

THE CAMBRIDGE HANDBOOK OF NATURAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS

This handbook provides an intellectually rigorous and accessible overview of the relationship between natural law and human rights. It fills a crucial gap in the literature with leading scholarship on the importance of natural law as a philosophical foundation for human rights and its significance for contemporary debates. The themes covered include: the role of natural law thought in the history of human rights; human rights scepticism; the different notions of 'subjective right'; the various foundations for human rights within natural law ethics; the relationship between natural law and human rights in religious traditions; the idea of human dignity; the relation between human rights, political community and law; human rights interpretation; and tensions between human rights law and natural law ethics. This handbook is an ideal introduction to natural law perspectives on human rights, while also offering a concise summary of scholarly developments in the field.

TOM ANGIER is Senior Lecturer in Philosophy at the University of Cape Town. He is the author of Natural Law Theory and editor of The Cambridge Companion to Natural Law Ethics.

IAIN T. BENSON is Professor of Law at the University of Notre Dame, Australia; Extraordinary Professor, University of the Free State, South Africa; and a Barrister. He co-drafted the South African Charter of Religious Rights and Freedoms (2010) and has published extensively on constitutional law, human rights, conscience, religion, and pluralism.

MARK D. RETTER is Visiting Fellow at the Lauterpacht Centre for International Law, University of Cambridge, pursuing research on human rights in modernity and secularisation. He is co-editor of International Law and Peace Settlements.

Cambridge University Press & Assessment

978-1-108-83751-4 — The Cambridge Handbook of Natural Law and Human Rights

Edited by Tom Angier , Iain T. Benson , Mark D. Retter

Frontmatter

More Information

The Cambridge Handbook of Natural Law and Human Rights

Edited by

TOM ANGIER

University of Cape Town

IAIN T. BENSON

University of Notre Dame Australia, Sydney

MARK D. RETTER

University of Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge University Press & Assessment
 978-1-108-83751-4 — The Cambridge Handbook of Natural Law and Human Rights
 Edited by Tom Angier, Iain T. Benson, Mark D. Retter
 Frontmatter
More Information

Shaftesbury Road, Cambridge CB2 8EA, United Kingdom
 One Liberty Plaza, 20th Floor, New York, NY 10006, USA
 477 Williamstown Road, Port Melbourne, VIC 3207, Australia
 314–321, 3rd Floor, Plot 3, Splendor Forum, Jasola District Centre, New Delhi – 110025, India
 103 Penang Road, #05-06/07, Visioncrest Commercial, Singapore 238467

Cambridge University Press is part of Cambridge University Press & Assessment, a department of the University of Cambridge.

We share the University's mission to contribute to society through the pursuit of education, learning and research at the highest international levels of excellence.

www.cambridge.org
 Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9781108837514
 DOI: 10.1017/9781108939225

© Cambridge University Press & Assessment 2023

This publication is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press & Assessment.

First published 2023

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

NAMES: Angier, Tom P. S., editor. | Benson, Iain T., editor. | Retter, Mark, editor.
 TITLE: The Cambridge handbook of natural law and human rights / edited by Tom Angier, University of Cape Town; Iain T. Benson, University of Notre Dame, Sydney; Mark D. Retter, University of Cambridge.
 DESCRIPTION: Cambridge, United Kingdom ; New York, NY : Cambridge University Press, 2022. | Series: Cambridge law handbooks | Includes bibliographical references and index.
 Identifiers: LCCN 2022025759 (print) | LCCN 2022025760 (ebook) | ISBN 9781108837514 (hardback) | ISBN 9781108939225 (epub)
 SUBJECTS: LCSH: Natural law—Influence. | Human rights.
 CLASSIFICATION: LCC K460 .C364 2022 (print) | LCC K460 (ebook) | DDC 340/.112—dc23/eng/20220801
 LC record available at <https://lccn.loc.gov/2022025759>
 LC ebook record available at <https://lccn.loc.gov/2022025760>

ISBN 978-1-108-83751-4 Hardback

Cambridge University Press & Assessment has no responsibility for the persistence or accuracy of URLs for external or third-party internet websites referred to in this publication and does not guarantee that any content on such websites is, or will remain, accurate or appropriate.

