

The Cambridge Companion to
Latin American Independence

Bringing together experts across Latin America, North America, and Spain, The Cambridge Companion to Latin American Independence innovatively revisits Latin American independence within a larger regional, temporal, and thematic framework to highlight its significance for the Age of Atlantic Revolutions. The book offers a synthetic yet comprehensive understanding and assessment of the most current studies in the field and their analytical contributions to the broader historiography. Organized thematically and across different regions of the Iberian Peninsula and Spanish and Luso America, the chapters deepen well-known conclusions and reveal new interpretations. They offer analytical interventions that produce new questions on periodization, the meaning of anticolonialism, liberalism, and republicanism, as well as the militarization of societies, public opinion, the role of sciences, labor regimes, and gender dynamics. A much-needed addition to the existing scholarship, this book brings a transnational perspective to a critical period of history in Latin America.

MARCELA ECHEVERRI is Associate Professor of History at Yale University. Her book Indian and Slave Royalists in the Age of Revolution: Reform, Revolution, and Royalism in the Northern Andes, 1780–1825 won the 2017 Latin American Studies Association (LASA) Michael Jiménez Prize.

CRISTINA SORIANO is Associate Professor of History at The University of Texas at Austin. Her book Tides of Revolution: Information, Insurgencies, and the Crisis of Colonial Rule in Venezuela won the 2019 Bolton–Johnson Award from the Conference on Latin American History (CLAH).

The Cambridge Companion to
Latin American Independence

Edited by

MARCELA ECHEVERRI

Yale University

CRISTINA SORIANO

The University of Texas at Austin

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge University Press & Assessment
 978-1-108-49227-0 — The Cambridge Companion to Latin American Independence
 Marcela Echeverri, Cristina Soriano
 Frontmatter
More Information

CAMBRIDGE
 UNIVERSITY PRESS

Shaftesbury Road, Cambridge CB2 8EA, United Kingdom

One Liberty Plaza, 20th Floor, New York, NY 10006, USA

477 Williamstown Road, Port Melbourne, VIC 3207, Australia

314–321, 3rd Floor, Plot 3, Splendor Forum, Jasola District Centre, New Delhi –
 110025, India

103 Penang Road, #05–06/07, Visioncrest Commercial, Singapore 238467

Cambridge University Press is part of Cambridge University Press & Assessment, a department of the University of Cambridge.

We share the University's mission to contribute to society through the pursuit of education, learning and research at the highest international levels of excellence.

www.cambridge.org

Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9781108492270

DOI: 10.1017/9781108679336

© Cambridge University Press & Assessment 2023

This publication is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press & Assessment.

First published 2023

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

NAMES: Echeverri, Marcela, 1974– editor, author. | Soriano, Cristina, 1975– editor, author.
 TITLE: The Cambridge companion to Latin American independence / edited by Marcela Echeverri, Yale University, Cristina Soriano, University of Texas at Austin.

DESCRIPTION: Cambridge ; New York : Cambridge University Press, 2023. | Series: CCHS
 Cambridge companions to history | Includes bibliographical references and index.

IDENTIFIERS: LCCN 2022040476 (print) | LCCN 2022040477 (ebook) | ISBN
 9781108492270 (hardback) | ISBN 9781108729185 (paperback) | ISBN 9781108679336
 (epub)

SUBJECTS: LCSH: Latin America—History—Autonomy and independence movements. |
 Latin

America—History—Wars of Independence, 1806-1830. | Latin America—History—Autonomy
 and independence movements—Historiography. | Latin America—Politics and government. |
 Latin America—Social conditions.

CLASSIFICATION: LCC F1412 .C244 2023 (print) | LCC F1412 (ebook) |
 DDC 980/.02—dc23/eng/20220831

LC record available at <https://lcn.loc.gov/2022040476>

LC ebook record available at <https://lcn.loc.gov/2022040477>

ISBN 978-1-108-49227-0 Hardback

ISBN 978-1-108-72918-5 Paperback

Cambridge University Press & Assessment has no responsibility for the persistence or accuracy of URLs for external or third-party internet websites referred to in this publication and does not guarantee that any content on such websites is, or will remain, accurate or appropriate.

