

Contents

List of Figures	page x
List of Tables	xi
Preface	xiii
A Note on the Text	xv
Introduction: Toward a Dynamic Historiography of the Song Dynasty	1
Sources	3
Narratives	14
Part I Sources
1 The Song State Compendium	23
Introduction	23
The Origins and Distinctiveness of the Song Dynasty Huiyao	24
The First and Second Collections	28
A Hundred-Year Hiatus	30
Resumption under Emperor Xiaozong	31
New Paradigms	34
The Recovered Draft	40
Understanding the Recovered Draft	41
Conclusion	46
2 Li Tao and the Long Draft	49
Introduction	49
The Historian from Sichuan	51
The Origins of the Long Draft	56
The Reign of Emperor Xiaozong and the Politics of the Long Draft	61
Method and Message in the Long Draft	79
The Fate of a Masterpiece	94
Conclusion	100
3 Li Xinchuan and the Chronological Record	103
Introduction	103
The Life of Li Xinchuan	105
	vii

viii	Contents
	Corrections of Errors in Old Accounts	110
	The Chronological Record	113
	Facts and Sources	119
	Constructing Narratives	125
	Creating a Political Discourse	130
	The Diverse Notes	132
	The Record of the Way and Its Fate	139
	Conclusion	141
4	The Daoxue Historians	143
	Zhu Xi	145
	Chen Jun	148
	Lü Zhong’s Lectures on Song History	155
	Daoxue Historiography	166
5	The Song History	172
	Introduction: A Flawed History?	172
	The Project and the Committee	175
	Structure and Meaning	185
	The Imperial Eulogies	185
	The Prefaces and Evaluations	195
	Cyclical Structure and Meaning in the Song History	206
	Politics and Message	208
 Part II Narratives
6	Political Precedents and the Origins of Historical Narrative	223
	The Power of Precedent	223
	The Policies of the Ancestors	229
	Precedents in Southern Song	233
7	Song History as Grand Allegory: An Introduction	242
8	An Empire of Benevolence	248
	Yuanyou Origins	248
	Luo Congyan’s Record of Revering Yao	252
	New History for a New Regime	255
	Hu Anguo’s “Plans for the Restoration” and the Return of Qin Gui	258
	Zhao Ding, Fan Chong, and the Yuanyou Legacy	261
9	From Soldier to Sage: Deifying the Prime Ancestor	274
	Fighting over Chen Bridge	287
	A Banquet for the Generals	295
	The Song Military Problem	295
	The Restoration Context	299
	Sima Guang Again	303

Contents	ix
10 The Lineage of Evil: Benevolence Undermined	312
11 The Rhythms of Song History	329
Bibliography	334
Index	360