Contents

List of Contributors	page ix
Acknowledgements	xv
INTRODUCTION
1 The Perennial and Dynamic Relationship between Human Rights and Natural Law Mark D. Retter, Tom Angier, and Iain T. Benson	3
PART I NATURAL LAW AND THE ORIGINS OF HUMAN RIGHTS
2 Natural Law and Human Rights: Continuities and Discontinuities Cary J. Nederman and Ben Peterson	31
3 The Paradox of Shrinking Individuality: Natural Rights' Development and Relevance to Human Rights Today Mónica García-Salmones	45
4 Synderesis, Conscientia, and Human Rights Kevin L. Flannery, SJ	61
5 The Case against the Marriage of Natural Law and Natural Rights Tracey Rowland	74
6 The Mythical Connection between Natural Law and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights James Chappel	88
7 Natural Law and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights Paul Yowell	100
PART II NATURAL LAW FOUNDATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS OBLIGATIONS
8 Ontological and Epistemological Foundations of Human Rights Tom Angier	119

9	The Teleological Foundations of Human Rights Edward Feser	133
10	New Natural Law Foundations of Human Rights Christopher Tollefsen	146
11	A Personalist Foundation for Natural Law and Human Rights Josef Seifert	160
12	Acknowledged Dependence, Natural Right, and Human Rights: Augustinian Humility, Charles Malik, and the Universal Declaration Mary M. Keys and Melody Grubaugh	175
13	Eternal Law, Natural Law, Natural Rights: Freedom and Power in Aquinas Jean Porter	190
PART III NATURAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS WITHIN RELIGIOUS TRADITIONS
14	Natural Law, Natural Theology, and Human Rights in the Jewish Tradition David Novak	205
15	Natural Law and Human Rights in Catholic Christianity Roland Minnerath	218
16	Natural Law and Natural Rights in the Early Protestant Tradition John Witte, Jr	233
17	Human Rights or Moral Obligations? The Link with Natural Law in Hinduism Shashi Motilal and Jeremiah Dumai	247
PART IV THE HUMAN PERSON, POLITICAL COMMUNITY, AND RULE OF LAW
18	Human Dignity and Natural Law Patrick Lee and Robert P. George	263
19	Civic Friendship, Natural Law, and Natural Rights John von Heyking	276
20	Common Goods, Group Rights, and Human Rights Mark D. Retter	291
21	Natural Law, Human Rights, and the Separation of Powers Julian Rivers	308
22	Human Goods and Human Rights Law: Two Modes of Derivation from Natural Law Grégoire Webber	324

Contents		vii
23	Natural Law, Human Rights, and Jus Cogens Stephen Hall	338
PART V RIVAL INTERPRETATIONS AND INTERPRETIVE PRINCIPLES
24	Moral Pluralism, Political Disagreement, and Human Rights Catherine McCauliff	355
25	Human Rights Law and Adjudication: The Role of Determinatio Francisco J. Urbina	371
26	Natural Law and Human Rights amid the Legal Ruins of Liberal Scepticism, Values Language, and Global Resets Iain T. Benson	385
27	Human Rights and the Modes of Judicial Responsibility Peter D. Lauwers	402
28	The Right to Religious Freedom: Extension or Erosion? Rafael Domingo	418
29	Natural Law, Rights of the Family, and International Human Rights Instruments Jane F. Adolphe	432
30	Natural Law and Socioeconomic Rights Gary Chartier	448
31	Solidarity and Global Allocation of COVID-19 Vaccines: A Question of Equality? Thana C. de Campos-Rudinsky	465
PART VI CHALLENGES AND FUTURE PROSPECTS
32	Philosophical Challenges and Prospects for Natural Law Foundations of Human Rights Jonathan Crowe	485
	Index	501

Cambridge University Press & Assessment

978-1-108-83751-4 — The Cambridge Handbook of Natural Law and Human Rights

Edited by Tom Angier , Iain T. Benson , Mark D. Retter

Frontmatter

More Information

Contributors

Editors

Tom Angier is Senior Lecturer in Philosophy at the University of Cape Town. He taught previously at the Universities of Leeds, Kent, and St Andrews. His primary research interests lie in neo-Aristotelian ethical and political theory. He is the author of Natural Law Theory (in the Cambridge 'Elements' Series, 2021) and editor of The Cambridge Companion to Natural Law Ethics (Cambridge University Press, 2019). He is currently working on a monograph entitled Natural Perfectionism: A Teleological Theory of Goods, which, inspired by neo-Aristotelian and natural law ideas and arguments, will render these intelligible to analytic philosophers in a fresh and vigorous way.