To the Memory of Juan Pablo Echeverri

Contents

List of Figures page ix

List of Maps x

List of Contributors xi

Acknowledgments xv

Introduction: Rethinking Latin American Independence
in the Twenty-First Century

MARCELA ECHEVERRI AND CRISTINA SORIANO 1

- 1 On the Origins of Latin American Independence:
A Reappraisal of Colonial Crisis, Popular Politics, and Atlantic
Revolution in the Eighteenth Century

SINCLAIR THOMSON 23

- 2 Constitutionalism and Representation in Ibero-America
during the Independence Processes

MARCELA TERNAVASIO 62

- 3 Foreign Interaction and the Independence of Latin America:
Local Dynamics, Atlantic Processes

ERNESTO BASSI AND FABRÍCIO PRADO 91

- 4 Public Opinion and Militarization during the Wars of Independence

ALEJANDRO M. RABINOVICH AND CRISTINA
SORIANO 120

viii Contents

- 5 Natural Histories of Remembrance and Forgetting: Science and Independence in the Spanish and Portuguese Americas
JORGE CAÑIZARES-ESGUERRA AND NEIL SAFIER 153
 - 6 Brothers in Arms: Freemasonry in Latin American Independence
KAREN RACINE 186
 - 7 Beyond Heroes and Heroines: Gendering Latin American Independence
SARAH C. CHAMBERS 218
 - 8 Views of the Latin American Independences from the Iberian Peninsula
ÁLVARO CASO BELLO AND GABRIEL PAQUETTE 248
 - 9 Shades of Unfreedom: Labor Regimes in Latin America in the Nineteenth Century
MARCELA ECHEVERRI AND ROQUINALDO FERREIRA 276
 - 10 Early Liberalism: Emancipation and Its Limits
JOSÉ M. PORTILLO 312
- Bibliography* 336
Index 397

Figures

- 2.1 Billingsgate at Bayonne, or the Imperial Dinner! page 66
- 4.1 Manuel Belgrano's portable printing press 132
- 4.2 Royalist flag captured by the revolutionaries during the takeover of the city of Montevideo in 1814 134
- 5.1 Negro Hunters Returning to Town or The Return of a Naturalist's Negroes (Nègres chasseurs rentrant en ville or Le retour des nègres d'un naturaliste) 165
- 6.1 The Masonic Chart 189
- 7.1 Doña María Quitéira de Jesús 228
- 7.2 Simón Bolívar, Liberator and Father of the Nation (Simón Bolívar, Libertador y Padre de la Patria) 233
- 10.1 Memorial plaque for the Spanish Constitution of 1812 316
- 10.2 Liberty as an Indian Woman, Year of 1819 (La India de la Libertad, 1819) 331

Maps

- o.1 The Americas, 1780 page xvii
- o.2 The Americas, 1850 xviii
- 3.1 Portuguese Brazil and Viceroyalty of Río de la Plata, 1780 92
- 3.2 The Greater Caribbean, 1780 93
- 8.1 Forces dispatched by the Spanish Comisión de Reemplazos to the Americas, 1811–1826 259
- 9.1 Migrations to Latin America from China, Africa, and Iberia 286

Contributors

ERNESTO BASSI is Associate Professor of History at Cornell University. He is the author of An Aqueous Territory: Sailor Geographies and New Granada's Transimperial Greater Caribbean World (2016). His research interests include the emergence of globalization during the early modern period; hemispheric connections and mobilities; indigenous–European encounters in the Caribbean Basin; the rise of capitalism; the development of plantation societies in the Caribbean; the flow of ideas, people, and commodities across the Atlantic Ocean; and the role of oceans in world history.

JORGE CAÑIZARES-ESGUERRA is the Alice Drysdale Sheffield Professor of History and Director of the Institute for Historical Research at the University of Texas at Austin. He is the author of numerous articles and books, including How to Write the History of the New World (2001), Puritan Conquistadors (2006), Nature, Empire and Nation (2007), and Entangled Empires (2018).

ÁLVARO CASO BELLO is a postdoctoral visiting scholar with the Program for Latin American Studies at Johns Hopkins University, and an associate researcher with the National Agency for Research and Innovation in Uruguay (Agencia Nacional de Investigación e Innovación). His contributions to the study of the Age of Revolutions in the Iberian Atlantic have appeared in Petitioning in the Atlantic World: Empires, Revolutions and Social Movements (2022), Gaspar Melchor de Jovellanos' Report on the Agrarian Law and Other Writings (2018, 2016), and El sur en revolución (2015), among others.

SARAH C. CHAMBERS is Professor of History at the University of Minnesota. Her research explores political culture, citizenship, law, gender, migration, and exile during the transition from colonialism to independence in Spanish America. In addition to articles in English and Spanish, she has published Families in War and Peace: Chile from Colony to Nation (2015) and From Subjects to Citizens: Honor, Gender, and Politics in Arequipa, Peru, 1780–1854 (1999), as well as coedited Latin American Independence: An Anthology of Sources (2010) and Honor, Status, and Law in Modern Latin America (2005).

