This is just the volume that sociolegal scholars have been waiting for! The Asian Law and Society Reader is an elegantly organized, comprehensive, and accessible text, analyzing contemporary substantive topics within enduring legacies of colonialism and rapid legal and social transformation. The text illuminates the significance of this innovative and rich body of research for all law and society scholars today – wherever one works in the world.

—Eve Darian-Smith, Professor and Chair of Global and International Studies, University of California, Irvine, and coeditor of the Routledge Handbook of Law and Society (2021)

This book is a treasure trove of law and society research, spanning a massive diversity of societies and an equally broad array of issues. There is no scholar of the region who will fail to learn from it, and it will be of great use for teaching and research.

—Tom Ginsburg, Leo Spitz Professor of International Law, Ludwig and Hilde Wolf Research Scholar, and Professor of Political Science, University of Chicago

This intelligently curated collection brings together a new generation of Asian law and society research. It is exactly the right starting point for getting up to speed on the diversity of the field, or for anyone who wants to learn more about Asian politics and society through the lens of law.

—Rachel Stern, Professor of Law and Political Science and Pamela P. Fong and Family Distinguished Chair in China Studies, School of Law, University of California, Berkeley

In the twenty-first century, Asia will surely become another center for law and society scholarship. The inherent diversity of Asia will be further developed and conducive to future-oriented institutional experiments and knowledge innovation. From this point of view, the publication of The Asian Law and Society Reader is of great significance. I believe that it is the best introductory guide for Asian law and society research at this stage, and is also an indispensable reference for carrying out law and society education in Asian countries.

—Weidong Ji, University Professor of Humanities and Social Sciences, Shanghai Jiao Tong University, and President, China Institute for Socio-Legal Studies

This book examines the meaning and action of law in diverse Asian societies through a detailed examination of a wide range of issues. Readers will gain in-depth knowledge of various topics and will be able to read the universal significance of law and society studies in Asia.

—Yoshitaka Wada, Professor of Law, Faculty of Law, Waseda University, Tokyo
Grounded in rich empirical research, this volume extends the epistemological and methodological imagination of law and society. Intellectual conversations between empirical essays and insightful commentary reveal intellectual journeys of scholars and the field itself, achieving both a bird’s-eye view of the field and insights into the lives of ordinary people as they negotiate socio-legal realities on the ground.

—Yukiko Koga, Associate Professor of Anthropology, Yale University
THE ASIAN LAW AND SOCIETY READER

The first reader on Asian law and society scholarship, this book features reading selections from a wide range of Asian countries – East, South, Southeast, and Central Asia – along with original commentaries by the three editors on the theoretical debates and research methods pertinent to the discipline. Organized by themes and topical areas, the reader enables scholars and students to break out of country-specific silos to make theoretical connections across national borders. It meets a growing demand for law and society materials in institutions and universities in Asia and around the world. It is written at a level accessible to advanced undergraduate students and graduate students as well as experienced researchers, and serves as a valuable teaching tool for courses focused on Asian law and society in law schools, area studies, history, religion, and social science fields such as sociology, anthropology, politics, government, and criminal justice.

David M. Engel was a former President of the Law & Society Association, and has received its Kalven Award, Book Prize, and Article Prize. He is author or coauthor of Injury and Injustice (2018); The Myth of the Litigious Society (2016); and Tort, Custom, and Karma: Globalization and Legal Consciousness in Thailand (2010).

Sida Liu is a sociologist of law specializing in Chinese law, the legal profession, and sociolegal theory. He is coauthor of Criminal Defense in China: The Politics of Lawyers at Work (with Terence C. Halliday, 2016).
The Asian Law and Society Reader

LYNETTE J. CHUA
National University of Singapore

DAVID M. ENGEL
State University of New York at Buffalo

SIDA LIU
University of Hong Kong
To my students at the National University of Singapore and Yale-NUS College
Lynette J. Chua

To my granddaughters, Sylvie and Scarlett
David M. Engel

To my mother, Han Lingqiao
Sida Liu

In memory of Keebet von Benda-Beckmann,
dear friend and distinguished scholar
Contents

Acknowledgments
Publisher’s Acknowledgments

Introduction

1 Religion
2 Legal Pluralism
3 Disputing
4 Legal Consciousness
5 Legal Mobilization
6 Legal Professions
7 Courts
8 Crime and Justice
9 Practicing Law and Society Scholarship in Asia

Index
Detailed Table of Contents

Acknowledgments .................................................. page xvii
Publisher’s Acknowledgments ..................................... xviii

Introduction . ......................................................... 1

1.1 What Is Law and Society? ....................................... 2
1.2 The Evolution of Law and Society in Asia .................... 6
1.3 The Plan of This Book: Chapters and Crosscutting Themes 9
References ............................................................. 17

