

Index

Page numbers in bold refer to footnotes.

- Adcock, F. E., 12
- Amiot, Joseph (1718–1793)
 biographical details, 46
 Chinese antimilitarism promoted by, 61
 identification of Sunzi as on the military profession (art des guerriers), 9 translation of the Sima fa 司馬法 (Methods of the Minister of War), 47
- Amiot, Joseph (1718–1793) – Art militaire des chinois and Amiot's interest in the Chinese classical tradition, 47 and Enlightenment military thought in France, 45, 48, 219
 Giles's criticism of, 56
 Maizeroy's transformation of the word "strategy" influenced by, 2, 49–50, 51
 minimal impact of, 173, 182
- ancient Greek civilization and warfare and the construction of Western superiority, 12, 13–15 exposition of a person's moral stature as the focus of biography during, 21 military strategists identified by Griffith, 156 and the Romans, 156
 use of deception and maneuvering by, 14
 the West's fundamental culture defined by, 170
- Asprey, Robert career of, 200
 correspondence with Hackworth, 205–207
 and Griffith, 137, 199, 200
 and Liddell Hart, 79, 198, 200–201, 203, 204
 the Sunzi promoted within military circles by, 199
- War in the Shadows: The Guerrilla in History*, 200
- Aurousseau, Léonard Eugène, 58
- B.D.H.
 ten books on strategic thought identified, 195–196
- Ball, J. Dyer (1847–1919)
 biographical details, 58
 review of Giles's translation of Sunzi, 58–59
- Battle of Midway (June 4–7, 1942), 99, 118, 127, 136
- Battle of the Coral Sea (May 4–8, 1942), 99, 127
- Beaufre, General, 195, 196
- Bertin, Henri Léonard Jean Baptiste (1720–1792), 44, 46–47, 50
- blitzkrieg (mobile, mechanized warfare)
 de Gaulle's contributions to Liddell Hart's theorizing of, 79, 83
 Fuller's influence on the origins of, 64, 74, 79, 81, 83
 German generals admired for their maneuver warfare, 108
 Liddell Hart on lightning warfare and its limits, 76
 Liddell Hart's claim to have theorized blitzkrieg, 65, 79–82, 84, 186
 Martel's contributions to Liddell Hart's theorizing of, 64, 74, 79, 81, 83, 86 and Sunzi's emphasis on deception, intelligence, and mobility, 39–40 Sunzi on attacking the mind of the enemy compared with Liddell Hart's strategy of mobile warfare, 154 and war games tactics demonstrated by Stilwell, 99
- Bond, Brian, 79, 80

