
 Korea, China’s use of modern international law against, 204

Index

- Koskenniemi, Martti, 56–7
 Koyama, Iwao, 209
- Latin America
 anti-imperialist international law, rise of, 382–91
 de-Eurocentricisation of international law, 397–404
 endemic history challenges particularism, 411–19
 Eurocentricist historiography, 391–7
 introduction to, 378–82
 legal strategy as basis for Latin American history of international law, 420–4 particularistic histories in, 404–24
 Laurent, François, 1–2, 3
 Law and Society movement, 324
 law of nations. See international law
 Le Dran, Nicolas-Louis, 250
 Leech, Henry Brougham, 306
 legal history, presentism and, 28
 Lesaffer, Randall, 265–6, 357
 Levin, David Benitsionovich, 285–6
- Macdonald, Ronald St John, 81–2
 Manning, William Oke, 300–1
 Martens, Fedor Fedorovitch (Friedrich), 290
 Meron, Theodor, 349–50
 Mill, James, 299
 More, Henry, 126–7
- NAIL. See New Approaches to International Law
 Neff, Stephen, 78–9
 Netherlands, twentieth-century historiography, 262, 266–7
 New Approaches to International Law (NAIL), 324
 Niemeyer, Theodor, 260–1
 Nolde, Baron Boris, 280
 Nussbaum, Arthur, 72–3
 Nys, Ernest, 1, 257
- Oakeshott, Michael, 55–6, 57
 Ompteda, Dietrich Heinrich Ludwig von, 248–9
 Oppenheim, Lassa, 181
 organicism, decisionism and, 71
- pan-Africanism. See sub-Saharan Africa
 Pandect science, 6
 Phillimore, Sir Robert, 301, 303
- political thought
 author's analytical approach, 107–9
 bias problem, 132–3
 complex methodology, 107–8
 epistemology and history in relation, 134 master narrative of historiography of international law, 107 methodological approach, 107–9 minimalist methodology, 108–9
 ontology and history in relation, 109–34 present-day influences of previous ages, 133–4
 religion and, 133
 postmodernism, presentism and, 15
 presentism
 anachronism and, 323
 and British historiography, 318
 and the Cambridge school, 323
 decisionism and, 57
 historicism and, 57
 and legal history, 28
 postmodernism and, 15
 subjectivity and, 17
 ‘Westphalian myth’ and, 152
 Pufendorf, Samuel, 117, 128, 248
- Ranke, Leopold von, 15–16
 Reddie, James, 300–1
 Root, Elihu, 341–2
 Rubios, Juan López de Palacios, and international-relations scholarship, 111–12
- Russia
 author's analytical approach, 273–4
 Baskin, Iuri Yakovlevich, 286
 Butkevych, Olga, 290
 capability for comparative study of international law, 290
 Europeanisation under the tsars, 275–81
 German influence, 275–6, 284, 285
 Hrabar (Grabar), Vladimir, 285, 290
 introduction to, 273–5
 Levin, David Benitsionovich, 285–6
 Martens, Fedor Fedorovitch (Friedrich), 290
 nineteenth-century historiography, 257
 Nolde, Baron Boris, 280
 post-Soviet history of international law, 287–90, 291
 Shumilov, Vladimir Mikhailovich, 288
 significant Russian historians of international law, 290

INDEX

- Russia (cont.)
 Soviet history of international law, 281–7, 290 transition from Soviet to post-Soviet historiography, 287–8
 Rymer, Thomas, 298
- Savigny, Friedrich Carl von, 6
 Schücking, Walther, 260–1
 Selden, John, 123, 128
 Shiratori, Kurakichi, 208
 Shumilov, Vladimir Mikhailovich, 288
 Simpson, Gerry, 83–4
 Sluga, Glenda, 100
 South American historiography. See Latin America
 Spain, neo-scholastic school, 7
 Stolleis, Michael, 268
 Stowell, William Scott, 1st Baron, 301 subjectivity, presentism and, 17
 sub-Saharan Africa
 African historical studies, rise of, 224 African histories of international law as distinctive oeuvre, 220–4
 Afrocentric historicism, 238, 242
 anthropology, 223
 author's analytical approach, 220
 contributionist' discourse, 220
 Elias, Taslim O., 216, 220, 238–42
 ethnographical discourse, 220, 224–30
 Hayford, Joseph Ephraim Casely, 220, 223, 225–30, 232, 233, 240
 historical discourses, 220
 introduction to, 216–20
 meta-historical discourse, 220, 230–8
 pan-Africanism, 223–4, 242–3
 post-colonial international law
 historiography, 238–42
 Umzurike, Oji, 216
- Tabata, Shigejiro, 210
 Third World Approaches to International Law (TWAIL)
 historicism and, 316
 Thomasius, Christian, and international-relations scholarship, 120, 134
 TWAIL. See Third World Approaches to
 International Law
 Twiss, Sir Travers, 304–28
- Umzurike, Oji, 216
 United Kingdom (UK)
 and Berlin Conference of 304–28
 British historicism, 301, 313, 319, 321
 British history of international law as distinctive entity, 326
 The British Yearbook of International Law, 295, 307
 Cambridge school, 323, 374
 critical legal studies (CLS), 324
 'English era' (Grewe's englisches Zeitalter) (1815–1919), 293–303 extent of 'British historiography of
 international law', 293–4
 extent of international law history
 scholarship, 327–8
 future expansion of study, 327 growth of professional publications and societies, 307–28
 habeas corpus, theory of, 115–16
 historical jurisprudence, 22
 historical sections of legal textbooks, 321–2
 historiography as history of events, concepts and people over time, 327–8
 historiography of international law 1776–1870, 294–302
 historiography of international law 1870–1920, 302–7
 historiography of international law 1920–45, 295, 307–28
 historiography of international law 1945–90, 295, 313–17
 historiography of international law 1990–present day, 295, 317–26
 'history of morality', 298
 interdisciplinary studies, 318
 introduction to, 293–5
 Law and Society movement, 324
 neglect of British history of international law, 293
 New Approaches to International Law
 (NAIL), 324
 periodisation scheme, 294–5
 presentism and British historiography, 318 role of Regius Professorships, 297–8
 treaty collections, 298
 trial of Warren Hastings, 299
 'turn to empire', 304–28
 'turn to history', 317–18, 324
 United States (US)
 apologist histories, 334
 and Cambridge school, 374 earlier approaches to history of
 international law, 332–52

Index

- Emory school of international legal
 - history, 350–1, 354
- engagement with international law, 332
- first imperial age, 336–7
- global hegemony of US history, 330, 331
- Harvard school of international legal
 - history, 351, 359
- international law's influence on, 332–3
- international-relations (IR) theory,
 - origination and dominance of, 137–41
- introduction to, 330–2
- jurisdictional basis of US history, 330
- nation state basis of US history, 330–1, 333
- post-9/11 controversies as to history of
 - international law, 352–62
 - swing to scholarly approaches to history
 - of international law, 363–76
- Vattel, Emer de, 134, 163–4
- Vinogradoff, Paul, 8
- Vitoria, Francisco de, 108, 162, 163–4
- Ward, Robert, 293–300
- Westlake, John, 304–28
- 'Westphalian myth', presentism and, 152
- Wheaton, Henry, 339
- White, Andrew Dickson, 330–42
- Whitman, James, 358–9
- Wright, Quincy, 344
- Yasui, Kaoru, 209