

Index

- affect. see emotions aggression. see also violence attributions and, 12–13, 60, 87, 274 belief in the legitimacy of, 18–19, 60, 272–273
 definition, 273
 empathy and. see empathy
 evaluations of
   exposure to violence and, 89–90
   intentionality and, 45–46
   normative development and, 50, 89–90
   relationship context and, 46–47
   type of act and, 53
 inhibitory control and, 15–17 moral reasoning and, 58–61
 normative development and, 61, 83–84, 87–88
 outcomes, 8, 54, 87, 188
 predictors
   anger rumination, 16–17 attention to social cues, 12–13 callous-unemotional disposition, 60 emotion regulation. see emotion regulation emotions, 15, 144
   exposure to intergroup conflict/political violence, 145–146, 187, 194–195, 198 exposure to violence, 63, 116, 163–166, 272–273 honor norms, 138
   peer schemata. see schemata physiological reactivity to provocation, 21–23 rejection sensitivity, 20
 socialization of norms about. see socialization theories social information processing, 9–13 social-cognitive domain theory. see social-cognitive domain theory types of immediate vs delayed, 16–17, 22, 27, 60–61 instrumental/proactive, 60, 87, 273 reactive, 60, 87, 273–274
     anger and, 21, 88
     evaluations of, 89–90
     and revenge, 16
   retaliatory. see retaliation; revenge Anderson, Elijah
   code of the streets, 164–165 anger, 14
   and aggression, 27, 83, 88, 273
   cultural systems and differences in. see emotions gender differences in, 53
   in infancy, 83
   and moral judgments about retaliation, 52–54 personal anger vs moral outrage, 42, 53–54 regulation, 21
   relationship context and, 54, 56
   in response to provocation, 14–17, 25, 63
   rumination, 16–17
 assertiveness, 287–288
 attention
   measures, 12
   to social cues, 9–13, 18, 197
 attributions
   emotion, 52–54, 57, 59
   relationship context and, 55
   of intent. see also hostile attribution bias, the aggression and. see aggression belief systems and, 20
   cultural systems and, 138–139, 142
   normative development and, 47, 51–52
   perspective taking and, 284 protracted conflict and, 194, 197
   relationship context and, 13, 23, 54–55
   social information processing theories and, 13 revenge and. see revenge
 audience effects, 25
 behavior inhibition, 17, 22, see also inhibitory control

- behavioral activation system, 22 blame, 15, 43, 45–47, 118
- citizen competencies
  in Colombia. see cultural contexts Columbine effect, the, 249, 251
- conflict, protracted intergroup in Croatia. see cultural contexts and aggression. see aggression
  in Israel-Palestine. see cultural contexts in Northern Ireland. see cultural contexts
  and revenge. see revenge
  Social Identity Development Theory,
    190–193
- critical thinking, 273–274, 283–284
cultural contexts. see also cultural systems Colombia
    cycle of violence/revenge in, 271–273 meaning-making about experiences of revenge in, 115–118
    moral reasoning, 57–58, 61–62, 111, 114, 188
    institutional trust and, 221 structured educational programs in challenges of implementation, 290–292 development of socioemotional
      competencies, 278–280
      National Citizenship Competencies
      Program, the, 275–278
  Croatia, 189, 199–203
  East Asia, 128, 131, 134, 137, 139
  Europe, 128–130
    northern, 131
  Israel-Palestine, 146, 188–189, 193–196
  Northern Ireland, 189, 196–199, 205–206
  and revenge. see revenge
  urban/inner city
    code of the streets. see Anderson, Elijah United States
    cultural systems within, 128–129, 131–134
    and emotional reactivity and expression, 136
    and perception of social cues, 137–138
    New York City, 166–181
  cultural systems
    differences in social information processing, 135–141
    dignity, 131–132
    emotional reactivity and expression in, 137
    revenge in, 144, 149
    social goals in, 139–141
    in the United States. see cultural contexts
  face, 129–131, 134, 145
    emotional reactivity and expression in, 136–137
    perception of social cues in, 138–139
    revenge in, 144
    social goals in, 139–141
  honor, 129–130, 145–146
    emotional reactivity and expression in, 135–137
    gender in, 130, 136, 143
    perception of social cues in, 137–138
    persistence of cultural norms in, 146–148
    social goals in, 139–141
    in the United States. see cultural contexts violence in, 133–134
  individualistic vs collectivist, 128–129 persistence of cultural norms in. see norms socialization of norms in. see socialization tripartite model of, 127, 148–150
  in the United States. see cultural contexts
  culture
    definition, 127
  disposition, callous-unemotional, 60 disrespect sensitivity, 20–21, 27 dominance. see also power male, 130, 133, 148
    as a motivation for revenge, 8, 17, 20, 130, 180
- emotion regulation
  and aggression, 15, 21–23, 83
  cultural systems and, 135–137
  family cohesion and, 198
  and revenge, 10, 15, 21–23
emotional reactivity. see physiological reactivity emotions
  aggression and. see aggression
  anger. see anger
  attributions. see attributions awareness and management, 280–283 cultural systems and differences in, 135–137 regulation. see emotion regulation in response to injustice, 42
  in response to provocation, 9, 14–17, 52–54
  revenge and. see revenge
  sadness. see sadness
  self-conscious, 108
  shame. see shame
  social information processing and, 9 empathy, 117, 205–206, 284–285
  and aggression, 205, 272–273
  and moral reasoning, 64
  normative development and, 64
executive functioning, 64–65
- fairness. see justice fear, 136, 142
  reactivity, 21