- Bonnet, Gabriel, 183, 184
 Boodberg, Peter, 34, 35
 Boorman, Scott A. and Howard
 L. Boorman
 on the place of Sunzi in twentieth-century China, 180–181, 182
 on the Western field of strategic studies, 181–182
 Bourcet, Pierre-Joseph, 157
 Boyd, John
 compared to Sunzi, 208–209, 211–214 OODA (observe, orient, decide, act) loop, 69, 208–209, 210–211
 status as an American strategist, 45, 198, 199, 207–208
 as a teacher, 209–211
 theory of fighter jet flight and maneuver capabilities, 197–198
 Warfighting influenced by, 198, 207, 208–209, 212
 Brown, Ian T., 207, 210–211, 212
 Calthrop, Everard Ferguson
 Chinese antimilitarism promoted by, 61
 Japanese Staff College attended by, 53
 military career of, 53–54
 Calthrop, Everard Ferguson – Sunzi,
 The Art of War translated by and the dominance of Clausewitz’s translation in military circles, 173
 Giles’s criticism of, 44, 55–57
 Japanese translation of Sunzi used by, 54 revised and expanded edition of (1908), 54, 56
 the terms “direct” and “indirect” not used in, 175
 writing and initial publication of (1905), 44, 52–53, 56
 Cantwell, Maria (US Senator), 1
 Cao Cao (155–220 CE), 38, 146
 Cao Cao (155–220 CE) – commentary on The Art of War composing of, 3, 27
 in the New Tang History, 29 and Zhu Fu’s collations of the Seven Military Classics (Wujing qishu 武經七 書), 29
 Carlson, Evans (1896–1947)
 as an American military leader, 87–88, 110–114
 as an adviser to Gung Ho! The Story of Carlson’s Makin Island Raiders, 122
 and Griffith, 38, 87
 the gung ho spirit of the marines promoted by, 89–90, 117, 122, 126
 US Marines’ adoption of Chinese Communist guerrilla warfare associated with, 113 view of Communists, 38, 89
 Carlson, Evans (1896–1947) – Twin Stars of China
 effort to build support in America for helping the Chinese against the Japanese as a focus of, 114 and the field of strategic studies, 181
 Chen Hao 陳暉
 Sunzi commentary, 29
 Chiang Kai-shek
 and America’s interest in using Chinese troops to fight the Japanese, 99
 Art of War editions collected by, 59
 Fifth Annihilation Campaign (1934), 39, 142
 and the influence of Sunzi on Chinese tactics, 105–106
 Mao’s defeat of, 2, 36, 38, 99, 142 negative perceptions of Chiang held by American officials, 90, 100, 101, 105–106
 Stilwell’s recall demanded by, 102 strategy against Japan, 98, 103–104
 Tuchman’s views of his defeat, 88
 Childs, David J., 73, 74
 Chinese military history
 Chinese culture constructed as antimilitary in the West, 36, 61, 62, 218 continuity and agelessness of (according to Liddell Hart), 169–170, 175
 military books in the Old Tang History (945) and New Tang History (1060), 28–29
 “Military Books” section of the Hanshu, 27, 33
 “Military Books” section of the Mingshi, 30
 “Military Books” section of the Songshi, 29–30
 weak tradition in modern Western scholarship of, 14–15, 181–182, 216–217
 Christianity and Christian missionaries
 Augustinian just-war tradition, 6
 Confucianism portrayed as a proto-Christianity, 11
 Ruism and Ruist (Confucian) philosophers constructed as secular by, 46, 47–48
 Churchill, Winston, 100, 115, 204
 Clausewitz, Carl von (1780–1831)
 direct strategy associated with, 86, 171, 219

230 Index

- Clausewitz, Carl von (1780–1831) (cont.)
 dominance of his Sunzi translation in military circles, 173, 194 status as a strategist, 42, 86, 160, 173, 197 status as strategist compared with Boyd's status, 207, 208, 209
 Summers's Clausewitzian perspective on US handling of the war in, 206
 Sunzi contrasted with (by Liddell Hart), 170–173
 Sunzi paired with, 1
- Clavell, James
 audience of readers of Sunzi broadened by, 177, 192
 foreword to Giles's translation of the Sunzi (1983), 60, 177
- Coram, Richard
 biography of Boyd, 196, 212–214
- Corbett, Julian, 70
- Corneli, Alessandro
 on the indirect-strategy interpretation of Sunzi, 178, 183
 overview of Sunzi in the West, 178, 183, 194
- Craig, Gordon, 204
- Daoism
 and the construction of Chinese culture as antiwar, 36, 61, 218 defining Daoism, 32, 34
 Sunzi's relationship to, 19–20, 33, 34, 36, 60, 220
 unconventionality associated with throughout imperial Chinese history, 20
- David, Alexandre, 50
- de Gaulle, Charles, 79, 83
- deception
 Japanese night tactics, 128, 130–131 strategy viewed as morally compromised, 6 yielding, or apparently yielding, described in female terms, 35–36
- deception – Sunzi on “war is deception” attacking the mind of the enemy as the focus of, 39–40, 154 discussed by Griffith and Liddell Hart, 150 maneuverability of the joint strike fighter associated with, 197 viewed as objectionable by Xunzi, 5
- Western direct warfare contrasted with, 14
- Delbrück, Hans, 194
- Denecke, Wiebke, 20
- Donovan, William “Wild Bill,” 116, 201
- Drum, Hugh A. (1879–1951), 93–94, 100–102
- Du Mu 杜牧
 Sunzi commentary, 29, 30, 31, 105, 106
- Dulles, Allan, 184, 201
- Duncan, John
 military service, 174
 Sunzi's water analogy compared with Liddell Hart's expanding-torrent theory (1927), 151, 160, 167, 175, 176
- Earle, Edward Mead, 7, 45, 109, 187
- Edson, (Red Mike) Merritt
 as an American military leader, 87–88, 89, 90
 military career of, 123–126
Small Wars Manual, 124–125, 132
- Edson's Ridge (Battle for Lunga Ridge) conventional defense of Henderson Field employed by Edson at, 109, 133
 Marine Raiders' participation in, 109, 121, 129–131
- Medal of Honor awarded to Edson for his actions at, 132
- Eisenhower, Dwight D., 99, 189
 criticism of his administration's New Look policy, 201
- Enlightenment thinking and the European construction of Ruism as a secular education system, 46 intellectual break with the past created by the Scientific Revolution, 48
- Finlay, John, 46
- Fitzgerald, David, 206
- Foch, Ferdinand, 71
- Fuller, John Frederick Charles influence on the origins of blitzkrieg (mobile, mechanized warfare), 64, 74, 79, 81, 83 interest in Napoleon, 71
 Japanese Staff College attended by, 70, 71–72
 military career of, 70–74
 promotion of tank tactics, 72–74, 195
 status as military philosopher, 45, 158, 160, 176
- Galvany, Albert, 21
- Gat, Azar, 48, 49
- Gibbs, Norman, 140, 161
- Giles, Herbert (1845–1935), 55
- Giles, Lionel (1875–1958)