Religion .............................................................. 19

I Legal Dimensions of the Classical Asian Religious Traditions 20
1.1 Hinduism as a Legal Tradition, Donald R. Davis Jr. .......... 20
1.2 Introducing Buddhism and Law, Rebecca Redwood French and Mark A. Nathan 23
1.3 Taoism: The Enduring Tradition, Russell Kirkland .......... 28
1.4 The Notion of Shari’a, * Arska Salim* .......................... 31

II Law in the Landscape of Sacred Practices ....................... 34
1.5 State Law and the Law of Sacred Centers, David M. Engel and Jaruwan Engel 35

III The Arrival of “Modern” Law and the Concept of Secularism 43
1.6 The Aborted Restoration of “Indigenous” Law in India, Marc Galanter 44
1.7 Smash Temples, Burn Books: Comparing Secularist Projects in India and China, Peter van der Veer 47
Detailed Table of Contents

1.8 Judging in God’s Name: State Power, Secularism, and the Politics of Islamic Law in Malaysia, Tamir Moustafa

IV Law, Religion, and Conflict in Contemporary Asia
1.9 Theorising Talk about “Religious Pluralism” and “Religious Harmony” in Singapore, Vineeta Sinha
1.10 Securing the Sasana through Law: Buddhist Constitutionalism and Buddhist-Interest Litigation in Sri Lanka, Benjamin Schonthal
1.11 “Conventional Wisdom” and the Politics of Shinto in Postwar Japan, John Breen

References

2 Legal Pluralism
I Evolution of the Concept of Legal Pluralism
2.1 Legal Pluralism, Social Theory, and the State, Keebet von Benda-Beckmann and Bertram Turner

II Legal Pluralism as State Policy
2.2 Global Doctrine and Local Knowledge: Law in South East Asia, Andrew Harding
2.3 Beyond Democratic Tolerance: Witch Killings in Timor-Leste, Rebecca Strating and Beth Edmondson
2.4 Muslim Mandarins in Chinese Courts: Dispute Resolution, Islamic Law, and the Secular State in Northwest China, Matthew S. Erie

III Legal Pluralism from the Ground Up
2.5 Gender, Power, and Legal Pluralism: Rajasthan, India, Erin P. Moore

References

3 Disputing
I Dispute-Based Fieldwork
3.1 Conflict in the Village, Fernanda Pirie

II Dispute Processing and Litigation
3.2 “What He Did Was Lawful”: Divorce Litigation and Gender Inequality in China, Ke Li

III Alternative Dispute Resolution
3.3 Community Mediation as a Hybrid Practice: The Case of Mediation Boards in Sri Lanka, Sepalika Welikala

References
Detailed Table of Contents

4  Legal Consciousness .......................... 139

I National, Local, and Global Dimensions 141
4.1 Kawashima and the Changing Focus on Japanese Legal Consciousness: A Selective History of the Sociology of Law in Japan, Masayuki Murayama 142
4.2 Globalization and the Decline of Legal Consciousness: Torts, Ghosts, and Karma in Thailand, David M. Engel 147

II The Role of Traditional Practices 153
4.3 Legal Consciousness of the Leftover Woman: Law and Qing in Chinese Family Relations, Quan Liu 153

III Rights Consciousness 161
4.4 (Un)Becoming a Man: Legal Consciousness of the Third Gender Category in Pakistan, Muhammad Azfar Nisar 162
4.5 Islamic Law, Women’s Rights, and Popular Legal Consciousness in Malaysia, Tamir Moustafa 169

IV Relational Legal Consciousness 176
4.6 Justice, Emotion, and Belonging: Legal Consciousness in a Taiwanese Family Conflict, Hsiao-Tan Wang 177

References 181

5  Legal Mobilization .............................. 183

I Scope of Legal Mobilization 185
5.1 Constructing SSLM: Insights from Struggles over Women’s Rights in Nepal, Margaret Becker 186

II Legal Mobilization Tactics 192
5.2 The Politics of Love in Myanmar: LGBT Mobilization and Human Rights as a Way of Life, Lynette J. Chua 192
5.3 Labour Law and (In)justice in Workers’ Letters in Vietnam, Tu Phuong Nguyen 196
5.5 Performing Artivism: Feminists, Lawyers, and Online Legal Mobilization in China, Di Wang and Sida Liu 201
5.6 Litigation Dilemmas: Lessons from the Marcos Human Rights Class Action, Nate Ela 205
Detailed Table of Contents