Iain T. Benson is Professor of Law at the University of Notre Dame Australia, Sydney, and Extraordinary Professor, Faculty of Law, University of the Free State, Bloemfontein, South Africa, as well as a Barrister and legal consultant. He co-drafted the South African Charter of Religious Rights and Freedoms (2010) and has published extensively on constitutional law, human rights, freedoms of association, conscience, and religion, and the nature of pluralism. He is co-editor of Iain T. Benson and Barry W. Bussey, Religion, Liberty and the Jurisdictional Limits of Law (LexisNexis 2017).

Mark D. Retter is Visiting Fellow at the Lauterpacht Centre for International Law (LCIL), University of Cambridge, and Associate of the Las Casas Institute, Blackfriars Hall, University of Oxford, with a grant from the Agora Trust to pursue research on human rights in modernity and secularisation. Prior to this, he worked as a Research Associate on the 'Legal Tools for Peace-Making' Project at the LCIL. He is co-editor of International Law and Peace Settlements (Cambridge University Press, 2021, with Marc Weller and Andrea Varga) and working on a monograph, Human Rights after Virtue (with Cambridge University Press), which explores MacIntyre's human rights scepticism and develops a Thomist-Aristotelian theory of human rights.

Contributing Authors

Jane F. Adolphe, with degrees in civil law (LLB/BCL) and canon law (JCL/JCD), is Professor of Law at Ave Maria School of Law in Naples, Florida, and an Adjunct Professor at the University of Notre Dame, School of Law, in Sydney, Australia. Under the Pontificate of St John Paul II, she worked as an external legal consultant in the field of international human rights law; and then, under Popes Benedict XVI and Francis, as an internal legal expert in the Secretariat of State, Section for Relations with States, in Vatican City State, until her resignation in 2020.

James Chappel is the Gilhuly Family Associate Professor of History at Duke University. His first book is entitled Catholic Modern: The Challenge of Totalitarianism and the Remaking of the Church (Harvard University Press, 2018). The book is an intellectual history of modern Catholic legal, political, and social thought from the 1920s to the 1950s.

Gary Chartier (JD, UCLA; PhD, LL.D, Cantab.) is Distinguished Professor of Law and Business Ethics and Associate Dean of the Tom and Vi Zapara School of Business at La Sierra University in Riverside, California. He is the author, co-author, editor, or co-editor of books including Anarchy and Legal Order (Cambridge University Press, 2012), Public Practice, Private Law (Cambridge University Press, 2016), and An Ecological Theory of Free Expression (Palgrave, 2018). His byline has appeared over 40 times in journals including the Oxford Journal of Legal Studies, Legal Theory, and Law and Philosophy. Visit him online at: <www.garychartier.net>.

Jonathan Crowe is Professor of Law at Bond University. He is the author or editor of ten books and more than one hundred scholarly book chapters and journal articles. His recent books include Australian Constitutional Law: Principles in Movement (Oxford University Press, 2022), Mediation Ethics: From Theory to Practice (Edward Elgar, 2020, co-authored with Rachael Field), Natural Law and the Nature of Law (Cambridge University Press, 2019), and the Research Handbook on Natural Law Theory (Edward Elgar, 2019, co-edited with Constance Youngwon Lee). He co-edits the Journal of Legal Philosophy with Raff Donelson and Hillary Nye.

Thana C. de Campos-Rudinsky is Assistant Professor at Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile. She is a research associate at the UNESCO Chair in Bioethics and Human Rights, the Von Hügel Institute (St Edmund's College, University of Cambridge), and Las Casas Institute (Blackfriars Hall, University of Oxford). She holds a DPhil in Law from the University of Oxford. Her most recent book, The Global Health Crisis: Ethical Responsibilities, was published in 2017 by Cambridge University Press. Recently, she was a Fung Fellow at Princeton University, where she worked on her current book project, titled Rule of Love: Love-Based Governance for Global Health.

Rafael Domingo (LLB and PhD, University of Navarra) is the Spruill Family Professor of Law and Religion at Emory University in Atlanta, United States, and Álvaro d'Ors Professor of Law at the University of Navarra, Spain. A specialist in legal history, law and Christianity, ancient Roman law, and comparative law, he has published more than twenty-five books and one hundred articles. Recent books include: The New Global Law (Cambridge University Press, 2010), God and the Legal System (Cambridge University Press, 2016), Roman Law: An Introduction (Routledge, 2018), and Christianity and Global Law (Routledge, 2020, co-edited with John Witte, Jr).

Jeremiah Dumai is an independent researcher. Prior to that, he was a postdoctoral fellow of the Indian Council of Philosophical Research (ICPR) at Delhi University.