- Ball's review of his translation of Sunzi, 58–59
- biographical details, 55, 58
- Chinese antimilitarism promoted by, 61
- Clavell's foreword to Giles's translation of the Sunzi, 60
- criticism of Calthrop's translation of Sunzi, 44, 55–57
- and the dominance of Clausewitz's translation in military circles, 173
- enduring impact of Giles's translation of Sunzi, 60
- Griffith's translations of the Sunzi compared with, 148, 149, 150, 150, 179
- reliance on Sun Xingyan's translation of the Sunzi, 57
- translation of zheng (正) and qi (奇) as "direct" and "indirect," 35, 63, 175, 182
- Gingrich, Newt, 197
- Graff, David, 42, 186
- Gray, Alfred M., Jr., 212
- Griffith, Samuel B.
 friendship with Liddell Hart, 137–140, 159
 gung ho practices spread to the 1st Marine Raider Battalion, 89–90, 110 Mao Zedong, On Guerrilla Warfare, translated by, 1, 87, 90, 109, 141 service in China, 1, 87
- Griffith, Samuel B. – Sunzi, The Art of War, translated by and Chinese studies in the United States and Europe, 18, 20, 216 comparison of Machiavelli's approach to the problems of war with Sunzi disputed by Hart, 156 Griffith's dating of the text, 21–23 and Liddell Hart's editorial advice, 155–158 and Liddell Hart's strategic vision, 149–155 Mao Zedong's military thought connected to, 18, 37–40, 43, 180–181, 220 and the popularity of the Sunzi as a work of strategy in the West, 1, 18, 44, 219
 reliance on Sun Xingyan's translation of the Sunzi, 30, 32 and the terms "direct" and "indirect," 191–192 and Warfighting, 208, 209
- Guadalcanal (August 7, 1942–February 1943)
- Long Patrol operation, 109, 120–121, 132
 superior American strategy, operations, and tactics employed at, 99–100, 127, 136
 Tulagi seized as part of the operation, 118, 128
- Guderian, Heinz
 Fuller's inspiration for the ideas of blitzkrieg acknowledged by, 83
 and Liddell Hart, 79, 80, 83
 guerrilla warfare
 Asprey's War in the Shadows: The Guerrilla in History, 200 discussed in Edson's Small Wars Manual, 124–125, 132 employed during the Vietnam War by Hackworth, 205
 Sunzi and unconventional tactics associated with, 169, 183–184, 200
 US Marines adoption of Chinese Communist guerrilla warfare, 108–109, 113, 206, 220 views of established militaries of existing nation states toward, 19
- Guibert, Jacques-Antoine-Hippolyte, comte de, 157
- gung ho practices
 the fighting spirit of the Marine Raiders defined and promoted by Carlson as, 89–90, 117, 122, 126 spread to the 1st Marine Raider Battalion by Griffith, 89–90, 110
- Hackworth, David, 205–207
- Hahlweg, Werner, 144–145
- Halleck, Henry, 187
- Hammond, Grant T., 207, 208
- Han dynasty
 military books (bingshu) as a category during, 27, 33
- Hanfeizi 韓非子 c. 280–233 BCE), 19, 24, 25, 26
- Hanson, Victor Davis, 12–14
- Henderson, G. F. R., 187
- Heuser, Beatrice, 49
- Hoffman, Jon T., 132–133
- Howard, Michael, 79, 140, 196
- Huang, Catherine and Arthur D. Rosenberg, 199
- indirect strategy
 counterinsurgency fighting during the war in Vietnam, 2, 132, 183 definition of, 86

