

Brief Contents

Preface	page xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction	1
Part I Ambivalence: The Triple Challenge of Negotiation
1 The Tactical Paradox	21
2 The Strategic Dilemma	101
3 The Cognitive Ambiguity	126
Part II Blocking: The Three Traps of Learning
4 The Illusion of Coherence	161
5 The Illusion of Competence	175
6 The Illusion of Acumen	183
Part III Ambitious Humility: The Three Steps of Learning
7 Understanding	197
8 Gaining the Know-How	214
9 Thinking	235
Conclusion and Outlook: Humility and Artificial Intelligence	239
Notes	245
Bibliography	272
Index	304

Detailed Contents

Preface	page xi
Acknowledgments	xiii

Introduction	1
The Two Sides of the Contract	5
The Law versus Culture	6
The Two Sides Are Opposites	8
Facing the Dilemma	11
Facing the Ambiguity	12

Part I Ambivalence: The Triple Challenge of Negotiation

1 The Tactical Paradox	21
1.1 One Issue: Claiming Value	22
1.1.1 The Pie	23
1.1.2 Slicing the Pie	29
1.1.3 The Six Tactics of Value-Claiming	33
1.2 Multiple Issues: The Creation of Value	62
1.2.1 Aligning Compatible Interests	62
1.2.2 A Trade-Off on Different Preferences	65
1.2.3 Using Alternative Scenarios	74
1.2.4 Joint Benefit	75
1.2.5 The Six Tactics of Value Creation	77
1.3 The Paradox	90
1.3.1 Cooperation and Competition are Interconnected	92
1.3.2 Cooperation and Competition are Interdependent	92
1.3.3 Cooperation and Competition are Complementary	97
2 The Strategic Dilemma	101
2.1 One-Off Negotiations	101
2.1.1 The Negotiator's Dilemma	101
2.1.2 The Significance of Metaphors	102
2.1.3 Lessons from Game Theory: The Prisoner's Dilemma	107
2.2 Multi-Round Negotiations	111
2.2.1 Lessons from Game Theory: Tit for Tat	112

viii	Detailed Contents
	2.2.2 An Iron Fist in a Velvet Glove	114
	2.2.3 Mixed Motives and Dual Concerns	114
	2.3 Changing the Nature of the Game	118
	2.3.1 Changing the Payoffs	118
	2.3.2 The Stag Hunt Game	120
	3 The Cognitive Ambiguity	126
	3.1 Intuition	128
	3.1.1 The Benefits of Intuition	128
	3.1.2 The Limits of Intuition	130
	3.2 Deliberation	139
	3.2.1 The Benefits of Deliberation	139
	3.2.2 The Limits of Deliberation	142
	3.3 A Tripartite Thinking Model	144
	3.3.1 Excursus: Personality	146
	Part II Blocking: The Three Traps of Learning
	What Learning Is – and What It Is Not: An Introduction	152
	Learning Does Not Have to be Aware	152
	Learning Does Not Happen on an Empty Brain	154
	Learning Is Not a Question of Age	154
	Learning Is Not Best When It Is Easy	155
	The Three Types of Learning	155
	Classical Conditioning	155
	Instrumental Learning	157
	Cognitive Learning	158
	4 The Illusion of Coherence	161
	4.1 Unconsciously Incomplete Theory	164
	4.1.1 Fear	164
	4.1.2 Liking	165
	4.1.3 Conclusion	165
	4.2 Unintentionally Incomplete Theory	166
	4.3 Incomplete Theory in Use	169
	5 The Illusion of Competence	175
	5.1 The Double Curse of Ignorance	175
	5.2 Knowing Is Not Knowing How	178
	5.3 Inert Know-How	180

6	The Illusion of Acumen	183
6.1	The Curse of Expertise	184
6.2	Wicked Feedback	185
6.2.1	Seeing Only What You Want to See	187
6.2.2	Egocentrism	189
6.3	Unwillingness to Learn	190
Part III Ambitious Humility: The Three Steps of Learning
7	Understanding	197
7.1	Embrace Aporia: The Torpedo’s Shock	197
7.2	Focus on the Goal	205
7.3	Absorb Knowledge	206
7.3.1	Organize Meaning	207
7.3.2	Categorize, Exemplify, and Analogize	209
7.3.3	Memorize	212
8	Gaining the Know-How	214
8.1	Expand the Tool Kit	214
8.1.1	Perspective-Taking	215
8.1.2	Self-Control	215
8.1.3	Empathy	216
8.2	Enlist the Past and Future Self	222
8.2.1	The Past and Inert Knowledge	222
8.2.2	The Future and “If – Then” Plans	223
8.3	Deliberate Practice	226
8.3.1	Practice Changes the Brain	228
8.3.2	Focusing on Your Weaknesses Is Not Pleasurable	229
8.3.3	Desirable Difficulties and Growth Mindset	232
8.3.4	The Limits of Deliberate Practice	233
9	Thinking	235
9.1	Build Expertise	235
9.2	Bootstrapping	237
9.3	Dialectic Thinking	237
	Conclusion and Outlook: Humility and Artificial Intelligence	239
	Notes	245
	Bibliography	272
	Index	304