

Contents

Acknowledgements	page viii
Introduction	ix
Richard Bourke
Bibliographical Essay	xlii
Chronology of Events	xlvii
Biographies	lviii
Note on the Texts	lxix
1909	i
1 Constance Markievicz, Women, Ideals and the Nation	3
1910	19
2 James Connolly, from Labour in Irish History	21
1911	35
3 Arthur Griffith, from ‘Pitt’s Policy’	37
4 Erskine Childers, from The Framework of Home Rule	61
1912	99
5 L. S. Amery, ‘Home Rule and the Colonial Analogy’	101
6 Edward Carson, ‘Settlement of an Old Controversy’	123
7 Ulster’s Solemn League and Covenant	140

Contents

8	Ulster's Solemn League and Covenant (Women's Declaration)	141
9	Thomas M. Kettle, 'The Economics of Nationalism'	142
1913		157
10	A. V. Dicey, from A Fool's Paradise	159
11	Eoin MacNeill, 'The North Began'	179
12	Patrick Pearse, The Coming Revolution	184
1914		189
13	James Connolly, 'Labour and the Proposed Partition of Ireland'	191
14	James Connolly, 'Our Duty in the Crisis'	193
15	James Connolly, 'A Continental Revolution'	198
16	John Redmond, 'Speech on the Suspensory Bill'	202
1915		211
17	James Connolly, 'A War for Civilization'	213
18	James Connolly, from The Re-Conquest of Ireland	217
19	Patrick Pearse, 'O'Donovan Rossa: Graveside Panegyric'	222
1916		225
20	James Connolly, 'What Is a Free Nation?'	227
21	Proclamation of the Republic: Poblacht na h Éireann	233
22	Patrick Pearse, The Sovereign People	236
1917		255
23	Hanna Sheehy-Skeffington, 'State of Ireland'	257
24	Horace Plunkett, 'A Defence of the Convention'	261
1918		269
25	Louie Bennett, Ireland and a People's Peace	271
26	Alice Stopford Green, Loyalty and Disloyalty: What it Means in Ireland	285
27	Alice Stopford Green, Ourselves Alone in Ulster	294
1920		321
28	Robert Lynd, 'Ulster: The Facts of the Case'	323

Contents

1921	329
29 Erskine Childers, Is Ireland a Danger to England?	331
30 Arthur Griffith, 'Debate on Treaty'	341
1922	349
31 Ronald McNeill, from Ulster's Stand for Union	351
Index	366