232 Index

- indirect strategy (cont.)
 employed by Chinese Communist forces in Korea, 142, 142
 and the terms zheng (正) and qi (奇), 34–35, 150–151
 use after the conventional wars of the twentieth century, 2
 Western understanding of Mao's use of Sunzi's indirect strategy, 59, 183, 220
 Western understanding of Sunzi's indirect strategy, 3, 59, 86, 159, 185–186, 215, 219–220
- Israeli military leaders, 79, 84
- Japan and Japanese military thought conquest of Burma, 100–101 contempt of British officers for foreign strategic thinking, 55
 Doolittle raid against, 117–118, 179
 Major General Kiyotaki Kawaguchi and his men, 129, 130–131
 night tactics, 128, 130–131
 Operation Ichi-Go, 101
 and the Russo-Japanese War, 45, 52, 54, 62, 71
 Sunzi's influence on, 52–53, 62
- Jensen, Dennis Geoffrey, 197–198
- Jia Lin 賈林 (or Jia Yinlin 賈隱林)
 Sunzi commentary, 29
- Jomini
 influence on Civil War leaders, 173
 Liddell Hart's disregard of, 157, 158, 204
Précis de l'Art de la guerre (Art of War), 10, 195, 196
 status as a strategic thinker, 187, 195
- Kahler, Hans
 Western understanding of Sunzi's indirect strategy, 193
- Kennedy, John F.
 and the focus of strategy in Western culture, 2
 review of Liddell Hart's Deterrent of Defense, 201
- Kierman, Frank A. and John K. Fairbank – Chinese Ways in Warfare and the field of Chinese military history in the West, 186–188, 216
 Sunzi mentioned in, 188–189
- Kissinger, Henry, 192
- Korea
 and Asprey, 200
 and Boyd, 207, 214
 the Chinese–Western military divide reified by the war in, 3, 37, 40, 43, 88, 91–92, 123, 142, 192, 200
 indirect strategy employed by Chinese Communist forces in the war in, 142, 142
- Krulak, Victor “Brute” (1913–2008), 2
- Kuo Hua-jo (Communist military theorist), 181, 194
- Laozi 老子–Daodejing 道德經 association with the Sunzi, 33, 34 and Maria Cantwell (US senator), 1 and the “Dao,” 32–33
 ruthlessness in, 20, 33
 and zheng (正) and qi (奇), 35
- Lau, D. C., 30, 55, 182
- Le Hegart, Louis, 193–194
- Li Ling, 41–42, 150
- Li Quan 李筌 (fl. 8th c.)
 commentary on the Sunzi, 30, 33 intellectual background of, 33
- Liang, Chin-tung, 104
- Liddell Hart, B. H. and Asprey, 79, 198, 200–201, 203, 204
Deterrent of Defense, 201 on the dominance of Clausewitz's translation in military circles, 172–173 friendship with Griffith, 137–140, 159 generosity towards other military historians, 65, 79, 220
 as a popularizer and self-promoter, 63–65, 158, 169, 203
- Liddell Hart, B. H. – Foreword to Griffith's
 translation of the Sunzi (1963) audience of receptive readers of Sunzi broadened by, 1, 177–178
 background to, 161–169
 Griffith's comparison of Machiavelli with Sunzi disputed by, 156
 indirect strategy associated with Sunzi in, 159, 160–161, 175–176, 185–186
 Liddell Hart's connection to Sunzi, 161,
 174–176
 Sunzi connected to Mao in, 41
 Sunzi related to Clausewitz and Napoleon in, 105
- Liddell Hart, B. H. – on military strategy on the British way of war and limited liability, 74–77
 and the field of military thought, 157
 the indirect approach associated with Sunzi by, 3, 59, 86, 215, 219–220 indirect strategy popularized by, 63, 86

