

Contents

Foreword by Joe Cleary	ix
Permissions	xxviii
Acknowledgements	xxx
1 Swift as Classic . . . . .	1
2 Burke in the USA . . . . .	19
3 Tone: The Great Nation and the Evil Empire . . . . .	34
4 Imperialism and Nationalism . . . . .	74
5 Irish National Character 1790–1900 . . . . .	94
6 Civilians and Barbarians . . . . .	122
7 Heroic Styles: The Tradition of an Idea . . . . .	133
8 Ulysses : The Exhaustion of Literature and the Literature of Exhaustion . . . . .	149
9 Dead Ends: Joyce's Finest Moments . . . . .	162
10 Elizabeth Bowen: Sentenced to Death: The House in Paris . .	180
11 Elizabeth Bowen: Two Stories in One . . . . .	207
12 Mary Lavin: Celibates . . . . .	215
13 Emergency Aesthetics . . . . .	235

CONTENTS

14	Wherever Green is Read . . . . .	255
15	The Famous Seamus . . . . .	270
16	The End of the World . . . . .	287
Index		331