Index

African Americans and US national unity, 37
agents, literary, 117
and Corelli, 123
in The Sorrows of Satan, 125
Alger, Horatio, 32
Allen, Grant, 128
Allen, Paul
and manuscript of Dracula, 147
American Nervousness (Beard), 30
American Progress (Gast), 168
Anderson, Benedict, 75 anthropology, nineteenth-century and media theory, 166
archive Derrida on, 151
digital, 6–7
on paper, 4
of recorded sound, 142, 190 and typewriter in Dracula, 147 Arnold, Matthew, 59, 102 and Tit-Bits, 86
aura, 144
of Count Dracula, 152
liquidated by typewriter in Dracula, 155
The Author (US journal), 14 authorship, 14, 54, 59–60, 77–78, 91 automation of, 78
as creating typographical arrangements, 76
and the Linotype, 177
manuals, 81
and mediation, 123
in The Sorrows of Satan, 124
of three-volume novels, 98
in Tit-Bits, 88
and the typewriter, 149, 164 will give way to audio narration, 190 Barthes, Roland, 140
Bassett, Troy, 103

Beard, Dan, 162
illustrations to A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 160, 167–168 Beard, George, 30
Bell Telephone Company, 33
Bell, Alexander Graham, 10, 29, 49, 191 as public figure, 33 uses induction balance to search for bullet in Garfield, 32–33 Beniger, James, 177
Benjamin, Walter, 18, 144, 152 on the storyteller, 121
See also aura
Bentley, George, 102, 114, 123 bestsellers, 98, 125
The Manxman, 108
The Sorrows of Satan, 114, 123
Trilby, 109
Birkerts, Sven, 192
blood
as medium in Dracula, 150
Bohn’s Libraries series, 59
Bohler, Jay David, 19, 44, 139, 153 book Gissing’s love for, 81
innovations in publishing, 14 materiality of, 77
as media system in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 161, 168 and mediation, in A Writer of Books, 135 and mediation, in The Sorrows of Satan, 124 of nature, 139
obituaries for, 192
as obsolete, 188–192
presents knowledge as external and abstract, 161 as proliferating, 87–88, 191, 193 for sale or for borrowing, 124 simulates media effects in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 161, 165 technical definition, 189, 193
See also codex
Bourdieu, Pierre, 122
Bowlby, Rachel, 76–77
Bradshaw’s Guide, 72, 151
Brantlinger, Patrick, 86
British Museum Reading Room, 88
in New Grub Street, 87
bureaucracy
in Dracula, 153–155
Cable, George Washington, 166
Caine, Hall, 107
camera see photography
Camlot, Jason, 7
Carlyle, Thomas, 64
Carr, Nicholas, 193
“Casabianca” (Hemans)
Twain types lines from, 171 character, fictional as typographic assemblage, 79
Chesterton, G. K., 72 on insipid information, 151 circulating library, 88, 91, 94, 106 Matthew Arnold on, 102
as part of information empire, 101
as stifling the novel, 102
and the three-volume novel, 97–98
Clemens, Samuel see Twain, Mark codex and form of the novel, 93 as neutral print form, 147 treated as different from other media, 130, 192 See also book
Collins, Wilkie
on known and unknown reading audiences, 98 colt firearms factory and A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 178 links Paige Compositor to Gatling gun, 184
and Paige Compositor, 174 Twain visits for first time, 178 where Twain fires Gatling gun, 183 communication circuit in Tin-Rite, 83
computer
and nineteenth-century media, 6–7
A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court (Twain), 158–166
orality in, 160–167
technological progress in, 178–181 warfare and cultural conflict in, 182–185 Coofer, Robert, 192
Corelli, Marie
as “Mavis Clare,” 120
maintains public persona, 113, 125