III Legal Mobilization Effects

5.7 Indigeneity and Legal Pluralism in India: Claims, Histories, Meanings, Pooja Parmar

5.8 The Paradox of Vernacularization: Women’s Human Rights and the Gendering of Nationhood, Sealing Cheng

5.9 Mobilizing the Law in China: “Informed Disenchantment” and the Development of Legal Consciousness, Mary E. Gallagher

5.10 A People’s Constitution: The Everyday Life of Law in the Indian Republic, Rohit De

References

6 Legal Professions

I The Plurality of Law Practitioners

6.1 Origins of the Indonesian Advocacy, Daniel S. Lev

6.2 India’s Grand Advocates: A Legal Elite Flourishing in the Era of Globalization, Marc Galanter and Nick Robinson

6.3 Setting the Limits: Who Controls the Size of the Legal Profession in Japan?, Kay-Wah Chan

6.4 Practising on the Moon: Globalization and the Legal Consciousness of Foreign Corporate Lawyers in Myanmar, Arm Tungnirun

II Lawyers in the Market

6.5 Lawyers, State Officials, and Significant Others: Symbiotic Exchange in the Chinese Legal Services Market, Sida Liu

6.6 Just Like Global Firms: Unintended Gender Parity and Speculative Isomorphism in India’s Elite Professions, Swethaa Ballakrishnen

6.7 The Juridiﬁcation of Cause Advocacy in Socialist Asia: Vietnam as a Case Study, John Gillespie

III Lawyers and State Transformations

6.8 The Political Origins of Professional Identity: Lawyers, Judges, and Prosecutors in Taiwan’s State Transformation, Ching-fang Hsu

6.9 Civil Society and the Lawyers’ Movement of Pakistan, Sahar Shafqat

6.10 The Political Origins of Cause Lawyering in Hong Kong, Waikeung Tam

References
Detailed Table of Contents

7 Courts ......................................................... 273

I Courts as Cultural Symbols 274

- 7.1 Legal Consciousness as Viewed through the Judicial Iconography of the Madras High Court, Rahela Khorakiwala 274
- 7.2 Judging in the Buddha’s Court: A Buddhist Judicial System in Contemporary Asia, Benjamin Schonthal 277

II Courts as Social Organizations 282

- 7.5 Chinese Courts as Embedded Institutions, Kwai Hang Ng and Xin He 288

III Courts as Political Battlegrounds 296

- 7.7 The Judicialization of Politics in Taiwan, Chien-Chih Lin 297
- 7.8 The Judicial System and Democratization in Post-Conflict Cambodia, Kheang Un 304

References 306

8 Crime and Justice .............................................. 309

I Punishment 310

- 8.1 The Benevolent Paternalism of Japanese Criminal Justice, Daniel H. Foote 310
- 8.2 Governing through Killing: The War on Drugs in the Philippines, David T. Johnson and Ion Fernquest 315
- 8.3 Body Count Politics: Quantification, Secrecy, and Capital Punishment in China, Tobias Smith 319

II Justice 323

- 8.4 The Expression of Justice in China, Flora Sapio, Susan Trevaskes, Sarah Biddulph, and Elisa Nesossi 323
- 8.5 Old Wine in New Wineskins? A Trial of Restorative Justice in a Korean Criminal Court, Won Kyung Chang 329
Detailed Table of Contents

III The Criminal Process

8.6 In Search of Judicial Legitimacy: Criminal Sentencing in Vietnamese Courts, Trang (Mae) Nguyen 334
8.7 Performing Order, Making Money, Nick Cheesman 337
8.8 Justice Is a Secret: Compromise in Rape Trials, Pratiksha Baxi 343

References 346

9 Practicing Law and Society Scholarship in Asia

I Gaining Access and Getting Data
9.1 Tort, Custom, and Karma: Globalization and Legal Consciousness in Thailand, David M. Engel and Jaruwan Engel 350
9.3 China and Islam: The Prophet, the Party, and Law, Matthew S. Erie 356
9.4 A People’s Constitution: The Everyday Life of Law in the Indian Republic, Rohit De 361
9.5 Labour Law and (In)justice in Workers’ Letters in Vietnam, Tu Phuong Nguyen 364

II Navigating Identities
9.6 Indigeneity and Legal Pluralism in India: Claims, Histories, Meanings, Pooja Parmar 367
9.7 Public Secrets of Law: Rape Trials in India, Pratiksha Baxi 371

III Practicing Law and Society Research in the Digital Age
9.8 Doing Ethnography on Social Media: A Methodological Reflection on the Study of Online Groups in China, Di Wang and Sida Liu 376

References 383

Index 385
Acknowledgments

The Asian Law and Society Reader is inspired by our experiences of conducting law and society research in Asia and teaching it in undergraduate and graduate classrooms for decades. Throughout our professional lives, the three of us have been fortunate to have been involved in the Law & Society Association (LSA) and, from its inception in 2016, the Asian Law & Society Association (ALSA). Both the LSA and ALSA have provided invaluable settings in which to present our research, learn about the scholarship of our counterparts around the world, and share our teaching experiences. This book crystallizes many of the lessons and fruitful discussions that we have had with students, friends, and colleagues, who have enriched our intellectual lives.

