

Colonising Disability

Colonising Disability explores the construction and treatment of disability across Britain and its empire from the nineteenth to the early twentieth century. Drawing on a wide range of sources, Esme Cleall explores how disability increasingly became associated with ‘difference’ and argues that it did so through intersecting with other categories of otherness such as race. Philanthropic, legal, literary, religious, medical, educational, eugenistic and parliamentary texts are examined to unpick representations of disability that, over time, became pervasive with significant ramifications for disabled people. Cleall also uses multiple examples to show how disabled people navigated a wide range of experiences from ‘freak shows’ in Britain, to missions in India, to immigration systems in Australia, including exploring how they mobilised to resist discrimination and constitute their own identities. By assessing the intersection between disability and race, Dr Cleall opens up questions about ‘normalcy’ and the making of the imperial self.

Esme Cleall is a senior lecturer at the University of Sheffield. She is the author of Missionary Discourses of Difference: Negotiating Otherness in the British Empire, c. 1840–1900 (2012).

Critical Perspectives on Empire

Editors

Professor Catherine Hall
University College London

Professor Mrinalini Sinha
University of Michigan

Professor Kathleen Wilson
State University of New York, Stony Brook

Critical Perspectives on Empire is a major series of ambitious, cross-disciplinary works in the emerging field of critical imperial studies. Books in the series explore the connections, exchanges and mediations at the heart of national and global histories, the contributions of local as well as metropolitan knowledge, and the flows of people, ideas and identities facilitated by colonial contact. To that end, the series not only offers a space for outstanding scholars working at the intersection of several disciplines to bring to wider attention the impact of their work; it also takes a leading role in reconfiguring contemporary historical and critical knowledge, of the past and of ourselves.

A full list of titles published in the series can be found at:
www.cambridge.org/cpempire

Colonising Disability

Impairment and Otherness Across Britain and Its Empire, c. 1800–1914

Esme Cleall

University of Sheffield

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge University Press & Assessment
978-1-108-83391-2 — Colonising Disability
Esme Cleall
Frontmatter
More Information

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

University Printing House, Cambridge CB2 8BS, United Kingdom
One Liberty Plaza, 20th Floor, New York, NY 10006, USA
477 Williamstown Road, Port Melbourne, VIC 3207, Australia
314–321, 3rd Floor, Plot 3, Splendor Forum, Jasola District Centre,
New Delhi – 110025, India
103 Penang Road, #05–06/07, Visioncrest Commercial, Singapore 238467

Cambridge University Press is part of the University of Cambridge.

It furthers the University's mission by disseminating knowledge in the pursuit of education, learning, and research at the highest international levels of excellence.

www.cambridge.org
Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9781108833912
DOI: 10.1017/9781108983266

© Esme Cleall 2022

This publication is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press.

First published 2022

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library.

ISBN 978-1-108-83391-2 Hardback

Cambridge University Press has no responsibility for the persistence or accuracy of URLs for external or third-party internet websites referred to in this publication and does not guarantee that any content on such websites is, or will remain, accurate or appropriate.

To Mum and Dad, for all their love

Contents

| | |
|---|---------------|
| List of Tables | page x |
| Acknowledgements | xi |
| Introduction: Thinking about Disability, Rethinking Difference | 1 |
| Some Definitions: ‘Disability’, ‘Disablism’ and ‘Ableism’ | 8 |
| Why Historians of Empire Need to Look at Disability: An Argument and an Agenda | 13 |
| Scope: Structure, Place and Time | 19 |
| 1 Disability and Otherness in the British Empire: Disablement as a Discourse of Difference | 25 |
| The Emergence of Disability in the Nineteenth Century | 28 |
| The Power of Categorisation: Disability and the Census | 34 |
| ‘An Unfortunate Race’: Pity as a Discourse of Difference | 40 |
| Colonialism and Slavery: The Production of Disabled Populations | 42 |
| Blackness as a Marker of Disability, Disability as a Marker of Racial Difference | 45 |
| Whiteness: Disability as Aberration | 52 |
| ‘Sick Continents’: Disability as Metaphor | 55 |
| Intertwined Histories: Disability, Empire and Race | 57 |
| Conclusion | 60 |
| 2 Saving the Other at Home and Overseas: Philanthropy, Education and the State | 62 |
| Educating Disabled People in Britain and Ireland: Schools, Missions and Institutions | 63 |
| Special Education in the Settler Colonies | 71 |
| Networks of Information | 73 |
| Missions to the Blind and Deaf ‘Overseas’ | 77 |
| The Role of the State in Britain | 86 |
| Extending the Commission Overseas | 88 |
| Philanthropy as a Marker of Civilisation | 90 |
| Conclusion | 91 |
| | vii |