Index

A Romance of Two Worlds, 115–116
The Sorrows of Satan, 114–126
Coviello, Peter, 43 culture
in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 179 Arnold’s view of, 86
media, 63
oral and literate, 146, 160–166 progress via annihilation, 189 as sequence of technical upgrades, 179
See also mass culture, orality, print culture
Carwen, Henry, 90
Daily Telegraph, 65
dayan, Daniel, 45–46
debray, régis, 29
decadence of the vampire, 151
dematerialization
of media, 192
Derrida, Jacques, 243
on archive fever, 151
Dixon, Ella Hepworth, 60–63, 106
Dracula (Stoker), 137–157 incorporates Stoker’s research notes, 146 manuscript found in Pennsylvania, 156 tags the origin and medium of every narrative fragment, 138
du Maurier, George, 109
ebook, 192–193
Edison, Thomas, 5–6, 20, 190 communicates with fiancée via Morse code, 148 consults with Twain, 172 inventions cause nervousness, 30 office machines, 153
See also electric light, kinetograph, phonograph Egerton, George, 109
electric light
as altering human nervous system, 30 as image of modern creativity, 195
in New Grub Street, 78
Eliot, George
on the telephone, 49
“The End of Books” (Coover), 192
“The End of Books” (Uzanne), 188–192 fiction, railway, 100, 104, 124 Field, Kate, 49, 53, 59
“The Finest Story in the World” (Kipling), 54–60, 76, 140
Finkelstein, David, 101
Index

First Sounds project, 1
“The First Writing-Machines” (Twain), 170 Fitzpatrick, Kathleen, 189 flow incorporated as principle of Linotype and Paige Compositor, 177 of information, 192
format, 104, 193
codex as, 147
and content of novels, 103

Garfield, James Abram acquaintance with Walt Whitman, 41 assassination of, 25–26 Bell scans for bullet in, 32–33 death of, 31, 38
health bulletins about, 31 national interest in health of, 35 political problems, 29 prepares to visit telegraph magnate, 30 shot by Charles Guiteau, 30 undying fame predicted, 40
as vernacular media theorist, 28–29

Gast, John, 168
Gatling gun, 183–185
Gissing, George
New Grub Street, 72–82, 86–88, 90–92, 105
Gittelman, Lisa, 217
Godle, Mark, 77
The Goddess, A Demon (Marsh), 187–188 Goody, Jack and orality in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 159

Gosse, Edmund, 114
gothic
in Dracula, 138
and narrative framing, 137 gramophone, 58
See also phonograph

Grand, Sarah, 128
Grusin, Richard, 19, 44, 139, 153
Guillory, John, 14
Guiteau, Charles, 25, 39
love of stationery, 29 shoots James Garfield, 30 trial and execution of, 47
as vernacular media theorist, 26–28

Habermas, Jürgen, 29
Hardy, Thomas
on institutions of the novel, 102–103, 106
Harmsworth, Alfred, 131
Harwood, John Berwick, 99, 110
Hayles, N. Katherine, 150

The Heavenly Twins (Grand), 128
Heinemann, William, 107–108
Hochman, Brian, 166
 Hoe Press, 170
Howells, William Dean, 171–172
on Paige Compositor, 174 Huysen, Andreas, 120, 239 hypnosis produces information in Dracula, 155 imperialism
in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 167
The Importance of Being Earnest (Wilde), 93, 101, 109 induction balance, 32–33, 37 information, 65, 82, 91 and bureaucracy, 153–155
as demediated, 139
and hypnosis in Dracula, 155
as impersonal, 150
as unifying, 140, 144
and orality in Dracula, 145, 150, 152 and technological reproduction, 152
as vampire, 151
intermediality, 19–20, 22, 73, 192–193 and aesthetics, 20
and composition of Dracula, 146 as creating occult media effects, 140, 144
in Dracula, 138, 141
as full of gaps, 138, 141 as lossy, 140, 144
of the typist in Dracula, 143
as unifying, 47
The Irrational Knot (Shaw), 50

James, Henry, 14
Jameson, Fredric, 79
Jones, Gavin, 166
journalism, 15, 129
audience for, 69
in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 164, 180–181
in Dracula, 148
and media consumption, 69
in A Modern Amazon, 127
in New Grub Street, 73
and the novel, 60
part of a media system, 63
in A Writer of Books, 131, 134
Joyce, James, 83

