

Queer Entanglements

Queer Entanglements provides the first comprehensive account of the intersections of lesbian, gay, bisexual, queer, trans, and non-binary people's lives with the lives of animals. Exploring diverse topics such as domestic violence, grief following the loss of an animal, veganism, cruelty-free make-up products, Pride events, and community activism, the book offers a theoretical and empirical basis for understanding the contexts that bring together human and animal lives. By using real-world examples, it provides a lively and engaging view of what it means to think about the connections between animal and human lives, even when human experiences operate at the expense of animal well-being. This critical, intersectional, and interdisciplinary perspective on human–animal relations will be of interest to scholars and students in human-animal studies, psychology, sociology, social work, and cultural and gender studies.

As authors we would like to thank Janka Romero for commissioning this book, Ilaria Tassistro for taking charge of the production of the book while Janka was on leave, and Emily Watton for editorial assistance throughout the process. We thank Tania Signal, Clare Bartholomaeus, and Catherine Donovan for previous collaborative work that informed the material presented in this book. Our thanks also go to Jenny Scott, who kindly helped with sourcing information about Canary, and Tamsin Anspach for sharing materials about animal companions and drag queens.

Shoshana would like to thank her mother, stepfather, friends, and lovers for being weirdo soundboards for this project and others. Particular thanks to Megan Sharp for pushing me to be the best punkademic I can be.

Heather would like to thank Queensland University of Technology's Centre for Justice, and colleague and friend, Lisa Stafford, for so actively supporting this project.

We are deeply appreciative of the Australian Lesbian Medical Association for their grant to support our interview project with trans and cisgender women of diverse sexualities who talked about their relationships with animal companions as family members and loved ones. A special thanks to the people who agreed to be interviewed.