- on lightning warfare and its limits, 76
 Sunzi's water analogy compared with Liddell Hart's expanding-torrent theory by Duncan (1927), 151, 160, 167, 175, 176 tanks promoted by, 64, 69, 70, 74, 139, 195 theorizing of blitzkrieg claimed by, 65, 79–82, 84, 186
- Liddell Hart, B. H. – status as an American strategist fall and rise of his reputation, 77–80, 83–84
 influence of, 66, 85–86, 198
 Mearsheimer on, 63, 80, 85
- Lind, William, 211
- Loewe, Michael A. N., 178–179
- Luvaas, Jay, 79, 79
- Machiavelli
 compared with Sunzi, 156–157
Dell'arte della Guerra (Art of War), 6, 9, 14, 195
The Prince, 5
- Macksey, Kenneth, 79, 80, 80, 82
- Mahan, Alfred Thayer (1840–1914) emphasis on decisive battle, 70
 status as military philosopher, 45, 158, 187, 195
- Mahan, Dennis Hart (1802–1871), 45
- Mair, Victor and Sunzi's The Art of War on the dating and authorship of the Sunzi, 26
junzheng 軍爭 rendered as a term, 148 “military methods” used as a subtitle in his translation of, 10 on the Sunzi as a Daoist text, 34 translations in keeping with Liddell Hart's strategic vision, 149–150
- Maizeroy, Paul-Gédéon Joly de, and the modern use of the term “strategy” (stratégique) and Amiot's French translation of Sunzi, 2, 49–50 and the Enlightenment use of the term “tactics,” 49 shift from stratégique to stratégie, 50–51
- Makin Island raid (August 17–18, 1942)
 as the first American use of special operations, 92, 109
 Marine Raider participation in, 117–120, 127
- Mao Zedong (1893–1976)
 Clausewitz (Carl von) paired with, 1 indirect-strategy interpretation of Sunzi associated with Mao in the West, 3, 59, 183, 220 influence of his strategic orientation and concept of warfare, 19
 Long March, 39, 142
 Sunzi connected to Mao's military thought, 3, 18, 37–40, 42–43, 180–181, 182, 220
 Sunzi identified as the source of his Little Red Book, 60, 192
 the Sunzi studied by, 40–42, 59
- Mao Zedong (1893–1976) – On Guerrilla Warfare (Lun youji zhan 論游擊戰)
 Griffith's introduction to Praeger's republication of, 165, 184
 Griffith's translation of, 1, 87, 90, 109, 141
 on his military strategy and tactics, 39 and Sunzi's thought, 141
- Marshall, George C.
 Stilwell appointed to command US forces in the China–Burma–India theater (1942), 93–94, 100
 Stilwell's correspondence with, 101, 103
- Martel, Giffard Le Quesne, 64, 74, 79, 86
- Mearsheimer, John J.
 Liddell Hart criticized by, 80–82
 on Liddell Hart's self-rehabilitation, 79 on Liddell Hart's status as a strategist, 63, 80, 85
- Mei Yaochen 梅堯臣 (1002–1060), 22, 30
 military culture
 anti-intellectualism in the officer corps in the US, 44
 the construction of European military superiority in, 11–12 military strength equated with the cultural value, 217 and the thesis of the Western way of war, 12–14
- military Enlightenment and Amiot's Art militaire des chinois, 45, 48, 219 and the broader engagement of French society, 48 intellectual tradition of, 45, 48, 172
 and the modern idea of strategy, 48–49, 61, 172
- Miller, Stephen, 211
- Minford, John
 Foreword to Giles's translation of the Sunzi (2008), 56, 60 junzheng 軍爭 rendered by, 148
 translation of the Sunzi, 149