MARCELA ECHEVERRI, Associate Professor of History at Yale University, is the author of Indian and Slave Royalists in the Age of Revolution: Reform, Revolution, and Royalism in the Northern Andes, 1780–1825 (2016) and coeditor of the special issue of Historia Mexicana 274 (2019) “Los ecos atlánticos de las aboliciones hispanoamericanas” (“The Atlantic Echoes of the Spanish American Abolitions”). She is currently at work on a book-length research project about slavery and anti-slavery in the Spanish American mainland republics between 1820 and 1860.

ROQUINALDO FERREIRA, Professor of History at the University of Pennsylvania, is the author of Cross-Cultural Exchange in the Atlantic World: Angola and Brazil during the Era of the Slave Trade (2013). His new book on the abolition of the transatlantic slave trade in West Central Africa is forthcoming with Princeton University Press in 2023.

GABRIEL PAQUETTE is Professor of History and associate provost for academic affairs and faculty development at the University of Maine. He is the coeditor of Spain and the American Revolution: New Approaches and Perspectives (2022) and Connections after Colonialism: Europe and Latin America in the 1820s (2013). His articles on various aspects of Latin American independence have appeared in the Historical Journal, Revista de Occidente, Journal of Transatlantic Studies, and European History Quarterly.

JOSÉ M. PORTILLO is Professor of History at the University of the Basque Country in Spain. He has been Prince of Asturias Professor at Georgetown University and Tinker Professor at Chicago University. He specializes in the history of political and constitutional cultures in Spain and Spanish America. He has published numerous books, including Historia mínima del constitucionalismo en América Latina (2015), Entre tiros e historia. La constitución de la autonomía vasca 1976–1979 (2018), and Una historia atlántica de los orígenes de la nación y el Estado. España y las españas en el siglo XIX (2022).

FABRÍCIO PRADO is Associate Professor of History at the College of William and Mary. He is the author of Edge of Empire: Atlantic Networks and Revolution in Bourbon Río de la Plata (2015), which was translated into Spanish as El Borde del Imperio. Redes atlánticas y revolución en el Río de la plata Borbónico (2021). His research interests focus on cross-border dynamics; social networks; commerce; contraband trade; colonialism and empire; capitalism and slavery; and the social and economic history of Latin America and the Atlantic World.

ALEJANDRO M. RABINOVICH earned his Ph.D. from the School for Advanced Studies in the Social Sciences in Paris. He is a researcher at the National Scientific and Technical Research Council in Argentina, and author of Anatomía del pánico. La batalla de Huaqui o la derrota de la Revolución (2017); La société guerrière. Pratiques, discours et valeurs militaires dans le Río de la Plata, 1806–1852 (2013); and Ser soldado en las Guerras de Independencia. La experiencia cotidiana de la tropa en el Río de la Plata (1810–1824) (2013). He was awarded the Prix d'Histoire Militaire by the French Ministry of Defense.

KAREN RACINE is Professor of Latin American History at the University of Guelph. She is author of Francisco de Miranda: A Transatlantic Life in the Age of Revolution 1750–1816 (2002), and The Journal of James A. Brush: The Expedition and Military Operations of General Don Francisco Xavier Mina in Mexico, 1816–1817 (2020). Her work has appeared in English Historical Review, Hispanic American Historical Review, The Americas, Journal of Caribbean History, Historia Paedagogica, and other scholarly journals. She is finishing a book on Spanish Americans in London from 1808–1832 and a general history of Latin American independence in an Atlantic context.

NEIL SAFIER is Associate Professor of History at Brown University, where he also served from 2013–2021 as Beatrice and Julio Mario Santo Domingo Director and Librarian of the John Carter Brown Library. He is the author of Measuring the New World: Enlightenment Science and South America (2008) and co-editor, with Joan-Pau Rubiés, of Cosmopolitanism and the Enlightenment, forthcoming from Cambridge University Press.

CRISTINA SORIANO is Associate Professor of Latin American history at The University of Texas at Austin. She is the author Tides of Revolution: Information, Insurgencies, and the Crisis of Colonial Rule in Venezuela (2018), which received the 2019 Bolton-Johnson Award by the Conference of Latin American History, and the 2020 Fernando Coronil Prize for Best Book about Venezuela. Soriano is working on a new book project on the effects of imperial transitions in the Island of Trinidad during the Age of Revolutions.