© in this web service Cambridge University Press

www.cambridge.org
Kaolatype engraving process, 172
Katz, Elihu, 45–46
Kelly, Kevin, 192
“Keynotes” book series, 109
Kern, Stephen, 46
kinetograph, 190
Kluyver, Rudyard
“The Finest Story in the World,” 54–60, 140
Many Inventions, 11, 54, 187
Marsh trenchantly summarizes themes of, 188 and telegraph, 53
on the three-volume novel, 109–110 views authorship in terms of media, 54 Kittler, Friedrich, 16, 144, 147, 155 on the gramophone, 58 on translation between media, 139–140
Le Triomphe de l’Artiste (Villiers de l’Isle-Adam), 188
Lang, Andrew, 121
Linotype, 169, 189
and Paige Compositor, 176–178, 182
literacy
in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 162–163, 179
in Dracula, 146
growth of, 13, 121
as modernity, 167
in nineteenth-century anthropology, 166 literature contrast with journalism, 69 deconsecration of, 76
and ideas about media, 16, 21 media as obstacles to producing, 59 and new media, 70
as test for new media, 4–5 as typography, 76
London Electrophone Company, 53
Longfellow, Henry Wadsworth, 58
Luckhurst, Roger, 115
Luria, Alexander, 164 machines
to automate literary production, 78–79
Magnus, Lady Katie, 68
Malory, Thomas, 161
The Maunder of Caine, 107
Many Inventions (Kipling), 11, 54, 187 marriage
as novelistic closure, 128 as topic to write about, 130 as union of orality and literacy in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 165 and volume format of A Modern Amazon, 128 Marsh, Richard, 187–188 mass culture, 120
in A Writer of Books, 133
mass media, 15, 70, 105 mass production, 180
printing as model for, 179 mass readership
as model for US polity, 28
in The Sorrows of Satan, 122
materiality of the arts, 20
of books, 77, 132
of literary production, 76, 79
of media, 12, 60, 66, 72–73, 136, 141, 149, 192
of media systems, 19
in New Grub Street, 79
of paper, 80, 83
of print, 91, 128
of the novel, 113, 129
of the novel in three volumes, 61 doors vampires, 152
in A Writer of Books, 133
Matz, Aaron, 77
McLuhan, Eric, 73
McLuhan, Marshall, 45, 61, 73, 153, 193 on media content, 139
media
and cognition, 13
change as progress, 182 competition and replacement, 190 concept of, 14
as consolidated entity, 15, 70
in Dracula, 138
invention and adoption, 10, 170 as material objects, 141, 192 and modernity, 12
See also mass media, new media, and specific media by name media archaeology, 16–17, 19, 188, 193 of authorship, 77
in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 180 media consumption, 13, 29, 55, 69, 105 media event
Garfield’s death in, 45–46 properties of, 46
media systems, 13, 15, 17–19, 52–53, 58, 62–63, 70, 78, 91, 195 as divisive, 21
Dracula flattens, 137
and the Garfield assassination, 26, 46–47 identified by women novelists with male power and hypocrisy, 112, 123, 133 at their limits, 19, 47, 107, 143, 193
in New Grub Street, 74–75, 81
Index

narrative, information

in The Sorrows of Satan, 118, 122, 125

Dracula as, 138

as stifling the novel, 102–103

The Nation (US journal), 35–37

as unifying, 21

nationalism

yield information in Dracula, 150 and print culture, 42

media theory, 7, 18, 20

and the three-volume novel, 100–101

as obstacle to literature,

Twain plans to replace print workers with, 176 and closure, 153

and King Cadmus myth, 184

materiality and closure,

See also vernacular media theory mediation

in Dracula, 137

history of, 15

and the market, 124

as noisy, 153

and novels, 135

in The Sorrows of Satan, 122–123, 126

and uncanny effects, 140

mediaura, 144

of vampires, 156

medleys

occult, 139

spirit, 59, 115, 143, 153

Mergenthaler, Ottmar, 169

metadata

in Dracula, 156

Michaels, Walter Benn, 175

Michelson, Bruce, 180

Miller, Joaquin, 41

A Modern Amazon (Paston), 126–129

modernism, 73, 189

and media, 77

and narrative information

in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 166

defined in contrast to Native American cultures, 166

as literacy, 166–167

Monotype

versus Linotype, 177

Moore, George, 106, 110

and Mudie’s Select Library, 101

Moretti, Franco, 149

Morgan, Lewis Henry, 166

Morse, Samuel, 28

Morte d’Arthur (Malory) quoted verbatim in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 163