| | | |
|------|--|-----|
| viii | Contents | |
| 3 | 'A Fearfully and Wonderfully Made Individual': Exhibiting Bodily Anomaly | 93 |
| | Disability and the Victorian Freak Show | 95 |
| | The Freak Show and Difference | 97 |
| | Joseph Merrick, the 'Elephant Man' | 99 |
| | Displaying Disabled People Who Were Also Racially Different: Chang and Eng Bunker, the 'Original Siamese Twins', and Tom Wiggins, 'Blind Tom' | 103 |
| | Races of Disabled People: Krao, the 'Missing Link', and Maximo and Bartola, the 'Aztec Lilliputians' | 112 |
| | Exhibiting Disability beyond the Freak Show | 119 |
| | Conclusion | 121 |
| 4 | Signs of Humanity: Language and Civilisation | 123 |
| | Animals, Humanity and the Question of Language | 125 |
| | Speech, Disability and Humanity | 127 |
| | Deaf Education | 131 |
| | The Conference of Milan | 134 |
| | Explaining the Rise of Oralism | 137 |
| | Putting Race and Disability in the Same Analytic Frame | 138 |
| | Sign Language and Otherness | 140 |
| | The Politics of Language in the British Empire | 142 |
| | Conclusion: An English-Speaking Subject | 146 |
| 5 | A Deaf Imaginary: Disability, Nationhood and Belonging in the 'British World' | 148 |
| | Deaf Communities in the British Isles | 150 |
| | Deaf Schools, Associations and Churches | 151 |
| | The Deaf Press | 154 |
| | Deaf Intermarriage | 158 |
| | The British Deaf Community and the Wider Deaf World | 160 |
| | Deaf Separatism | 161 |
| | Gesturia, Deaf-Mutia or Gallaudetia: Imagining a 'Deaf State' in Nineteenth-Century America | 162 |
| | Jane Groom and the Creation of a Deaf Colony in Canada | 168 |
| | Other Deaf Settlements in Canada | 172 |
| | Deaf Homelands | 173 |
| | Transnational Belongings | 173 |
| | Conclusion: Belonging, Nationhood and Deafness | 179 |
| 6 | Immigration: Racism, Ableism and Exclusion | 182 |
| | 'The Maimed, Mutilated or Silly Ought Not Go There': Restricting 'Unfit' Immigrants | 187 |
| | Bodies at the Border: The Valuation of People | 197 |
| | Hiding, Passing, Contesting and Resisting: Performing Disability for the Immigration Inspectors | 203 |
| | Banishing Undesirables: Deportation, Disability and National Belonging | 208 |
| | Conclusion | 213 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| Contents | ix |
| 7 The Health of the Nation: Class, Race, Gender and Disability in Imperial Britain | 215 |
| Heredity and Health | 216 |
| The Fallout from the South African War: The Question of National Efficiency | 226 |
| A Class Apart and a Threat to the Race: 'Feeble-Mindedness' as an Imperial Issue | 236 |
| Conclusion | 244 |
| 8 Conclusion | 246 |
| Bibliography | 252 |
| Index | 285 |

Tables

| | |
|--|----|
| I.1 Disabled populations recorded in the census, 1851–1911 | 13 |
| I.2 Disabled populations in India, 1881 census | 14 |
| 1.1 Physical and mental infirmity, 1851–1911 | 37 |

Acknowledgements

This book would not have been possible without funding from the AHRC [AH/P003621/1], which gave me two years to work on the research. Periods of research funded by the Department of History, University of Sheffield, gave me further much-needed time to think and write. A British Academy Small Grant [SG132127] was also highly useful in starting me off in this research.

I am very grateful to those who have read parts of the manuscript and/or offered helpful guidance, friendship and support with the manuscript, funding applications and academia in general. Amongst these, my thanks to Simone Borgstede, Rachel Bright, David Cleall, Erin Cullen, Fae Dussart, Dan Goodley, Daniel Grey, Onni Gust, Catherine Hall, Zoe Laidlaw, Emily Manktelow, Em Nunn, Nick Palfreyman, Laura Schwartz, Jen Slater, Mary Vincent, Phil Withington, colleagues and students at the University of Sheffield, and members of the Reconfiguring the British seminar series at the IHR.

For research assistance I am indebted to Catie Gilchrist and David Cleall. Jess Farr-Cox has been very helpful with proofreading and indexing.

My friends and family have been hugely supportive of this project, and I would like to thank them all. Rene is a wonderful sister. Erin has seen me through the highs and lows of the project from beginning to end. Luke is such a loving partner whose support is so much valued. Margaret was enthusiastic about this book but sadly did not get to see the finished product; Joanna's and then Lauren's births may have delayed its publication, but they are constant sources of joy in my life. The book is dedicated to Mum and Dad for all their love.