234 Index

- Ming dynasty (1368–1644)
 “Military Books” section of the Mingshi, 30 recensions of Song editions of the Sunzi, 29
Seven Military Classics (Wujing qishu 武經七書) during, 15
 Mitter, Rana, 104
- Napoleon
 Clausewitz’s analysis of his victories, 173
 Fuller’s (J. F. C. “Boney”) interest in, 71
 Sunzi associated with, 50, 105, 184
 Needham, Joseph, 12, 218
 Nixon, Richard, 189–192
- O’Neill, Robert, 79
 Outlaws of the Marsh (Shuihu zhuan 水滸傳), 38
- Paret, Peter, 144, 196
 Parr, Adam, 46, 47, 49, 50–51, 145
 Patton, George S., 80, 99, 208
 Pearl Harbor attack (December 7, 1941)
 America and Great Britain provoked into war with Japan by, 99
 the Doolittle raid as a response to, 117–118
 US forces shifted from China to the Pacific, 107
- Petersen, Jens Østergård, 23, 25
 Peterson, Charles A., 188–189
 Phillips, Thomas R., 60
 Pichichero, Christy, 48
 Pokora, Timoteus, 179
 Powel, S. Steven, 193
 Puller, Lewis Burwell (“Chesty”), 133
 Puysegur
Art de la guerre par principes et par règles, 10
- Qing dynasty
 Kangxi Emperor’s denigration of the Seven Military Classics (Wujing qishu 武經七書), 15–16, 146 military weakness of, 36, 218
- rational ways of conducting war mutually assured destruction (MAD) contrasted with, 190 as a policy tool for justifying war, 6
 Sunzi’s insistence on the rational comprehensibility of war, 3–4, 5, 13
 Rickett, W. Allyn, 34
 Ries, Thomas, 193
- Rogell, Eric, 199
 Romance of the Three Kingdoms (Sanguo Yanyi 三國演義), 38, 41
 Rommel, Johannes Erwin Eugen (Field Marshal), 79, 80, 83–84
 Roosevelt, Franklin D. and Carlson, 111, 114
 and Chiang Kai-shek, 99, 100, 102
 Doolittle raid against Japan, 117–118
 Marine Raiders created in response to commando warfare proposed by, 114–116, 126
 Roosevelt, James, 111, 116, 117, 118, 120
 Ruism and Ruist (Confucian) philosophers “Confucian” literati mandarins viewed as secular by European intellectuals, 11 constructed as secular by Christian missionaries, 46, 47–48 opposition to Sunzi, 5, 20
 Seven Sages criticized for not serving in government, 20 stories about Kong (Confucius) that have literary or philosophical value only, 25
 Sun Wu associated with Ruism in the Yinqueshan cache, 25
 Sunzi viewed as consistent with Ruist teaching, 34
 Russo-Japanese War, 45, 52, 54, 62, 71
- Sawyer, Ralph and Mei-chün Sawyer, 186
 Schmitt, John, 211–212
 Seven Military Classics (Wujing qishu 武經七書)
 in the Hanshu, 27
 Huang Shigong 黃石公, San Lüe 三略 (Three Strategies) as one of, 29
 in the Songshi, 29
 Kangxi Emperor’s denigration of, 15–16, 146
 Liu Tao 六韜 as one of, 29
 Tang Taizong–Li Jing Wen dui 唐太宗李衛公問對 as one of, 15
 Wei Liaozhi 尉繚子 as one of, 27
 Sherman, William Tecumseh, 75, 157, 219
 Shih, Paul K. T. (Paul Kwang Tsien), 103
 Sidebottom, Harry, 12–13, 14
 Sima Qian 司馬遷 – Records of the Grand Historian (Shiji 史記) “Militarists” (bingjia 兵家), 3, 27, 33 categories and interpretations established in, 18
 Sunzi’s biography in, 9, 10, 19, 21–23, 24, 25, 213
 Sima Rangu 司馬穰苴, 24