Edward Feser is Professor of Philosophy at Pasadena City College in Pasadena, California, and the author of many academic articles and books, including Aquinas, Scholastic Metaphysics: A Contemporary Introduction (Editiones Scholasticae, 2014), Aristotle's Revenge: The Metaphysical Foundations of Physical and Biological Science (Editiones Scholasticae, 2019), and Locke (Oneworld, 2007).

Kevin L. Flannery, SJ, is Emeritus Professor of the History of Ancient Philosophy at the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome. He has published works on various topics but writes frequently on ancient philosophy and on Thomas Aquinas. His books include: Ways into the Logic of Alexander of Aphrodisias (Brill, 1994), Acts amid Precepts: The Aristotelian Logical Structure of Thomas Aquinas's Moral Theory (Catholic University of America Press, 2001), Action and Character according to Aristotle: The Logic of the Moral Life (Catholic University of America Press, 2019), and Cooperation with Evil: Thomistic Tools of Analysis (Catholic University of America Press, 2019).

Mónica García-Salmones is Global Law Fellow at the Alvaro d'Ors Chair (University of Navarre) and Senior Researcher at the Erik Castrén Institute of International Law and Human Rights (University of Helsinki). Her expertise lies in international law, legal theory and philosophy, and jurisprudence. She was a member of the Academy of Finland Project: History of International Law: Between Religion and Empire (2012–2016). In summer 2021, Monica completed her research project on the history of English natural law with the Finnish Cultural Foundation.

Robert P. George is McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence and Director of the James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University. He chaired the US Commission on International Religious Freedom and served on the US Commission on Civil Rights and President's Council on Bioethics. He was a Judicial Fellow at the US Supreme Court, where he received the Justice Tom C. Clark Award. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Swarthmore, he holds JD and MTS degrees from Harvard University and DPhil, BCL, DCL, and DLitt degrees from Oxford University. He received the US Presidential Citizens Medal and Princeton University's President's Award for Distinguished Teaching.

Melody Grubaugh is a PhD candidate in Constitutional Studies at the University of Notre Dame. Her dissertation treats Thomas Aquinas's writings on the Mosaic law, both as central to his political thought and as a precursor to the political Hebraism of early modern thinkers.

Stephen Hall, LLB (Qld), LLM (Hons) (UTS), DPhil (Oxon), is Professor in the Faculty of Law at The Chinese University of Hong Kong. His areas of research and teaching interest are: contract law, international law, the traditions of the natural law and the common law, European law, and Roman legal history. Among his publications are Principles of International Law (LexisNexis, 7th ed., 2022) and Ho & Hall's Hong Kong Contract Law (LexisNexis, 6th ed., 2022). He was foundation director of the first Juris Doctor (JD) programmes in Hong Kong, at City University of Hong Kong and The Chinese University of Hong Kong.

Mary M. Keys is Associate Professor of Political Science at the University of Notre Dame, with broad teaching and research interests in political theory, constitutional studies, and politics and literature. She is the author of Pride, Politics, and Humility in Augustine's 'City of God' (Cambridge University Press, 2022) and Aquinas, Aristotle, and the Promise of the Common Good (Cambridge University Press, 2006). Her work has appeared in the American Journal of Political Science, History of Political Thought, Perspectives on Political Science, and The Cambridge Companion to Augustine's 'City of God'. Her ongoing research project explores humility and pride in the history of political thought.

Justice Peter D. Lauwers was appointed to the Court of Appeal for Ontario on 13 December 2012, having served on the Superior Court of Justice of Ontario in Central East Region since July 2008, where he presided over civil, criminal, and family trials, and served on the Divisional Court. Before his judicial appointment, Justice Lauwers was a barrister, and appeared before many administrative tribunals and at every level of court including the Supreme Court of Canada. Justice Lauwers holds the degrees of Bachelor of Laws, University of Toronto, and Master of Laws, York University.

Patrick Lee holds the John N. and Jamie D. McAleer Chair of Bioethics, and is the Director of the Center for Bioethics, at Franciscan University of Steubenville. He is the author of three books – Body-Self Dualism in Contemporary Ethics and Politics, with Robert P. George (Cambridge University Press, 2008); Abortion and Unborn Human Life (Catholic University of America Press, 2010), Conjugal Union: What Marriage Is and Why It Matters, with Robert P. George (Cambridge University Press, 2014) – and of numerous scholarly and popular articles.