Mudie’s Select Library, 94, 97, 100, 119 catalogue, 98

rejects George Moore’s novels, 100 saddled and unwanted three-volume novels, 104 secretly rescued by publishers, 101 underground storage of three-volume novels, 104, 125

Murphy, Priscilla Coit, 192

New Grub Street (Gissing), 72–82, 105, 116

self-consciousness of, 74 and Tir-Rit, 86–92

New Journalism, 15, 22, 74

Arnold on, 86

new media

in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 180

as obstacle to literature, 57

New Woman writing, 60, 64, 68, 109 conventions of, 128, 134

and Dracula, 138

and A Modern Amazon, 128

as print culture, 127

and sexual frankness, 62 and The Sorrows of Satan, 119

and A Writer of Books, 129

Newcomb, Simon, 32

Newnes, George, 81–82, 86–87 newspapers, 15, 32, 38, 53, 69 agony columns in, 65

in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 180–181

evening, 70

Garfield reads, 32

Guiteau reads and collects, 30

Guiteau’s plans for, 16 and Linotype, 177

as literary telephone, 65 and the nation, 42

and the three-volume novel, 61–63

No. 44, the Mysterious Stranger (Twain), 185 as alternative to media system, 113, 136 cheap reprint, 104

and codex book form, 93, 104, 112, 135 debate about “candour” in, 62, 102 domination of print culture, 114

as ephemeral, 132

and journalism, 60

as mass form, 114

materiality and closure, 129

and media history, 135

at Mudie’s Select Library, 98

and the New Woman, 127

© in this web service Cambridge University Press

www.cambridge.org
novel (cont.) as part of media systems, 75 and realism, 63–64 as typography, 77 will be replaced by audio narrative, 190 novel, single-volume, 105, 107, 109, 112, 124 and bestsellers, 113 The Sorrows of Satan as, 114, 116, 125 A Writer of Books as, 131 See also codex novel, three-volume, 61, 88, 90–111 associated with women readers, 101 demise of, 103, 112 economics of, 99 as ephemeral, 102, 104 fate widely discussed, 106 as luxury good, 97, 107 as monumental, 105 as obsolete, 61, 105 origin of format, 96 as part of a media system, 61, 100–101 as part of information empire, 101 and plots of Victorian fiction, 99 and private circulating libraries, 93–111 readership of, 98 and serial formats, 61 Sir Robert Shirley, Bart. as typical, 100 as sleep aid, 108 in The Sorrows of Satan, 118 as a standard format, 96 office and information processing, 153 “The Old Three-Decker” (Kipling), 109–110 Ong, Walter and orality in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 159, 161–166, 185 orality in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 160–166 and denial of coevalness, 167 in Dracula, 146 in “The Finest Story in the World” (Kipling), 55 in nineteenth-century anthropology, 166 and Twain, 158 orality, secondary, 52, 176 in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 165 Page, Leanne, 147 Paige Compositor, 168–170, 173–177 compared to Gatling gun, 183–185 and Linotype, 176–178, 182 ‘reads’ type, 174 replicates work of entire printshop, 173, 175 Twain links to modern weaponry, 184 Paige, James W., 169, 173–174, 176, 179 paper and archives, 4 in New Grub Street, 80 parasite information as, 152 typewriter as, 138 vampire as, 152 Paston, George A Modern Amazon, 126–129 as New Woman writer, 113 stops writing fiction, 135 A Writer of Books, 63–70, 129–135 patents, 11, 21 in America versus Great Britain and Europe, 172 for Paige Compositor, 174 in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 167 for voices of great audio narrators in the future, 190 Pater, Walter, 19–20 Peirce, Charles Sanders, 13 periodicals, 14–15, 66 Gissing’s dislike of, 81 names of, 63, 65, 68, 149 and new media, 15 as part of a media system, 61–63 and short story, 54 as stifling the novel, 102 See also journalism, newspapers phonautograph, 1–5, 13, 16–17, 191 and lossless transcription, 142 phonograph, 5, 10, 12–14, 20 in Dracula, 141, 143 in “The Finest Story in the World” (Kipling), 57 as office technology, 153 as rendering print forms obsolete, 9, 190 periodical press as, 15 Twain attempts to use as tool for literary composition, 172 Twain suggests adding to Paige Compositor, 175 in A Writer of Books, 66–69 photography, 4, 8, 13, 62–63 and Corelli, 123 and Dracula, 142 as modeled on print, 8 photography, x-ray and Dracula, 142 pianola, 12 The Poets’ Tributes to Garfield, 41
Index

