

Contents

---

Figures	page vii
Maps	ix
Tables	x
Acknowledgements	xii
Chronology of Events	xiv
Abbreviations	xvi
Introduction	1
Historiography and Purpose of the Study	1
Methodology and Outline	10
1 Regionality and Total War in East Prussia	18
Introduction	18
East Prussia's Path to 1945	19
Total War in East Prussia	36
Visions of the East Prussian Community in Late 1944	57
Conclusion	62
2 Eastern Front Battles on German Soil	64
Introduction	64
The 'Heart Rate' of the Eastern Front Soldier	65
The Changing Perception of Civilians	90
The Soldiers' Perception of East Prussia	99
Conclusion	112
3 The City As a Fortress Community	115
Introduction	115
Cities at Total War	116
Cities As 'Fortresses': Conjecture and Strategy	121
The Struggle for Final Authority in Germany's Defence	134
Towards a New Community	142
Conclusion	156

vi	Contents
4	Redefining Königsberg: Historical Continuity in Practice	158
	Introduction	158
	Towards a Closer Collaboration	159
	Abandoning the Greater Good	165
	The Search for Continuity	169
	Losing Faith in the Führer	174
	The NSFO and the Mundpropaganda	179
	Atrocity Propaganda	182
	Conclusion	186
5	The Evacuation of East Prussia	188
	Introduction	188
	Considering the Evacuation of East Prussia	189
	Evacuation and the German Soldier	195
	East Prussian Refugees Within German Defensive Warfare	206
	Evacuation Policy in Königsberg	214
	The Inability to Surrender	227
	Conclusion	239
6	Königsberg as a Community of Violence	243
	Introduction	243
	Military Law in the War Years	244
	Upholding Military Law in Königsberg	251
	Königsberg under Siege	259
	Festungsdienst in Königsberg	265
	The Volkssturm in Königsberg	269
	Radicalisation Through the Pretext of Law	275
	Conclusion	283
	Conclusion	286
	Appendices	301
	Bibliography	303
	Index	339