Catherine McCauliff is Emeritus Professor of Law at Seton Hall University. For her prolific scholarship, she has received honours as revision author of Corbin on Contracts, Reporter to the ABA Committee on Federal Regulation of Securities, James Madison Visiting Fellow at Princeton University, Samuel L. Golieb Fellow in Legal History at New York University, and recipient of the National Endowment for the Humanities Grant, Folger Shakespeare Library. Her research focuses on the confluence of contract theory, religion, literature, and American, English, and European legal history as they relate to a jurisprudence of natural rights. Primary to that inquiry is the work of Jacques Maritain.

Roland Minnerath was ordained a priest in 1978. He served in the diplomatic service of the Holy See in Brazil, Germany, and the Secretariat of State, before being elected a Professor at the Catholic Theological Faculty of the University of Strasbourg, where he taught history of ancient and mediaeval Christianity and relations between Church and State. In 2004, he was appointed Archbishop of Dijon. He is a member of the Pontifical Academy of Social Sciences and of the International Commission for theological dialogue between the Catholic Church and the Orthodox Church. His main publications are on antique Christian history and State-Church relations.

Shashi Motilal was Professor of Philosophy, Department of Philosophy, University of Delhi, India, and obtained her PhD from the State University of New York (SUNY) at Buffalo, United States, in 1986. She has been Visiting Faculty at the University of Akron, Ohio, United States; Carleton University, Ontario, Canada; TERI University, New Delhi; and the IIT, Delhi. Her latest co-authored book is Ethics of Governance: Moral Limits of Policy Decisions (Springer Nature, 2021). She has also co-authored Human Rights, Gender and Environment (Allied, 2006; Anthem, 2011), co-edited Social Inequality: Concerns of Human Rights, Gender and Environment (Macmillan, 2010), and edited Applied Ethics and Human Rights: Conceptual Analysis and Contextual Applications (Anthem, 2010).

Cary J. Nederman is Professor of Political Science at Texas A&M University. He is the author or editor of more than twenty-five volumes and has published in excess of 150 journal articles and book chapters. His latest books are Thomas Becket: An Intimate Portrait (Paulist Press, 2020); and The Bonds of Humanity: Cicero's Legacies in European Social and Political Thought, c.1100–c.1550 (Pennsylvania State University Press, 2020).

David Novak is the J. Richard and Dorothy Shiff Professor of Jewish Studies and Philosophy in the University of Toronto since 1997. He is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, a Fellow of the American Academy for Jewish Research, and Consulting Scholar of Princeton University's James Madison Program. In 2017, he delivered the Gifford Lectures in the University of Aberdeen. David Novak is a Founder and now President of the Union for Traditional Judaism, and is Vice President of the Jewish Pro-Life Foundation. He is the author of nineteen books, and is the subject of six books.

Ben Peterson is assistant professor of political science at Abilene Christian University. He holds a PhD in political science from Texas A&M University and has published research on Islamic and American political thought. He has contributed essays for a number of popular outlets, drawing on resources in Christian social and political theory, the broader Western tradition of political thought, and contemporary social science to address public affairs.

Jean Porter is the John A. O'Brien Professor of Theological Ethics at the University of Notre Dame. Her research interests include the moral thought of Thomas Aquinas, scholastic moral and legal theory, and contemporary theories of justice and human rights. Her recent publications include Justice as a Virtue: A Thomistic Perspective (Eerdmans, 2016).

Julian Rivers has been Professor of Jurisprudence in the University of Bristol Law School since 2007. His research focuses on historical and contemporary legal and constitutional theory as well as the relationships between law and religion. He is best known for his translation of Robert Alexy's Theory of Constitutional Rights, which appeared with Oxford University Press in 2002, along with several subsequent articles and essays engaging with the Theory. In 2010 he published The Law of Organized Religions: Between Establishment and Secularism, also with Oxford University Press. He is an editor-in-chief of the Oxford Journal of Law and Religion.

Tracey Rowland holds the St John Paul II Chair of Theology at the University of Notre Dame (Australia). She has a civil PhD from the Divinity School of the University of Cambridge and the STL and STD degrees from the Pontifical Lateran University, as well as degrees in law and government from the University of Queensland and in philosophy from the University of Melbourne. Her latest book is Beyond Kant and Nietzsche: The Munich Defence of Christian Humanism (Bloomsbury, 2021).

Josef Seifert is Director of the Dietrich von Hildebrand Institute for Philosophy and Realist Phenomenological Research and private lecturer (Professor) at LMU Munich. He has published more than 38 books and 400 articles on philosophy in twelve different languages, and is the author of What Is Life? (Brill, 1997), Back to 'Things in Themselves' (Routledge, 1987, 2015), The Moral Action (CreateSpace, 2017); Bye-bye Dawkins and Darwin: Divine Creation of the World and Man from Nothing (forthcoming 2022).