Poole, Adrian, 72
Postman, Neil, 46
Powell, John Wesley, 166, 181 print, 75
on demand, 193
as different from other objects, 130 as disrupted on the page of A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 161
in “The Finest Story in the World” (Kipling), 58 formats, 95
and mechanical compositing, 176 and other media, 8, 14–15, 19, 21, 192 print culture, 13, 57–58, 81, 192 as dominated by novel, 114 in the eighteenth century, 116, 132 as media manufacture, 78
and the New Woman, 126
and rise of information, 151 and social hierarchy, 98
in Tit-Bits, 88
war on old order in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 182
in A Writer of Books, 133
printing
of books, 14
composing errors, 180
as doomed by rise of recorded sound, 189
history of, 170
and mechanical compositing, 176–178
of newspapers, 70
of novels, 134
via photography, 8
technological changes in, 14, 170 typewriter and, 9, 173
See also Paige Compositor publishing, 7, 74, 91
international, 74
as media industry, 72
in Tit-Bits, 88
Punch (UK journal), 98 on three-volume novel, 108 reading performed by media devices, 5, 124 realism, 63–64, 68, 133 reality effect, 140
Reconstruction, after US Civil War, 35 remediation, 19, 44, 139, 153
Remington Company, 171
Review of Reviews, 86 Robida, Albert, 190–191 romance of information in Dracula, 138 supernatural, 113

A Romance of Two Worlds (Corelli), 115–116 Röntgen, Wilhelm, 142
Rubery, Matthew, 5, 219, 222
“The School of Giorgione” (Pater), 19–20
Scott de Martinville, Édouard-Léon, 1–6, 17, 190
Scott, Sir Walter
and the three-volume novel, 96
secretary
as heroine in Dracula, 148 Serres, Michel
on parasite, 152
sexual harassment, 68
“The Shallows” (Carr), 193
Shand, Alexander Innes, 91
Shaw, George Bernard
on the telephone, 49–51
Sholes, Christopher Latham, 10 short stories and late nineteenth-century literary culture, 54 shorthand
in Dracula, 141, 147–148
See also stenography
simultaneity, 39, 42, 45, 75
Sir Robert Shirley, Bart. (Harwood), 99–100, 109
Slotkin, Richard, 182
“The Sobbing of the Bells” (Whitman), 41–46 sonicity, 6
The Sorrows of Satan (Corelli), 114–126 published with notice to reviewers, 123 South, U.S.
in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 166
and Garfield’s plight, 37–38 Stead, W. T., 15, 86
on The Sorrows of Satan, 120, 125 stenography, 3–4
as “phonography,” 9
See also shorthand
Sterne, Jonathan, 66, 95, 166
Stiegler, Bernhard, 18
Stoker, Bram
Dracula, 137–138
friendship with Mark Twain, 156 research for Dracula, 146
The Story of a Modern Woman* (Dixon), 60–63, 106
and A Writer of Books, 63
switchboards staffed by unmarried women, 66
Symonds, Emily Morse see Paston, George Talbot, Constance and William Henry Fox, 8 telautograph, 9, 11, 56 telegraph, 8, 13, 21, 27, 38, 42
in Britain, 51
as cause of nervousness, 30
compared to Linotype, 177
in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 168 and fragmented information, 82 James Garfield’s views of, 28–29 and historical perspective, 46 and Kipling, 55
as model for phonograph, 5 as model for telepathy, 135–116 in New Grab Street, 74–75 news via, 55
optical, 8
and Sherlock Holmes, 50 sympathy via, 39
Twain sends Malory-esque messages on, 163 versus telephone, 9
Whitman and transatlantic cable, 45 telepathy modeled on electric telegraph, 115–116 telephone, 9, 29
and Bell’s induction balance, 32
in Britain, 49–52
for business, 51, 59
compared to Linotype, 177
in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 165, 168
in “The Finest Story in the World” (Kipling), 57–58
and George Eliot, 49
and journalism, 66
and mass media, 70
mechanics of, 52
network, 65
and newspapers, 65
as representing a media system, 52, 58, 62–65 as sexual switchboard, 65–66 and Shaw, 49–50
and Sherlock Holmes, 50
in The Story of a Modern Woman, 62–63 Twain uses and writes about, 171
in US, 51
versus telegraph, 9
in A Writer of Books, 65–66
Tesla, Nikola
friendship with Twain, 172
Twain visits lab of, 194
Thomson, Sir William, 21, 188
on the telephone, 49, 53
Tit-Bits, 15, 59, 72, 133 and New Grab Street, 73, 81–92 system of insurance, 83