- forgiveness, 274–275, see also reconciliation
 narrative and, 117
 promotion
   classroom climate and, 288–290 socioemotional competencies and, 278–288 trust in justice systems and, 220, 222
- game theory, 23
- gender
 in cultures of honor. see cultural systems differences in anger. see anger socialization, 143
- guilt, 82, 87, 114, 144
- harm
 construals of, 218–219
 experiences of harmdoing and self-view. see
   self-view
 narrative accounts of. see narrative
- Hegel, Georg Wilhelm Friedrich, 41–42
- Heider, Fritz
 personal responsibility hypothesis, the, 46
- honor
 cultures. see cultural systems norms. see norms
- hostile attribution bias, the
 and aggression, 13, 60, 274
 cultural systems and, 138
 exposure to political/community violence and, 197
- infancy, 76–78, 81–85
- inhibitory control. see also emotion regulation;
 behavior inhibition
 aggression and. see aggression
- intergroup relations
 protracted intergroup conflict. see conflict, protracted intergroup
- internalizing problems, 187
- justice
 anger and, 42–43
 developing moral concepts of. see moral
   development
 distributive, 40, 44, 49
 moral-philosophical concepts of, 39–40 restorative. see restorative justice retributive. see retributive justice
- justice systems
 and desires for revenge, 219–222
 juvenile, 183
 race and, 250–252
 retributive, 220–221
 school-based. see school/classroom trust in. see trust, institutional
- Kant, Immanuel, 40–41, 43
- Kohlberg, Lawrence, 39, 107
- mindfulness, 280, 282–283
- moral development, 102 emergence of judgements about right and wrong, 86–87
 and evaluations of revenge. see revenge interactionist and constructivist approach to, 81–83
 moral agency construction, 100–105 problematic trajectories, 109–113 Piaget theory of, 43–45
 social-cognitive domain theory. see social-
   cognitive domain theory
 violence exposure and, 113–118
- moral reasoning
 aggression and. see aggression
 anger and, 52–54
 empathy and. see empathy
 executive functioning and. see executive functioning
 exposure to violence/poverty and, 56–58
 psychological knowledge and, 51–52
 relationship context and, 54–56
 socioeconomic status and, 63
- morality, 48
 autonomous, 44
 heteronomous, 43–44
- narcissism, 8
- narrative
 accounts
   of exposure to violence, 170–172
   of harm, 102–104
   of revenge, 103–104, 111–113, 116–117, 172–181
 approach, 225–227
 negative reciprocity norm, the, 19. see also
   reciprocity
- normative development
 aggression and. see aggression
 and attributions. see attributions
 and empathy. see empathy executive functioning and. see executive
   functioning
 and psychological knowledge, 51–52
 and revenge. see revenge
- norms
 definition, 127
 dignity, 131–132
 face, 130–131
 honor, 129–130
 normative orientations, 127