We are grateful to the research assistants who contributed to this project at various stages: Wen Weiyang, Jeanette Yeo, and Umika Sharma at the National University of Singapore (NUS); Xie Yihui at Yale-NUS College; Yang Keyi at the State University of New York at Buffalo; and Gihad Nasr at the University of Toronto. We are indebted to NUS Law for housing the project, which is supported by the Ministry of Education, Singapore, under its Academic Research Fund – Tier 2 (MOE2018-T2—1-101) – and Wendy Wee for her tireless help with all things related to the research budget. In addition, we are thankful for the supplementary funding provided by the JY Pillay Global Asia Programme (WBS C-607-003-098-001) at Yale-NUS College and an ad hoc grant provided by the Centre for Asian Legal Studies at NUS Law.

Above all, we wish to thank our own mentors and teachers, who introduced us to the joys and wonders of conducting law and society research.
Publisher’s Acknowledgments

The Press has made every effort to contact the copyright holders of works reprinted in The Asian Law and Society Reader. It has not been possible in every case, however, and we would welcome correspondence from individuals or companies we have been unable to trace. We will undertake to rectify errors or omissions in future editions of the book. We would like to thank all the authors represented in this work, as well as the following publishers for the permission to reprint their material:

1.3: Republished with permission of Taylor & Francis Ltd. from Russell Kirkland (2004), Taoism: The Enduring Tradition (Routledge), 31–3, 144–9, doi: 10.4324/9780203646717; permission conveyed through Copyright Clearance Center, Inc.

1.4: Republished with permission of University of Hawai‘i Press from Arskal Salim (2008), Challenging the Secular State: The Islamization of Law in Modern Indonesia (University of Hawai‘i Press), chap. 1: “The Notion of Shari‘a,” 11–15, doi: 10.21313/hawaii/9780824832377.001.0001; permission conveyed through Copyright Clearance Center, Inc.
Publisher's Acknowledgments

1.11: Republished with permission of the copyright holder (John Breen) from John Breen (2010), “‘Conventional Wisdom’ and the Politics of Shinto in Postwar Japan,” Politics and Religion 4 (1): 68–82, doi: 10.5456/prj0401685; this Open Access article was published by the Center for Study of Religion and Religious Tolerance (Belgrade) under the CC-BY-NC-SA 4.0 license.

Publisher's Acknowledgments

50 (3): 255–74, doi: 10.1080/07329113.2018.1532674; this Open Access article was published under the CC-BY 4.0 license.

Publisher’s Acknowledgments

4.4: Republished with permission of SAGE Publications Ltd. on behalf of Sociologists for Women in Society from Muhammad Azfar Nisar (2018), “(Un)Becoming a Man: Legal Consciousness of the Third Gender Category in Pakistan,” Gender & Society 32 (1): 59–81, doi: 10.1177/0891243217740097; permission conveyed through Copyright Clearance Center, Inc.

5.2: Republished with permission of Stanford University Press from Lynette J. Chua (2019), The Politics of Love in Myanmar: LGBT Mobilization and Human Rights as a Way of Life (Stanford University Press), xxii

Publisher’s Acknowledgments

doi: 10.1515/6781503607453; permission conveyed through Copyright Clearance Center, Inc.

Publisher’s Acknowledgments

Publisher’s Acknowledgments

6.10: Republished with permission of Cambridge University Press from Waikeung Tam (2013), Legal Mobilization under Authoritarianism: The Case of Post-Colonial Hong Kong (Cambridge University Press), chap. 6, “The Political Origins of Cause Lawyering in Hong Kong,” 115–34, doi: 10.1017/CBO9781139424394.009; permission conveyed through Publishers’ Licensing Services Ltd.

Publisher's Acknowledgments

10.1017/als.2020.22; permission conveyed through Copyright Clearance Center, Inc.

Publisher's Acknowledgments

8.8: Republished with permission of SAGE Publications Ltd. on behalf of the Institute of Economic Growth, Delhi from Pratiksha Baxi (2010), “Justice Is a Secret: Compromise in Rape Trials,” Contributions to Indian Sociology 44 (3): 207–33, doi: 10.1177/00699667100440301; permission conveyed through Copyright Clearance Center, Inc.

9.1: Republished with permission of Stanford University Press from David M. Engel and Jaruwan Engel (2010), Tort, Custom, and Karma: Globalization and Legal Consciousness in Thailand (Stanford University Press), www.sup.org/books/title/?id=10202; permission conveyed through Copyright Clearance Center, Inc.

9.3: Republished with permission of Cambridge University Press from Mathew S. Erie (2016), China and Islam: The Prophet, the Party, and Law
Publisher's Acknowledgments

(Cambridge University Press), doi: 10.1017/9781108836418; permission conveyed through Publishers' Licensing Services Ltd.