Christopher Tollefsen is Professor of Philosophy at the University of South Carolina. He is the author or co-author of four books, including Lying and Christian Ethics (Cambridge University Press, 2014) and, with Farr Curlin, The Way of Medicine: Ethics and the Healing Profession (University of Notre Dame Press, 2021). Twice a visiting fellow in the James Madison Program at Princeton University, in 2019–2020, he served as a commissioner on the United States Department of State's Commission on Unalienable Rights.

Francisco J. Urbina is Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Law of the Pontifical Catholic University of Chile. In 2022, he was Visiting Fellow at the the Kellogg Institute for International Studies and concurrent professor at the Law School in the University of Notre Dame. He is the author of A Critique of Proportionality and Balancing (Cambridge University Press, 2017) and co-author of Legislated Rights: Securing Human Rights through Legislation (Cambridge University Press, 2018). Between 2019 and 2021, he served as legal advisor to the Mission of Chile to the Organization of American States, and has represented the State of Chile in cases before the Inter-American Court of Human Rights.

John von Heyking is Professor of Political Science at the University of Lethbridge (Canada), where he teaches political philosophy. He is author of Comprehensive Judgment and Absolute Selflessness, Winston Churchill on Politics as Friendship (St Augustine's, 2018), The Form of Politics: Aristotle and Plato on Friendship (McGill–Queen's University Press, 2016), and Augustine and Politics as Longing in the World (University of Missouri Press, 2001). He has co-edited numerous volumes including two volumes of the Collected Works of Eric Voegelin and, most recently, Wherefrom Does History Emerge? Inquiries in Political Cosmogony (De Gruyter, 2020).

Grégoire Webber holds the Canada Research Chair in Public Law and Philosophy of Law at Queen's University, where he is cross-appointed to the Department of Philosophy, and is Visiting Fellow at the London School of Economics and Political Science. He is the author of The Negotiable Constitution (Cambridge University Press, 2009), joint author of Legislated Rights (Cambridge University Press, 2018), and joint editor of Constitutional Dialogue (Cambridge University Press, 2019) and Proportionality and the Rule of Law (Cambridge University Press, 2014).

John Witte, Jr., JD (Harvard), D. Theol. h.c. (Heidelberg) is Woodruff University Professor, McDonald Distinguished Professor, and Director of the Center for the Study of Law and Religion at Emory University. A leading scholar of legal history, human rights, religious freedom, family law, and the Protestant Reformation, he has published 300 articles and 40 books in fifteen languages, including: Law and Protestantism (Cambridge University Press, 2002); The Reformation of Rights (Cambridge University Press, 2008); Christianity and Human Rights (Cambridge University Press, 2012); Religion and Human Rights (Oxford University Press, 2011), No Establishment of Religion (Oxford University Press, 2012), Church, State, and Family (Cambridge University Press, 2019), Religion and the American Constitutional Experiment (Oxford University Press, 2016), Faith, Freedom, and Family (Mohr Siebeck, 2021), and The Blessings of Liberty (Cambridge University Press, 2021).

Paul Yowell is the Benn Fellow and Tutor in Law at Oriel College and Associate Professor, Faculty of Law, University of Oxford. He is the author of Constitutional Rights and Constitutional Design: Moral and Empirical Reasoning in Judicial Review (Hart, 2018) and co-author of Legislated Rights: Securing Human Rights through Legislation (Cambridge University Press, 2018). He researches broadly in public law and legal theory, with particular interests in the separation of powers, constitutional theory, comparative constitutional law, and human rights.

Acknowledgements

We wish to express our gratitude to all the contributors to this handbook. Their insight and scholarship, and their efforts and patience in the editorial process, have provided the foundations for the quality and relevance of this publication. We also wish to thank the team at Cambridge University Press, and especially Tom Randall, Laura Blake, and Gemma Smith, who have shown faith in the project and worked tirelessly to see this book through to publication. Finally, we are grateful to our friends and families for enduring support and inspiration; and to you, the reader, for taking the time to reflect on our ideas and arguments.

Cambridge University Press & Assessment

978-1-108-83751-4 — The Cambridge Handbook of Natural Law and Human Rights

Edited by Tom Angier , Iain T. Benson , Mark D. Retter

Frontmatter

More Information