- persistence of cultural norms, 146–148 socialization. see socialization
- parenting practices, 142–143
- peer groups, 143
- personal responsibility hypothesis, the. see Heider, Fritz
- physiological reactivity, 10–11, 21–23
 cultural systems and, 136
- Piaget, Jean
 theory of moral development, 43–45, 47–48
- Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports.
see school/classroom
- power. see also dominance
 as a motivation for revenge, 20, 24–25, 181
 motives for, 27
 of the provocateur and revenge, 11, 24–25
- prefrontal cortex, 21
- prosocial behavior, 15, 110–111, 205, 278–279
- psychological numbing, 112
- punishment
 expiatory, 43
reciprocal, 44
 retributive, see retribution; retributive justice sensitivity, 22
- race, 250–252
- reciprocity
 beliefs, 18–19, 105, see also negative reciprocity norm, the
 definition, 40
 developing moral concepts of. see moral
 development
 moral decision-making and, 109–111
 moral status of, 39
 as a motivation for revenge. see revenge
- reconciliation, see also forgiveness approaches, 140, 206
 narrative and, 117
 shame and, 15
- rejection sensitivity, 20
- relationship context
 and aggression. see aggression
 and anger. see anger
 and attributions. see attributions
 and moral reasoning. see moral reasoning
 and revenge. see revenge
- reparation
 moral status of, 39
- respiratory sinus arrhythmia, 21
- restorative justice, 40, 44 practices, 120, 222, 235–236, 238, 259–261 systems in schools. see under school/classroom
- retaliation
 criminal, 25
- defensive, 21
 definition, 39
 reflexive, 111
- retribution, 39, 79, see also retributive justice
- retributive justice, 39–40 discipline systems in schools. see school/classroom
 narrative and, 231–232
 normative development and evaluations of, 105–106
 systems. see justice systems theory, 40–43
- revenge
 cultural and systemic variations in, 4–5, 305–308
 cultural systems and. see cultural systems institutional trust and. see trust, institutional protracted intergroup conflict and, 187–195, 197–203
 school systems and, 303, 306–308
- definition, 39, 77–79, 103, 162
- etiology
 cultural norms perspective, 135–141 interactionist and constructivist approach, 81–85
 situational-transactional perspective, 162–164, 172–181
- Social Identity Development Theory, 192–193, 195, 199, 202–203
- social information processing perspective, 9–14, 18–19, 135–141, 299–301
- social-cognitive domain theory. see social-
 cognitive domain theory
- evaluations of, 79–80
 age-related changes in, 47, 50–52, 64–65, 89–90, 301
 aggression and, 39, 58–61
 anger and, 52–54
 blame/intent attributions and, 13, 45–47, 51–52
 empathy and. see empathy
 executive functioning and. see executive
 functioning
 gender differences in, 53
 moral development and, 43–48
 relationship context and, 46–47, 54–56
 social-cognitive domain theory. see social-
 cognitive domain theory
 socioeconomic status and, 63
 type and intensity of acts and, 46–47, 49–50
 violence exposure, 56–58, 89–90, 113–116
- experiences of evaluations of own, 17–18
 meaning-making about, 103–104, 109