- Sima fa* 司馬法 (Methods of the Minister of War)
 Amiot's translation of, 47
 in the Hanshu, 27
 in the Songshi, 29
 inclusion in the Seven Military Classics (Wujing qishu 武經七書), 15
- Skelton, Ike (US Congressman), 196
- Snow, Edgar – Red Star over China and the field of strategic studies, 181 Mao's interest in heroic characters in classical novels in, 38 positive portrayal of the Communists in, 97 and Stilwell, 97
- Song dynasty
 “Military Books” section of the Songshi, 29–30
 Sunzi included in the Daoist canon during, 34
 Sunzi manuscript discovered by Sun Xingyan claimed as from, 31 texts chosen as the Seven Military Classics (Wujing qishu 武經七書) during, 17, 27
- Soviet Russia
 and Cold War concerns, 190
 Sunzi associated with, 184, 192, 194
- Stilwell, Joseph
 command of US forces in the China–Burma–India theater, 93–94, 95, 100–102 legacy of, 87–88, 98–99, 99, 102, 104 military training and experience of, 94–96
 Tuchman's Stilwell and the American Experience in China, 102, 104–105
 White's The Stilwell Papers, 104
- Stone, Oliver, Wall Street
 Sunzi mentioned in, 197
- strategy as a concept and term outside of war, 4, 199, 220
- strategy in the military the field of strategic studies in the West, 7–8, 157, 181, 186–188, 216 and Giles's translation of Sunzi, 60 Hanson's construction of Western warfare, 12–14 intelligent strategy as a force multiplier to compensate for material inferiority, 108, 117
 Liddell Hart on lightning warfare and its limits, 76
 Liddell Hart on the British way of war and limited liability, 76
- Maizeroy's transformation of the word “strategy,” 2, 49–50, 51
- Sunzi invoked to discuss ideas about strategy, 8, 199
- Sunzi's influence on contemporary Chinese military thought, 19, 180–181, 182, 215–216
 unconventionality associated with, 20 viewed as a problematic approach to war and conflict, 5–7
- Summers, Harry G., Jr., 206
- Sun Bin
 in Records of the Grand Historian (Shiji 史記), 27, 33
- Sun Xingyan 孫星衍 (1735–1818)
 Giles's reliance on his translation of the Sunzi, 57
 Griffith's reliance on his translation of the Sunzi, 30, 32
 preface to the Sunzi, 30–31
 on Sunzi's historical existence, 30–31, 57
- Sunzi “Master Sun”
 the mythical life and name of Sun Wu, 22, 30–32, 57
 romanization of his name, 9
 Sima Qian's mythical biography of, 9, 10, 19, 21–23, 24, 25, 213
- Sunzi “Master Sun” – The Art of War (Sunzi bingfa 吳子兵法)
 Chinese culture and Chineseness associated with, 3, 169
 Chinese martial culture associated with, 3–4, 39, 61–62, 105–106, 142 and contemporary Chinese military thought, 19, 180–182 Daoism associated with, 19–20, 33, 34, 36, 60, 220
 as a military classic, 60 misread to illustrate incorrect ideas of Chinese way of fighting, 15, 59, 215–216, 218 Nixon's thinking about American strategy shaped by, 189–192 on the rational comprehensibility of war, 3–4, 5, 13 repudiation of earlier aristocratic views of war, 5 Ruist philosopher Xunzi's objections to, 5
 inclusion in the Seven Military Classics (Wujing qishu 武經七書), 5
- Song dynasty editions of, 29, 31 the terms zheng (正) and qi (奇) in, 34–35, 150–151, 175, 182, 191–192