Index

translation
between media, 139–140
Trilby (du Maurier) published in different formats, 109 Twain, Mark, 14
attempts to use phonograph as writing tool, 172 buys typewriter, 11, 170 declares bankruptcy, 169, 185 friendship with Stoker, 156 friendship with Tesla, 172, 195 laments coming of modern technologies to Bermuda, 182 links Paige Compositor to modern weaponry, 184 No. 44, the Mysterious Stranger, 185 and orality, 158
and Paige Compositor, 168–170, 173–177
and technological competition, 159 as technophile, 171 view of media innovation, 172 wants to become business tycoon, 172 work as printer’s devil, 174 writes A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court intermittently during involvement with Paige Compositor, 173 typesetting, mechanical see Linotype, Paige Compositor typewriter, 9–11, 14, 190 and authorship, 149
and composition of A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 163 and Correlli, 153
destroys aura, 153–155
in Dracula, 142–143, 145, 147–151
gender, 148
as interface for mechanical compositors, 173 as metatechnology, 147
kills Dracula, 155
as parasite, 138, 153
as printing press, 171
and Remington Arms Company, 185 and Stoker’s research notes, 146 as tool for mass production, 171 Twain experiments with, 170–171
as vampire, 148, 151
typography
in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur’s Court, 161, 165, 168, 180
and the Linotype, 177
as the medium of literature, 76
Index

Ulysses (Joyce), 85
uncanny
  as intermedial, 144
  as media profusion and noise, 140 as mediation, 140
unreality effect of media translation, 141 Uzanne, Octave, 188–192 vampire and materiality of bodies, 152 vernacular media theory, 21, 70 about speech versus writing, 159 of the book’s obsolescence, 192 defining media as what books are not, 193 of Charles Guiteau, 26 of cultural progress, 182 of James Garfield, 28–29
  of the novel, 103
  of print, 87
  of the typewriter in Dracula, 147
  in A Writer of Books, 69
Victoria, Queen, 49
Villiers de l’Isle-Adam, Auguste, 188

Wardell, W. L., 171
Waugh, Arthur, 111
Weber, Samuel, 144
Webster Publishing Company, 165, 172
Webster, Charles, 172
Webster, Noah, 165
Whitman, Walt, 10, 40–46
  and the telephone, 50
Wicke, Jennifer, 148
Wilde, Oscar, 93, 101, 106, 109
Williams, Raymond, 105
The Woman Who Did (Allen), 128
A Writer of Books (Paston), 63–70, 129–135 telephone in, 65–66
writing
  as dominant medium, 4–5 as a form of manufacture, 78 and newer media, 7–9
  as pedestrian daily practice, 76 properties split up by late nineteenth-century
  media, 139
  without writers, 91
Wu, Tim, 101
Zieger, Susan, 58