MARCELA TERNAVASIO is Researcher at the National Scientific and Technical Research Council as well as Professor at the National University of Rosario and at the Torcuato Di Tella University in Argentina. Her research focuses on Ibero-American political history of the nineteenth century. She is the author of numerous books, including Los juegos de la política. Las independencias hispanoamericanas frente a la contrarrevolución (2021); Candidata a la Corona. La infanta Carlota Joaquina en el laberinto de las revoluciones hispanoamericanas (2015); Gobernar la revolución. Poderes en disputa en el Río de la Plata, 1810–1816 (2007); La revolución del voto. Política y elecciones en Buenos Aires, 1810–1852 (2002).

SINCLAIR THOMSON teaches Latin American history at New York University. His research focusses on indigenous and popular politics, colonialism and anticolonial movements, historical memory, and the Andean region. He is the author of We Alone Will Rule: Native Andean Politics in the Age of Insurgency (2002); co-author with Forrest Hylton of Revolutionary Horizons: Past and Present in Bolivian Politics (2007); and co-editor of The Bolivia Reader: History, Politics, Culture (2018).

Acknowledgments

The publication of this volume marks twenty-two years of friendship and professional collaboration that began when we started the Ph.D. program in history at New York University in 2001. The year 2020 marked the commencement of a decade-long celebration observing the 200 years of the culmination of the Wars of Independence in Latin America and the beginning of complex processes of state formation. This important commemoration invites students and the public to learn more about this crucial period, while it requires scholars to revise the historical significance of these processes, reevaluate historical narratives, and offer new questions and paths for historical interpretation. Reflecting on the impressive and transformative growth of Latin American Independence scholarship, we both saw the need for a comprehensive and innovative survey presenting a rich view of both the many advances in the field and the new questions and formulations that have emerged in the last fifteen years. The chapters in this book show that the history of Latin American independence is a rich ground from which to explore the Age of Revolutions. This volume offers a synthetic yet comprehensive tool for understanding and assessing the most current studies in this field and their analytical contributions to the broader historiography. The chapters take up classic themes in the history of independence and demonstrate new shifts and interventions that deepen our knowledge of the field and produce new questions about periodization and regional connections, the meaning of anticolonialism and liberalism, constitutional transformations, militarization of societies and public opinion, the role of the sciences to legitimize independence, commercial relations and diplomacy, and labor regimes, among others.

First, we want to thank our wonderful colleagues who contributed chapters to this volume: Ernesto Bassi, Jorge Cañizares-Esguerra, Álvaro

xvi Acknowledgments

Caso Bello, Sarah C. Chambers, Roquinaldo Ferreira, Gabriel Paquette, Fabrício Prado, José M. Portillo, Alejandro M. Rabinovich, Karen Racine, Neil Safier, Marcela Ternavasio, and Sinclair Thomson. We deeply appreciate their generosity, expertise, professionalism, and excitement for this project. Despite the disruptions and challenges produced by a pandemic, we were able to spend several hours on Zoom calls exchanging ideas and thinking through the agenda and goals for this volume.

We also would like to thank our colleagues Zara Anishanslin, David Bell, Divya Cherian, Thomas Dodman, Durba Mitra, Sara Kozameh, and Massimiliano Tomba, who, as fellows of the Revolutionary Change Seminar at Princeton University's Shelby Cullom Davis Center, read a couple of chapters of this book and offered invaluable suggestions and insightful comments. We would like to thank Erna Von der Walde for her incredible work and patience as she translated two chapters of this book; Yoly Velandria for designing the maps; and Micaela Miralles Bianconi and Mariana Diaz Chalela for their assistance in editing the endnotes and preparing the final bibliography. We are grateful to the Subvention Program and the Birle Family at Villanova University as well as Yale's Hilles Fund for providing funds to support translation and image costs.

From the very beginning of our work on this Companion, we have felt the strong support from the Cambridge University Press team. Our first editor, Deborah Gershenowitz, showed enthusiasm for the project and worked hard to make the process smooth. Later, our second editor, Cecelia Cancellaro, took over the project and provided crucial editorial advice and support throughout the project's various stages. We are very grateful to the staff of Cambridge University Press for the care and support they have given us while we prepared the manuscript for publication.

In June 2022, right before we began the production process for this volume, Marcela's brother, Juan Pablo, passed away unexpectedly. We dedicate the book to his loving memory.

Map o.1 The Americas, 1780. Map created by Yoly Velandria

Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-108-49227-0 — The Cambridge Companion to Latin American Independence
Marcela Echeverri, Cristina Soriano
Frontmatter
More Information

Map o.2 The Americas, 1850. Map created by Yoly Velandria