236 Index

- Sunzi “Master Sun” (cont.)
 Warring States period dating of, 22–23, 26, 58
 Western title of, 9–10
 Sunzi “Master Sun” – popularity in the West impact of Griffith’s translation on, 44
 the maneuverability of the joint strike fighter associated with Sunzi’s ideas about “war is deception,” 197 mention in Oliver Stone’s Wall Street, 197 mention of The Art of War on television shows and in movies, 3 post-World War II factors contributing to, 17 and strategy as a concept and term outside war, 4
- Tang dynasty
 Daoism associated with Sunzi during, 33 military books in the Old Tang History (945) and New Tang History (1060), 28–29
- Tang, Zi-Chang, 166
- tanks and tank warfare
 Fuller’s promotion of tank tactics, 72–74, 195
 Liddell Hart’s promotion of, 64, 69, 70, 74, 139, 195 and the logistics of land campaigns in Europe, 108
 Martel as an early advocate for, 74
- Taylor, Jay, 104
- Tuchman, Barbara (1912–1989)
 Chinese way of fighting associated with Sunzi by, 88, 104–105, 106
 and Griffith, 88
 influence of, 88, 89
Stilwell and the American Experience in China, 104–105
 Stilwell’s reputation tied to that of Chiang Kai-Shek by, 96, 107
- United States Air Force
 Boyd’s retirement from (1975), 198, 207 disavowal of Boyd, 213, 213
 location of Strategic Air Command in Oxfordshire, 138
- United States Army attaining material superiority as a pillar of the doctrine of, 108 Carlson’s service in, 110 influence of Sunzi on, 199 and Vietnam, 205–206
- United States Congress
 books recommended to officers of the armed forces by Congressman Ike Skelton, 196 Sunzi evoked by Senator Maria Cantwell, 1
- United States Marine Corps
 adoption of Chinese Communist guerrilla warfare, 108–109, 113, 206
 Boyd adopted by, 213, 214
 China Marines defined, 92
 counterinsurgency and small wars associated with, 2 4th Marine Regiment, 92, 122, 124
 Japanese Navy fought in the Pacific by, 99–100
- United States Marine Corps – Marine Raiders commando warfare proposed by President Roosevelt as responsible for its creation, 114–116, 126 and the Long Patrol, 109, 120–121, 132
- United States Navy
 Carlson as an observer for, 112
 Japanese Navy fought in the Pacific by, 99–100
- van de Ven, Hans, 104
- Van Riper, Paul K., 207
- Vietnam
 and Boyd, 214
 the Chinese–Western military divide reified by the war in, 3, 88, 187, 192, 200 counterinsurgency fighting during the war in, 2, 132, 183 Hackworth on the US military’s handling of the war in, 205 and Nixon’s The Real War, 189
 Summers’s Clausewitzian perspective on US handling of the war in, 206
- Wallacker, Benjamin E.
 Griffith’s translation of The Art of War reviewed by, 179–180 on zheng (正) and qi (奇), 35, 151
Warfighting (1989 Marine Corps publication)
 Boyd’s influence on, 198, 207, 208–209, 212 commissioning and writing of, 212 publication by the Marine Corps (1989), 198
 Sunzi featured in, 209, 211–212
- Wei Yuan 魏源 (1794–1856), 41

- Western warfare ancient Greek warfare used in the construction of, 12, 14–15
 the thesis of the Western way of war, 12–13
- White, Theodore (1915–1986)
The Stilwell Papers, 104
- Williams-Ellis, Clough and Amabel
 Williams-Ellis, 82, 82
- Woolbert, Robert Gale, 103
- World War II
 postwar interest in strategic studies, 7 postwar popularity of Sunzi, 17
- Wu Qi 吳起 (or Wuzi), Art of War in the bibliographic section of the Songshi, 28 in the bibliographic section of the Suishu, 28
 Griffith's translation of, 146, 156
- inclusion in the Seven Military Classics (Wujing qishu 武經七書), 15
 as a strategic thinker, 10, 25
 Xunzi's objections to the strategic practices of, 5
- Wu Shih-ch'ang, 141, 165, 168
- Xiong Huayuan 熊華源, 40, 41
 Xunzi 荀子 (c. 320–235 BCE), 5, 18, 26
- Ye Shi 葉適 (1150–1223), 22, 23
 Yinqueshan tombs, 23–24, 25
 Yuan Zhongqian 袁仲謙 (1868–1932), 41
 Yuen, Derek, 199
- Zhu De 朱德 (or Chu Teh, 1886–1976), 38, 41
 Zhuge Liang (諸葛亮) (181–234 CE), 28, 38