- revenge (cont.)
 age-related changes in, 105–109
 exposure to violence and, 111–113, 115–118
 and moral-developmental outcomes, 109–113
 and self-view. see self-view
 urban/inner city, 172–174
 stages of retaliatory violence, 174–181 inhibiting factors alternative goals, 9, 17 alternative interpretations, 14 developmental differences in, 106–109
 empathy. see empathy fear of negative consequences, 22 socioemotional competencies and. see socioemotional competencies
 trust in justice systems. see trust, institutional
 interventions, 308–310
 community-based, 182–183 considerations for, 118–120, 204–207 school-based creation of a positive school/classroom climate, 253, 255–262, 288–290
 development of socioemotional
 competencies, 278–288
 justice systems, 236–239
 methodologies in studies of, 26–28 moral-philosophical foundations, 39–43 motivations for, 17
 contextual differences in, 301 developmental differences in, 105–106 expectations of positive outcomes, 22
 justice, 56, 218–219
 power and dominance. see power;
 dominance
 reciprocity, 109–113
 revenge as a goal vs a means to an end, 26–27
 narrative accounts of. see narrative
 normative development and, 5–6, 53, 78, 105, 300–301
 in adolescence, 25, 247–248 considerations for research on, 80–81, 88–92
 in infancy. see infancy
 in preschoolers, 85–90
 outcomes
 affective, 8, 18
 interpersonal, 8, 219
 psychological maladjustment, 8–9 societal, 189
 predictors
 attention to social cues. see attention attributions and interpretations, 13–14, 20, 141, 299–300
 cultural differences in social information processing, 135–141
 cultural norms and systems, 133–134 disrespect sensitivity. see disrespect
 sensitivity
 emotion regulation. see emotion regulation
 emotions, 10, 14–17, 135–137, 300–301
 physiological reactivity. see physiological reactivity
 rejection sensitivity. see rejection sensitivity response evaluation, 17–18 schemata and beliefs. see schemata social context, 11, 302–305
 audience effects, 25
 power of the provocateur, 24–25 relationship with provocateur, 23–24, 176–178, 302–303
 social information processing, 9, 299–301
 violence exposure, 111–118, 303
 relationship context and, 23–25, 46–47, 54–56, 176–178, 302–303 socialization of norms about. see socialization types
 direct vs covert, 25
 immediate vs delayed responses, 11, 16–17, 22–23, 25–27
 reward sensitivity, 22
 rumination, 16–17, 119
 sadness, 15–16
 schemata, 9, 17, 19–21
 peer, 12–13
 school/classroom
 climate, 220–221, 252–255, 288–290
 definition, 252–253
 programs to improve, 255–261 discipline/justice systems, 227, 236–239 and development of institutional trust, 222–225
 Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports, 258–259
 punitive/crime control model of, 248–250, 255–256
 race and, 250–252
 restorative, 227, 232–236, 259–261, 288–289
 retributive, 227–232, 238, 248, 289
 prisonization of, 248–250 victimization and crime in, 247–248, 252–255 school-to-prison pipeline, the, 229–230, 250
 self-view
 and experiences of harming/vengeance, 102–105, 108–109, 117–118, 301

- sensitivity
to disrespect. see disrespect sensitivity to punishment. see punishment to rejection. see rejection sensitivity to reward. see reward sensitivity
- septo-hippocampal pathway, 22
- Shakespeare, William
Merchant of Venice, The, 1–4
- shame, 15, 25
culture and, 137
- siblings, 24, 46, 54–55, 85, 102, 302–304
- social cognitive processing individual differences in, 9–11, 18–19 reflexive vs reflective processes, 27 relationship-specific, 23
- Social Identity Development Theory, 190–193
empathy and, 205
and revenge. see revenge
- social information processing theories, 9–12, 135 aggression. see aggression attributions and. see attributions cultural differences, 135–141 emotions. see emotions
reflexive vs reflective processes, 27
revenge. see revenge
- social status, 46, 128, 164, 301, see also power
- social-cognitive domain theory, 39, 48–51, 56–57, 107
and aggression, 58–61
- social-cognitive theory, 191
- socialization
by parents and peers, 142–143, 304–305
by schools, 253
gender. see gender self-socialization, 143–145 structural influences, 145–146
- socioeconomic status, 63
- socioemotional competencies, 277
assertiveness, 287–288
considering consequences, 286–287 creative generation of options, 285–286
- critical thinking, 283–284
development strategies, 278–288 emotional awareness and management, 280–283
empathy and perspective taking, 284–285
and forgiveness. see forgiveness sympathetic nervous system, 22
- theory of mind, 52, 300
- trauma, 112
posttraumatic stress, 112, 187
- trust, institutional, 131
definition, 222
development of, 222–225 narrative approach to, 225–227
and revenge, 114, 145–146, 182, 219–222
- vengeance. see also revenge
- vengefulness, 8, see also revenge
- victimization, 116, 163–164, 221 in schools. see school/classroom
- violence
cycle of, 272–273
definition, goals, and functions, 163–164 exposure, 161–166
and aggression. see aggression
and moral development. see moral development
and moral reasoning. see moral reasoning
narrative accounts of. see narrative
and revenge. see revenge
- gun, 161, 172, 174
- New York City Youth Violence Study, the, 166–181
- school-based. see school/classroom
- situational characteristics of retaliatory vs non-retaliatory, 172–174
- theories, 163–166
cultural, 164–166
situational-transactional, 163–164